

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

History of the Class of 1903

YALE COLLEGE

DECENNIAL

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses.

2. The second part of the document is a list of names and addresses.

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses.

4. The fourth part of the document is a list of names and addresses.

✓

NEW YORK LIBRARY
F 501

C 22 556

NEW YORK LIBRARY

✓

LETTER LITV 11
REV 1

032 006

7 000 000 000 000

DECENNIAL GROUP.

HISTORY
OF THE
CLASS OF 1903
YALE COLLEGE

Editor
DUDLEY PAYNE LEWIS
Class Secretary
1909-1913

DECENNIAL

YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT
OCTOBER 1, 1913

THE DECENNIAL COMMITTEE

THOMAS HOOKER, JR., Chairman

C. DOUGLASS GREEN

CHARLES WILLIAM LITTLEFIELD

ZIEGLER SARGENT

EDWARD PERRY TOWNSEND

REEVE SCHLEY,

Class Agent for the Alumni Fund

GEORGE HUNTINGTON RICHARDS,

Class Secretary

This edition, printed on Alexandra Japan paper, is limited to five hundred copies, of which this is

No. 312.....

Two additional copies, printed on Imperial Japanese Vellum and bound in full cloth, have been deposited in the office of the University Secretary and in the University Library,

CONTENTS

	PAGE
The Decennial Group	Frontispiece
President Hadley's Congratulations. With Portrait	6
The Spirit of 1903. By Walter Camp	7
The Reunion Headquarters, George E. Sykes, 1903, The Governor's Foot Guard Band and Early Arrivals	10
The Decennial Reunion. By Howard A. Plummer, 1903	11
The Penny Club and Other Reunion Groups	14
The Jolly Eight and Groups Seated in the Class Tent	15
The New York Dinners, Since the Sexennial Reunion	18
Tribute to Our Friend, Mike Murphy, Guest of Honor at The Class Dinner held at The Yale Club, in New York City, February 11, 1908. By George B. Chadwick, 1903	19
Message from the "Famous Class of '53." With Portrait. By Hon. Andrew D. White, 1853, Former United States Ambassador to Germany and First President of Cornell University	22
Reminiscences of Yale College of Seventy-five Years Ago. With Portrait and Kindly Greeting. From Yale's Senior Alumnus, Dr. David F. Atwater, B.A. 1839, M.D. 1842	25
The Springfield Dinner. Messages from Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," Last of the Great Scouts, and Sioux Indian Chief Iron Tail. Letter from Hon. Lee McClung, 1892, Captain of the University Football Team. With Portraits	30-37
The First Ocean Smoker. Photographs of President William H. Taylor, 1903, with Yale in the Philippines, and the S. S. Olympic . By Clive L. Du Val, 1903	38-41
Tributes, Letters and Biographies	42
Daniel Edwards Kennedy, Jr., 1903's Class Boy, in Decennial Costume. With Quoted Dialogue	43
Portraits: Charles Arnold Brady, Theodore Edward Hill, Arthur Channing Long and Arthur Manierre	67
Decennial Group, "They Toil Not, Neither Do They Spin," and Portraits: Glover Beardsley and Carroll J. Waddell, 1903	84
Snap-shots of the Good Times at Double Beach, June 16, 1913 ...	104, 127
The Class Tent and Decennial Groups	151
Editor's Appreciation	165
Views of the Procession to the Field	182
Portraits: James William Reynolds, Warren Merrill Steele, Raymond William Walker and John Richards White	210
John McAllister Stevenson, 1903, in Puritan Stocks, and Other Views Behind the Scenes	240
At the Yale-Harvard Game, and after	264, 290

	PAGE
Summary 1903-1913	294
Portrait of President Timothy Dwight, "With kindest wishes," sent for "my oldest grandchildren"	296
The Deeper Yale Spirit. With Statistical Summary. By Dr. Robert E. Speer, Princeton 1889, Yale 1900 Hon., 1903's "Favorite Chapel Preacher"	297
A Visit to Yale in China. By Philip K. Condict, 1903	301
Mark Twain. An inspiration for the writers of 1903. By his friend of many years, Dr. Joseph Hopkins Twichell, 1859, D.D., 1913 Hon.	304
Portrait of Samuel L. Clemens, Yale 1888 Hon., and his Word of Comment	305
Decennial Portraits: Al Ogden, Pierre Foster, Ralph Nesmith and Almer Newhall	312
Class Bibliographical Notes, 1909-1913	313
Portraits of Miss Maude Adams, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, Mr. William H. Crane, and Remembrance from Miss Adams "To the Men of Yale"	322
Maude Adams and Joseph Jefferson, 1903's "Favorites of The Stage." By their friend, William H. Crane	323
Letter from Professor John M. Berdan, 1896, Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Yale Dramatic Association	325
Professor Taft at Yale or the Return of the Native. Illustrated. By 1903's "Favorite Professor," William Lyon Phelps	326
Message to the Class from the White House. By President William Howard Taft, 1878. With Portrait	327
A Message from China. By Luther Anderson, 1903, Special Correspondent in Peking, China, and in the Far East, for the Chicago Daily News	335
The Progressive Movement. By Chauncey J. Hamlin, 1903, Editor of The Buffalo Progressive	340
Decennial Portraits: Byron Pierce, Erl Ostby, Harve McClintock, Stu Sutphin, Bill Tyler, Jimmie Minor and Henry Holt	341
The Yale Club. With View of the Future Clubhouse and 1903's Part in the Club's Activities. By President George E. Ide, 1881	344
The Carrie Nation Episode. Illustrated. By G. S. Arnold, 1903	351
Decennial Groups, including Franklin Farrel, III, and Malcolm Farrel, "At Home"	353
The Mory's Association. View of the New Quarters on York St. By Franklin Farrel, Jr., 1903. With Tribute to Louis Linder	357
What Can 1903 Do for Yale?	358
Dean Henry Parks Wright to 1903. With Portrait	359
Financial Reports	365
Decennial Gift to the Yale University Library	370
Farewell. By Raymond William Walker, 1903	371
Class Roll and Permanent Addresses	372

With Congratulations to the Class of 1903 for what its members did in College and have done since.
Arthur Downing Hadley.

THE SPIRIT OF 1903

BY

WALTER CAMP

The Spirit of 1903 was ever that of constructive effort. The very strength of the highly individualistic members was thrown into the scale for building up and not tearing down. It was a virile spirit but not a mob spirit. It partook of the characteristics of its strongest men in modest self-sacrifice for the common good. Can anyone think for a moment of George Chadwick and not realize to the full this type? The discipline of a group is always self-imposed and never was there a group of men who placed themselves more willingly under the yoke of discipline and hard work for Yale than did this Class. In football Chadwick, Goss, Holt, Hamlin, Ward, Wilhelmi, with their favoring opportunities worked just as hard as did Wallace, McClintock, Roraback, VanderPoel, and a lot of others. I can refer to Joe Swan, the coach, to endorse my statement that, with an overwhelming defeat by Harvard the year before staring us in the face as something to be wiped out at all hazards, this team, under the leadership of George Chadwick, submitted themselves to discipline and work in a spirit of such loyalty as to admit of no entering wedge of doubt, no questioning, no wondering if the plans and plays were likely to succeed. "It is up to us to make them go" was George Chadwick's reply to me many a time and the result was a complete cancellation of that old score, for a team that had been beaten 22—0 the previous year came back and defeated Harvard 23—0 under George Chadwick!

When, therefore, at the dinner a few months ago I looked out over the faces of that Class of 1903 it took me back a decade and I felt the thrill that touches one in the very atmosphere of loyal friendship. It seemed but yesterday that I had seen them all following daily that team in which were centered our hopes, which bore the impress of that unassuming but nevertheless deep-rooted determination which marked their Captain, and I believed that their return this spring would mark a return of Yale to its own.

The Spirit of 1903 was not that every man in the squad desired to be captain, that every man in the boat should set his own stroke, that everything should be discussed threadbare before any work should be attempted. It was, "Get to work!" "Work hard!" "Act unitedly!" "Be blindly loyal, if necessary, but be loyal!" "Don't talk!" "Organize and build up!" And every man meant what he said, too, and the Class stood squarely behind him. The result was that our opponents were obliged to rewrite their conclusions relative to the "beatability" of Yale. It's hard to beat a man who refuses to "take the count." When knocked down, he comes up and fights harder than ever. If one had endeavored to explain to the Class of 1903 the theory of not taking matters seriously, just playing for fun and not caring about winning, they would not have understood it. If they were going to do a thing they meant to be at it and at it in earnest. Their spirit was of a keener temper than that and it made men of them—men who in the last ten years have shown that it was worth while in after life as in college life.

"Winning by inches,
Holding by clinches,
Slow to contention, but slower to quit!
Now and then failing,
Never once quailing,
Let us thank God for their Saxon grit!"

HEADQUARTERS.

GEORGE SYKES WITH THE GOVERNOR'S FOOT GUARD BAND.

EARLY ARRIVALS.

THE DECENNIAL REUNION

BY

HOWARD A. PLUMMER

The Decennial Reunion of the Class of 1903 did not go down to history. It came up and will stay there. Its most distinctive feature was the fact that the Class, as Toastmaster Littlefield expressed it, "did things as a whole." This was made possible in large part by the efforts of the members of the Committee, who left no stone unturned and who anticipated every possible detail. Thanks are usually expressed to committees as a matter of form and in many cases as an afterthought, but in this case the thanks appear at the head of the article where they belong.

The 1903 Club House and Headquarters at 109 College Street were opened on Saturday, June 14, at noon. An innovation was introduced in the matter of subscriptions; each man was asked to subscribe what he could for the Reunion, the most important part of his subscription being his attendance. Upon arriving at New Haven everything was free. At Headquarters, drinks, smokes and eatables were in abundance and were to be had for the asking. Festivities commenced on Saturday with a very good and enjoyable dinner at the New Haven Lawn Club, which tickled the palates and whetted the appetites of eighty men for the ensuing days. Steadily the old throng streamed in, until in the evening one hundred grouped themselves about Almer Newhall's shadowy shape and joined in a rousing game at Headquarters. The old-time songs vied in popularity with expert examples of the modern terpsichorean art. After much entertainment and at a late hour all turned in at the dormitory, East Divinity, or Edwards Hall, as it is now called.

Since Triennial the Class of 1903 has undergone a great moral uplift. In 1906 we were Convicts; in 1913 we were Puritans and lived in Divinity! Monday morning the costumes were distributed. They were without doubt the most effective costumes ever worn—steeple hats, brown coats with wide, white Pilgrim collars, brown flowing trousers to the knee, black stockings, with resplendent buckles on hat, belt and shoes. Thus arrayed we set sail in two trolley cars for Double Beach at two o'clock on Monday. The Governor's Foot Guard Band of Hartford, which was splendid and which was donated by George Sykes, furnished the inspiration and we did the rest. Arriving at the shore, athletics were in order. One soft-ball baseball game was played under the new rules of fifty on a side and continued until the elusive sphere was lost in the rocks. The hard-ball baseball contest brought forth a galaxy of erstwhile stars. Under the able umpiring of Thorne Baker, the single men had the married 5 to 3 in the seventh, but the latter in self-defense resorted to tactics beyond the pale of baseball ethics, with the result that the game ended in a riot and all hands took a swim to cool off. Dinner followed on the veranda of the Inn at Double Beach beneath the benignant smile of a full moon.

Tuesday morning at the Class meeting votes of thanks were passed for the most efficient work of the Decennial Committee and of Thomas Hooker, Jr., the Chairman. The Committee was furthermore enthusiastically and unanimously reelected for Quindecennial. With regret and with sincere appreciation of services rendered, the resignation of Dudley Lewis as Class Secretary was accepted and George Richards was elected viva voce in his stead. The Class picture followed on the steps of Osborn Hall. At noon the Second Regiment Band of New Haven also arrived, and after a buffet lunch at the Club House we started for the Field for the Harvard game in two divisions with a band at the head of each. We entered the Field in double file, headed by Dan Kennedy, Jr., the Class Boy, with the bands playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Our entrance was further enlivened by the appearance of John McAllister Stevenson in old-fashioned Puritan stocks, borne aloft on the shoulders of six husky members of the Class. With one hundred and fifty-one men in line—the total registration at Decennial—the appearance of 1903 in Puritan dress evoked bursts of applause from all parts of the Field. The game, as all will remember, was most satisfactory, ending 2 to 0 in Yale's favor after a spectacular catch in center field as the closing play.

HYATT, WILHELM, MOORE, THOMPSON, CORNING, FREW.

THE JOLLY EIGHT.

CONANT, DREISBACH, LAMB, MINOR, BRISTOL, LYONS, DAY, JOHNSTON, LEONARD.

FAIRBANK, CONANT, WADDELL.

THE PENNY CLUB.

BAKER, PUTNAM, DUNHAM, KENNEDY, JR., PRATT, BILL SMITH.

Returning after the game in special cars, we again formed in line and marched to the home of President Hadley, where he addressed the Class as follows:

"It is a great pleasure to see you here together at any time, and particularly to see you here in the garb of Pilgrim Fathers. The Class of 1903 did a great many things for the University. Under George Chadwick, we won a football game that I remember with pleasure to this day. You also founded the Elihu Club, which did a great deal for the social life of the University. I suppose what gives you so much right to be clothed as you are is the fact that you made the University Club a temperance organization, and if that is not enough achievement I do not know what is."

The Class Dinner was held at Memorial Hall, Tuesday evening, with Charlie Littlefield, the peer of toastmasters, presiding. The dinner was splendid, enthusiasm ran high and the manifestations of Class spirit were never more evident. Erastus Corning made one of his characteristic well-chosen speeches and Augustus Oliver expressed the "attokiation" of the Class by presenting cups to Tom Hooker and Dudley Lewis, both well deserved. The customary celebration followed on the Campus.

The excellent pictures of Reunion events, covering the entire celebration from beginning to end, have been generously contributed by the following: Carroll J. Waddell, Robert Keep Clark, Franklin Farrel, Jr., and Martin H. Bergen of 1903, and by Horace B. Clark, 1898.

The Class of 1903 always had a good time in College. It has had several since—at the Annual Dinners in New York, at the Springfield Dinner and at previous reunions—but Decennial was the best ever, and while it seems impossible to improve on it in any detail, no doubt 1918 will be better yet!

THE NEW YORK DINNERS

THE SEVENTH

The Seventh Annual Dinner was held at the Yale Club on Saturday evening, January 22, 1910.

Gus Oliver, as toastmaster, first called on "Bob" Granniss, who spoke words of wisdom, the subject, "The Fourth Dimension," having been selected for him by Gus. Telegrams of regret and greeting were read from Pete Farnum, Rat Corning and Bill Frew, and a letter from Antonio Fachiri, the latter having taken the trouble to send a friendly line as he was about to sail for England. Bob Ewell admirably impersonated "Captain Sims of the Good Ship Mozambique," and following him, the toastmaster read an original poem, written in honor of the occasion by J. McAllister Stevenson, Jr., of Sweetwater, Texas. George Leonard recited "Casey at the Bat" in a manner that would have caused DeWolf Hopper envy, had he been so fortunate as to have been with us.

With words of great appreciation, Gus introduced 1903's "Favorite Professor," Billy Phelps, '87. The ovation given him must have done his heart good. He dwelt at length upon the praises of 1903, making especial reference to the exceptional service of the past six years of the retiring Class Secretary, Ziegler Sargent, and in his own inimitable way, pointed out members of the Class here and there, from one end of the banquet hall to the other, mentioning every one by name; in each case, without exception, he brought to mind some characteristic reminiscence of college days, and in his happy manner won again the hearts of 1903. In closing he said: "I enjoy teaching, I like my job; it becomes more and more interesting, and often tremendously dramatic. The really pleasant thing about it is the fellowship. A vein of seriousness unites teachers and scholars, and we remember we are all Yale men, and all are interested in the College, and are all Yale friends."

I am glad to be given an opportunity of paying a tribute to the memory of Willie Murphy. All of us who knew him and worked with him, loved and honored him, and the part he played in our college life will be for us, always I am sure, a unique and fine memory.
George B. Chadwick

To the Class of 1903 -
From the Class of 1953 -
Greetings

Less than twenty of our former one hundred and nine remain.

On this - your tenth and our Sixtieth anniversary - I know that all of us who are left would join you heartily in saying to you -

"Be Constructive and not Destructive"

"Promote Evolution and not Revolution"

"Stand for God, for Country and for Gall Heaven Bless You all."

June 7 -
1913

Yours faithfully

Andrew D. White

Appreciation was voted because of the good work of the Dinner Committee, Howard A. Plummer, Horace B. Pomeroy and Charles W. Littlefield. Attendance, 79.

THE EIGHTH

The Eighth Annual Dinner was held at the Yale Club on the evening of January 21, 1911.

The toastmaster, Charles W. Littlefield, by way of introduction, read two interesting letters. One was from Dr. Andrew D. White, '53, who till a few days preceding the dinner had hoped to be present to celebrate with the Class "graduated fifty years after my own," and the other came from President Hadley, who wrote:

NEW HAVEN, CONN., December 23, 1910.

MY DEAR MR. TYLER:

I wish with all my heart I could attend the 1903 Dinner.

The career of your class has a special interest to me because it was the first one that entered under my administration. I was always proud that they did so well in College and afterward, and I am particularly sorry not to be able to be with you at your Dinner on the twenty-first.

Faithfully yours,

ARTHUR T. HADLEY.

Telegrams of greeting were also read from John M. Dreisbach and Rowland Hazard. The Class Secretary spoke briefly of his appreciation of Ziegler Sargent's service to the Class and to Yale. William B. Tyler, of the Dinner Committee, which included Arthur M. Collens and J. Randolph Robinson, referred with enthusiasm to the good work done by his associates.

The guest of honor, Secretary Anson Phelps Stokes, found it necessary, in being introduced, to listen to a speech which proved most interesting and amusing, for the toastmaster compared the two offices, Secretary of Yale and Secretary of Yale 1903. In summing up the ways in which the work of the two offices are similar, and in what respects unlike, he said: "Many may not agree with me, but in my opinion, the latter office is one of much the greater honor."

Mr. Stokes explained many of the important changes at Yale from 1903 to 1909. He told of his pleasure in learning of the successes of 1903 men as he meets Yale men in his journeys from place to place.

After pointing out various ways in which Alumni can most helpfully serve the University, he emphasized that "each man's life and what it stands for, when lived according to the highest ideals taught at Yale, is the greatest way in which a graduate can serve Yale." In closing he added, "More of Yale Spirit is due to the single life of Dean Wright than we can give him credit for."

Till a late hour the Class enjoyed an informal good time in groups about the piano and in the grill room. Attendance, 82.

THE NINTH

Thanks to an efficient Committee, composed of Arthur M. Collens, J. Randolph Robinson and William B. Tyler, the Ninth Annual Dinner, held on Saturday evening, January 20, 1912, proved one of the best in the spirit of good fellowship prevailing. More than usual attended from a distance.

Charles W. Littlefield, who so ably commanded the situation, as toastmaster, in 1911, again served in the same capacity. After reading telegrams of greeting from Bill Frew and Gus Oliver, a few lines were quoted from a letter sent by George Chadwick, from Toronto, to one of the members of the Class. Much interest was shown in the reading of the following letter, in the handwriting of Yale's Senior Alumnus, Dr. David F. Atwater, M.D., of the Class of 1839, the only Yale man of the 17,251 living graduates who received a diploma at Yale during the period from 1830 to 1840.

82 MAPLE ST., SPRINGFIELD, MASS.,

January 19, 1912.

DEAR MR. LITTLEFIELD:

My friend, your Class Secretary, has invited me to attend with him your Class Dinner in New York. If it were possible I would gladly do so.

I feel especially drawn to 1903, for George Richards, '40, and James O. Putnam, '39, Grandfathers of your classmates of the same names, were with me in Yale.

Besides, my good and true friend Dudley has a pleasant way of bringing the Class of 1903 to me, and since there are so few relics in Springfield, he never passes me by.

Please extend my friendly greetings to the members of the Class.

With kindly wishes,

DAVID F. ATWATER,

Yale 1839.

I feel especially drawn to 1903 for George Richards '40 + James C.
Pulman '39 grandfathers of your classmates of the same names were with me in Yale.

David S. Brewster

1913.

Yale 1839.

The good doctor has granted permission to insert here, for preservation, the following reminiscences of Yale seventy-five years ago:

"I remember distinctly, hearing our eminent Professor, Benjamin Silliman, M.D., LL.D., Yale 1796, speak with feeling because of the great possibilities of danger from fire through carelessness,—should friction matches ever come into common use.

"One day, in class, he made the statement that steamships never could be built capable of crossing the ocean in safety, and at regular intervals, for even if they could be built large enough for making trips at stated intervals, he said they would not be practicable—for he could not conceive of any way in which the walking beams could be covered so as to prevent the ocean waves from dashing over, and down into the engine rooms. It should be remembered that only side-wheelers were in use in those days. We revered greatly Professor Silliman and considered his opinions worthy of profound respect.

"Every evening at nine o'clock we used to go to the post office on Church Street; the only mail from New York came by stage. The recollection of stage-coach days reminds me of seeing placards on conspicuous trees about the Green, urging public-spirited citizens to attend a mass-meeting to protest, on account of certain injury, particularly to the New Haven liverymen, should the proposed railroad between Hartford and New Haven be built.

"The most familiar figure on the streets of New Haven at this period was Judge David Daggett, LL.D., of the Class of 1783. During the presidency of Washington, he had been a member of the Connecticut Legislature. His ruffled shirt, wig and queue, and white-topped boots, caught the attention of all passers-by."

It is of interest to note that Dr. John Phelps Atwater, Yale 1834, grandfather of Morton Atwater, 1903, was a cousin of Dr. Atwater, and that the portrait included in this Record, and presented to the editor, was taken shortly before the doctor's ninety-fifth birthday, which was celebrated October 29, 1912.

Directly following the reading of Dr. Atwater's letter the toastmaster introduced Mort Fitch, who humorously enlarged upon the "text" given him, "Is Anything Satisfactory?"

Professor William B. Bailey, '94, affectionately known by 1903 as "Bill" Bailey, spoke for the University Faculty. He showed in his references to the Class, the big place the members of 1903 hold in his heart. In telling of the important changes at Yale during the preceding twelve months he praised particularly the work of Dean Brown of the Divinity School.

J. McAllister Stevenson brought from Sweetwater an original poem. He read it with much feeling.

The latter part of the evening was spent in singing familiar songs, aided, as usual at the Class Dinners, by excellent professional African talent.

At the close of the festivities a message of kindly greeting, on behalf of the Class, was sent Dr. Atwater. Attendance, 69.

THE TENTH

The Tenth Annual Dinner was held at the Yale Club on Saturday evening, January 18, 1913. Unusual interest centered in this dinner because of the approaching Decennial Reunion. Carroll J. Waddell, "advance agent" (?) for the late Mrs. Carrie A. Nation on her first proposed visit to Yale, as toastmaster, presented each speaker in a manner so tactful as to prove to many the needlessness of the foregoing question mark.

A rousing cheer of welcome was given the honored guest of the evening, Walter Camp, '80. Mr. Camp, in referring to Yale spirit, laid great emphasis on the good to be accomplished by the return of 1903 to Yale, in June, and in large numbers. He praised unstintedly the spirit of the Class particularly as illustrated by those who went out for football. He referred to many by name, who had proven that "the best way to make a game worth while is go into it, as into life, to win, and to win squarely." He closed with a tribute to Captain Chadwick, to whom, on behalf of the Class, the Committee sent a telegram of greeting, signed "Walter Camp and 1903."

Thomas Hooker, Jr., Chairman and Treasurer of the Decennial Reunion Committee, described fully the Committee's elaborate plans for the Reunion, and Charles W. Littlefield seconded his outline by urging the necessity of generous giving. The Class Secretary expressed enthusiastic appreciation of the early return of the Decennial memoranda blanks, stating that several had been received, fully filled out, from Waterbury, Pittsfield, Hartford and New York, within less than forty-eight hours after the requests for data had been mailed.

Reeve Schley spoke concerning the Alumni Fund and answered questions put to him by members of the Class.

Erastus Corning paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of Charles A. Brady. His thoughts in reference to Charlie Brady led him to place strong emphasis on the value of the Class Dinners, particularly for those members attending from a distance.

Chauncey J. Hamlin told of the significance of the "Progressive Movement."

Telegrams were received from Professor Henry C. Emery and Jerome Hess, and announcement was made of the reported serious illness of Bill Roome. The Dinner Committee, Walter B. Walker, chairman, Charles W. Littlefield and George E. Leonard, sent him, on behalf of the Class, a potted plant with "1903's best wishes."

During the latter part of the evening an original poem was read by John McAllister Stevenson of Washington, D. C., and the following were elected to make arrangements for the Eleventh Annual New York Dinner of 1914: Robert H. Ewell, chairman, Charles C. Auchincloss and George A. Washington. Attendance, 63.

(The accounts of the New York Dinners are based upon reports originally sent to the Yale Alumni Weekly and from notes taken at each dinner.)

THE SPRINGFIELD DINNER

On the evening of May 13, 1911, at the Hotel Kimball, in Springfield, Mass., members of the Class of 1903 at Yale, as hosts, entertained at dinner (directly after the Yale-Pennsylvania boat race) an unusual company. Most notable among the number was Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill." The forty others who enjoyed this event, new both to the hotel and to Springfield, included the famous Sioux Indian, Chief Iron Tail, and his genial interpreter, Benjamin American Horse; graduates of other Yale classes, and present undergraduates, at that time members of the junior and senior classes in the Springfield High School; and graduates of Amherst, Williams, Annapolis and the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College.

"Buffalo Bill" was at the head of the table. Opposite, and at the other end of the room, Big Chief Iron Tail was seated, where he kept an eye on everything. At his right sat Benjamin American Horse, who like Iron Tail came bedecked in full regalia and war-paint. Their ferocious appearance was belied by the bland smiles with which they favored those nearest them.

After several courses had been served "Buffalo Bill" suddenly burst out laughing and called attention to the Chief, with whom, unnoticed by the rest of the banqueters, he had been conversing by means of the sign language. Benjamin American Horse had been talking with enthusiasm about his own college days when, in the nineties, he played right-end on the Carlisle Indian football team. The signalling on the part of Iron Tail, it was explained, meant that as he saw the dinner being served it seemed to come in "jerks and starts," and because of that he asked, "Will it be necessary for us to come back after the Wild West Show to get filled up?" After Colonel Cody had explained matters to his satisfaction, he finished his first course dinner.

Colonel Cody, in his opening remarks, said that while he is not recorded as a Yale man he considers himself a graduate, a "frontier graduate," so to speak. He recalled how in 1870,

To Gale 1903
With pleasant memories of the Springfield dinner William F. Cody
"Buffalo Bill"
June 13th 1913

while serving as Chief of Scouts of the American Army, General Sheridan arranged that he should prepare an outfit, and act as escort through Wyoming, for a party of Yale students headed by the late Professor Othniel C. Marsh, for thirty-three years head of Yale's Department of Paleontology. This was the first real Yale expedition to the fossil fields of the West. Colonel Cody said that though he did not wish to cast any reflections upon a college education, he felt strongly that those particular students learned more practical things on that trip that were really worth while, than any of them could have learned if their whole course had been given in New Haven. He spoke of the positions of great prominence held in the years since by many whom he met at that time. Among the number were two who have since served Yale as members of the Corporation, Henry B. Sargent, '71, and Eli Whitney, '69. The Indians, Colonel Cody said, were unable to understand, when there were so many bones of buffalo scattered all over the surface of the prairies, why Professor Marsh should seek only bones from under the ground. They promptly called him the "Bone Picker," a name which clung to him ever after throughout the West. Products of that first expedition, now preserved in Peabody Museum, include the fossils of two kinds of rhinoceros, one or two animals similar to the camel, two or three carnivores and several sorts of fossil horses.

"Buffalo Bill" had to leave early and admonished his hosts to bring the Indians back to Hampden Park (the scene of those memorable football victories in the time of Lee McClung, A. A. Stagg, Vance McCormick, Frank Hinkey and "Brink" Thorne), "for," he said, "it is of utmost importance that Chief Iron Tail be on hand at 7.55 to be killed at the opening of the show."

The second speaker, the Chief, was heard with the keenest interest, for it had been learned, through his interpreter, that among the historic events in which he had participated with his friend Sitting Bull, was the battle of the Big and Little Big Horn in 1876, when General Custer was killed. He had been with "Buffalo Bill" eighteen years. He said he was glad to meet Yale College men and to see his first college boat race. They didn't go as fast as he thought they ought and seeing them made him wish he had with him one of his old canoes of buffalo hide, "for," being interpreted, "I know I could beat them." In conversation he referred to the old days when he was at war with the whites. One morning when he was encamped on Big Horn Creek he heard a bugle call and later saw soldiers crossing the river. He got his war pony and with his braves fired on them, unsuspecting they were near a camp of a thousand tepees. "Because there was war," Iron Tail explained, "we killed all the soldiers." He added that he did not know as much then as now, for since that time he has traveled all over the world and has seen a great many interesting things. His speech closed with this remark by Benjamin American Horse, "That's all we have to say," and the Indians promptly returned to the annihilation of their dinner.

Attorney Charles W. Bosworth, '93, president of the Union Trust Company, spoke briefly on Yale and the meaning of ideals in a college man's life. After the speeches the entire party adjourned to enjoy the "Wild West Show."

One hundred and fifty messages of kindly greeting were received from members of the Class, and among the number, the following, taken from a letter sent from New York by Ernest S. Van Tassel: "It would be particularly interesting for me to be up there, especially if our friend Colonel Cody attends the banquet, inasmuch as I had the pleasure of meeting him when I was in the West—in fact I handled "Buffalo Bill's Show" while they were crossing Colorado and coming into Denver on the Union Pacific. Though, of course, Colonel Cody would not remember meeting me, it would still be a pleasure to meet him again, having spent a number of years out in all that part of the country with which he is so familiar."

(The portrait of Col. Cody, his favorite likeness, taken by Gesford in New York, was sent from Mississippi, and arrived with his message on the last day of the Decennial Reunion. Chief Iron Tail who was this year with the "101 Ranch" recalled with great pleasure the Dinner at the Kimball. When he had seen a proof of the page containing the picture of President Taft, seated at his desk in the White House, and his message for 1903, he refused to tell where his pictures could be bought and presented this one showing him as he appeared at the 1903 Dinner. After writing "Best Wishes for 1903," he turned and laughingly asked his interpreter for aid in the use of the fountain pen. As soon as his words had been translated, arrangements were made for him to carry out his desire that we should also possess his thumb-print. The foregoing has been compiled by reference to the accounts published in the Springfield Republican and in the Yale Alumni Weekly, and by interviewing those who sat nearest to the Indians.

Best wishes for Yale 1903

 Chief Iron Tail
June 6 1903

In reply to a letter containing a full account of this dinner, with the references to Hampden Park underlined, Hon. Lee McClung, '92, former Treasurer of the United States, wrote, "It is a far cry back to Hampden Park days, to be sure, but such recollections as yours constitute agreeable connecting links. My next letter to write after this is one to W. H. Corbin to accept an invitation from him to attend a dinner he's to give the Yale '88 football team in November (25 years afterwards!). That team's scoring record has never been approached, 698 points to 0 for opponents. The next best was the Yale team of '91 when the score was 490 to 0, and the following year it was 435 to 0. And all of the men on all of those college record teams are now living and I believe in good physical condition! (I thought you might be interested in that statement of fact.)")

THE FIRST OCEAN SMOKER

BY

CLIVE L. DU VAL.

The White Star Steamship Olympic, sister ship of the ill-fated Titanic, left New York in June, 1911, on her first east-bound trip, under the pleasantest auspices and skies. In the lower bay, as a last graceful good-bye, an aviator, in a biplane, far above the Olympic's wireless apparatus, dropped, or rather attempted to drop, a bunch of roses on her deck. The Olympic has miles of deck and endless corridors, but she was hardly clear of Sandy Hook before the Yale men on board began to come together. The ship was so steady and the weather so fair that it wasn't long before one or two of the older graduates on board conceived the original idea of having an old fashioned reunion, smoker, 1492 gathering, call it what you will. At any rate the idea appealed to every Yale man on board, and I think even the organizers of what proved to be a most unique and pleasurable time were surprised to find that no less than thirty-seven graduates and undergraduates were on board. A spontaneous committee, consisting of Bishop Lines, '72, of Connecticut, and George E. Ide, '81, interviewed the Chief Deck Steward and secured the starboard palm garden on the promenade deck for the evening before our arrival in Southampton. At nine o'clock on that evening, the dozen small round tables in the palm garden were occupied by Yale men from 1911 to 1872. The Yale graduate fresh from Commencement to the seasoned graduate of many years standing were both equally enthusiastic over the first ocean smoker. The palm garden being a public room, of course our smoker was to a certain extent an open one, and many of the passengers gathered at the entrance to hear the songs and cheers and informal remarks. A number of our Harvard friends seemed especially envious

THE OLYMPIC

YALE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

A group of Alumni who held a Smoker at the Manila Hotel, October 7, 1912.
 William H. Taylor, 1903, President of the Yale Alumni Association. P. I., is seated in the center.

because the same idea had not occurred to them. Mr. Ide acted as toastmaster in the most genial manner. Bishop Lines addressed us shortly on "Yale Men Abroad," and every man present suspected of having any accomplishment was called upon to exhibit it. Several members of the Glee Club happened to be on board, and under their leadership, we had all the good old songs, and many others too. Eleven-thirty came, and with it the Chief Steward, who informed us that regulations called for "lights out." No one wanted lights out, but the discipline of the ship could not be relaxed even for a Yale smoker; but before we adjourned it was suggested and unanimously carried that a wireless be sent to President Taft with the good wishes of the first Yale Ocean Smoker. Thirty-seven very happy Yale men then stood and sang "Bright College Years" as the lights flickered and died out.

(The 1903 men present were Clive L. Du Val, H. Wilfred Du Puy, and Thomas Jefferson Gaines.)

TRIBUTES, LETTERS AND BIOGRAPHIES

(The letters and sketches which follow supplement the lives contained in the Triennial and Sexennial Histories, edited by Ziegler Sargent. Copies of these invaluable Class Records are available, and may be secured through the present Class Secretary, George H. Richards.

Married is indicated by (M.) after "Residence." All degrees received to date, follow each name. "B.A.," after a name, unless explained in parenthesis, has reference to "Yale 1903." All degrees appearing in parenthesis, with date, but without name of institution granting them, were received at Yale. Date alone, in the parenthesis, refers to time degrees, other than B.A., were received at Yale. (*) indicates "Deceased." Membership in all social organizations and learned societies is given after the word "Clubs." Reference to political party affiliations follows Clubs and Society membership: Following "Reunions" the letters T., S., D., signify attendance at Triennial, Sexennial or Decennial; attendance at the New York Annual Dinners by 1st, 2d, etc., to 10th, after the letters "N. Y. D." and S., after reference to New York Dinners, indicates attendance at the Springfield Dinner. The first of these New York 1903 Dinners was held January 2, 1904, and the latest, the tenth, January 18, 1913.

The message accompanying the portrait of Daniel Edwards Kennedy, Jr., our Class Boy, is from a dialogue his mother overheard the evening following his return from the Decennial Reunion. Huntington is one of the two little Harvard friends who were his guests at supper.)

Charles Roberts Aldrich, B.A.

Lawyer. Aldrich & Aldrich, 137 South LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 700 Irving Park Boulevard.

"1903-1906, ill, and in the West most of the time; 1906-1909, in George Washington University Law School, studying law part of the time; 1909-1913, practicing law, working like a dog all of the time."

Political activity and interest: "Sociological investigation, and experimental psychology. I am much interested in the emancipation of women, and in making human beings of them—by law—I mean."

"Huntington are you for Harvard?"

"Yes."

"Well you know you are in a Yale house."

Daniel Edwards Kennedy, Jr.

Clubs: "A few 'learned societies,' dealing in subjects so vital and serious that one would hardly expect a college man to find them interesting." Progressive.

Francis Johonnot Alsop, B.A.

Cotton Broker. Charles Storrow & Co., 53 State St., Boston, Mass.
Residence, Indian Hollow, East Milton, Mass. (M.)

"Have continued to live in Milton since 1909. In July, 1910, I left Messrs. S. D. Bush & Co., to become associated with Messrs. Charles Storrow & Co., of which firm I became a member September 1, 1911. Took a flying trip to England for a week's stay in August, 1911, and was in Wales and England for a month the summer of 1912."

Clubs: Exchange, Boston; Country, Brookline; Milton and Hoosic Whisick, Milton. Progressive.

Reunions: T.

Luther Anderson, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(B.A. Bethany 1899, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1907)

Special Correspondent. The Chicago Daily News, Bureau of the Chicago Daily News, Chien Kan Pai Hutung, Peking, China.
Residence, Chien Kan Pai Hutung, Peking, China. (M.)

"In July, 1911, after having served as Professor in the Imperial University for four years, I returned to America. I traveled via Siberia and Europe. In the autumn of 1911 I lectured on Far Eastern Politics and Diplomacy in the University of Illinois. Shortly after the outbreak of the Chinese Revolution I returned to Peking as the Special Correspondent of the Chicago Daily News.

Last summer I traveled in the northern part of Chihli province visiting the famous palaces of the Manchu Emperors at Jehol. Last November I made a journey to Mongolia, traveling by rail to Kalgan and thence on horseback to Lake Sangen Talai in the Chahar district of Inner Mongolia. I spent some time there studying the customs and habits of the Mongols."

In April, 1913, the Second Year of the Chinese Republic, President Yuan Shih Kai conferred on him the "Order of the Sheaf" in recognition of his services to education in China. While serving as Professor of History in the Imperial University, he often gave advice on educational matters to officials charged with the task of reshaping China's educational system along modern lines.

Clubs: Peking; China.

Reunions: T.

Charles Tubbs Andrews, B.A.

Manager. John T. Andrews & Co., Paper Manufacturers,
Penn Yan, N. Y.

Residence, Penn Yan. (M.)

"Since the last Reunion, I have married and have added to the count of the next census a son. I am still employed as manager of a paper mill located at this place and aside from the trips incident to carrying on the business, am leading the ordinary uneventful life of the average citizen. Ever since graduation, I have kept at the paper-making game.

I am not often thrown in contact with my old classmates, but at such infrequent occasions when I have had the pleasure of meeting one of them, it has been easy to feel that we are all bound by a common tie. I am in hopes of attending the Reunion in June and of renewing at that time 'the friendships formed at Yale.'"

He married, July 12, 1910, in Penn Yan, N. Y., Miss Edith J. Conklin, Mount Holyoke College, 1908, daughter of Charles H. Conklin, and Mary A. (Bulpin) Conklin. They have one son, John T. Andrews, born in Penn Yan, July 22, 1911.

Clubs: Penn Yan and F. & A. Masons. Republican.

Theodore Andrews, B.A., B.D.

(Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, 1908)

Rector Grace Episcopal Church, Lexington, N. C. (M.)

"In June, 1909, I came to Franklin, N. C., in the western part of the State, to assist the Rev. J. A. Deal in ministering to five Mission Churches in the mountains,—including the oversight of a small day school. On Mr. Deal's resignation a year later, I took charge of these missions. This was soon after my marriage. Previous to our marriage, my wife had been teaching in one of the day schools in the mountains, carried on by the Episcopal Church.

In September, 1911, I took up my present work at Wilkesboro, including also in my care churches at Ronda and Elkin, N. C. All these places lie in the upper valley of the Yadkin River, and are emerging from an obscurity of bad roads and isolation, to stand on an equal footing with the rest of the State in its progress.

Aside from the direct missionary work, I have been interested in the educational work here, especially in the maintenance of a library for the town. On October 1 I move to the address above and will have charge of Grace Episcopal Church and of a mill chapel in the suburbs."

He married at Grace Church, in Monroe, N. Y., September 6, 1910, Miss Marian Hay Cook, daughter of William E. Cook, lawyer, of New York City, and of Flora Elizabeth (Francis) Cook. Mrs. Andrews is a member of the Class of 1902, Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 2d, 4th and 6th. "Democrat; voted for W. H. Taft, 1908."

Hugh Archbald, B.A., M.M.E.

(Columbia 1907)

Mining Engineer. Care Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.

"I feel like repeating the standard remark made to reporters seeking an interview: 'Nothing to say for publication.' As a member of the Archbald family I am in an exceedingly unsettled state, in a reconstruction period after the senate bowled father out last January on a lot of faked-up, d— trashy evidence. Since Sexennial I have held the position of mine foreman in one of the D., L. & W. mines and have also been Assistant Editor of a mining paper, Mines and Minerals, now known as the Colliery Engineer. At present I am like a little bird on a twig, ready to fly away (from Scranton, Pa.) at any minute. I have not yet obtained any wives nor taken a child unto myself."

Since sending the letter above, he has written from New York City, where he is a member of the Yale Club.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d.

George Stanleigh Arnold, B.A., LL.B.

(1906)

Lawyer. Denman & Arnold, 1020 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Residence, 3240 Pacific Ave.

"In June, 1909, I was Law Examiner of the United States Forest Service under Gifford Pinchot. The pernicious activity of Mr. Pinchot interfering with the laudable activity of a patriot and descendant of patriots named Guggenheim, who could have used Alaska with advantage to himself, made it expedient for some of us unsafe demagogues to resign from the Service. Thereupon I drifted always westward to Denver, Portland, San Francisco. So now in California I am competing with Japanese schoolboys for the ownership of the soil.

My practice necessitates many journeys back to Washington. I would that I could tell you of great achievement, but I cannot, unless content is to be so regarded. The most satisfactory work (to me) that I have done was to assist in upholding the constitutionality of the Woman's Eight Hour law in California. My plans at present are simple—i. e., to lay up enough eventually so that I need take only such cases as I want and am interested in, and so that I can wander, occasionally, over the face of the earth, more especially in the woods and mountains. Chance or romance may disarrange this happy program."

His firm, Denman & Arnold, with William Denman as partner, was established in San Francisco, December 11, 1911.

He was designated Alternate Delegate to the Progressive Convention in Chicago in 1912, but was unable to attend.

Clubs: Graduates, New Haven; University, San Francisco
Golf and Country, Burlingame, Mira Monte Commonwealth,
San Francisco.

Reunions: T., S., D. Progressive.

Stanfield Nichols Arnold, M.E.

(Columbia 1905)

Consulting Engineer and Contractor. Boyajohn-Arnold Co.,
907 Wilcox Building, Portland, Ore.
Residence, 555 Terrace Drive. (M.)

He is partner in the firm, Boyajohn-Arnold Co., Consulting Engineers and Contractors.

Stanfield Nichols Arnold, Jr., was born October 10, 1911, in The Dalles, Oregon.

William Brown Arvine, B.A.

Lawyer. Arvine, Beers & Woodruff, 42 Church St., New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 1141 Forest St., and Double Beach. (M.)

Since his admission to the Connecticut Bar in 1907, he has practiced continuously in New Haven.

He has two daughters, Viola Elizabeth Arvine, born December
21, 1908, and Alice Strong Arvine, born April 17, 1910.

He has written a book, entitled, "Hang Up Philosophy,
And Other Poems." Professor Phelps, writing of it, in the Alumni Weekly, said, "A particular interest in this volume lies for every Yale man and every sojourner in New Haven in the fact that a considerable number of the poems are intensely local, in inspiration, sentiment, and in description. Mr. Arvine has not gone afar in search of material; he finds poetry all about him, at his very doors. . . . He is primarily a poet of the twilight. The transitory beauty of departing day, the crescendo of color set off against the penumbra of approaching night, with the hushed, expectant stillness of the moment—all this seems to make the proper accompaniment for his song."

Reunions: D.

Morton Atwater, B.A.

Stock Broker. Atwater, Foote & Sherrill, 35 Market St.,
Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Residence, South Hamilton and Livingston Sts.

He left New York in 1910 and on the first of June, 1912, with Gilbert F. Foote, Harold W. Sherrill and Eliot Atwater, formed a partnership under the firm name, Atwater, Foote & Sherrill, for the transaction of a general brokerage business in stocks and bonds. They are members of the New York Stock Exchange, their New York correspondents being Post & Flagg of 38 Wall Street.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Amrita and University, Poughkeepsie; and "several Country clubs and Motoring organizations." Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Douglass Henry Atwill, B.A., B.D.

(Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, 1907)

Rector. Calvary Episcopal Church, Broadway and Ohio Sts., Sedalia, Mo.
Residence, 819 South Vermont Ave. (M.)

"Heartily wish that I could be with you at the Reunion. Hope you all have a bully good time."

He is serving as Rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church in Sedalia. He married, November 2, 1909, in Sedalia, Miss Mima Josephine Jänisch, daughter of Thomas Cole Jänisch and Martha (Benter) Jänisch. The ceremony was performed by Douglass's father, the late Rt. Rev. Edward R. Atwill, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of West Missouri. John B. Motter, 1903, was best man. Mrs. Atwill attended the National Cathedral School in Washington, in the Class of 1908.

A son, Thomas Jänisch Atwill, born in Sedalia, February 6, died there, February 10, 1911.

Progressive.

Charles Crooke Auchincloss, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. With Littlefield & Littlefield, 11 Pine St., New York City.
Residence, 12 East 71st St. (M.)

He continues in the practice of law, being associated with Hon. Charles E. Littlefield, former Congressman from Maine, and his son Charles W. Littlefield, 1903.

His son, Richard S. Auchincloss, was born in New York City, November 15, 1909, and his second daughter, Josephine Lee Auchincloss, was born in Seabright, N. J., April 20, 1912.

A brother, Reginald LaGrange Auchincloss, graduated in the Class of 1913.

His political activities have consisted in watching at the polls several years ago. He writes: "I have not taken as active an interest in politics as I hope to in the future." Republican.

Clubs: University, Racquet and Tennis, Union, Yale and Riding.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Charles Russell Auchincloss, B.A.

Stock Broker. Maury & Auchincloss, 20 Broad St., New York City.
Residence, 901 Lexington Ave. (M.)

"Since the Sexennial Reunion I have continued to live in New York City during the greater part of each year, spending the summers as usual at some place within commuting distance of the city, varied by occasional vacation trips to the Maine woods or to places at an even greater distance. These trips constitute my 'travels,' with the exception of two months which my wife and I spent in Scotland in the autumn of 1909.

On May 1, 1910, I formed, with Henry T. Maury, the firm of Maury & Auchincloss, for the transaction of a general banking and commission business in stocks and bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and outside. We had two special partners for the first two years, Charles W. Maury and W. Strother

Jones. Charles W. Maury is still a special partner in the present firm.

My plans in a general way point to my continuing as a member of the New York Stock Exchange in the banking and brokerage business, and I shall probably, naturally, continue to reside in New York City."

His cousin, Reginald LaGrange Auchincloss, graduated in the Class of 1913.

Clubs: Union and Rockaway Hunting. "Democratic ticket, National Election, fall, 1912."

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 6th, 7th and 10th.

Ernest Fairbanks Bacon, B.A.

Superintendent Piano Construction. Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.
Residence, Columbus. (M.)

"Chicago, Ill., April 26, 1913.—On May 1st I am to be associated with Paul Lindenberg and 'Ken' Curtis in the Columbus Piano Co. I am looking forward to it with a great deal of pleasure."

From a Columbus newspaper article, "Three Yale Men Work Together," dated, May 15, 1913: "The Columbus Piano Co. has been fortunate in the selection of a new Factory Superintendent. He is Ernest F. Bacon, for ten years with the Cable Co., and the Mason & Hamlin Factory in Boston. Mr. Bacon is a Yale man, graduating in the Class of 1903, with President Paul Lindenberg, and Kenneth W. Curtis, their salesmanager. The fact that these three men were classmates in Yale makes the present connection a coincidence, and one that is unusually pleasant and fortunate for all concerned—a Reunion under pleasing conditions. Mr. Bacon will be a valuable addition to the already strong forces of the Columbus Company."

His second child, Rachel Louise Bacon, was born October 8, 1910, in Berwyn, Ill.

Clubs: Lodge No. 839, A. F. & A. M., and Berwyn Club. Republican.

Reunions: T.

Thorne Baker, B.A., LL.B.

(Cincinnati Law School 1906)

Lawyer. 1514-20 Union Trust Building, Cincinnati, O.

Residence, Reading Road and Oak St.

"Practiced law; expect to continue to practice law indefinitely at the old stand."

He is practicing independently, having offices with his father, Mr. Charles W. Baker. He served as State Senator, 78th Ohio General Assembly, his term expiring January 1, 1911. His brother, Charles W. Baker, Jr., graduated in the Class of 1913.

Clubs: Cincinnati Country, Queen City, University, Young Men's Blaine, Stamina Republican League and Yale. Republican.

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 3d and 4th.

Burton John Baldwin, B.A., B.D.

(B.A. Wesleyan 1902, B.A. 1903, B.D. Union Seminary 1908)

Teacher and Graduate Student. 834 Fernald Hall, Columbia University, New York City.

"Have been in New York City ever since I left Yale, studying at Union Seminary and Columbia University, teaching preparatory school and tutoring. Statistician for Committee of One Hundred. Made a study of Part Time School Children, the results of which were published in the New York Evening Post.

Did editorial work on the forthcoming Encyclopedia of the History of Civilization of which Prof. F. H. Giddings is Editor-in-Chief. Also editorial work for Putnam's publishers. When time allowed, I have been working for Ph.D. degree in the Department of Political Science, Columbia.

Have been preaching in New York City and vicinity, South Reformed Church and Manor Chapel, Sixth Presbyterian, Newark, and First United Presbyterian, Brooklyn.

Regret I did not take four years with 1903, and am heartily thankful and appreciative of the way my 1903 classmates received me into their ranks."

And later, from the Gulf of Naples, July 8, 1913, "We are staying here on this strange old island of Capri, renowned for remains of works of Tiberias Cæsar. The air makes one sleepy and lazy—an ideal place for a vacation.”

He took an active part in the last Presidential campaign, “on the ‘stump’ for ‘Teddy.’”

A brother entered Yale Sheff. this fall.

Clubs: Yale and American Sociological Society. Bull Moose—Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 7th, 8th and 9th.

Walter Lewis Barber, Jr., B.A., M.D.

(New York University 1907)

Physician. 87 North Main St., Waterbury, Conn. (M.)

“Practically all of my time since the days in New Haven has been spent along medical lines. I received my professional degree in 1907, then spent two years in the hospitals in New York City. After that I returned here to Waterbury to take up the practice of medicine with my father. I find it necessary in this competitive struggle for existence, to stick close and try to improve each opportunity.

I sincerely regret that I have been so narrow and have taken so little time for social intercourse with the boys of 1903, but it is my aim, in the future, to avail myself of more opportunities to see the Class.

My achievements are nihil.”

He married in New York City, October 26, 1909, Miss Margaret Oltman Fallon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hassett Fallon. Alfred L. Hart, 1903, was one of his ushers.

Reunions: T., D. Republican.

Perley Ernest Barbour

Manufacturer. Brocton Rand Co., Leather Supply Manufacturers,
Montello, Mass.

Residence, 11 Maple St., Braintree, Mass. (M.)

“After leaving college tried one business venture with only fair success, then went to work for my father and brother in the leather business. Later became Superintendent of the factory and at the time of my father's death about three years ago was taken into the firm. Have been quite busy at home bringing up a family of three husky boys, all of whom I hope will go to Yale.

In closing I wish to say, that, although I was able to spend only two years at New Haven, I consider myself just twice as fortunate as the man who said on leaving Yale at the end of freshman year, 'better one year at Yale than four anywhere else.' "

He was made a partner in the Brocton Rand Company, in September, 1910, having been identified with this firm in the manufacture of leather supplies since 1901.

His third son, John Barbour, was born, February 6, 1912, in Braintree.

Clubs: New York Yale, Boston Yale, Boston Athletic Association, Masons, Knights Templars and Mystic Shrine. Republican.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 9th, S.

Will Tilden Barker, B.A.

(1904)

Permanent Address, Farmington, N. H. (M.)

He married, September 23, 1907, in Farmington, Miss Alta F. Leighton, daughter of Woodberry J. Leighton, shoe manufacturer, and Jennie (Tibbett) Leighton. Mrs. Barker is a graduate of the Farmington High School, Class of 1897. Their two children were born in Farmington: Shirley Frances Barker, April 4, 1911, and Hiram Leighton Barker, October 26, 1912. Democrat.

Glover Beardaley, B.A.

Construction Superintendent. Otis Elevator Company, Eleventh Ave. and 26th St., New York City.
Residence, 1 West 64th St. (M.)

"Since Sexennial I have been married to Daisy Lenore Koehn and we have lived in New York. A daughter—Annette—was born in 1911, in New York (September 26).

It has been a pleasure to have been associated continuously since graduation with the Otis Elevator Company."

He was married at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa., December 29, 1910. Mrs. Beardsley is the daughter of Oliver Nelson Koën, retired, and Florida Virginia (Knotts) Koën of Mannington, West Virginia. She is a graduate, in the Class of 1901, of the Walnut Lane School of Philadelphia.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Arthur Charles Becker, B.A.

Treasurer. A. J. Neimeyer Lumber Co., Little Rock, Ark.
Residence, 2314 Battery St. (M.)

"Have been in the same line of work since Sexennial, and expect to continue, as far as I can see now. I have been too busy with my work and family to do much traveling, and my principal recreation I find in being with my wife and children. I am going to do my best to attend the Decennial, but am not sure at this time whether I can do so."

The A. J. Neimeyer Lumber Co., of which he has been Treasurer since 1907, are manufacturers of yellow pine.

Since the birth of Arthur Charles Becker, Jr., February 16, 1908, in Belleville, Ill., three other boys have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Becker, in Little Rock: Joseph Fuess Becker, February 15, 1910; Frederick Ray Becker, November 8, 1911, and Richard Waugelin Becker, February 12, 1913. A great sorrow came to their home when, through an accident, Frederick was taken from them, April 17, 1913.

He served as Elector on the Republican ticket, in 1912, in the 5th Congressional District of Arkansas.

Clubs: Masonic (all branches), Little Rock Country. Republican.

Reunions: S.

Joseph Lewi Bendell, B.A., M.D.

(Union 1907)

Surgeon. 178 State St., Albany, N. Y.

"Surgical affiliations: Attending Dispensary Surgeon—Albany (N. Y.) Hospital, Assistant Attending Surgeon, South End Dispensary; Instructor in Surgery, Albany Medical College."

Lewi Gluick, 1915, is a relative.

Clubs: Adelphi, Albany Racquet and the American Medical Association; State and County Medical Societies, etc. Progressive.

Reunions: D.

Claude Garfield Bennethum, B.A.

Real Estate. With Thorpe Brothers, 206 Andrus Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

Residence, 3037 Park Ave. (M.)

"Since Sexennial I have been with Thorpe Bros., Real Estate Agents, with whom I started on the 'bottom round.' By close application I have been steadily advancing and hope to, some day, reach the top. My first work with this firm was in the rentals, but for three years past have been in the mortgage loan department. I believe this to be the most interesting work of the real estate business, and my one regret is that I didn't begin as soon as I left college.

Mr. Thorpe is an enthusiastic Princeton man, and 'as such,' claims he likes Yale. I have noticed this much, that college men always seem to pull together.

My inability to attend our Sexennial Reunion has been a keen disappointment to me, but it was unavoidable, as I had just made a change in business. Almer Newhall stopped off to see me on his way back home and kind of 'soothed my wounded feelings' by telling me of all the glorious times I missed with the fellows in New Haven. I made up my mind then that nothing would keep me from our future Reunions.

As I drift farther and farther away I cannot help but feel that the Class of 1903 must have been unusually fortunate in the time that it happened at Yale, because so much transpired during our four years to make them 'golden' to us, in after years. Yale's greatest football and crew triumphs came during our college days, which in themselves would make the undergraduate of to-day happy, but besides these athletic victories we helped inaugurate President Hadley, and later took a very active part in the memorable Bicentennial.

Can anyone imagine 1903 men being dissatisfied with their era at Yale? I believe the Yale Spirit was best exemplified in the Class of 1903. I don't believe there is one man in the Class who would exchange, if he could, with any previous or later classes."

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d. "Republican. Last Presidential election, plugged hard for Mr. Taft."

Josiah Henry Benton, B.A.

Farming. Copake, Columbia County, N. Y. (M.)

"Since the last Reunion I have bought a farm in Copake, N. Y., and have been engaged in dairying and general farming. Due to this occupation and the location of the farm I have been out of touch with most of my classmates except for an occasional visit to the Yale Club in New York. My house is wide open to any of the members of 1903."

His second child, a daughter, Gladys Ellen Benton, was born March 13, 1911.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Masons and New York Grange.

Reunions: T., S. Republican.

Martin Henry Bergen, B.A.

With National Biscuit Company, 409 West 15th St., New York City.
Residence, 161 West 12th Street.

"Residences, 17 West 9th Street, New York City, 1911-1912, 161 West 12th Street, New York City, 1912-. In 1910 took trip to California and British Columbia, stopping at points en route. In 1912 through southeastern part of Canada."

He is foreman in the manufacturing department of the National Biscuit Company.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 5th and 6th.

Pemberton Berman, B.A.

Broker. Charles D. Barney & Co., 25 Broad St., New York City.
Residence, 101 Waverly Place.

"Most of the year after Sexennial I devoted to kicking myself for allowing business to interfere with pleasure—and in consequence failing to get to New Haven for that great event. Since then I have been working along the usual lines of investment business, and studying in a superficial way for my own amusement subjects—more especially statistical—connected therewith, and particularly the operating statistics of railroads. In 1911 I gave up my own business—such as it was—and came over to the office of Charles D. Barney & Co., where I still remain. I have had some rather interesting outside work in the shape of secretaryships to several committees,—Thomas Liquidation Trustees, Platt Iron Works Co. Creditors' Committee, Wabash R. R. Co. Stockholders' Committee. Also I have managed to wander around the country more or less on business, and have, in that way, kept more or less in touch with a few of the Class.

As to plans and ambitions, if I can train into proper condition to successfully survive Decennial I'll feel content, but I'll be there regardless of the prospects of surviving.

'For how can men die better
Than facing fearful odds'—
Waiter! Another quart!"

Clubs: Yale, Reform and West Side Tennis. Democrat.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 7th, 8th and 10th.

James Milton Betts, B.A., LL.B.

(1905)

Lawyer. Woolworth Building, 233 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 5 West 125th St.

"Have lived at 5 West 125th Street, New York City, since 1909. Office for practice of law was at 280 Broadway, New York City, from 1907, until recent removal to the Woolworth Building, 21st floor."

Clubs: Yale of New York. Independent.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 3d, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Alfred Hoyt Bill, B.A.

Instructor. Seabury Divinity School, 528 5th St., Faribault, Minn.
Residence, Faribault. (M.)

He is Instructor in English in the Preparatory Department of the Seabury Divinity School. Since living in Minnesota, he has served as a member of the Charter Commission of the City of Faribault.

He was Private in the Signal Corps, New Jersey National Guard, and was discharged on account of removal from the State in 1905. Since September, 1910, he has served as 2d Lieutenant, Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

His third child, Edward Clarke Bill, was born in Faribault, April 26, 1910.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Travelers, Faribault; Minnesota and University, St. Paul; and associate member of the United States Cavalry Association. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 2d.

Avard Longley Bishop, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(B.A. Acadia 1901, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1906)

Assistant Professor of Geography and Commerce, 190 Kirtland Hall, Sheffield Scientific School, New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 280 Willow Avenue. (M.)

"Since June, 1909, I have continued at Yale as a member of the Faculty. Maintained connection with the Academic Department until June, 1911. Since then my connection has been entirely with the Sheffield Scientific School, as Assistant Professor of Geography and Commerce."

He was appointed by Governor Roberts, '77, of Connecticut, a delegate to the National Convention for the Extension of the Foreign Commerce of the United States, held in Washington, D. C., in January, 1911.

Avard Longley Bishop, Jr., was born in New Haven, June 2, 1911.

Clubs: Graduates, New Haven Lawn, American Economic Association and National Geographic Society.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Robert Lounsbury Black, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Black, Swing & Black, Rooms 1603-6 Union Trust Building, Cincinnati, O.
Residence, Baker Place, Madison Road.

"Since June, 1909, I have continued in the practice of the law with my father under the firm name of Black & Black. It has been a long and steady grind, with some progress and some success, I hope. During the summer of 1912 my father was desperately sick with septic following an attack of appendicitis, and lingered for three months almost at the very threshold. He has now recovered,—almost miraculously. On January 1, 1913, we entered into partnership with Judge James B. Swing, who resigned from the Common Pleas Bench to join us. With the new and heavier responsibilities that have fallen on me it is very doubtful whether I can go on to New Haven to meet my good friends at Decennial. It will be a great disappointment if I cannot.

I had a trip in Europe during the summer of 1911,—two months of the keenest pleasure on the Continent and a week each in London and Paris. That has been practically my only long vacation.

I have had little time or energy for writing during these last three years. In my professional work I find many stories ready made to the hand, but the chipping away and the polishing is no easier than it was in the college days of the Lit, and now there are many other things that seem more pressing. It is a sorry confession to make.

In politics, I have done very little. Cincinnati has had its cleaning up, thanks largely to Harry Hunt, 1900, and the reform element is now content to rest for a little while until the call comes again.

No girl has yet been so adventurous as to take a chance on me. I see so many of my classmates, who have been more fortunate,—especially the ones who have little prospective Yale men, that I still hope my good luck will come. But it still hangs stubbornly in the distant offing.

My roommate, Hugh Rankin, came out here to visit me for three days last year. The Reverend Johnston stopped over a train or so and Sid Hooper has passed by on the express. Those short hours remain as high lights of the past, but so far I have not been able to persuade them to return. If they, or any other of the old crowd, will pass this way I shall break down a door to make them welcome.

You ask of my hopes and ideals. They are, in the essence, the ideals and hopes of most men who have had the Yale teaching. I should like most to do the work that lies before me, cleanly and well, to accomplish what small tasks the high gods have laid on me, and to be known as a conscientious, honest, man."

He is Corporal in Troop C, 1st Squadron, Ohio Cavalry; and from 1911-1912, and from 1912-1913, Secretary of the Cincinnati Yale Club.

Reunions: T., S. Independent.

Arthur George Blaisdell, B.A.

Managing Editor. Real Estate Magazines of Pease & Elliman, 340 Madison Ave., New York City.
Residence, 173 West 78th St.

"Have been in real estate since I came to New York in 1904, and have succeeded in dividing the time between only three positions. As for Yale spirit I owe a good deal to Bob Granniss, '03, a Vice President of my firm."

Republican.

Howard Jasper Bloomer, LL.B.

(1903)

Lawyer. 50 State St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, Windsor, Conn. (M.)

He continues in the practice of law in Hartford. He married, in Providence, R. I., October 12, 1912, Miss Florence Hoover Bushell, daughter of Rev. Walter Bushell and Caria Chitten (Hoover) Bushell. Mrs. Bloomer graduated at Brown University, B.A. 1911.

He is Major of the 1st Infantry, Connecticut National Guard, and in politics, an "old time, stand pat Republican."

Clubs: Sons of the American Revolution, Washington Commandery, Knights Templars, Sphinx Temple A. A. O. N. M. S.; Hartford; Connecticut Consistory A. A. S. R., Norwich.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 3d, 6th and 8th.

William Alexander Blount, Jr., B.A., LL.B.

(Alabama 1904)

Vice President and Cashier. Pensacola State Bank, 7½ South Palafox St., Pensacola, Fla.

Residence, Sea Marge, Pensacola, Fla. (M.)

In 1909 he severed his connection as partner with his father and uncle in the law firm, Blount & Blount & Carter, and became associated with the Pensacola State Bank as Cashier and Vice President.

He married, June 14, 1910, in Pensacola, Miss Mary Louise Quina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion A. Quina. The wedding ceremony was performed at St. Michael's Church, the reception following at the bride's home, 520 North Palafox Street.

Reunions: T., S.

Samuel Russell Bogue, B.A.

Broker. Office with Tate & Hays, 71 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, The Dorilton, 171 West 71st St. (M.)

In the spring of 1910 he returned from San Francisco to New York City, where his business has been in stocks and bonds. At the time of the Decennial Reunion he was in Europe.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d and 8th.

Robert Elias Bond, B.A.

President and Managing Director. Island Electric Co., Ltd., Wailuku, Maui, T. H.
Residence, Wailuku, Maui, T. H. (M.)

"Resigned position of broker for Trent Trust Co., Ltd., in May, 1910. Took a long rest and vacation, during which I was married, and then traveled leisurely from San Francisco to San Francisco, via Portland, Ore; Mt. Hood; Seattle; Victoria, B. C.; Vancouver; Canadian Rockies (Sycamous Junction, Glacier, Field, Yoho Valley, Laggan-Lake Louise and Banff); Calgary, Moose Jaw; St. Paul; Chicago; Springfield, Ill.; Buffalo; Syracuse; New York City; Hartford, Conn.; Boston; New York City; Washington, D. C.; States of Alabama, Georgia, etc., New Orleans and Los Angeles. Arrived again in Honolulu in October, 1910, residing in Manoa Valley, City of Honolulu. On November 12, 1910, incorporated, organized, and assumed management and presidency of Island Investment Co., Ltd., of which, as a holding company, I am still president and manager. On November 21, 1911, incorporated, organized, and assumed presidency of Island Electric Co., Ltd., which owns sole federal franchise for production, sale and distribution of electric current in the District of Wailuku, County of Maui, T. H. On August 9, 1912, having seen the completion, commencement of operation and financing of the plant and system of the electric company, I was sent to California to regain lost health. Returned September 20, 1912, to Honolulu, leaving my wife in California for a longer visit. Urged by stockholders and directors to relieve the manager of the electric company of his duties, I moved to my present address permanently on October 1, 1912, and took complete charge of the affairs of the company. Was joined by my wife in Honolulu, December 6, 1912, and we have lived in the town of Wailuku since December 7, 1912.

Surrounding scenery, superb; climate, an ideally cool, delicious blend of mountain and ocean air; work, arduous, complex and successful. No hobbies, except delight in perfect musical records for the 'Welte Mignon' and the 'Victor,' and in motoring daily through wonderful country of an inexhaustible variety of scenery and climate.

Achievements,—happiness and more happiness. Aims,—further promotion of successful corporations for the improvement of this, or more than one other locality and for public service.

With best wishes and aloha to all the Class.

P. S. Ask Phil Condict about our swim together in the blue Pacific at the famous Waikiki Beach!"

He married, July 30, 1910, at the First Unitarian Church in Berkeley, Cal., Miss Rowena Katherine Elston, University of California 1909, daughter of Rev. and Professor Allen Manderville Elston, retired, and Ada Florence (Elliott) Elston.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Yale Alumni Association and University, Hawaii; Oahu Country, Commercial, Honolulu; Manoa Valley Tennis, etc. "Republican, always and everywhere."

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 1st, 4th and 5th.

Edward Charles Bowers, B.A.

Secretary and General Manager. Wickwire Mining Co., Iron River, Mich.
Residence, Iron River. (M.)

He is Secretary and General Manager of the Wickwire Mining Company, and also of the Buffalo Iron Mining Company of which Theodore H. Wickwire, Jr., 1903, is President.

He married, December 31, 1910, in New York City, Mrs. Charlotte Dorothy Hyatt.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d and 7th. Republican.

Charles Arnold Brady, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Charles Arnold Brady, a son of John Arnold Brady and Jane (Gordon) Brady, was born at Norwich, Conn., on January 29, 1882. He prepared for College at the Norwich Free Academy, and entered Yale with the Class of 1903. In college he was a member of Beta Theta Pi, and graduated with a Second Colloquy Senior appointment. Upon his graduation, and after a short trip abroad, he entered the New York Law School, graduating in June, 1905. He promptly passed his examinations for admission to the Bar in the State of New York. For a short time thereafter he was connected with the Lawyers Title Company of New York, but in March, 1906, he opened an independent office for the practice of law. He continued in the practice of law until his untimely death upon January 3, 1913.

The foregoing covers what most of us know of the facts of Charlie Brady's life. His modesty prevented us from knowing more. But it would require volumes to do justice to his unique and fascinating character. Reference to a few of his more prominent characteristics follows.

First, his life was a daily sermon in the gospel of good cheer. A few minutes' conversation with Charlie Brady was like a tonic to the soul. It dispelled one's cares and braced one for life's responsibilities, and the number of people upon whom he exercised this influence is countless. They were of all ages. They came from all stations and walks of life. He knew no class distinction. Everyone with whom he came in contact, after a few minutes of Charlie Brady, went on his way rejoicing.

As one of his classmates expresses it: "His fine gaiety was always such a care-dispeller to his friends. Few of us could ever have given him such comfort in return, and the blessing of his cheerfulness, always so kind and encouraging, flowed from him without an effort."

Another classmate describes this characteristic in the following language: "Charlie Brady had a smile for everybody. He would rather wave to every fellow he passed on Church Street than feel he had let an acquaintance go by unnoticed."

Charles A. Brady

Arthur C. Long

Theodore E. Ffill

Arthur Manierre

Again, Charlie Brady's honor and respect toward his father and mother were always in evidence. He referred to his parents frequently, and every reference showed the tender love he bore them. He wrote home regularly three or four times a week. He enjoyed particularly his mother's letters to him, and did not hesitate to say so. This filial devotion, a noble trait in any man, was especially prominent in Charlie Brady's life.

Lastly, Charlie Brady was a devoted and loyal son of old Yale. He was proud of his alma mater. He was proud of his Class. He was constant in attendance at all Yale functions. He attended nearly all of the annual New York Dinners of 1903. He attended the Triennial and Sexennial Reunions of the Class. He was a member of the New York Yale Club. He told the writer only a few weeks before his death of the pleasure he received in renewing old Yale friendships, and in making new ones at the Yale Club in New York. Charlie Brady wanted to achieve for the sake of his College and his Class. And Charlie Brady wanted all other Yale men to achieve, for the sake of their College and their respective classes.

Charlie Brady's place in 1903 is vacant. It will never be filled. Charlie Brady's place in the world at large is vacant. More people have missed him and will miss him than any of us will ever realize.

William Ferguson.

Allen Cleveland Bragaw, B.A.

Lawyer, 165 Broadway, New York City.

Residence, 340 Hartford Road, South Orange, N. J. (M.)

"Have lived the quiet and peaceful life of an American farmer since 1907 when I married and 'settled down.' Living in the country, I have a garden which I look at, occasionally work in, and attempt to philosophize over;—also here I find opportunity to work young Bill, who gives promise of being a better man than his dad, and who is booked for the Class of 1920. Have practiced law since being admitted to the New York bar in 1905, first, as a hireling of the Title Companies, and since that, as a general practitioner. My only travels are those of a commuter, on the Delay, Linger and Wait R. R., whereon I have traveled about a million miles in five years. My hobby is my wife and family, with a little tennis as a recreation, and my greatest aim is to win the tennis championship at Newport—really serious, Dud. My principal achievement is to pay the office rent each month, and give the butcher and baker something on account, same as in old days of Yale 1903.”

He is associated in his law practice with Theodore T. Lane, 1903, and Albert W. Meisel, Columbia Law School 1906.

His second child, Kathryn Allen Bragaw, was born February 13, 1912, in South Orange, N. J.

Clubs: Essex County Country and South Orange Tennis. Progressive.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 1st, 7th and 8th.

Samuel Mason Brereton, B.A., M.A.

(1904)

Born May 6, 1877, in Dundalk, Ireland.

Died February 12, 1908, in Mercersburg, Pa.

The Sexennial History, pp. 39-40, contains a sketch of his life. Mr. Thomas Farmer of Philadelphia, Pa., one of those who was with him shortly before his death, said recently: “He had won the love and respect both of the students and faculty of Mercersberg Academy, and his departure was an irreparable loss to the School.”

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Brereton, live at 8 Baldwin Place in New Haven, Conn. Mr. Brereton showed his kindly interest in 1903 by calling at Headquarters during the Decennial Reunion.

Raymond Paul Brinkman

Farmer. Stillwell, Kans. (M.)

“In the year 1909 I was still associated with the S. W. Noggle Wholesale & Manufacturing Co., of Kansas City, and did not leave them until July 1, 1910, when Mrs. Brinkman and I took a good long vacation on the Muskoka Lakes in Canada. In February, 1911, we decided we would like to try the life of farmers and bought a small place of twenty acres and are trying to run an up-to-date, scientific farm. We bought a run-down place and have spent most of our time, and incidentally, all of our money, trying to fix it up. We have a very comfortable home with all the modern conveniences and are trying to educate our neighbors, and fill our pocket-books by raising thoroughbred stock, such as big type Poland-China hogs, Jersey dairy cattle, white Plymouth Rock chickens and a few mules. But we find the mules the greatest trouble, in that they seem to inherit, to quite a degree, the 'Dutch' stubbornness of the boss, and are hard to handle. Have had Frank Mulford out on the place for a short time and tried to show him the 'most independent life on earth'(?); one of hard work, getting him out at 4.30 A. M. and letting him go to bed, after chores were done, at 9.30 or 10.00 o'clock. But just the same, no more city life for me. Lots of luck and best wishes for a hot time in June. Sorry I can't be there as I will undoubtedly be putting up hay at that time."

His daughter, Penelope, born December 11, 1910, in Kansas City, Mo., died June 14, 1912.

Clubs: Country and Mid-Day, Kansas City. Democrat.

Ralph Bristol, B.A.

Broker. With Jenks, Gwynne & Co., 27 William St., New York City.
Residence, Montclair, N. J. (M.)

"I continued in business, residing in Waterbury, until the spring of 1910. May 16 of that year I came to New York City to engage in the brokerage business with John Burnham & Co., 31 Nassau Street, specialists in unlisted securities, and the following fall took up my residence in Montclair, N. J.

In the latter part of 1911 I became Assistant Treasurer of the above company, from which office I have just resigned to become associated with Jenks, Gwynne & Co., members of the Stock Exchange, with whom I expect to work along the same lines as hitherto."

His second son, John Webster Bristol, was born February 7, 1913, in Montclair, N. J.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

John Shaw Broekamit, B.A.

(1904)

Banker. Cashier, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 82 East Elm St.

"In May, 1911, I came from Cedar Rapids to Chicago to work for the Harris Trust and Savings Bank as Cashier. Since then I have been industriously at it trying to keep a scant couple of jumps ahead of the sheriff, thus far with some appearance of success.

Some day or other, of course, I hope to become famous and then will be able to write a more extended autobiography."

Clubs: University, Chicago; Commercial and University, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Charles Tracy Brown

Born March 4, 1882, in New York City.

Died July 21, 1900, in Quogue, L. I.

The Triennial History, pp. 61-62, contains a sketch of his life written by F. J. O. Alsop, 1903. The address of his mother, Mrs. Julia Tracy Brown, is Colden Avenue, Flushing, N. Y.

From a letter written by his mother, dated July 6, 1913: "It is such a gratification to find that my Charlie's friends remember him. After thirteen years it means much to his mother that his Class should remember him. I always follow his classmates' careers with real interest, and from my heart I wish them all every success and blessing."

Thomas Marshall Howe Brown

Permanent Address, Woodland Road, Pittsburgh, Pa.

He recently sent the above permanent address. His father, Mr. James W. Brown, a leading banker of Pittsburgh, died this past year.

Ralph Willis Bumstead, B.A.

President. R. W. Bumstead Co., Industrial Engineers, Old South Building, Boston, Mass.

Residence, 91 St. Paul St., Brookline, Mass.

"The incidents of my life, since June, 1909, have been chiefly two: (1) the tardy fulfillment of my intention (as hinted in the Sexennial Record) to quit the job which I held at that time; and (2) the giving birth in March, 1912, to a business of my own. For about a year I nursed it along with unaided effort and then entered into partnership with a man who is quite energetic and serviceable in many ways and to whom much credit is due for various schemes which have tended to promote the welfare of the company.

Our plans for the future are to convince every manufacturer in New England that he can profit by our 'Simple Schemes for Better Results with Less Effort.'"

Clubs: Yale of Boston. Democrat.

Reunions: D.

Ralph Howard Burdett, B.A.

Insurance. With Weed & Kennedy, Underwriters' Building, 123-33 William St., New York City.

"Have been engaged since graduation in field work in fire insurance, and am now in charge of the field work of the American Exchange Underwriters for whom my present firm, Weed & Kennedy, are managers."

Reunions: T.

Robert Grey Bushong, B.A., LL.B.

(Columbia 1906)

Lawyer. 536 Court St., Reading, Pa.

Residence. 1576 Mineral Spring Road.

He was a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives in 1909, and was elected Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Berks County in 1912. He continues in the practice of law.

Clubs: Pennsylvania Bar Association, Berkshire Country and Wyomissing. Republican.

Erwin Minsel Calmer, B.A.

Farmer. Fruits and Alfalfa, McFarland, Cal. (M.)

About two years ago he went to McFarland and bought an alfalfa and fruit ranch where he has specialized in the culture of lemons and oranges. He writes, July 19, 1913: "I love this country. Hunting is fine; got two deer and a mountain lion last week. However, would like to see the East for a week. Give anyone in 1903 my best."

Edward Herbert Cameron, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

B.A. Acadia 1900, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1906)

Assistant Professor of Psychology. Yale University, 837 Yale Station,
New Haven, Conn.

Residence, 835 Orange St. (M.)

"Appointed Instructor in Psychology, Yale, 1906. Assistant Professor of Psychology, Yale, 1910.

Have done supervisory work in the public schools under State appointment."

His second daughter, Mary Louise Cameron, was born January 29, 1911, in New Haven.

Clubs: Graduates.

Reunions: T., D.

James Noël Howard Campbell, B.A., LL.B.

(1906)

Investment Securities. H. K. Taylor & Co., 75 Pearl St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, 674 Prospect Avenue. (M.)

"Perhaps my most practical present ambition and aim is to so arrange my affairs that I will not be obliged to scratch so hard after the price of gasoline that I won't have any time to ride in the automobile. So far it seems to take all of my ability to keep up with the rising price of gas.

Some historical writer once said 'Happy are the people who have no history.' Judged by this standard my happiness must be monumental."

He is a member of the firm, H. K. Taylor & Co.

Two children have been born, both in Hartford, Conn., since the birth of his first son, James, in 1908: Judith, October 13, 1910, and Malcolm Griswold, March 7, 1912.

He has been a member of the Republican Committee of his ward for several years and has also served four terms in the Court of Common Council. On April 1, 1913, he was elected a member of the High School Committee.

Clubs: Hartford, University, Hartford Golf, Farmington Country, Republican, Eyelet; Yale and Phi Gamma Delta of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Loren Russell Carter, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. 11 East Main St., Waterbury, Conn.

"Practiced law regularly and continuously at 11 East Main Street, Waterbury, since 1909."

He has voted the Republican and Progressive tickets and was Progressive candidate for Judge of Probate for Waterbury.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 4th.

George Brewster Chadwick, B.A.

Manager. The Paterson Manufacturing Co., Limited, Coal Tar Products, Roofing and Paving Material, 172 King St., East, Toronto, Canada.

"My life since Sexennial can be briefly sketched. As to business, in January, 1911, I was sent to Toronto as manager, for this section of the country, of the Paterson Manufacturing Company, Limited, the Canadian connection of the Barrett Manufacturing Company, with whom I was associated in Boston. This is a live part of Canada, and my two and one-half years have been good ones.

I have made club and church associations here, and for recreation play more or less tennis and golf. As I do not intend to make Canada my permanent home, I have not become naturalized, which leaves less scope for outside activities than if I lived in a city I planned to make my home. I am not married and, possibly because of this, my life, except for business activities, has seemed more or less uneventful so far, particularly so when I get back to New Haven and run into so many classmates with growing families.

I trust that any of the Class who may happen to read this will look me up if they are passing through Toronto on business or other trips, as it is a very great pleasure to run into Yale men up here, and particularly one's classmates,—a pleasure I rarely have. Though we are pretty near the border line, the majority of people one meets and knows are either Canadians or English."

Reunions: T., S., D.

Carl Mattison Chapin, B.A.

(1904)

Associate Editor. American Printing Co., Publishers of the Waterbury
American, 174 Grand St., Waterbury, Conn.
Residence, 35 Fairview St. (M.)

"Same old story, Dudley, nothing new. As Dan Daly used to hymn it:

'We are hungry, we are fed;
Some few things are done and said;
We are tired—we go to bed.
Don't y' know.'

He continues in his association with the Waterbury American. As to political party he writes: "Independent, but tend to vote Republican ticket with occasional acute spasms of longing for a Beneficent Despotism."

Although more closely identified with 1904, he again showed his friendly interest in 1903 by dropping in at Headquarters during the Decennial Reunion.

Eliot Round Clark, B.A., M.D.

(Johns Hopkins 1907)

Associate in Anatomy. Medical Department, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.
Residence, Baltimore. (M.)

"During the latter part of my medical course I became more and more interested in the scientific side of medicine. On graduating I was extremely fortunate in having an opportunity to accept a position in the Department of Anatomy at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, under a most productive investigator, stimulating teacher and powerful leader in the movement to better medical education in this country, Prof. F. P. Mall. In this department I have remained to the present time, teaching anatomy and carrying on investigations in embryology. The summer of 1909 was spent at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Hole, Mass., the Mecca of biologists. Here I made my one great discovery. A year and a half later She became Mrs. Clark. The interim was occupied in another delightful summer at Wood's Hole, and in testing the efficacy of the United States Mail Service between Baltimore and Washington, Pa. The ceremony was a very quiet one as 'Miss Linton' was stricken with scarlet fever a week before the date set, and we were forced to have what the newspapers heralded as an 'antiseptic wedding.' After Mrs. Clark recovered we started on our postponed trip to Europe, spending most of the summer working together (for Mrs. Clark is an active scientific investigator) in the wonderful anatomical laboratory in Munich. Later we took charming walking trips in the Dolomites and in Switzerland. On returning to Baltimore we continued our scientific work. We have published one short paper together and at present have two others well under way. The summer of 1912 we again spent at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Hole, working in the laboratory. In the course of the summer we added our mite to the Woman Suffrage Cause by taking part in the play 'How the Vote was Won.'

We are now planning another trip to Europe. We shall spend three months working at the University of Cracow, and shall take tramping trips in the Carpathians and the Dolomites. This will, unfortunately, shut out the Decennial."

Their wedding took place March 21, 1911, at the bride's home, in Washington, Pa. Mrs. Clark, who before her marriage was Miss Eleanor Acheson Linton, is a daughter of Professor and Mrs. Edwin Linton.

Harold Terry Clark, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, The Leader-News Building,
Cleveland, O.

Residence, 1899 East 82d St. (M.)

"On November 22, 1911, I was married to Miss Mary E. Sanders of Cleveland, and upon our return from a wedding trip to the Pacific Coast, established our present home at 1899 East 82d Street, Cleveland, which is my permanent residence address.

I have been with the law firm of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey since my graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1906, and on January 15, 1913, was admitted to membership therein. The firm has just moved into new offices in the Leader-News Building, which is my permanent business address.

In the practice of my profession I have been fortunate in having many varied and interesting things to do. Some of them have involved considerable traveling; thus during the past three years I have made three trips to New Mexico on different legal matters.

I have also made two pleasure trips to the Pacific Coast, one in 1909 through the northwest, and one in 1911, my wedding trip, through the southwest."

Their wedding took place at the Second Presbyterian Church in Cleveland. Alan Fox was best man and Henry C. Holt, George B. Chadwick and Frank W. Moore, 1903, assisted as ushers. Mrs. Clark, a graduate of Farmington, and of Briar Cliff in 1905, is a daughter of Judge William Brownell Sanders and Annie E. (Otis) Sanders.

From January 17, 1909, to January 17, 1912, he served as a member of Troop A, Ohio Cavalry.

Ralph H. Clark, 1909, and Albert S. Terry, 1916, are his cousins.

Clubs: Union, University, Cleveland City, Chamber of Commerce, Obiter Dicta and East End Tennis and Country. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Harry Henderson Clark, B.A.

Professor of Secondary Education and Field Representative. University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.

Residence, 1508 West Cumberland Ave. (M.)

"June, 1909, I held two Teachers' Institutes and canvassed a hostile county to insure support for a high school. You see high schools are new here and are bitterly opposed by many. September, 1909, to June, 1911, I was Principal of the Fayette County High School at Somerville. I organized one of the first county corn clubs in Tennessee, carried the first Boys' Agricultural Excursion to the Agricultural Station, was elected President of the County Farmers' Institute, made the first speech advocating corn clubs before a State Teachers' Association in Tennessee. Was made instructor in the State Institute at Dyersburg in 1910, and Director of the State Institute in Manchester in 1911. Attended Summer School at Knoxville, 1910, and aided in revising State High School course. In this time I delivered various addresses before teachers' meetings, business clubs, institutes, conventions, etc. 1911-1912 I held the chairs of English and Psychology in the new State Normal at Murfreesboro and took part in three county institutes. In July I took the chair of Secondary Education at the University of Tennessee which Dr. P. P. Claxton resigned to become United States Commissioner of Education. During the fall I took part in the State Biennial Educational Rallies from September 16 to October 18 and was a speaker on the Agricultural Extension Special Train and also at the short courses in Agriculture given in Clarksville, Bolton College, Jackson, Paris and Livingstone. I have been busy inspecting schools and making public addresses. During the fall of 1912 I was at the University about fourteen days, counting Sundays. All the remaining time I have been 'on the road.' My class work runs through the spring term and Summer School. I am a Commissioner on Accredited Schools for the Southern Association of Preparatory Schools and Colleges."

His politics: "A secret which a Tennessee school man must keep." His work along political lines has consisted in visiting the various counties in Tennessee for the purpose of inspecting schools, addressing clubs, public gatherings and county courts, in the interest of tax levies for schools.

Clubs: Farmers' Union, Knights Templars, Mason, University Club, Knoxville.

Kilburn Dickinson Clark, B.A.

Brokerage Business in Refractories, 802 Electric Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, Hotel Touraine.

"Went to Pittsburgh the summer of 1903 and after monkeying around in the steel business for a few months, went with the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., manufacturers of fire brick and other refractories, in December of 1903, as a traveling salesman. This concern had then, as now, a considerable number of Yale men, three of our Class having been among the number. Traveled in Indiana, Michigan, Western Ontario, Southern Ohio, the Virginias and Northern Tennessee, making my headquarters in Pittsburgh with the exception of fifteen months, in 1905 and 1906, when I was located in the sales office of the Portsmouth Harbison-Walker Co., Portsmouth, Ohio. From October of 1906 to November, 1911, I represented the same company in New York State and Canada, with headquarters in Buffalo. In November, 1911, undertook to go into business for myself carrying similar lines but for other people, and have managed to keep my head above water to this writing."

He is a private, Troop I, First Cavalry, National Guard of New York.

Clubs: Ellicott. Republican.

Robert Keep Clark, B.A., B.S.

(Mass. Institute of Technology 1903)

Assistant Manager. George M. Clark & Co., Division, American Stove Co., 179 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 1217 Forest Ave., Evanston.

He is Assistant Manager of the George M. Clark Co. of Chicago, manufacturers of stoves.

The Class is particularly indebted to him for adding much to the interest and value of all three Histories of 1903. He has generously supplied choice pictures taken at Triennial, Sexennial and Decennial.

Clubs: University, Chicago; Evanston Country and University, Evanston. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Stephen Carlton Clark, B.A., LL.B.

(Columbia 1907)

Lawyer. The Singer Building, 149 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, Cooperstown, N. Y. (M.)

He is occupied with miscellaneous interests, with offices in the Singer Building in New York City.

His daughter, Elizabeth Scriven Clark, was born November 24, 1909, in New York, and his son, Stephen Carlton Clark, Jr., June 26, 1911, in Cedarhurst, L. I.

In 1909 he was elected a member of the Assembly.

Clubs: Racquet, Republican, Yale, Meadowbrook, etc. Republican.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 8th.

Allen Thomas Clement, B.A.

Broker. Clement & Whitney, 55 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 238 Sandford Ave., Flushing, N. Y. (M.)

He continues as partner with Clement & Whitney, members of the New York Stock Exchange, and of the Chicago Board of Trade.

He has two sons, born in Flushing, N. Y.: Frank Jay Clement, November 5, 1909, and Allen Thomas Clement, Jr., April 13, 1913.

Two of his cousins, John P. Clement and Thomas Ripley, are now in Yale.

Clubs: Alpha Delta Phi, Yale, Oakland Golf and Flushing Tennis. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

George Franklin Coard

Permanent Address, Care Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, 1220 Wachung Ave.,
Plainfield, N. J. (M.)

He lived in Shanghai, China, until the fall of 1905, when he returned to San Francisco. In January, 1906, he and his wife went East, owing to the death of his father, Mr. John J. K. Coard, Manager of A. C. Yates & Co., clothiers, of Philadelphia. Returning to California, they lived a year in Los Angeles, and since that time, until very recently, he has been in the oil business in the Northwest. In July, 1913, he returned to San Francisco. Letters may be sent in care of his sister, Mrs. Johnson, at the address above.

GLOVER BEARDSLEY.

"THEY TOIL NOT, NEITHER DO THEY SPIN."
GILBERT, GLEASON, WADDELL, WALKER, FITCH,
CONANT, F. JOHNSON, HART.

CARROLL WADDELL.

Nathaniel Haviland Cobb

Painter. Care Sebastia é Reali, Piazza di Spagna, Rome, Italy.
Residence, 14 Via Luisa di Savoia, Rome.

"August 17, 1913. Since 1903 I have lived in Rome where I have a studio and where I work most of the year. I usually go to America for a short visit once in two or three years."

A classmate writes: "He has been painting continuously, and I think with considerable success. He took one long trip to China in company with an exploring expedition engineered by the brother of 'Steve' Clark of our Class. I have seen him on his visits to this country and find him as delightful a companion as ever. He is a thorough artist."

Gifford Alexander Cochran, B.A.

President. Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co., Yonkers, N. Y.
Residence, Mount Kisco, N. Y. (M.)

"Since my recovery from Sexennial I have devoted myself chiefly to business with occasional recreations. Perhaps the most important event in my life since then was the birth of my third child, Drayton, thus making the score two to one in favor of Yale. I spend most of my time in the country at Mount Kisco, touch the high spots in New York for a month or so in winter and for a month or six weeks in the summer go where the spirit moves me. Have seen or done nothing particularly new or interesting and am quietly ripening into middle age. I hope to have more to report five years from now."

Clubs: Union, Racquet and Tennis, Riding, University, Yale, New York; Racquet and Tennis, Philadelphia; Elizabethan, Yale. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 7th.

James Ryle Coffey, B.A., M.D.

(1907)

Physician. 216 Grand Ave., New Haven, Conn.

"I am practicing medicine at the above address. Our home is at 216 Grand Avenue, where all 1903 will always be welcome.

I enjoyed our Reunion and have not yet stopped wondering at its magnitude."

He married, June 14, 1911, in New Haven, Miss Margaret Theresa Boyle, daughter of William Henry Boyle and Margaret Theresa (Reilly) Boyle. Mrs. Coffey graduated at the Hillhouse High School in 1899.

Reunions: T., D. Independent Democrat.

Louis Garfield Coleman, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Illinois National Bank Building, Springfield, Ill.
Residence, 810 South 7th St. (M.)

He continues in the practice of law in Springfield and has taken part in local politics, serving as an election official. He has also served as Secretary of the Springfield Tuberculosis Association which has a membership of about one thousand, maintaining a Free Dispensary and Visiting Nurse. He was Local Manager, in 1910, for the Yale Musical Clubs during their Western visit.

His two daughters were born in Springfield: Nancy Coleman, April 12, 1910, and Jennie Logan Coleman, June 2, 1912.

Clubs: Illini Country. Republican.

Reunions: T., D.

Arthur Morris Collens, B.A.

Banker and Investment Broker. Ladd & Wood, 7 Wall St.,
New York City.

Residence, 1320 Wachung Ave., Plainfield, N. J. (M.)

"In the fall of 1909 we moved from Sewickley, Pa., to New York and I have been since in investment and banking, first with Hay & Boynton and C. H. Boynton & Co., and later with Ladd & Wood, with whom I am now associated. I have found this profession extremely interesting both in study and practice.

Our home is in Plainfield, N. J. We have two children, Katherine, who is five and a half years old, and Arthur Morris Collens, Jr., born this March."

Katherine Collens was born in Sewickley, Pa., September 26, 1907, and Arthur Morris Collens, Jr., March 7, 1913, in Plainfield, N. J.

Clubs: Lawyers' and Yale, New York; Plainfield Country (Trustee of the latter). Republican; "independent voter."

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 1st, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Walter Guthrie Collins, B.A.

Portland Representative, James D. Lacey & Co., Timber Land Factors, 1104 Spaulding Building, Portland, Ore.
Residence, 403 East 16th St. (M.)

"My record since June, 1909, has simply been one of camping on the job—entirely devoid of pyrotechnics. This 'camping' business is meant literally, for I am still associated with the timber firm of James D. Lacey & Co., whose principal offices are at Chicago, and the major portion of my time, up to the past year, has been spent in the woods on the Pacific Coast, from Alaska to Mexico, examining, cruising and reporting on timber properties. A trifle over a year ago I entered into a new arrangement with the firm, which changed my work somewhat. Instead of being in the timber practically all of the time and in the town but little, as formerly, I am now in town practically all the time and in the woods but little. A year ago last November I was successful in persuading a certain young lady from Seattle to change her name and at the same time to remove to Portland, where we are living modestly, working hard, breathing lots of pure fresh air and inhaling all the optimism of the Big West."

He married, November 11, 1911, in Seattle, Wash., Miss Harriet Philena Allen, daughter of the late John Beard Allen, lawyer, and first United States Senator from the State of Washington, and of Matilda Cecilia (Bateman) Allen. Mrs. Collins graduated at Mrs. Hartman's School in New York City in 1907.

Clubs: University, Portland. Democrat.

George Kimball Conant, B.A.

Secretary and Treasurer. Sligo Iron Store Co., Heavy Hardware, Jobbers in Iron, Automobile Supplies, etc., 1301 N. Sixth St., St. Louis, Mo.

Residence, 412 North Union Boulevard. (M.)

"Since leaving college my life has been that of any other man working for a living. I began my business career September, 1903, with the Sligo Iron Store Co., and am now Secretary and Treasurer. As far as I can see my future business connections will be with this same firm. My travels have been restricted by brief vacations. The fall of 1910 I spent with Al Ogden in Texas. One year I took a motor trip and two years I put in my time cruising. Golf and motoring are my chief recreations. My ambition is to be present at all future 1903 Reunions."

He married, April 18, 1911, in St. Louis, Mo., Miss Eleanore Glasgow, daughter of Dr. William Carr Glasgow, M.D., and Fannie (Englesing) Glasgow. J. J. M. Fairbank, 1903, assisted at the ceremony.

His daughter, Eleanore Glasgow Conant, was born February 17, 1912, in St. Louis.

Reunions: T., D. Republican.

Philip King Conduct, B.A.

Far Eastern Manager. Western Electric Company, Manufacturers of Telephone Apparatus, 463 West St., New York City.

Residence, Tokyo, Japan.

"In June, 1909, I cabled from Tokyo my greetings to my classmates gathered at their Sexennial Reunion. It was a deep disappointment to me not to be able to be present. During that summer I spent two sweltering weeks in Shanghai, signing a contract with the Chinese Government for the first modern telephone installation which the Chinese had purchased, and which is now in service at their capitol. The following March

I left Japan for home, having three months in America, including several good times in New Haven. I returned to the Far East during the summer, via Europe and the Siberian Railway, and after a close call in a typhoon in the Japan Sea, reached Tokyo in September, 1910. At that time, in addition to my duties as Secretary and a Director of our Japan Company, the Nippon Electric Co., I was appointed Far Eastern Manager, in charge of the home company's interests throughout the East. In February, 1911, I had further traveling to do in the Philippine Islands, where I had several enjoyable meetings with old Bill Taylor, '03, and other Yale men, in Australia, Java and China, returning after five months to Japan. In the winter of 1912 I again visited China and in the summer took a three months' trip to New York. Now I am again in China, writing you from the ancient Manchu capitol on Easter Sunday. My Easter service this morning consisted in visiting the grounds of the 'Forbidden City' opened for the first time to the 'outer barbarians' by the new Republican Government. It is the most strangely beautiful place imaginable. In a few days I shall be starting homeward, and I plan to reach New Haven in plenty of time to prepare in every way for a great Decennial.

My work in the East has been largely confined to working with the Japanese and Chinese people. To study their customs, their civilization, ancient and modern, and their government has been a never failing source of interest. The recent change of government in China has presented many strange moves to be followed. Whether a country steeped in Confucianism for centuries can so easily take up a Republican form of government, is doubtful, but as Americans we can hope, and if possible, assist them in their efforts, for better government. As I leave the East, it will be with many feelings of regret, and I shall always remember my many good friends amongst the peoples of this side of the world."

Politics: "Had I been at home last November, I should have voted the Democratic ticket."

Clubs: Yale, D. K. E., and Elihu; Tokyo, Yokohama, United, American University, Tennis, American Asiatic Association, Asiatic Society and Yale Association of Japan.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d.

Erastus Corning, B.A., M.D.

(Union 1907)

Physician. 281 State St., Albany, N. Y. (M.)

"I now have three children. The latest addition is a boy, Erastus V., born June 2, 1912. It looks now as though he were going to be all beef, but I hope that he will develop enough brains as time goes on to enable him to enter Yale.

I can't think of anything exciting or interesting to write about myself. My hospital work and practice keep me fairly busy, and I find the work increasingly more congenial. That may not sound like a particularly inspired summary of events, but I think it goes to the root of the matter."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th.

David Uzal Cory, B.A.

Born in Englewood, N. J., June 5, 1883.

Died there August 28, 1905.

The Triennial History, pp. 85-87, contains a sketch of his life, written by Arthur Morris Collens, 1903. The address of his brother, Robert H. Cory, 1902, is 131 Hudson Street, Care Lamont, Corliss & Co., New York City.

Donald John Cowling, B.A., M.A., B.D., Ph.D., D.D.

(B.A. Lebanon Valley 1902, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, B.D. 1906, Ph.D. 1909, D.D. Baker University and Campbell College 1909)

President. Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.

Residence, 205 College Ave. (M.)

"(1) July 1, 1909—Accepted Presidency of Carleton College. W. H. Sallmon (also a Yale man), former president.

(2) Since above date a new gymnasium has been built, costing about $65,000, also a new central heating plant at an expense of $50,000. The girls' dormitory has also been remodeled at an expense of $35,000.

In addition to the above an indebtedness of about $50,000 has been paid, thus making the College entirely free from debt and $550,000 has been added to the permanent endowment funds.

(3) I am at present on a half-year furlough with my wife and children, visiting England, Scotland, Germany, Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Switzerland and France."

The Congregationalist, September, 1911, contains an article on "College Presidents." It includes a portrait of President Cowling and a description of his interesting work. He is the first member of the Class to receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Two daughters have been born in Northfield since the birth of his first daughter, Mary, in 1908: Elizabeth Cowling, July 7, 1910, and Margaret Cowling, November 16, 1911.

Clubs: American Psychological Association, Western Philosophical Association, N. E. A., R. E. A., National Geographic Society, University Club, Chicago; Commercial, Northfield. Republican.

Reunions: T.

Alexander Craighead

Cashier. Thompson, Mason & Co., Securities, Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, Cal.

"I left Cuyler, Morgan & Company and went with the bond house of White, Weld & Company, where I remained for about a year. In August, 1910, I was taken ill with typhoid and after being in the hospital for five months, I spent about three months more recuperating in Augusta, Georgia. From Augusta I came to San Francisco, and was in the lumber business here for about six months, and I then became associated with the Federal Telegraph Company, more or less in the capacity of its fiscal agent. In April, 1912, I became the Cashier of Thompson, Mason & Company, who have had the handling of various securities, chiefly those of the Poulsen Wireless Corporation. They are at the present time engaged in the handling of bonds and securities of various sorts. I am also Secretary and Treasurer of the Goble Motors Transportation Company.

So far I have not indulged in the luxury of matrimony and cannot truthfully say that I expect to."

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 8th.

Hiram Walter Cramer, B.A.

(B.A. Western College 1902, B.A. 1903)

Farmer. R. F. D., Bagley, Ia.

"Bagley, January 6, 1911—joined in the 'movement to the farm.' I am near Bagley, Iowa, breeding fine horses and specializing on corn culture."

James Pigott Cronan, B.A.

Commercial Engineer. With The General Electric Company, Pittsfield, Mass.

Residence, 78 Bartlett Ave. (M.)

After leaving the Holland Box Company in Boston, he made his permanent home in Pittsfield, Mass., associating himself with The General Electric Company. Last spring he spent several weeks in the Denver district of The General Electric Company, in Colorado.

James P. Cronan, Jr., was born in Newton Center, Mass., February 13, 1910, and Elizabeth Cronan, in Schenectady, N. Y., June 6, 1911.

Reunions: D.

Earle Rosman Crowe, B.A.

Eastern Manager. The A. W. Shaw Co., Publishers, 44-60 East 23d St., New York City.

Residence, 129 East 17th St. (M.)

"Am still Eastern Manager of the A. W. Shaw Co., publishers of System, Factory, etc., and prospering along with the concern."

His second son, Richard Hartwell Crowe, was born in New York City, November 27, 1910.

Clubs: Yale and Aldine. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Thomas Henry Curran, B.A.

Born November 25, 1882, in New Haven, Conn.

Died there June 3, 1903.

The Triennial History, pp. 91-92, contains a sketch of his life written by Harold T. Clark, 1903.

His mother, Mrs. Mary A. Curran, and his two sisters, live at 38 Lake Place, New Haven.

Edward L. Gillespie, 1903, writes: "I note what you say concerning your call on Tom Curran's family. It is pleasant to be remembered in a friendly way after the lapse of years. Tom was a fine fellow and his taking away at the threshold of a fine career was an extremely sad event. I had many pleasant times with him during my stay in New Haven, and had the pleasure of knowing his family whom I found very hospitable and agreeable."

Kenneth William Curtis, B.A.

Sales Manager. Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.

Residence, Dublin, O.

"I still live in a state of single blessedness—with the one objection to that happy state eliminated, namely the boarding house. My father having retired from active work was persuaded to come to Columbus and buy a farm near by. So he and I are amateur agronomists on a beautiful forty-acre tract of land a few miles north of the Scioto River, near enough to my business to Ford it in and out daily to and from work. My chief diversion is figuring out what the future farm profits will be—when the farm's income will be greater than its expense—a form of amusement that my neighbors say will prove to be a life-long form of entertainment, not the profits—but figuring the prospective profits.

As to business would say that I am holding down the same job I had five years ago—the charge of the selling end of the Columbus Piano Co., which is under the management of Paul Lindenberg. Another classmate is now associated with us, namely Ernest Bacon, who has been studying pianoforte construction in the largest and best factories in the country and who is now our active superintendent. Our business has prospered and we are to-day numbered among the largest and most prominent of player piano manufacturers—the type of piano we have specialized being the player piano.

Our factory was in the flood district last March—the water being seven feet deep in the street outside our building. ‘Doc’ Seaver’s 1903 Gym. measurements, with perhaps an inch or so added to the waist line, would still serve the United Woolen Mills for fitting me in a dress suit. Have written no books, met no wild animals, never made a political speech, voted for Taft, but bet on Wilson; belong to no organizations other than a couple of clubs, am not bothered about the income tax, it never touches me, play some golf and I guess haven’t changed much in the last ten years.”

His engagement has recently been announced to Miss Katherine deForest Allen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George M. Allen of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Clubs: Columbus and Arlington Country.

Ephraim Clarence Cushman, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Closing Attorney. With Title Guarantee & Trust Co., Title Insurance
Banking, 350 Fulton St., Jamaica, L. I., N. Y.
Residence, 639 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

“On the business side I am still with the Jamaica Branch of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company as closing attorney, etc. I am in my eighth year with this company and the relations are exceedingly pleasant in every way, although the remuneration is not excessive nor the scope of the experience as broad as an attorney could wish. I believe I have moved my household gods at least once since you have heard from me, and at present my home address is 639 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., where I reside with my parents.

For the past two seasons I have been a member of the University Glee Club of Brooklyn, holding down the job of librarian for the season just closing. I have recently been elected Secretary of the University Glee Club for the ensuing season. That Club is composed of men from various colleges, including several from our own, and in addition to maintaining a very high order of musical excellence, is socially extremely enjoyable. It is also very enlightening by reason of the diversity of ideas brought in from his own college by each of the fellows. The headquarters are at the University Club of Brooklyn, which is a very pleasant connection for our Club.

I believe one of your questions relates to the marriage proposition, and sad am I to be still numbered among the 'never-wases.' As hard as it may be on me, however, I can't help considering that it reflects credit on the feminine intelligence.

I hope to be able to get back to New Haven in June, for what promises to be the best Reunion any class ever had, anywhere, any time. Every detail that the committee has announced looks to me to be the advance model for future generations, and I would like you to register my vote of appreciation for the thoughtfulness and consideration of the committee."

Clubs: University Glee, Brooklyn.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 8th.

Merit Lancaster Davidson, B.A.

Permanent Address, Care Mr. Abraham B. Lancaster, 646 East High St., Lexington, Ky.

He was for some time Assistant Manager of the Hotel Astor in New York City, but left there about a year and a half ago. The above address is that of his uncle who lives in Lexington, his former home.

Charles Orrin Day, B.A., M.D.

(Harvard 1907)

Physician. Office and Residence, North St., Hingham, Mass.

"After graduating from Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, spent several months at the Massachusetts State Hospital, Tewksbury, Mass., as assistant physician. From there went to New York, where I substituted for five months as First Senior Medical House Officer at the Presbyterian Hospital and took the three months' interne service at the Sloane Maternity Hospital, graduating from same. Decided to practice in New York State and after passing the State Board examination hung out a shingle at 209 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y. Finding, however, after a short time, that I missed the environment of early medical training and associations, decided to return to the vicinity of Boston, preferably in the suburbs. Decided upon Hingham on the south shore as offering the best opportunity for medical work combined with a pleasant place to live. Have been here since May, 1911. Have been busy and happy here and have no plan of leaving at present, though may possibly open an office in Boston later on, with my home in Hingham. Am not married and have no immediate prospects. Am doing general practice with more or less surgery. Can claim no achievements of note. Main recreation is tennis in season. I enjoy doing a family practice and believe there are certain things to be gained from it not obtained by the medical specialist in a large city. Hurrah for the simple life and lots of nature."

Clubs: American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, Æsculapius, Boston; Wompatuck and Tennis, Hingham. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 7th.

Rodney Dean Day, B.A., M.E.

(Cornell 1906)

Engineer and Contractor. Dravo-Doyle Co., 1113 Diamond Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Residence, 5906 Howe St. (M.)

"My 'achievements'!—they need a magnifying glass. Therefore modesty forbids. However I am happy and can pay my bills—even the doctor's when necessary!"

He married in Pittsburgh, October 9, 1909, Miss Harriet Weyman Balken, daughter of Henry Balken, retired iron manufacturer, and Willa E. (Duff) Balken. Paul F. Mann, Charles O. Day and Wilson G. Wing, 1903, assisted at the ceremony. Mrs. Day is a graduate of Ogontz, Class of 1904.

Their son, Henry Balken Day, was born in Pittsburgh, July 16, 1911.

Sherwood S. Day, 1911, is a cousin, and Harold S. Day, 1912, is his brother.

Clubs: Engineers Society of Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh Golf, University, Pittsburgh; Machinery and Yale, New York. Republican.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 6th and 9th.

Willard Joseph Denno, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1906)

Physician. Residence and Office, 14 Central Park West, New York City.

"The past four years have brought few changes. Association with the New York Department of Health has increased my interest in the study of tuberculosis, and eventually I expect to devote myself entirely to this work.

The overwhelming need of the thousands of poor families afflicted (and tuberculosis is preëminently a disease of poverty) cannot fail to appeal to those who work daily among the suffering.

In order to keep 'fit' I play tennis through the summer and do 'gym' work through the winter months. The opera once a week, 'auction' now and then, and an occasional evening at the Club serve for winter recreation."

Clubs: Yale, Nu Sigma Nu, American Medical Association, New York State and County Medical Societies, Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis. Republican.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d, 7th and 8th.

Robert Emmet Digney, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. 15 Court St., White Plains, N. Y.

Residence, Mamaroneck Road. (M.)

He continues in the practice of law, having become associated, in 1905, with his father, Mr. John M. Digney.

He married at King's Chapel, in Boston, September 7, 1906, Miss Mabel C. Magill, daughter of S. G. Magill and Emily (Borthwick) Magill.

Clubs: Yale and the Association of the Bar of New York City. Democrat.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 3d and 8th.

Arthur Douglas Dodge, B.A.

Residence, 563 Park Avenue, New York City.

"Until this year have been teaching school. I am now taking a year to look around without any definite object in view. I hope to travel and learn something of my own country."

He sums up his interest in politics: "Voted, in National politics, Democratic ticket; in State, Bull Moose. Take keen interest in what Wilson is going to do about it."

Percival Dodge, 1914, is a relative.

Clubs: Racquet and Tennis.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 8th and 9th.

Edward Alfred Donohoe, B.A., LL.B.

(1905)

Lawyer. 31 Exchange St., Lynn, Mass.

Residence, 28 Johnson St.

On January 1, 1907, after having practiced law in Boston, he opened an office of his own at the address above. A letter sent just before going to press has been returned, marked, "Has gone West."

Reunions: T.

Edward Warren Dorman

Born March 27, 1880, in Stratford, Conn.

Died there September 27, 1901.

The Triennial History, pp. 97-98, contains a sketch of his life, written by Harry H. Clark, 1903. The address of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Dorman, is 116 California Street, Stratford, Conn.

From a letter, dated July 7, 1913, received from his father: "We appreciate your interest. Mrs. Dorman and I are still at the old home. The memory of Edward is cherished by us with sweetness and keenness. The mention of former days revives many memories."

Walter Landon Douglass, B.A., Ph.B., M.D.

(Ph.B. 1904, M.D. Creighton College of Medicine 1913)

Physician. Office and Residence, Whitehall, Mont.

"Anyone of the dear boys who will drop off the 'Limited' at Whitehall, I will teach how to catch enough Rocky Mountain trout for a full meal, and how to cuss like a man."

He has been practicing medicine in Whitehall since receiving his M.D. at the Creighton College of Medicine in Omaha, Neb., this last spring.

Trusten Polk Draper, B.A.

Assistant Superintendent. Blast Furnace & Steel Department, Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Youngstown, O.

Residence, 246 Lora Ave. (M.)

He continues in the work of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Car Manufacturers.

He married, April 27, 1910, in Richmond, Va., Miss Caroline Shields, daughter of Dr. Charles M. Shields and Margaret (New) Shields. Augustus K. Oliver, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Draper attended school at Gunston Hall. They spent August and September, 1912, traveling in England, Scotland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Clubs: Youngstown and Youngstown Country.

Reunions: T.

John Martin Dreisbach, B.A.

Vice President of the Macan Jr., Co., Engineering and General Mill Supplies, Easton, Pa.

Residence, 323 Pierce St. (M.)

"Since 1909 and my letter printed at that time, my life, home, social, and business have continued so much the same that I could write: 'Refer to my previous letter on the subject,' and you would know my life since that time. This may sound as if I had made no progress. I would hesitate to admit this, but whatever progress I have made has been along the lines I was engaged in at the time of our Sexennial. Of course, like all the members of my Class, I have had my ups and downs, all of which seem to compose one's life. Glad to say the ups are in the majority, and that life seems more worth living than it ever did. I think I have discovered that the most important things in life are the things we talk about least but consciously or unconsciously work for, and if we're truly happy it's because we're less interested in our own welfare and more interested in the welfare of others than we may appear to others to be."

His interest continues in Phillips Academy in Andover. In 1910 he served as a Vice President of the General Alumni Association of the Academy. Charles P. Taft, '64, was elected President of the Association at that time.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 9th. Republican.

Herbert Lathe Drury, B.A., M.A.

(Harvard 1904)

Graduate Student. 7 Prescott Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

Residence, Newton, Mass.

"From 1909 to 1913, as from 1899 to 1909, I have lived the life of a student. I hope to continue in this way."

His appreciative letters have added much to the pleasure of the duties of the Secretary.

Stanley Clifford Dukeshire, B.A.

(B.A. Acadia 1898, B.A. 1903)

Principal of The Orange High School, Orange, N. J.
Residence, 20 Conover Terrace.

"In 1913 transferred from Principalship of Cleveland Street Grammar School, Orange, to High School, Orange."

Progressive.

Donald Austin Dunham, B.A.

Assistant Secretary of the Travelers Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, 199 Beacon St. (M.)

"My life has been that of a very busy mortal in activities which are interesting to me but not of particular interest to the outside world. A severe case of appendicitis, in June, 1912, nearly put me in the necrology list, but I am glad to say I am still here."

The following sums up his political status in the last National campaign: "When Bill Taft was sacrificed by Teddy 'the royal bluff,' I went down with the ship, and am proud of it. In that campaign, I did what I could for the lost cause."

The Hartford Times of January 12, 1911, in commenting on his election, by the Board of Directors, Assistant Secretary of the Travelers Insurance Company, made this comment: "He graduated from Yale in 1903 and entered the service of the Travelers in the supply department the same year. He obtained advancement step by step until 1905 when he became one of the underwriters in the liability department, where he served three years. In 1908 Mr. Dunham became office supervisor, a position which consists in assisting the Secretary in the oversight of the clerical force of the home and branch offices. In doing this work he has visited all the important offices in the United States and Canada. To designate him as an Assistant Secretary is simply to give him a title appropriate to the duties he has discharged for nearly three years."

He is a Director in the Union Trust Company of Hartford.

Clubs: Hartford, Hartford Golf, University, Yale Alumni, Church (of the Diocese of Connecticut), and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d.

Harry Wilfred Du Puy, B.A.

President and Treasurer of the Pennsylvania Rubber Co., Jeanette, Pa.
Residence, Parish Lane, Morewood Heights, Pittsburgh, Pa. (M.)

He married, March 22, 1911, in New York City, Miss Lily Helen Heleker, daughter of the late John Heleker and Dora (Stebbins) Heleker. Mrs. Du Puy attended St. Mary's School in New York City. A daughter, Dora Stebbins Du Puy, born July 5, 1912, in Pittsburgh, died the same day.

He has been connected with the Pennsylvania Rubber Company since February, 1904.

Clubs: Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh Golf, Allegheny Country, University, Heron Hill Gun, Aero of America, Rubber Club of America, Society of Automobile Engineers and Yale of New York. "Republican, voting Progressive ticket, 1912."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d and 10th.

George Gilbert Durant, Jr.

With the Union Bag & Paper Co., Hudson Falls, N. Y.
Residence, 53 Maple St., Hudson Falls. (M.)

"Have been with The Union Bag & Paper Co. for the past two years. At present am located at Hudson Falls. Now have two children, a boy of seven and a girl of two."

Leonard Gilbert Durant, his son, was born November 14, 1905, and his daughter, Alice Benjamin Durant, January 24, 1911.

Clive Livingston Du Val, B.A.

Broker. Du Val, Greer & Co., 74 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 829 Park Avenue. (M.)

He has been a member of the banking and brokerage firm of Du Val, Greer & Co., since July, 1909.

THE PURITANS DISCOVER DOUBLE BEACH.

EDDIE TOWNSEND AND AL CLEMENT COOLING OFF.

NEWHALL, SARGENT, TRUETT, MCCORMICK AND FRISBIE.

He married, November 18, 1909, at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, in New York City, Miss Augusta Harper Lynde, daughter of the late Rollin Harper Lynde and Elizabeth B. (Blaney) Lynde. Howard A. Plummer was his best man, and J. Randolph Robinson and Charles C. Auchincloss, 1903, assisted as ushers. Mrs. Du Val was a member of the Class of 1906 at Brearley.

Clive Livingston Du Val, Jr., was born June 20, 1912, at 829 Park Avenue, New York City.

Clubs: Racquet and Tennis, Society of Colonial Wars, Yale, Graduates and Hamilton of Brooklyn. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 6th, 9th and 10th.

Wilton Adams Earnshaw, M.M.E.

(Lehigh 1907)

Engineer. With the Nevada-California Power Co., Bishop, Inyo County, Cal.

"June, '00, left Yale; fall, '01, entered Lehigh, in Mining; June, '07, left Lehigh, receiving degree later; '07-'08, West Virginia coal fields as surveyor; '08-'09, Pennsylvania soft coal fields as surveyor; '09-'10, Pittsburgh, Metal Department of Homestead Steel; '10-'11, Globe, Ariz., surveying and assaying; Los Angeles, surveying and office engineering; '11-'13, Los Angeles, surveying and office engineering, and with Board of Public Utilities; April 1, '13, Bishop, Cal., doing hydraulic work for Nevada-California Power Company.

Still poor and single. Willing to be rich and married,—not too anxious for either, however."

Clubs: Delta Upsilon, at Lehigh.

John Eliason, B.A., LL.B.

(Pennsylvania 1906)

Lawyer. 826 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, 820 South 16th St.

"September, 1903, entered University of Pennsylvania Law School; November, 1903, elected Sharswood Law Club and Φ Δ Φ; November, 1903-June, 1906, worked like the devil; June, 1906, acquired title B.L.; September, 1906, admitted to practice in Pennsylvania; September, 1906, to date—hard work, no glory, little money. Hobby: practical psychology. Special interest: application of the above to legal procedure. By it have almost been convinced that the successful attorney must read his men rather than his books. Otherwise knowledge is badly misplaced. Aim: 'to be brief.'"

Progressive Republican.

Bradford Ellsworth, B.A.

With Brewster & Co., Carriage Manufacturers, 53d St. and Fifth Ave.,
New York City.

Residence, Scarsdale, N. Y. (M.)

"There is nothing to add to my previous history except that I am back with Brewster & Co., returning last autumn, October 15, 1912."

He was formerly with Gude, Winmill & Co., bankers, 20 Broad Street, New York City.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 7th, 9th and 10th.

Nickolaus Louis Engelhardt, B.A.

Superintendent of Schools. Dunkirk, N. Y.

Residence, 34 West 5th St. (M.)

"Since 1909 my residence has been in Dunkirk, N. Y., where I held the position of Principal of the High School until this past January, when the Superintendency of the public school system of the city was tendered me. With a student body of 2,500, and a teaching staff of 75, I find enough work to do to keep me satisfied along that line.

The problems of the public school are becoming constantly more involved. The old plan of the survival of the fittest is now being forced into the background by the loftier and saner spirit for the education of 'All the Children of All the People' toward the end that each and every one may mingle pleasure with his toil, may enjoy the beauties of this world and not feel that his only reason for existence is the overcrowding of the purse of the few. With this responsibility in mind Dunkirk is striving through playgrounds, medical inspection, domestic and vocational courses to give that preparation which will best fit the child to do his proper work in life without some of the handicaps which to-day surround the aspirant for a job. Let Yale send forth men imbued with ideas for the uplift of the masses, for the readjustment of society, that no man need be crushed under foot, men who will unselfishly work with this end in view, and then we will feel that the Yale Spirit of coöperation really exists."

His brother, Fred S. Engelhardt, graduated in 1908 S.

Politics: "Have been a Republican and voted for Taft. Am a Progressive in spirit but not a follower of T. R."

Clubs: Liberal, Board of Trade, Lodge No. 767, F. & A. M., Anti-Tuberculosis Committee of Dunkirk, Schoolmasters' Club of Chautauqua County (Vice President), Chautauqua County Teachers' Association (Vice President), and Willowbrook Country.

John Kuhn Evans, B.A.

Banker and Broker. Evans Bros., 306-11 Commonwealth Building,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Residence, South Huey St., McKeesport, Pa.

After graduation he entered the employ of the National Bank of McKeesport and studied law for two years at The Pittsburgh Law School as a member of the Class of 1907.

He organized the firm of Evans Brothers in 1908, bankers and brokers, members of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. He is a Director and Chairman of the Board of the National Bank of McKeesport and Treasurer of the Tempest Brick Company, Ltd.

Clubs: Yale, New York; University, Duquesne, Pittsburgh Athletic Association, Pittsburgh Country and the Youghiogeny Country.

Reunions: S.

George Barnett Everts, B.A.

Born November 5, 1880, in Michigamme, Mich.

Died December 14, 1907, in Southport, Conn.

The Sexennial History, p. 72, contains a sketch of his life. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Everts, reside in Salisbury, Conn. A friendly letter has recently been received from them.

Robert Hall Ewell, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. With O'Brien, Boardman & Platt, 2 Rector St., New York City.
Residence, 327 West 85th St.

"One of the most pleasant of the recent things in my life (besides hearing Charlie Littlefield and Steve at the Class Dinners) was living at Bronxville with Henry Holt (who is an awful fusser), and four others, three of whom were more recent graduates of Yale. We lived in a house in Lawrence Park, belonging to Tudor Jenks, a good Yale poet, convenient to New York, and had six most enjoyable months, during which Henry entertained numerous house parties, especially with one of his famous Apple-Jack concoctions known as a 'Royal Smile.' We hope to repeat the summer of 1913."

He served in Troop E, First Squadron, First Cavalry, N. G., N. Y.

Clubs: Yale and Squadron A. Republican.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Antonio Pandelli Fachiri

Director of South-East Kootenay (British Columbia) Ltd.

11 Ironmonger Lane, London, E. C., England.

Residence, 30 Hans Road, London, S. W.

He married in June, 1910, Mrs. Mitchell Depew, who was Miss Lela Perry, daughter of the late James C. Perry of New York City. Mrs. Fachiri died in London in January, 1912.

He is Director of the South-East Kootenay (British Columbia), Ltd., a company owning twenty-eight square miles of coal and timber land, Flathead Valley, B. C.; also a railway charter (provincial), for building fifty-two miles and branches, and operating coal mines, etc. In due course, the S.-E. K. (B. C.) Ltd., which is a parent company, will float subsidiary companies for the purposes of developing the various valuable assets which its property possesses.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st.

Edward Josiah Failing, B.A.

Secretary and Director. Failing-McCalman Co., Wholesale Hardware, 88-90 Front Street, Portland, Ore.
Residence, 146 N. 24th Street. (M.)

"Since the last Class letter, there have been only two events in my life worthy to be chronicled. Most important, of course, was my marriage to Miss Marjorie Holcomb. The other important happening was my election and service for a year as Master of Willamette Lodge No. 2, A. F. & A. M., in 1912. Besides this, nothing has happened to me. I've put in my time at the hardware trade a pretty full six days a week and have not had the time to do much else. I have seen one or two of the Class occasionally, and Holbrook quite regularly at the University Club, which he infests in the intervals between his social engagements."

Mrs. Failing, a member of the Class of 1912, University of Oregon, is the daughter of Cecil Roger Holcomb, lawyer, and Jean Morrison (MacMahon) Holcomb. The wedding ceremony took place in Portland, June 5, 1912.

Clubs: University, Portland Rowing, Willamette Lodge No. 2, A. F. & A. M., Oregon Consistory No. 1, of the A. & A. S. R., Masons, Alkader Temple of the Mystic Shrine. Republican.

John J. Mitchell Fairbank, B.A.

Trustee of Estate. Hotel Somerset, Boston, Mass.

"Saw Harvard win the boat races as usual, then on to Boston and New Castle, N. H. Cruised a lot that summer (1909). Winter of 1910 'Humdrummed' about Boston, varied the monotony with a trip to Chicago, St. Louis, and Montreal. Summer of 1910 cruised from May 28 to July 28. 'Landlubbed' until September and then finished the summer with a delightful trip through the mountains via motor. June, 1911, found me in Kansas City doing an usher's stunt at a wedding. Returned East in time for the 1903 Dinner. On to St. Louis in April to help 'Spike' Conant get 'spliced.' Back to Boston 'humdrumming' again. 1912 saw a few trips to Montreal. (No, it isn't a girl, my sister lives there.) A little motoring, small doses of tennis, as penance for my weight. And finally the 1903 Dinner in New York, January, 1913.

'Hobbies'? Collecting money. Not from a numismatic standpoint, but the common or garden kind. Lincoln pennies, paper bills, gold coins that don't 'stack.' Any old thing that can be passed, no objection to unlaundered notes or those of a foreign nation, kopecks, rubles or pfennigs, it makes no difference. Have bought a few good books, one or two prints of worth (and several of no worth), and have acquired about twenty pounds of superfluous adipose tissue that I will exchange for a Gainsboro or a Corot, and no questions asked."

He has served in the First Corps Cadets, M. V. M., a three-years enlistment. His second cousin, Chauncey R. Blair, graduated in 1909.

Clubs: Boston Athletic Association, National Geographic Society, Bostonian Society, National Fire Protection Association, Tedesco Country of Swampscott and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Joseph Fairbanks, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. St. Johnsbury, Vt. (M.)

"I have been practicing law at St. Johnsbury without interruption under my own shingle. A country practice does not afford much opportunity for specialization, and so about everything has come my way, from defending chicken thieves to corporation and bank work of the better class. Of the latter

I am now getting a fair share. Much of my time has been taken lately in connection with work, legal and otherwise, as a member of the executive committee of E. and T. Fairbanks & Co., scale manufacturers. Recently I was elected a trustee of St. Johnsbury Academy, and chosen President of the St. Johnsbury Commercial Club. The task I take most pleasure in is the rearing of a healthy young boy, now three years old, who clamors for Boola and other Yale ditties at six in the morning. We have now in town a miniature Yale Club of five members who foregather at each other's houses. It comprises Ricker, 1900, Moody, 1901, Bennett, 1911 S., and my uncle, E. T. Fairbanks, 1859, who is about as young as any of us. Professionally we number a doctor, minister, lawyer, librarian, and school teacher."

He has two boys, Edward Joseph Fairbanks, born January 19, 1910, and Philip Merrill Fairbanks, born (since the foregoing letter was written) July 9, 1913.

Now and then the father of the boys takes a hand in local politics.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d and 4th. S. Republican.

Peter Elting Farnum.

Insurance. With Fox & Pier, 37 Liberty St., New York City.
Residence, 136 West 44th St.

"Doing a general insurance business with the firm of Fox & Pier, 37 Liberty Street."

Clubs: Yale, Alpha Delta Phi and Baltusrol Golf.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 5th and 9th.

Franklin Farrel, Jr., B.A.

Vice President. Farrel Foundry & Machine Co., Heavy Machinery
Manufacturers and Engineers, Ansonia, Conn.
Residence, 490 Prospect St., New Haven, Conn. (M.)

A second son, Malcolm Farrel, was born September 9, 1911. He continues his connection with the Farrel Foundry and Machine Company. In the early spring he took a business trip to the West Indies, returning in time for the Decennial Reunion.

The following Yale men are his cousins: Harold E. Drew, 1906, Melville Hitchcock, 1909, Frederick M. Drew, Jr., 1910, and Carl Hitchcock, 1911.

He was one of the incorporators, and is a member of the Board of Governors, and Treasurer, of the newly organized Mory's Association.

Clubs: H Φ, Δ Κ Ε, Elihu, Graduates, Winthrop Trust Association, Yale, Union League and Machinery of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st and 3d.

William Ferguson, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. 45 Cedar St., New York City.

Residence. 318 West 57th St.

"Since I graduated from Harvard Law School in 1906, I have been practicing law in New York City. For the past two years I have been practicing independently at 45 Cedar Street.

That will serve both as my business and my permanent address for some time to come, unless a heartless landlord should see fit to dispossess me."

His brother, David Ferguson, graduated from Yale in 1908.

Reunions: T.

Mansfield Ferry, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1909)

Lawyer. 31 Nassau St., New York City.

Residence, 960 Park Ave.

"In September, 1909, I came to New York and began the practice of my profession by achieving the sole clerkship in the rising, and then young, firm of Root, Clark & Bird. Since the death of my father, in May, 1910, I have been practicing for myself, sharing offices with Root, Clark & Bird. My travels have been neither extensive nor extraordinary; a trip in 1911 with Tom Hooker to fast-disappearing nature in the Maine Woods, and in 1912 an auto trip through France and Switzerland."

Politics: "Independent. In the election, last autumn, I ran through the whole gamut of parties, from Progressive Republican to Stand Pat Socialist."

Clubs: Saddle and Cycle, Chicago; Graduates, New Haven; Yale, Ardsley, City, Automobile, and Harvard, in New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 8th, 9th and 10th.

Morton Cross Fitch, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. Ashbel P. Fitch, Mott & Grant, 32 Nassau St., New York City.
Residence, 509 West 110th St. (M.)

He continues in the practice of law in New York City. His daughter Marjorie has a brother, Morton Cross Fitch, Jr., born July 20, 1910, in Quogue, L. I.

A brother-in-law, Hervey L. Foster, graduated with 1908 S.

Clubs: Yale and University. Democrat.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Edward Harold Fitzgerald, B.A., B.D.

(Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, 1906)

Born August 29, 1881, in Milford, Conn.

Died June 3, 1908, in Hankow, China.

The Sexennial History, pp. 78-79, contains a sketch of his life with tribute from "The Spirit of Missions," written by Mr. Kenneth A. Bray.

During the period of his ministry, immediately preceding his departure for China, from December 6, 1906, until December 1, 1907, he raised money to purchase a large lot in East Hampton, Conn., and part of the amount needed for building a church to supplement his work in Christ Church in Middle Haddam.

After his death, under the direction of his friend, Rev. W. P. Waterbury of St. Paul's Parish in Waterville, Conn., a fund was raised for the erection of a Memorial Chapel on the land bought through his efforts. The following contributed for the land and the Memorial about $5,500.00: members of 1913, and classmates in Cambridge; members of his own and of neighboring parishes; in fact all of the parishes and Sunday Schools of the State contributed, and in all, twenty-three states were represented. As a result, St. John's Chapel was erected in East Hampton, Conn., and opened for regular services, March 13, 1910. It was consecrated a Memorial to our Classmate, Rev. Edward Harold Fitzgerald, May 8, 1910, by the Rt. Rev. Chauncey Bunce Brewster, Yale 1868, Bishop of Connecticut. A beautiful altar service was also given in his memory.

His father and his mother, Rev. and Mrs. John H. Fitzgerald, live in Hebron, Conn. The address of his brother, Rev. J. Henry Fitzgerald, Jr., Yale 1908, is 45 Prospect Street, Waterbury, Conn.

Minton Fluhrer, B.A.

Lawyer. Residence, 241 West 71st St., New York City.

He studied at the Law School of Columbia University in the Class of 1907, and since then has devoted himself to the law.

Pierrepont Beers Foster, B.A., LL.B.

(1907)

Business Address, Chamber of Commerce Building, New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 315 Whitney Ave. (M.)

"While my address is as given above, I am usually to be found at Knight's Garage, 257 George Street, where I am endeavoring to conduct an automobile business."

His younger daughter, Marion, born October 27, 1900, died at Marblehead Neck, Mass., August 19, 1912.

Clubs: Graduates', Lawn and Country; Yale, New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th 9th and 10th. S.

James Irving Fowler

Manufacturer. The Fowler-Curtis Co., Collars and Cuffs, Glens Falls, N. Y.

Residence, 90 Ridge St.

"I was more than pleased to get the telegram (sent from Decennial, signed by seven Andover-Yale classmates) and at the time was very sorry that I had not made my plans to attend the Reunion. I am quite sure now that I will attend the next one. It seems a long time since I have seen you or any of the fellows."

He has been engaged in the manufacture of collars and cuffs since 1899, and besides this interest, is Secretary of the Glens Falls Post Co, publishers of a daily morning newspaper, Vice President of the Standard Textile Company, and a Director in the Jointer and F. W. Lime Companies.

His brother, T. Coolidge Fowler, graduated in 1908.

Alan Fox, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Trowbridge & Fox, 50 Pine St., New York City.

Residence, 43 Fifth Ave.

"After graduating from the Harvard Law School in 1905, I spent more than three years as a clerk in the office of Cravath, Henderson & deGersdorff, in New York. On February 15, 1910, I opened a law office of my own, making an office arrangement with the firm of which Jerome Hess was a member. On April 1, 1911, I formed a partnership with Mason Trowbridge, 1902, and this association still continues. We think we have made good legal progress during the past two years and so far as I can now see I shall live permanently in New York and stick closely to regular private law practice. I find that law practice and the interests in timber in various parts of the country, which I inherited, take every minute of every year so that I have no time left for the travel, hobbies and special interests which this blank asks us to describe."

For three years he has served in Troop G, First Cavalry, New York National Guard.

Stuart F. Freeman and Howard B. Freeman, 1911, and Edgar W. Freeman, 1912, are his nephews.

Clubs: Yale, Harvard, Republican, West Side Tennis and Squadron A. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

John Ross Freeman, B.A.

Secretary. The General Products Company, Jobbers of Paint Grinders' Supplies. R. 911 Security Building, Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 1317 East 52d St. (M.)

"June, 1909, found me located in Indiana as Assistant Cashier of the Travelers Insurance Co. I remained in this position until February, 1910. Then I decided to return to Cleveland for the purpose of soliciting insurance, which, however, I soon found was more promising in the prospective than in its actual realization.

I therefore, in July, 1910, entered the employ of the Cleveland-Akron Bag Co., with which company I remained until January, 1913. I then came to Chicago as Office Manager of the T. J. Peterson Co., which on the first of May of this year, was succeeded by the General Products Co., of which I have been elected Secretary.

The only event of any considerable importance that has happened to me since June, 1909, was my marriage, November 30, 1910, to Miss Mary Aram Sherwood of Cleveland, Ohio.

My brother, Edward Dale Freeman, Haverford 1900, acted as my best man.

While the above recital of events contains nothing startling, I feel that my progress has been at least normal and that I have no reason to complain of such success as I have met."

Mrs. Freeman is a daughter of Judge William Edgar Sherwood and Mary (Hall) Sherwood of Cleveland, Ohio. She attended the Hathaway-Brown School, Class of 1899, in Cleveland.

Reunions: T. Republican.

William Frew, B.A., LL.B.

(Western University of Pennsylvania 1906)

Lawyer. Frick Annex Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 1519 Wightman St. (M.)

"In the summer of 1909 I went to California, and as a result of this trip, I was married in Santa Barbara in the fall. In September, 1909, I resigned from the District Attorney's office, where I had been one of the assistants for about two years and a half, returning to the private practice of the law. In August, 1910, our daughter was born at our home in Pittsburgh. Nothing of a startling or interesting nature has occurred since then. In the summer of 1910 and 1911 I went to California, and in the summer of 1912, in the company of Gus Oliver, Harry Potter, Douglas Dodge and Brock Smith, I went on a golfing trip over the best known courses in the East. This trip was a great success from every point of view."

His wedding took place November 12, 1909. Mrs. Frew, whose maiden name was Margaretta Park, is a daughter of Dr. Charles C. Park, M.D., and Helen (Kitridge) Park. She attended school at Dobbs Ferry. Their daughter, Emily Berry Frew, was born August 14, 1910.

From February, 1907, until September, 1909, he was Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County.

Clubs: Pittsburgh, Allegheny Country and Pittsburgh Golf. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Leonard Welles Frisbie, B.A.

Bond Salesman. With Parkinson & Burr, Bankers, 73 Pearl St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, 690 Prospect Ave.

"After graduating from college I spent the summer traveling abroad with my roommate, Roy A. Hunt of Pittsburgh, and it was 'some trip.' Returning in the fall, I took up my residence in Hartford and entered the employ of the Travelers Insurance Co., with whom I remained until May, 1910, leaving to enter the bond business with Parkinson & Burr, with whom I am now connected.

Nothing of any unusual interest has happened to me, though life as a whole has been very enjoyable and busy. No, I'm not married, though I'm still 'in the market.' My travels have been limited to a few short business trips, a chase after mud baths to cure rheumatism, in which I was successful; since which time my vacations have been spent in a series of automobile trips through New England and Canada, a form of sport I can recommend as the best ever. My plans for the future are overshadowed by a desire to make a living, which takes most of my time. However, I am looking forward to the future and hope it will prove as pleasant as the past, and I am especially looking forward to the Decennial."

He served as a member of his ward committee for five years. He is a Republican, "first, last and always."

Relatives, recently at Yale, are Robert T. Frisbie, and Ratcliffe C. Welles, both 1912 S.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d.

William Shirley Fulton, B.A.

Treasurer. Waterbury Farrel Foundry & Machine Co.,
Waterbury, Conn.
Residence, 170 Hillside Ave. (M.)

"Since June, 1909, have led a rather even life, my interests being centered in my family, my business, and my other pleasures. The keenest pleasure of all has been to watch the development of our two children during the year passed. Hayden, at the present writing, six years old, has been attending day and Sunday school, and his mental development has been, to his parents, most interesting to follow. Elizabeth, three years old, wants to go to school, but doesn't.

In business, I have been with the Waterbury Machine Co., since graduation, acting as Treasurer for some years past. In 1911, the Waterbury Farrel Foundry & Machine Co. took over this business, and since that time my activities have been with the latter, as Assistant Treasurer and, since January, 1913, as Treasurer.

My travels have been brief. Almost every winter I have been able to take, with my wife, a ten-days or two-weeks trip southward to such points as Bermuda, Palm Beach and Havana; then in the summer I steal away for another short jaunt, generally a combination auto and camping trip. The other forty-eight weeks generally find me 'on the job.'"

Elizabeth, their second child, was born January 14, 1910, in Waterbury.

Clubs: Waterbury, Country, Graduates, and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 9th and 10th.

Arnold Samuel Furst, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1903)

Lawyer. Furst & Furst, 215 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Residence, 565 Park Ave., New York City. (M.)

"My work as attorney is very like that of a solicitor at the English Bar;—none, or very little, indeed, of my work is like that of a barrister, no impassioned appeals to juries, no sensational or exciting trials. So that you may well conclude, that, so far as my professional life is concerned, I can report no great events, no achievements. Like all lawyers' work, I have added nothing to the sum total of the world's possessions. I have merely lubricated the machinery a bit, now and then.

Now as to my other life, my really and truly life (that which will count beyond all these few days, and must live beyond space and time), that has had over its skies no clouds, except such as would accentuate the beauties of God's sunlight."

Clubs: Yale of New York. Progressive.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Thomas Jefferson Gaines, B.A.

Insurance, 7 Pine St., New York City.
Residence, Greenwich, Conn. (M.)

He is in the insurance business, with offices as above. In regard to matters political, he writes: "Do not belong to any party, and have voted all but Socialist and Progressive tickets."

Clubs: Yale and Manhattan.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 7th, 9th and 10th.

Julius Gans, B.A., LL.B.

(Columbia 1906)

Lawyer. R. 1220, 105 West Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 4936 Vincennes Ave.

Some months ago the firm of Gans, Sadler & Krueger was dissolved and since then he has been practicing law independently. He spent the year 1909 in Europe.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d and 3d.

Frank Cameron Gilbert, B.A.

Insurance Brokers. George A. Bell & Son, 100 William St.,
New York City.
Residence, 42 Crooke Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. (M.)

"After graduation I spent a year at Lehigh University as Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Then followed two years in New York as an Associate Secretary of the Students' Club (the Intercollegiate Department of the Young Men's Christian Association of New York City, embracing all the medical schools, School of Pharmacy, etc.).

In the summer of 1906, I took a position in the Treasurer's Office at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, after a vacation trip of three weeks in Canada and Maine. In the fall of 1907, I went into the Fire and Marine Insurance business with George A. Bell & Son at 100 William Street, New York, and was married the following spring. After a two-months' trip to Colorado Springs, we started housekeeping at 228 New York Avenue, Brooklyn, where our baby, Christine, was born, June 30, 1909. In 1911, I was admitted to my firm and moved to 42 Crooke Avenue, Flatbush. Spent the month of December, 1912 in Bermuda. This was a vacation."

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. Republican.

George Burton Gilbert, B.A., M.D.

(Johns Hopkins 1908)

Physician and Director. Research Laboratory, 1222 N. Cascade Ave.,
Colorado Springs, Col.
Residence, 817 North Cascade Ave.

"In May, 1910, I gave up my position at Cragmor Sanatorium and became associated with Dr. Gerald B. Webb in the practice of medicine. For the past three years I have been Director of the Webb Tuberculosis Research Laboratory. In this laboratory we are attempting to obtain a practical and successful method of vaccinating children against tuberculosis, believing that prevention is more important than cure. All our experiments have been with live, virulent tubercle germs. We are also studying the effect of altitude upon the blood. This sort of work keeps a fellow from growing stale over the routine practice of medicine. My health is again excellent and I look forward with great pleasure to meeting the old friends of 1903 in June."

Clubs: El Paso, Colorado Springs Golf, Colorado Springs Clinical, County and Colorado State Medical Societies, American Medical Association and National Association for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Progressive.

Reunions: T., D.

Edward Lathrop Gillespie, B.A., LL.B., LL.M.

(LL.B. 1909 and LL.M. 1910 New York University)

With Gillespie Bros., Inc., Publishers, 258 Atlantic St.,
Stamford, Conn. (M.)

"I am with Gillespie Bros., Inc., Atlantic Street, Stamford, Conn., of which concern my father is President, and am Advertising Manager of the Advocate. Owing to various changes, I cannot very well give a residence address which can be confidently relied on for the next few months, but any mail which is addressed to 72 Forest Street, my father's home, is reasonably sure to reach me.

I was married in New York City, June 16, 1913, to Miss Helen Gertrude Tobin, daughter of the late Thomas and Mary (Carroll) Tobin."

He studied law at New York University, receiving the degree of LL.B. in June, 1909, and LL.M. in June, 1912. He was admitted to the Connecticut Bar in June, 1912.

William White Gleason, B.A.

Department Manager. With Acker, Merrall & Condit Company, Wholesale and Retail Grocers, 135 West 42d St., New York City.

Residence, 530 West End Ave. (M.)

"Since Sexennial I have been engaged in the same business as before, i. e., with Acker, Merrall & Condit Co., of New York City. In September, 1912, I moved to 530 West End Avenue, and on October 23, 1912, our second daughter, Margaret Hasbrouck Gleason, was born there. I am eagerly looking forward to the Reunion this June."

In politics he has "always voted straight Republican ticket for Mayor, Governor and President." He has served as ballot clerk and also as watcher at the polls.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Hovenkop Country, Hillburn, N. Y.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Irvine Goddard

Clergyman. Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Residence, 46 North Hamilton St. (M.)

"The year 1909 found me comfortably settled in a Kentucky parish, happily married and charmed with the innocent prattle of my firstborn child, then two years old. A year later found me traveling northward to supply the pulpit at St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York. While doing this, a committee from the Glove Making Town of Gloversville, N. Y., asked me to leave my Kentucky Home and come and share the rigors of a northern climate and also the abundant opportunity to do real social service work among factory people. I complied somewhat reluctantly to their request, but I have had no reason to regret it. I was plunged into the thick of municipal life almost without any effort on my part, and before I realized it. As a result of my labors, the entire educational system was revised from the kindergarten to the last class in the High School, by means of new and up-to-date methods of pedagogy and new textbooks. Free textbooks were given to the children; a school nurse and public playgrounds. I simply championed the People against the Machine, and they stood back of me and we put the Machine out of business. I enjoyed it immensely and a few wakeful nights. After two years of this kind of life, which were the most interesting of my ministry, and during which my second child was born, a splendid boy,—whom I expect to send to Andover and Yale,—I came to Poughkeepsie to look after the morals of Morton Atwater and a few other Yale men. Here I am very happily settled in a beautiful parish and in a city world-famed for its abundance of benevolent and philanthropic institutions."

His second child, Irvine Craik Goddard, was born January 13, 1911, in Gloversville, N. Y.

He is a member of the Case Committee of Dutchess County Aid for Dependent Children, President of St. Barnabas Hospital, Chaplain of the Hudson River State Hospital, a member of the Board of Directors of the Union Rescue Mission of Poughkeepsie and formerly a member of the School Board in Gloversville.

Clubs: University, Chaplain of Triune Masonic Lodge and Prelate of Poughkeepsie Commandery. Republican Progressive.

Willis Elbridge Goodhue, B.A.

Born December 23, 1867, in Brookfield, Conn.

Died February 5, 1909, in Norwalk, Conn.

The Sexennial History, pp. 87-88, contains a sketch of his life.
The address of his wife, Mrs. Frances Bradbury Goodhue, is 35 White Street, Shelton, Conn. In a note of thanks for the 1903 pocket directory, sent September 9, 1913, Mrs. Goodhue refers to the death, last spring, of Willis's mother, Mrs. Esther Hawley Goodhue.

Francis Spencer Goodwin, B.A.

Real Estate. J. J. & F. Goodwin, 783 Main St., Hartford, Conn.

Residence, 103 Woodland St.

"Since 1903 have lived in Hartford, Conn. Worked some and played more. Go to church about every Sunday but have not yet taught a Sunday School class. Have been in politics some and have tried hard each election to keep the town out of the hands of the Democrats with considerable success, until recently. I try to be a respectable citizen and stay on the water wagon some of the time, but once in a while, owing to the rough road, have to fall off. Am now a Water Commissioner for our town and am trying to give the people pure water and more of it.

I don't expect to get married as all the good ones are taken, and I am getting old and unattractive. I work some, take a trip to Europe about every other year and am interested in all kinds of sports, especially Poker."

He has served as a member of his ward committee.

Clubs: Hartford Golf, Country, University, Dauntless and Yale, New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S.

George Augustus Goss, B.A.

Superintendent. Manufacturing Department, Scovill Manufacturing Co.,
Waterbury, Conn.
Residence, 117 Pine Street. (M.)

He continues his association with the Scovill Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of machinery.

He was recently elected to serve as the first Vice President of the newly-established Mory's Association in New Haven.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, London. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 5th and 6th.

Robert Andrews Granniss, Jr., B.A.

Vice President. Pease & Elliman, Real Estate & Insurance, 156 Broadway,
New York City.
Residence, Morris Plains, N. J. (M.)

"Same old story, nothing new. Same job, same home, same wife, same life.

Went to Europe last summer to study social conditions, for two months, and had a very good time. Having taken this course in college, I knew what to look for and what not, and, believe me, I saw some sights.

Other than this trip I have made a few visits to some of the suburbs of New York, such as Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston, not forgetting Hoboken, that quaint, foreign town.

I was elected President of the Mortgage Financing Co., 1912, a real estate operating concern which is doing some business. Am living in hopes of making a lot of money, but as yet, my ship is delayed by fog, etc."

He has voted both Republican and Democratic tickets. In Morris Plains, his home, he has served as President of the Improvement Association, organized for the purpose of bettering local conditions. For five years he has also served as Chief of the Fire Department.

Clubs: K Ψ, A Δ Φ, Elihu, University, Lawyers', Yale, Sons of the Revolution, Morris Country Golf.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Charles Douglass Green, B.A.

Manager. Stock Department, Kean Taylor & Co., 30 Pine St.,
New York City.
Residence, 772 Park Ave.

"No change in business. Retired from National Guard, 1912, of which I had been a member since October, 1903. My father died November 12, 1911.

Spent my vacations at our old family home in Virginia, now the property of my uncle, W. W. Mackall."

He retired from the National Guard with the rank of Sergeant, having served as a member of Squadron A, eight and a half years.

Clubs: University and Squadron A.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 8th and 10th.

Herbert Gouverneur Greene, B.A.

Manager. Public Telephones, New York Telephone Co., 15 Dey St.,
New York City
Residence, Cedarhurst, L. I. (M.)

He has been associated with the New York Telephone Company since the fall of 1903.

He married, October 3, 1910, in Rome, N. Y., Miss Elizabeth Porter Searles, daughter of Mrs. James Harvey Searles of Detroit, Mich. The ceremony took place at Zion Church. William W. Gleason, 1903, was one of the ushers.

His daughter, Elizabeth Searles Greene, was born October 5, 1912, in New York City.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 4th and 5th.

FURST, CAMPBELL, G. A. SMITH, STILLMAN, KINGMAN, POMEROY, RANKIN AND BUMSTEAD SAIL FROM DOUBLE BEACH.

READY FOR DINNER.

BASEBALL.

THE CLASS BOY, KINGMAN, STILLMAN, KEPP, POMEROY, RANKIN AND OTHERS.

Henry Farrand Griffin, B.A.

Advertising Manager. Crocker-Wheeler Co., Manufacturers of Electrical Machinery, Ampere, N. J.

Residence, 45 West 11th St., New York City. (M.)

"On staff of New York Evening Sun from 1909 to 1912, variously, as reporter, political reporter, copy reader, telegraph editor, special correspondent, Washington, Albany, Beverly, Oyster Bay, Mexican Border, etc.; with Roosevelt in various campaign trips in West during 1910.

Entered the employ of P. F. Collier & Son, publishers of Collier's Weekly, in the 'Service Department,' writing advertising copy, circular matter and editing their house-organ 'Collier Men,' a small paper devoted to the interests of the firm.

In February, 1913, went to Crocker-Wheeler Co. as Advertising Manager, where I now am."

He was political reporter for the New York Evening Sun during the campaigns of 1910-11 and their correspondent at San Antonio, and on the Mexican border during the Madero Revolution in 1911.

His brother, William A. Griffin, is a member of 1905 S.

He married on September 16, 1911, at St. Mary's Church, Barnstable, Mass., Miss Mary Whitney Redfield, daughter of Robert Stuart Redfield and Mary Thibault (Guillou) Redfield. Mrs. Griffin attended Miss Baldwin's School at Bryn Mawr, Pa.

"Independent, Progressive leanings."

Otto Harry Gruner

Broker. Care Taler & Robinson, 60 Broadway, New York City.

Residence, Cedarhurst, L. I. (M.)

"I regret more than I can tell you that I could not get back to New Haven this year, but I was so placed, on account of business, that it was impossible. About what I have done since I left New Haven,—there is not much to tell. After leaving college I went to California and spent a year, and in 1901 bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. I was married in January, 1903, to Miss Katharine Drake of New York, and have two children. I have lived for the last five years at Cedarhurst. My present New York address is 60 Broadway.

Clubs: Racquet and Tennis.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 4th.

John George Haas, Jr., B.A.

Lawyer. 141 Broadway, New York City.

Residence, Edgecliff Terrace, Park Hill, Yonkers, N. Y. (M.)

"The Sexennial and Triennial Records show that, sooner or later, I intended to make law my profession, my life work. In February, 1910, I resigned my former business position and, in trying to make an advantageous entry into the legal field,—as I was married—accepted a position in the Stock Transfer Bureau of the State Comptroller's office. I had hoped to make acquaintance in this way in lower New York, and it evolved just that way. In May, 1911, I entered the law offices of Parker, Davis, Wagner & Walton, at 34 Nassau Street, and soon rose to a high rank there. In May, 1912, I started in to practice on my own hook and have been doing nicely.

I love my profession and if I have any specialties, they lie in the field of election laws and corporation and tax laws. In the year 1912, I compiled the inheritance tax laws of all the States, though my efforts stopped there, owing to the chaotic condition of the decisions, etc."

Charlotta Alice Haas, his eldest daughter, was born May 25, 1909, in New York City, and Frederick Peter Haas, his second son, was born October 16, 1911, in Yonkers, N. Y.

Politics: "Since Roosevelt's speech on the Friday before election day wherein he abused the New York Court of Appeals on the question of employers' liability, as far as I know, I have belonged to no political party. Have voted Republican ticket, except in November, 1912, when I voted Progressive ticket." He served as Secretary of the 8th Ward, Progressive Party, in Yonkers, and acted as attorney for that party in the preparation of petitions. Since then he has made a careful study of the electoral franchise.

Clubs: Yale and New York County Lawyers' Association.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, 6th and 7th.

John Francis Hackett, B.A., M.D.

(McGill 1906)

Surgeon. S. S. Javary, Care Messrs. Booth & Co., 17 Battery Place,
New York City.

He gave up his residence and practice in Waterbury, and on May 29, 1913, sailed for Iquitos, Peru, as Surgeon aboard the Steamship Javary, of Booth & Co., New York City. The route of the Javary is through Brazil, stopping at all the principal ports of the Amazon River.

Reunions: T., S.

Chauncey Jerome Hamlin, B.A., LL.B.

(University of Buffalo 1905)

Lawyer. O'Brian, Hamlin, Donovan & Goodyear, Iroquois Building.
President of The Sweeney Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, Snyder, Erie County, N. Y. (M.)

"In May, 1911, I was extremely fortunate in being able to form a very advantageous partnership in the law with John Lord O'Brian, a Harvard graduate of the best type. He at that time was and still is at this writing United States District Attorney for the Western District of New York. Before his appointment, he served several terms in the New York State Assembly. While there he was a strong supporter and won the confidence of Hughes. So you can imagine the type.

At about this time we sold our city house and moved out onto a farm a short distance beyond the city line. Here we have lived ever since in a low rambling farm house surrounded by an orchard, and here we have been able to watch our three children grow up in perfect health in the fresh air and quiet of country life.

During all this period I have continued to practice law in the city, and for some time held the position of Referee in Bankruptcy to which I was appointed in 1909."

He attended the National Republican Convention in June, 1912, and soon after took an active part in the work preliminary to the opening of the National Convention of the Progressive Party. He resigned his position as Referee in Bankruptcy and was selected Provisional County Chairman of the Progressive Party for Erie County, New York, later being chosen a delegate from New York State to the first National Progressive Convention in Chicago, in August, 1912. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Progressive Party from New York State, and editor of the Buffalo Progressive, a weekly newspaper published in the interests of the Progressive Movement.

On May 3, 1913, he became President of The Sweeney Company, a large department store in Buffalo, and owing to the necessity, on that account, of a less active participation in the practice of the law, temporarily at least, the firm of O'Brian, Hamlin, Donovan & Goodyear was established. Mr. Bradley Goodyear, of the Class of 1906, is one of the firm.

Mary King Hamlin, Chan's third child, and second daughter, was born February 18, 1911, in Buffalo.

Clubs: Buffalo, Saturn, Buffalo Country, Genesee Valley, Rochester; and Yale, New York. Progressive.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Francis Joseph Handel, B.A., LL.B.

(Buffalo 1905)

Lawyer. The Ellicott Building, Ellicott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, 227 Linwood Ave.

He has been practicing law continuously in Buffalo, since October 1, 1905.

George Bradley Hardy

Present Address, 1154 West 54th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

Letters will always reach him if addressed in care of his father, Mr. Amos E. Hardy, North High Street, Bangor, Me. He is now with his brother, whose address in California is given above.

Robert Richards Hargis

General Agent. Freight Dept., Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway Co., 307 Fourth National Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga.
Residence, 136 Washington St. (M.)

The above addresses were sent December 23, 1911, when he wrote: "I was married last May to Miss Nellie M. Stubbs of Kentucky, a cousin of Gov. Stubbs of Kansas."

William Loomis Harmount, B.A.

Teacher. Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.
Residence, 86 Pleasant St.

"The year following graduation, I lived in Pittsburgh, spending that winter in Florida with a young boy whom I was tutoring. In July, 1904, I returned to my home at Pine Orchard, Conn., which I left in a few months for Colorado. I remained there two years, tutoring a young fellow who lived on a ranch in the Wet Mountain Valley. My next engagement was for one year with a school of tutoring in New Hampshire, followed by a year at The Kingsley School at Essex Fells, N. J. During the next three years, I taught French and German at the Kiskiminetas Springs School at Saltsburg, Pa. From there I came to my present position of Instructor of French at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. I am now completing my second year here. The summer of 1910 I spent in France at the Universities of Caen and Grenoble. Last summer I spent traveling in Europe."

Clubs: National Educational Association and L'Institute Pedagogique International. Republican.

Reunions: S.

Alfred Lucius Hart, B.A.

Broker. With Robert F. Griggs, Investments, P. O. Box 678, Waterbury, Conn.

"I still sell stocks and bonds to my fellow men and women. My engagement to Miss Anne Chase of Waterbury was announced in December, 1912, and that, of course, is the greatest and best thing that ever happened to me.

I shall coöperate (with the lady's consent) with my Class in helping them to celebrate their Decennial Reunion.

I try to keep in touch with affairs at New Haven, both athletic and educational, and find the situation in both active branches of Yale life at least interesting.

I find as the years roll by that I like my Class better and better, both collectively and individually, and wish it were possible to see them together more often."

Invitations received, a few days before going to press, corroborate the facts stated above. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sabin Chase are inviting friends to the wedding of "their daughter, Anne Chase, to Mr. Alfred Lucius Hart, on Wednesday, the eighth of October, at half-after four o'clock at Saint John's Church, Waterbury, Connecticut."

His brother, Howard P. Hart, is a member of 1914 S.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 10th.

Henry Friedgen Hartjen, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

With Ajax-Grieb Rubber Co., 1796 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 1976 Honeywell Ave. (M.)

He practiced law for some years but is now with the above firm. He married, September 20, 1910, in Jersey City, N. J., Miss Helen A. Kellough of Milton, Mass.

Their son, and only child, Henry Amroth Hartjen, died June 27, 1913.

Clubs: No. 35 F. & A. M., Yale and Republican.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 3d, 5th and 6th.

Julian Hartridge, B.A.

Lawyer. Dyal Upchurch Building, Jacksonville, Fla.
Residence, Jacksonville.

"I have received all of the promises sent out in regard to the Reunion in June, and while I do not expect to go up, I keep my optimism and may be lucky enough to be with you."

Since graduation he has been practicing law, associated with his father, Mr. John E. Hartridge.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T.

Maurice Fitch Hawks

Born December 4, 1880, in Buffalo, N. Y.

Died March 29, 1900, in New Haven, Conn.

The Triennial History, pp. 141-143, contains a sketch of his life, written by Dr. Charles O. Day, 1903.

A Memorial Room has been given to the Yale Infirmary in New Haven and the bookcase, built into the sitting room, is also in his memory.

The address of his mother, Mrs. Amanda Smith Hawks, is Wingaersheek, Gloucester, Mass. In a recent letter, received from her, she writes: "The thought that some of Maurice's classmates still bear him in remembrance is a very sweet one to me."

Bronson Hawley

Farmer. Sherley Farm, R. F. D. No. 2, Bridgeport, Conn.

Since 1909, when he came East from Seattle, where he had been engaged in the lumber business, he has been devoting his time to farming. Besides his interest in agriculture, he is a naturalist, and has made a special study of ornithology. He has spent some time abroad the past few years, and was in Europe at the time of the Decennial Reunion.

Rowland Hazard, B.A.

Treasurer and Secretary. Peace Dale Manufacturing Co., Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers, Peace Dale, R. I.

Residence, Peace Dale. (M.)

"Spent winter 1909-1910 traveling in West, returning in June. Married in October. Traveled abroad until January 1, 1911. Since then have lived as quiet a life as the tariff agitation and the I. W. W. permit a woolen and worsted manufacturer to lead. Spent January, February, and March of 1913 in Palm Beach, Fla."

His wedding took place in Chicago, Ill., October 5, 1910. George F. Porter, Robert R. McCormick and Mansfield Ferry, 1903, assisted at the ceremony. Mrs. Hazard, who attended Briar Cliff, was Miss Helen Hamilton Campbell, daughter of Augustus Scott Campbell, banker, and Abbie Josephs (Hamilton) Campbell.

Their daughter, Caroline Campbell Hazard, was born April 25, 1913.

He is a Republican and "ran for President of Town Council three times, and once for membership. Licked twice and elected twice." He was elected delegate from Rhode Island to the Republican National Convention in 1912.

He is a Director of the Merchants National Bank of Providence, R. I.

His brother, Thomas P. Hazard, is a member of the Class of 1915.

Clubs: Point Judith Country and President of Rhode Island Tennis Association, 1912.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st.

Samuel Frank Hedges, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Attorney for The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. 49 Cedar St.,
New York City.

Residence, 258 West 23d St.

"After graduation I attended the New York Law School two years and graduated with a degree of LL.B. in June, 1905. Was admitted to the New York Bar the following October and became managing clerk for Phelps, Evins & East at 30 Broad Street. After two years there I became managing clerk for Jelenck & Stern and Mr. John S. Davenport, Yale '66. I stayed with them two years and became associated with Louis F. Reed at 2 Rector Street, in the practice of law, leaving him to enter the employ of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., as Attorney in its Court Bonding Department. I am still there. My entire activities since leaving college have been concentrated on the pursuit of a livelihood, and have had no time for travel, reading, social diversions or special interests. My hobby, if I have any, is mechanics in general, and automobiles in particular. I have never married and prospects are very remote."

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 10th. Republican.

Ell Ray Henry, B.A.

(B.A. Washburn 1902, B.A. 1903)

Banker. With Calcasieu National Bank, Lake Charles, La.
Residence, 1736 Madison St. (M.)

He has been associated with the Calcasieu National Bank since graduation. A message containing "Best wishes" was received in January, 1913.

Jerome Sayles Hess, B.A.

Lawyer. Hardin, Hess & Ferguson, 50 Pine St., New York City.
Residence, 140 West 69th St.

"I am a member of the above firm, which is the same that I have always been a member of, except that at the time of our Sexennial the firm name was Hardin & Hess. Our practice is of a general character, though perhaps specializing somewhat in the law of carriers, we being the general Eastern Counsel of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. At this time I cannot give you my wife's maiden name in full, although I might be able to give you a few matrimonial possibilities, but I doubt the propriety of such action and will therefore omit it. Neither can I give you the number of my children for reasons which I need not state."

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Brower Hewitt, B.A.

Traffic Department, New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad,
New Haven, Conn.

He has been engaged in railroad work since graduation. Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Glentworth Reeve Butler of Brooklyn, N. Y., for the wedding of their daughter, Antoinette Reeve Butler, to Brower on the evening of November 15, 1913, at the First Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn.

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 6th and 7th.

Albert Hileman, B.A., Ph.D.

(1906)

Born January 18, 1879, in Frankstown, Pa.
Died May 6, 1908, in Gaysport, Pa.

The Sexennial History, pp. 95-96, contains a sketch of his life.

Rev. Irvine Goddard, 1903, writes: "He was with me four years at Phillips Academy and at Yale, and I wish to state that he was one of the humblest, yet one of the most real and genuine men it has ever been my pleasure to meet. Yale 1903 lost a potentially great man when it lost Hileman. To me it is a sadness I cannot get over, all the more poignant because he worked so faithfully and hard to get his education and then to have it snuffed out when he was just beginning his career."

His mother, Mrs. Rachael Hernish Hileman, resides at 516 Beaver Street, Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Theodore Edward Hill, LL.B.

(New York Law School 1907)

Theodore Edward Hill was born October 30, 1879, in Williamston, N. C., the son of the late Edward Hill, whose death occurred in 1881, and of Rosetta (Keyes) Hill, who resides in New Haven, Conn., at 14 Day Street.

His father was the son of Edward and Caroline Hill, and his mother is the daughter of Malachi Keyes and Penelope (Hyman) Keyes.

He was chosen Class Orator at the Hillhouse High School in New Haven, graduating in the Class of 1898. The fall of the same year he joined the Class of 1899 at Phillips Academy in Andover, and continued his preparation for Yale. He entered college with 1903, remaining with the Class until the fall of 1900, when he joined 1904, completing his course with that Class. The following year, owing to illness, he was compelled to give up, temporarily, his work in preparation for the practice of law. In the fall of 1905, however, he became managing clerk in the law offices of Rufus Lewis Perry, at 375 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. His work was so arranged that he was able to spend much time in study for practice in the law courts of New York City. Later he took a course in law at the New York Law School, and shortly after receiving the degree of LL.B. from that School, in June, 1907, he was admitted to the New York Bar. He opened offices at 17 West 134th Street.

His sudden death from heart failure occurred in his office August 28, 1910. The following, from a letter received by the Secretary of 1904, shows his happiness in his chosen work: "Since my admission to practice law I have enjoyed a fairly large general practice and may venture to say that I have met with a measure of success." In one of his letters to the Secretary of 1903, he wrote: "I shall always hold them (the men of 1903) in my memory, with that feeling which only a Yale man can entertain towards his classmates." Though handicapped by illness and, at times, by almost insurmountable difficulties, he never complained. All his letters show the same cheerful spirit and good nature which those of the Class who entered Yale from Andover came to appreciate in the earlier days; he had, besides the strong characteristics of stick-to-itiveness, an abundance of tact and common sense in his relations with others.

His mother has recently sent a copy of his oration "Some Aspects of the Closing Century," delivered at the Hyperion Theatre, in New Haven, June 22, 1898. These lines quoted from the closing paragraphs reveal his optimism and mental development at that time: "The science of life and the science of the soul—the problem of existence here and hereafter, the duties and responsibilities of the hour and the questions of education, crime and disease, are being viewed, for the first time, in an intelligent and comprehensive way. And with this great question of individual development comes the twin problem touching upon the duties and obligations of society, a question which is now engrossing the attention of millions of thoughtful and determined people. . . . The success of the future depends upon the actions of each and every one of us in the present. And if we follow that which is most worthy of us no one need fear.”

Dudley P. Lewis.

Charles Hitchcock, Jr., B.A.

Broker. Pendergast Hale & Co., 20 Broad St., New York City.
Residence, 114 East 78th St. (M.)

“1909-1913, quite uneventful; working hard to send a good athlete to Yale in 1927.”

He has been in the banking and brokerage business since graduation, and represents the above firm as a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Charles Hitchcock, 3d, was born December 13, 1909, in New York City.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T.

Harold Morley Hitchcock

Vice President. Reliance Electric & Engineering Co., Manufacturers of Electric Motors, Cleveland, O.
Residence, 2094 Cornell Road. (M.)

“I was at Yale one year with the Freshman Class of 1903. At the end of this time I started in business with the brokerage firm of Otis & Wilcox Co. After my cousin, Mr. Wilcox, resigned from the company I also resigned, and then took up a position in the Cost Department of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Youngstown, Ohio. In 1905 I took a position with the Reliance Electric & Engineering Co., of Cleveland, and was elected a Director in 1909 and Vice President in 1910. My present intentions are to remain with this company."

He married in Cleveland, December 7, 1909, Miss Elizabeth Britton Newberry, daughter of Henry S. Newberry, officer in the Citizens' Saving & Trust Co., of Cleveland, and of Elizabeth (Britton) Newberry.

Clubs: Euclid, Cleveland Athletic and Ottawa Shooting. Republican.

Harry Oliver Hofstead, B.A., M.A., B.D.

(B.A. Taylor University 1900, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, M.A. University of Maine 1904, B.D. Chicago Theological Seminary 1909)

Clergyman. Second Methodist Church, Memphis, Tenn.
Residence, 231 Linden Ave. (M.)

"1909 to 1913, pastor of Lenox and Second Methodist Churches of Memphis, Tenn. Had a very fine work at the former and equally so now at Second. Both churches very materially strengthened and large membership built up. Church work and life interest greatly augmented by marriage to Miss Agnes Lucile Blackard (September 26, 1911, at the First Methodist Church, Brownsville, Tenn.), daughter of the Reverend Dr. James W. Blackard, and one of Tennessee's most gifted and talented daughters. On our wedding trip we stopped at Washington and received kind courtesies from Lee McClung, then Treasurer of the United States. Through special favor, was admitted to the vault, where I picked up a box containing $40,000,000 in bank notes, and handed same to my bride. She put it down again, I am sorry to say.

May God bless Yale and Yale men!"

Mrs. Hofstead's father is the presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Her mother's name was Louise White. She is a graduate of the Memphis Conference Female Institute, B.A. 1907. Their son, James Warner Hofstead, was born in Jackson, Tenn., February 3, 1913.

Clubs: Memphis Business Men's, Mason and Odd Fellow. "Republican; Democratic ticket last time."

Thomas Nicholas Hogan, B.A.

Permanent Address, 53 Grove St., Hartford, Conn.

The above is his home address. Letters sent there will be forwarded to him. He is at present in Kansas, where he has been engaged, for the past eight years, in looking after interests of a friend who lives in Hartford, Conn.

Charles Sumner Holbrook, B.A.

Manager of Investments. Wilcox Building, Portland, Ore.
Residence, University Club.

"Left Jersey City, N. J., August 6, 1903, for Portland, Ore., arriving there August 10. Went to work with The Portland Flouring Mills Co., August 17. Served as apprentice for two months in one of the company's mills; served the next ten months as bookkeeper, eight months as bill collector, one year as bill clerk. For three months served as assistant in one of the company's country mills located at the town of Wasco, Ore. I served two years as city salesman in Portland, with the exception of four months in 1908, when I managed the company's local distributing warehouse. For the next two years, from January, 1909, to January, 1911, served as traveling salesman, covering regularly the towns between Portland and Northern California along the Southern Pacific lines and along the north bank of the Columbia River as far east as Pasco, Wash.; also (not regularly) covering the country on the Southern Pacific lines as far south as Sacramento, Cal.

Since January, 1911, I have held the position of manager of the building investments and other personal properties of Mr. Theodore B. Wilcox, President of The Portland Flouring Mills Co.

I have made five trips across the continent during my ten years in the West, returning to my home in Jersey, going and returning each trip by different continental routes, and making stops at such places as Chicago, Columbus, New Orleans, California, cities of the Grand Canñ of Arizona, St. Louis and many other places."

Clubs: University. Republican.

Henry Chandler Holt, B.A.

Banker. Assistant Secretary, Central Trust Co., Forty-second St., Corner Madison Ave., New York City.
Residence, 40 Central Park South.

"In June, 1909, was with the D., L. & W. R. R. Co., in New York. In January, 1912, I left the Lackawanna and went with the Central Trust Company of New York.

Nothing else of interest to report."

May 1, 1913, he moved to the up-town Branch, where he is identified with the Trust Department.

Clubs: Yale and Putnam Masonic Lodge, No. 46. Republican.

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Thomas Hooker, Jr., B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Bristol & White, 42 Church St., New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 51 Hillhouse Ave.

October 12, 1912, he was admitted into partnership with Henry C. White, '81, and Leonard M. Daggett, '84, their firm name being White, Daggett & Hooker. September 15, 1913, his firm became associated with Bristol, Stoddard & Fisher, and the two firms are now merged, the firm name being Bristol & White.

Clubs: Graduates, New Haven Lawn, New Haven Country and Yale of New York. "Republican, with independent leanings in local affairs."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th. S.

Sidney Upson Hooper, B.A.

Trainmaster. Chicago Division, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Garrett, Ind.
Residence, Garrett.

"October 1, 1909, after four months' vacation in the East, I took up work again as Assistant Trainmaster, Southern Pacific Railway, Los Angeles, Cal., and remained in that capacity two years. In October, 1911, I became identified with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on the General Manager's Staff, as Supervisor of Yards and Terminals. September, 1912, I was appointed Supervisor of Transportation and in February of this year Trainmaster of the Chicago Division, with headquarters at Garrett, Ind. There has been very little of interest during the past four years. My calling has enabled me to become familiar with numerous portions of the country and there is a certain amount of gratification to be derived from the gradual steps ahead."

Reunions: S., N. Y. D., 1st and 9th. Republican.

Francis Stockbridge Houghteling, B.A.

(University of the South 1903)

Business Address, 71 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 44 West 44th St.

He writes concerning business: "Various companies and variegated duties."

While in Chicago, in 1910, he was Secretary and Treasurer of the Single Service Package Corporation.

Clubs: "A number, all social." Democrat.

Lawrence Augustus Howard, B.A., LL.B.

(1906)

Lawyer. 50 State St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, 428 Prospect Ave. (M.)

"Words and thoughts fail me. I have done nothing noteworthy save to earn a fair and reasonably honest living, and to pay a fair proportion of my bills.

I am older than I was in 1909, thank God, and have moved from 31 Wethersfield Avenue, Hartford, to Highland Court, Hartford, and thence to 428 Prospect Avenue, where I now am. The cumbrous details are omitted."

His daughter, Barbara Howard, was born August 26, 1911, in Hartford.

He is a member of the Progressive Party and was candidate for State Representative. He has served as Assistant Corporation Counsel. At present he is Ensign in the 2d Division Naval Militia, United States National Guard.

His brother, Arthur E. Howard, Jr., is a member of 1914.

Clubs: University, Hartford Yacht (Treasurer).

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d.

Norman Churchill Hull, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

City Clerk and Lawyer. 405 Agricultural Bank Building, Pittsfield, Mass.
Residence, 40 Appleton Ave.

"I moved my law offices in July, 1911, to 405 Agricultural Bank Building, where I continue to practice law alone. I was elected City Clerk in January, 1912. My travels are extremely limited, which I regret the more because I very seldom have the opportunity to see any of my classmates. I am becoming fixed in bachelorhood but I still hope for the best. My connection with Pittsfield politics has been very close and very interesting to the writer. But it is not interesting to those who do not know the local setting. I am not a noted club man nor public speaker and have no hobbies. My reading is mostly confined to the Revised Laws."

He has been a member of the Pittsfield City Government for the past seven years. He was candidate for Alderman two years, and since November, 1912, he has served as City Clerk. In January, 1909, he was elected a Vice President of the Yale Alumni Association of Western Massachusetts.

Clubs: Park, County, Shire City, Crescent Lodge, Free Masons. Democrat.

Reunions: S., D.

Roy Arthur Hunt, B.A.

Superintendent. New Kensington Plant of Aluminum Company of America, 2402 Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 3 Amberson Place. (M.)

"I am to be married June 11, 1913, and sail June 14 for a couple of months in Norway, Sweden and Russia, and then back on the job here. I am building a house, 3 Amberson Place."

He married Miss Rachel McMasters Miller, daughter of Mortimer C. Miller, lawyer, and Rachel (McMasters) Miller, at the Church of the Ascension in Pittsburgh, June 1, 1913. Leonard W. Frisbie, 1903, was his best man.

Clubs: Duquesne, Pittsburgh Athletic, University, Oakmont Country, Yale of New York. Republican.

George Sinclair Hurst, B.A.

Advertising Department. The J. B. Williams Co., Soap Manufacturers, Glastonbury, Conn.
Residence, South Glastonbury. (M.)

He continues in the advertising department of the J. B. Williams Company.

He found it impossible to attend the Decennial Reunion and the following members of the Class enjoyed greatly an automobile ride and visit with him and Mrs. Hurst at their beautiful country home in South Glastonbury, Sunday afternoon of Reunion week: J. C. Roraback (whose kindness made the trip possible), Robert H. Ewell, Horace B. Pomeroy, Willis S. Whittlesey and the Class Secretary.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d.

Roswell Bishop Hyatt, B.A.

President. The Little, Somers & Hyatt Co., Interior Decorators, 67 East Main St., Meriden, Conn.
Residence, 160 Curtis St. (M.)

"Except for the data given, there is nothing to say, for I have achieved nothing worth mentioning. My life has run along smoothly and uneventfully. Outside of my business and my family I have had no other interests, for these have taken all my time."

He married, October 20, 1909, in Meriden, Miss Mary Thomas Bradstreet, daughter of Dr. Edward T. Bradstreet and Alice E. (Pierce) Bradstreet. William B. Weston and Alfred L. Hart, 1903, assisted at the wedding. Mrs. Hyatt attended St. Margaret's in the Class of 1903.

Their son, Bradstreet Hyatt, was born in Meriden, February 8, 1911.

I. R. Hyatt, 1915, is his brother.

In the spring of 1910 he was elected President of the Inter-collegiate Basketball League, including in its membership Yale, Princeton, Cornell and Pennsylvania; in 1913 he was reelected Secretary of the Meriden Yale Alumni Association.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 10th. Republican.

William Lorne Irvine, B.A., M.D.

(1906)

Passed Assistant Surgeon, U. S. Navy. U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I. (M.)

"Assistant Surgeon U. S. Navy, June 18, 1909, and stationed at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Chelsea, Mass., until September 29, 1909. Attended the U. S. Naval Medical School until March 24, 1910, and graduated second in a class of eighteen. On duty at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., until July 13, 1910, when ordered as medical officer of the U. S. S. Marietta. Duty aboard this ship until September 4, 1911. During this time made two very interesting cruises through the West Indies and Central America, visiting on several occasions the Panama Canal and standing by 'protecting American interests' in three Central American revolutions. Aided in establishing a temporary hospital for the care of sixty wounded, after the 'battle' of La Ceiba, Honduras. Detached Marietta September 4, 1911, and ordered to the U. S. Naval Station, Guantanamo, Cuba. Here we have had a very comfortable home and have enjoyed ourselves raising chickens and turkeys. March 3, 1913, ordered to duty aboard the U. S. S. Connecticut (as near as I could get to New Haven), flagship of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet. Expect to go up for examination for promotion to Passed Assistant Surgeon in a short time and after that expect two years' shore duty in the good old U. S. A., when I shall be able to attend all the 1903 Class Dinners."

He has recently been promoted to the rank of Passed Assistant Surgeon, and is stationed at the United States Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I.

Clubs: Rhode Island Hospital, American Medical and Association of Military Surgeons of U. S. "No politics(?) in the Navy."

Reunions: T., D.

Henry James, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1907)

Physician. Office and Residence, 123 East 62d St., New York City.

"The study of medicine at the P. & S. for the first four years after graduation claimed my entire time and attention excepting for Saturday nights, at which times, with the able assistance of Skut and Giff, I renewed some of the delights of my boyhood. How I managed to graduate is a mystery, but I did, and in the 4th group, and also got a place at Roosevelt Hospital.

Between the time of graduation from the P. & S., and that of entering the hospital I spent five months in Munich trying in all ways known to American students to learn German without studying, and succeeded as well as the average, in this particular way. From January 1, 1908, to January 1, 1910, I spent as an interne at Roosevelt Hospital. During my term as House Physician, in the last six months, they gave me typhoid fever and so disabled me on my exit that my medical advisers, all good friends, deemed it unwise to begin practice immediately, and ordered me to Munich again for further rest and the pursuit of pleasure. During the seven months of my stay, there was added to my weight several pounds, to my vocabulary several new German words. Unlike many, I did not have to learn to like the beer.

From the fall of 1910 I have been doing what is known as 'general practice,' in other words, thrown on the mercies of the unfortunate community. They have not used me so ill as I have them. I have been, and am still associated with my uncle, Dr. W. B. James, Yale '79, and hold the position of what is known as 'Assistant Instructor in Medicine' at the P. & S., and Clinical Assistant at Vanderbilt Clinic. All these may sound well, but my greatest achievement I conceive to be my escape from the influence of one Dip. This influence caused me many a 'wakeful night' where the cabaret shows and the turkey trots, but one by one the tentacles of the octopus were amputated, until now only a dim memory links me with the bright lights of Bohemianism, and I am free to practice on the unsuspecting and innocent public.

Alas, that I cannot admit to being married, but I elected to support, instead, an automobile. Republic shoes may be more expensive than Frank's, but a new coat of paint is much less than a gown from Paquin. So I rejoice in the happiness of my classmates in their marital states, but may I ever avoid being called by that detestable term, 'Benevolent Bachelor!'"

Allan McLane, Jr., 1916, is his cousin.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

William Heberd James

With T. M. James & Sons, China Merchants, 562 Main St.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Residence, Kansas City. (M.) .

"My only recent experience was a visit to the big ditch, where I found out how small one poor man really is."

His second daughter, Eleanor James, was born March 26, 1911.

Richard Gundry Jennings

With E. H. Jennings & Bros., Oil Producers, 1010 Columbia Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Residence, Fifth and Amberson Ave. (M.)

He has been engaged in the oil business since 1901.

June 28, 1913, he married Miss Sara C. Chaplin, daughter of Mrs. Melchoir B. Chaplin of Sewickley, Pa. The following day Mr. and Mrs. Jennings sailed for Europe for their wedding trip, returning home in August.

Donald Kent Johnston, B.A., B.D.

(Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, 1906)

Clergyman. Assistant Minister, All Saints' Church, Worcester, Mass.

Residence, 7 Marston Way.

"In January, 1913, I resigned my position on the Cathedral staff at Salt Lake City and came to Worcester to be connected with All Saints' Episcopal Church."

While in Utah he was associated with Rev. Paul Jones, 1902, who wrote in the 1902 Decennial History about their church activities: "In 1908 a new church and house were built to handle the work. In the house a club is run on the order of the Y. M. C. A., with books, games, baths, pool table and tennis court. The membership averages seventy during the winter and there was a total attendance, at the house, of about 15,000 during the past year. The object of our work is not just to strengthen the Church, though it has grown, but principally to exercise a broadening and uplifting influence on the young people of the State, so that it may bear fruit in their lives and break down the wall of prejudice that exists between the Mormons and the 'Gentiles.'"

He was Deputy, from Utah, to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church held in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 5-21, 1910.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Socialist.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st.

THE CLASS TENT.

GRANNISS, TOWNSEND, PECKHAM, WADDELL.
GREEN AND FITCH.

STEVENSON (ON CRUTCHES), FAIRBANKS, HAZARD, BRISTOL, PIERCE.
WALLACE, LYONS, LAMB, HOOKER, DAY.

Franklin Allen Johnston, B.A.

Publisher. American Exporter, 135 William St., New York City. (M.)

"In April, 1907, my father died, making it necessary for me to temporarily, at least, take an active part in the publishing of the American Exporter. I therefore abandoned the drama to its fate, and after a few months found so many important and interesting things to do in assisting to expand American exports of manufactured goods, that I foresaw at least five years' work ahead. Now the prospect has extended to at least twenty!

In this work I have traveled to nearly all the Latin American countries, seen the great ditch, crossed the Andes, 'rolled down the Rio,' etc. Visited in 1908, Jamaica, Panama, Columbia, Costa Rica, Cuba and Mexico. In 1910 visited England, Spain, Portugal, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Panama and Jamaica, and in the same year France and Germany.

My hobbies are going to first nights, and buying an occasional old book or autograph."

His second child, Audrey Greet Johnston, was born April 25, 1912, in New York City.

Clubs: Yale of New York, Mexico and Pan-American Societies. "Progressive, but somewhat Pianissimo."

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 5th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

William Poyntell Johnston, B.A.

Bonds and Investment Securities. Tilghman, Johnston & Son, 700-701 Equitable Building, Wilmington, Del.
Residence, 1514 West 14th St. (M.)

He is a member of the firm Tilghman, Johnston & Son, and was recently elected to the Board of Governors of the Yale Alumni Association of Delaware.

William Poyntell Johnston, Jr., was born May 2, 1911, in Wilmington, Del.

Clubs: Wilmington Country, Elihu, K Ψ, Ψ Y, and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 6th, 7th and 8th.

Joshua Henry Jones, Jr., B.A.

(Brown 1903)

Assistant City Editor. Boston Daily Advertiser-Record, 309-11 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Residence, 19 Union St., Everett, Mass. (M.)

"As to my activities, after disposing of my interest in the Trade Unionist, the publication of which I started while still connected with the News at Providence, I left that field to become Sporting Editor of the Worcester Post, in 1907. Accepted the position of Night Editor of the Lawrence Sun at Lawrence, Mass., in February, 1908, and came to the Boston Advertiser, as Assistant City Editor, in September, 1910, and here I am.

Have written some random verse, published in the Providence Journal, Boston Herald, Boston Advertiser, Boston Record, and other similar publications. Hope to gather them into a volume at some later date. Have also prepared a series of short stories which I hope to publish in book form soon. I merely mention these, fellows, as expressive of the hope to have something more substantial to show at the next Reunion."

He married in Fall River, Mass., December 13, 1904, Miss Helen Regina Courtney, daughter of Henry Edward Courtney and Zoe Emily (Auger) Courtney.

Their two children were born in Providence, R. I.: Helen Louise Regina Jones, April 3, 1906, and Joshua Henry Jones, 3d, April 27, 1907.

Clubs: Rhode Island Press and Press Clubs of Lawrence and Boston. Independent.

Nicholas Ridgeley Jones, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Rosenthal & Hamill, 1400 Fort Dearborn Building, Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 1234 North State St.

"On account of the law business, concentrating just before court vacation, it was very difficult for me to get away from Chicago, but by making a special effort, I was able to arrange it, and I certainly feel repaid. It meant staying in Chicago a week more during the heat of July and August, but I look upon the Decennial as an event in a lifetime, and far preferable to a mere ordinary summer vacation. I hope to repeat in 1918."

He has been associated with his present firm since February, 1910.

Clubs: Yale of New York. "Republican, Wilson last election."

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 3d.

Robert Porter Keep, B.A.

Teacher. Head of German Department, Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

Residence, 215 Main St. (M.)

"At Sexennial time, Mrs. Keep and I were in Europe. We got back to this country in August, 1909, and have been living in Andover ever since, spending our summers at Nantucket, where I do lots of sailing. In 1911 I was Commodore of the Wauwinet Yacht Club there. In 1912 I won the Commodore's Cup at the end of the season. George Richards and I cruised in 1911 on Art Rosenthal's yawl, and in 1912 on my catboat. In June, 1910, 1911, and 1912, I have been for a week in New York City, serving as Reader in German on the College Entrance Examination Board, and meeting various classmates at the Yale Club. Haven't done any traveling, except to go to Chicago with my wife this last Christmas time, where we saw R. K. Clark at Evanston. My 'reading, special interests and hobbies' are all connected with my teaching work here, where we are trying to give future Yale men the right kind of a start."

He is a Director of the Andover Guild, the local Associated Charities.

Reunions: D. Republican.

Herbert Cassius Kelly, B.A.

Born, August 16, 1881, in New Haven, Conn.

Died, there, February 4, 1909.

The Sexennial Record, pp. 108-109, contains a sketch of his life. The address of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs.

Cassius W. Kelly, is 209 Norton Street, New Haven, Conn. The editor speaks from experience when he assures the Class that in this home a welcome awaits the members of 1903.

Daniel Edwards Kennedy, B.A., M.A.

(1906)

Author. 17 Devon Road, Chestnut Hill, Mass. (M.)

"Save for the addition to our family in the birth of another girl, my life since the last Record has been uneventful. I am still at the same old job, and like all literary aspirants, the next book is to be the best,—it always is. The only thing I care to announce about it is that it is biography and I believe I have new material for it. The only publication from the Queen's Shop since the last Record is 'Golf in Sapphira's Days,'—an attempt at humor. Not being of the Mark Twain type it caused no laughs, but being mostly stolen from Miller, it proved how much Joe's humor is out of date. So far as I know, none of the critics dared to criticise it, so that I have not been able to assemble any advice to assist me in further efforts of the kind. But, enough of it! If I wrote a few more words about it, my letter would be as long as the work itself."

A daughter, Ellen Edwards Kennedy, the second sister of our Class Boy, was born at Chestnut Hill, Mass., March 10, 1912.

Clubs: Chestnut Hill Golf, Longwood Cricket and Yale of Boston.

Reunions: D.

Francis Stanley Kent, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. 500 Leary Building, Seattle, Wash.
Residence, Seattle. (M.)

"Have been attending strictly to business, and my travels have been for business purposes, but on trips to the East in 1910 and 1912 I was fortunate enough to encounter several 1903 men, so that it's unnecessary to add that the trips were pleasant ones.

In this rapidly developing Western city of ours there are numberless opportunities offered for service of all kinds, and particularly in the way of preventing the establishment of ills existing in older communities. As for example, obtaining adequate ordinances to prevent the erection of tenement houses which would lay the foundation for 'slums,' which to date have found no foothold in this city of a quarter-million people. While never running for office myself, I've taken a somewhat active part in assisting to choose the most efficient leaders possible for municipal and civic organizations, both public and private.

As far as my personal affairs are concerned I've been carrying on a gradually increasing law practice, and circumstances have caused me to give a larger and larger share of my attention to the supervision of investments, particularly mortgage loans, on behalf of both Eastern and Western clients. I'm growing heavier, but no older, and expect to feel younger than ever after taking in the 1903 Decennial."

He married, June 25, 1913, Miss Dorothy Adelle Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Henry Daniels of Seattle, Washington.

He has assisted in putting an end to election frauds which formerly existed in certain wards in Seattle.

Clubs: Seattle College, Seattle Commercial, Municipal League, Yale and Harvard. Independent Republican.

Reunions: T., S.

James Barry Kilburn, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. With Gifford, Hobbs & Beard, 5 Nassau St., New York City.
Residence, 71 West 71st St.

He has been associated with the above firm for the past seven years. In his most recent letter he says: "Sorry that I was unable to get up to Reunion," and the others present reciprocate his sentiments.

Clubs: Yale and Atlantic Yacht.

Douglas Brooks Kimball, B.A.

(Harvard 1904)

Lawyer. Kearns Building, Salt Lake City, Utah.
 Residence, 124 South 6th St., East.

"After the events recorded in the Sexennial History, I finished at Harvard Law School; was admitted to the Bar of Massachusetts, but returned to Salt Lake City in 1908. Practiced law in the office of Van Cott, Allison and Riter, 1908-11. September, 1911, to the present time, have been practicing alone."

Eugene Allerton Kingman, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Edwards & Angell, Providence, R. I.
 Residence, 180 Slater Ave. (M.)

"I was graduated from Harvard Law School in 1906 and commenced practice in the office of Edwards & Angell, Providence, R. I. In 1907 I was married to Celia A. Spicer of Providence. The same year I built me a small domicile.

On August 11, 1908, my daughter, Celia Collins Kingman, was born, and on November 10, 1909, my son, Eugene Kingman.

In 1910 I was made a member of the firm of Edwards & Angell. My work is chiefly the preparation and argument in cases in equity."

August 13, 1913, twin children, a son and a daughter, Lucius and Martha Kingman, were born.

Clubs: University, etc. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Joseph Newcomb Kinney, B.A., LL.B.

(Cincinnati 1906)

Lawyer. Union Central Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, O.
 Residence, 24 East 3d St., Newport, Ky. (M.)

January 1, 1909, with Philip Roettinger and S. C. Roettinger, he established the firm of Roettinger & Kinney, Attorneys at Law, with offices at 902 to 906 Fourth National Bank Building, in Cincinnati. He is associated in the legal branch of the Union Central Life Insurance Company.

For a year and a half he served as a member of a Cavalry Troop.

He married, August 2, 1910, in Fort Screven, Ga., Miss Louise Maddux, daughter of Mrs. Fannie (Foote) Maddux. Mrs. Kinney attended the Bennett School. Their daughter, Frances Maddux Kinney, was born in Newport, Ky., August 9, 1912.

Clubs: University of Cincinnati. "Republican, Taft."

Lucian Swift Kirtland, B.A., M.A.

(1907)

Permanent Address, Poland, O.

"At the time of the Sexennial I was Managing Editor and Vice President of The Housekeeper, Minneapolis, Minn. The publication was sold to Condé Nast and Robert J. Collier in November, 1910. I continued in the office of Managing Editor, after the transfer to New York City, until January, 1911. Since that time I have been interested in journalism, as a recreation calling it by that name, as there has been no profit accruing therefrom; and in the development of certain real estate and other properties, as a business.

I spent part of the summer of 1910 at a placer mine in South Eastern Alaska; two months in Holland and Germany in the autumn of 1911; the summer of 1912 in the Rockies of Alberta as a member of a pack train expedition sent out to locate water power sites. The remaining days have been divided between New York City, Minneapolis and Poland, O."

Politics: "Voted for any ticket, candidate or measure under whatever name, from Socialism to Republicanism, according to what seemed to me to be of some permanent value."

Clubs: Bibliophile Society, Boston; Yale, New York; Minikahda and Minneapolis; American Museum of Natural History, National Geographical Society.

Reunion: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 8th and 9th.

Herman Warren Knox

Knox & Brother, Railroad and Machinists' Tools and Supplies, 96 John St., New York City.
Residence, 21 West 8th St. (M.)

He has been continuously with his present firm since it was formed in 1907.

He married, September 24, 1913, Miss Elizabeth Hunter Balston.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th.

Albert Richard Lamb, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1907)

Physician. Pathologist, Presbyterian Hospital, 41 East 70th St.,
New York City.
Residence and Office, 146 East 74th St. (M.)

"Left the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, January 1, 1910. Was married January 4, and went abroad January 12. No time wasted. After six years of medicine, both changes were delightful. Part of the time in Europe was spent in study, a good deal in good times.

Came back in July of the same year and began to work as Bacteriologist at the Presbyterian Hospital and to practice. The practice didn't seriously interfere with anything else. A happy year;—the following spring enjoyed the delights of paternity. Since October, 1911, I have been Pathologist at the Presbyterian Hospital and practicing medicine. The years have gone rapidly, but happily, and the work has been absorbing."

He married January 4, 1910, at All Saints' Memorial Church, in Providence, R. I., Miss Helen Foster, daughter of Louis Tucker Foster and Mary Henshaw (Nightingale) Foster. J. Richards White, H. Mitchell Wallace, Henry James, Henry C. Holt, Ralph Bristol, Erastus Corning, and Chauncey J. Hamlin, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Lamb attended Rosemary Hall.

Their daughter, Mary Nightingale Lamb, was born in New York City, May 5, 1911.

Clubs: Yale, Graduates, New York Academy of Medicine, New York Pathological Society, Racquet and Tennis Club. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 8th and 9th.

Theodore Twyford Lane, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. 165 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 25 Franklin Place, Flushing, L. I.

"I am unmarried. I have no descendants. I am still Secretary and Treasurer and Director of the Marine Construction Company (good old scout) and President and Director of the Twyford Realty Company, which owns multitudinous blocks of real estate (in the future), and various castles in Spain (present). Went abroad once since graduation and came back broke, owing to the tipping system. ('Facchini, concierges, porteurs, bummoii, banditti, vendetta, and arma virumque cano')—you see I have picked up a smattering of foreign languages. Financially, I am improving, but always worried and hate a tailor. I have some gray hairs—I don't care. Herein, below, I append a thing, as a warning to undergrads, to wit:

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the labor and toil and sweating drear
Of the lawyer struggling year by year
To build up a practice, to buy his beer.

It's all very easy to catch a cuss
Who's 'willing' to pay to avoid a muss
That he's fallen for ignoring the rule
That he who's his own attorney's a fool.

He comes to the office with beaming face
And smiles and smirks with shyster grace,
And says with flutter and much ado
'Good morning, attorney, I've heard of you!

'And often my ears have been in stays
A-listening and hearing the people praise
Your craft and guile and high repute
For getting away with a rummy suit.

'So I thought I'd give you a chance to show
Your keen ability,—so I'd know
That when my big suit comes to test
I'll have a lawyer who's of the best.

'You take my little case on spec
And if you soak them in the neck
I'll give you my real case, which means
A million ducats in your jeans.

'But'—(low he whispers, while you hark
And press the button for the clark,—
Just for th' impression you may make Upon the bloomin' blawsted fake)—

'But'—says the piker,—'ere I land
A real big job into your hand,
I want to see,—just as I should,—
If you are able to make good.

'So take this little job on spec,
Pay all expenses, break your neck,
And if you win I'll take the coin
And you can say we live and loin.'—(Poetic license.)

Ah, such is life,—the piker pikes
And slips one over when he likes,
The lawyer works and works like hell:
The client says 'Oh, very well;

'I owe you fourteen thousand bucks
And if you had a few good lucks
You might get paid—but sue me, first,—
Just now I have an awful thirst.

'So I must leave—send in your bill,
They've come before—I have some still.
I tear them up'—(now don't get nettled)—
'And say,—“Thank God those bills are settled.”'

Then out he slides; the lawyer glares
And ramps and raves and tears his hairs,
Then gets evicted from his tent
Because he cannot pay his rent.—

Oh, Gee!"

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

William Clark Langley, B.A.

Banker. W. C. Langley & Co., 10 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, Great Neck, L. I. (M.)

"Since Sexennial, my business has been the banking, bond and brokerage business, as a member of the firm of W. C. Langley & Co. I live at Great Neck, L. I., and have one child, a daughter, born November 14, 1907.

My firm are members of the New York Stock Exchange and their address is 10 Wall Street."

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st.

Charles Myron Latimer, B.A.

Broker. Edwards & Wildey Co., 515 Black Building, Los Angeles, Cal.
Residence, 2516 East 1st St.

"I am obliged to confess that most of my time has been spent, and that of the near future is likely to be spent, in reaching for and absorbing as much as possible of the 'demnition gold and silver'; we have very little currency out here—and the recital of such operations would not be very thrilling or entertaining. My recreation is largely confined to automobiling as far and as often as time will permit and it would be hard to find country or climate better suited for touring. I have very serious doubts of being able to make a bid for the long distance cup. Best wishes for the Reunion."

Clubs: Secretary and Treasurer Southern California Yale.
"Republican; voted Progressive ticket."

George Sidney Leach, B.A., LL.B.

(1905)

Principal of Public Schools. Livingston, N. J.
Residence, Livingston. (M.)

"Have done little else but practice law. Usually spend two weeks each summer at Gloversville, N. Y. No special events,— nothing of general interest. No special hobby, unless it be 'a good book and a shady nook.'

This town has many disadvantages, but one feature goes far to compensate,—the chance of running into classmates any hour of a business day, in the Wall Street section.

No special plans except to provide meal-tickets for four for an indefinite period.

No one who does business in Manhattan has to provide recreation for himself so long as he is privileged to ride a dozen times a week in the Subway,—at least, my main recreation takes that form.

In June, 1909, I was associated with the firm of Krauthoff, Harmon & Mathewson, 55 Wall Street. A few months later I left them. Have been associated also with Huntington, Rhineland & Seymour, 54 William Street, and have been with my present firm for something over two years." Mr. Pratt and Mr. Koehler of his firm are Yale men.

He has two boys, born in New York City: Paul Sidney Leach, October 22, 1910, and Frederic Bonfey Leach, November 13, 1911.

Since sending his class letter he has accepted the position of Principal of the public schools in Livingston, N. J., and has written: "I am teaching two years each of Latin and German, in addition to elementary algebra and plane geometry, so that for this year, at least, I am in no danger of specializing."

Reunions: T., D. Independent Democrat.

George Everson Leonard, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. Leonard & Walker, 135 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, Nassau Boulevard, Garden City Estates, Long Island,
N. Y. (M.)

In November, 1905, he formed a partnership with Walter B. Walker, 1903. They have practiced law together since that time.

He has served on several of the Annual Dinner Committees of the Class and in that, and in other ways, has done much to make those occasions worth while.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Howard Roderick Le Vally

Assistant General Manager. Commercial Chemical Co., Clearing, Ill.
Residence, 4513 Lake Ave., Chicago, Ill. (M.)

"My program has been one continual chase after the elusive coin of the realm, with varying success, and nothing of great interest has happened. I have done a great deal of traveling for the house I am with, mostly through the West, covering practically all the territory beyond the Mississippi."

His son and his daughter were born in Chicago: Howard Pierce LeVally, December 18, 1907, and Mary Louise LeVally, December 6, 1909.

"Republican, if there is such a party."

Dudley Payne Lewis, B.A.

Social Service. Spring Street Neighborhood House, 244 Spring Street
(Tel. Spring 3580), New York City.

"My debt of gratitude to 1903 is so great that I cannot say more than this—I expected your coöperation but I have received it 'in full measure, pressed down and running over' and I am happy.

For the Class I have expressed gratitude to the following: to the parents of those no longer with us, whose coöperation has been generous and who in turn have been comforted by the many tributes quoted for them from the Decennial blanks; to the well-known leaders who have taken such infinite pains, in the midst of busy lives, to give their best thought in the articles contributed and in the lines written below the portraits; to Miss Maude Adams for her great kindness in giving her portrait, never before published, photographed especially for our Record from a miniature painted by Mrs. Homer Saint Gaudens, and for her further kindly coöperation in allowing the original with her handwriting to be framed with the others now being sent as a gift from the Class to the Yale University Library. This includes the portraits and autographs given me by Mark Twain, Joseph Jefferson, William H. Crane and Mrs. Nation. Our Librarian at Yale, Prof. John C. Schwab, writes: 'We shall of course be delighted to accept the gift of the signed portraits you speak of. Such material has not only a high monetary value but is an inspiration to the students';—to Mr. Edwin Rogers Embree, '06, Director of the Class Secretaries Bureau, for his help so generously given since he was an editor of the Yale Alumni Weekly; to Mr. Minott Osborn, '07, and to the other editors of the Weekly for cuts of Yale in the Philippines, of the arrival of Prof. Taft at Yale and of the chosen portrait of President Dwight, made from the painting by Mr. Edmund C. Tarbell, now in Commons, the gift, in 1911, of the Class of 1891; to our friend Mr. Norris H. Halsey of Pach Bros., for the Decennial Group, the portraits of Mike Murphy, Jim Reynolds and Charlie Brady and of Mrs. Nation on the steps of Osborn Hall; to the officers of the White Star Line for the cut of the Olympic; to the officers of the Yale Club for the cut of the new club house; to big-hearted Louis Linder who wrote shortly before his death in answer to a letter of thanks for his kindly coöperation in lending the pictures of Carrie Nation taken at the New Haven House by Dr. Harold S. Arnold, 1900: 'I hope your book will be a success and look forward to seeing one of them before long';—to those referred to in Howard Plummer's chapter on the Reunion who donated the pictures of Reunion events; to Joseph C. Tulloss, '13 S., of 1325 Linden Avenue, Baltimore, Md., who still has some excellent Reunion pictures on sale; to the member of the Class who carefully edited the section on 'What can 1903 do for Yale?'; for the personal interest on the part of the engravers, The Springfield Photo Engraving Company, and The McKinnon Company; to Rev. W. P. Waterbury of Waterville, Conn., for the material concerning Edward Fitzgerald's Memorial; to Mr. Roger W. Tuttle, '95, and to many other Class Secretaries whose suggestions have been invaluable; to Chief Iron Tail for his portrait—of particular interest since Mr. James E. Fraser, the sculptor who designed the Indian head on the new buffalo nickel, states that 'in making that portrait the face of the magnificent old Indian, Chief Iron Tail, was uppermost in my mind';—to my father and to my mother, whose encouragement, interest, and assistance have been a source of joy in serving the Class (included contrary to their wish); to the members of the following organizations to which I belong as honorary member and whose members in some instances have entered Yale through catching the Spirit of 1903 in aiding in the mailing, folding and stamping of the material sent out during the past four years: The Alpha Delta Sigma Fraternity, The Keystone Club, The Springfield News Boys' Association, The Yale (preparatory) Club of Western Massachusetts, the Springfield Club in Yale and the Philia Club of New York; and to Geoffrey L. Safford, '14, and to Gerald I. Cutler, '15 S., for their thorough work in proof-reading.

My chief thought in concluding my service as Class Secretary is of the magnitude of the power that exists in such a Class and will continue to exert itself as the years go by. If in my new work in New York, in which I am very happy, any of the Class can give even a little lift it will be appreciated—old clothing, money, speakers of power and influence, yourselves,—all are needed. In closing I quote a dear friend of this old Spring Street Church, Miss Fanny Crosby, the noted blind hymn writer, who suggested these lines when I told her my difficulty in trying to express my gratitude: 'The Lord knows our hearts, and what we cannot express He can and will. Let us look to Him for His guidance and direction and be sure that He will express our gratitude far better than we can ask or think.'"

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. S.

Charles Hammond L'Hommedieu, B.A., LL.B.

(Michigan 1906)

Lawyer. Campbell, Bulkley & Ledyard, Union Trust Building, Detroit, Mich.

Residence, 191 McDougall Ave.

"I am still unmarried and living at home, and the only change in my business activities is that on the first of January, 1912, I was admitted to membership in the above firm.

I was sorry not to have been able to attend the Decennial Reunion, but was prevented from doing so by the illness of my father."

Clubs: University.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d.

Paul Lindenberg, B.A.

General Manager. Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.
Residence, Columbus. (M.)

"I play golf sometimes with satisfaction to my partner,—other times with joy to my opponent. Otherwise I try to make and sell the best value on the market in player pianos. Ken Curtis has helped me for about seven years. Now we also have with us Ernest F. Bacon.

Greetings to 1903."

Clubs: Columbus and Arlington Country. Republican.

Charles William Littlefield, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Littlefield & Littlefield, 11 Pine St., New York City.
Residence, 535 West 135th St. (M.)

"Still doing business at the same old stand and plan to continue."

He married in Montclair, N. J., September 21, 1910, Miss Georgie Berry Horton, daughter of Arthur and Alice M. Horton. Rev. Robert Seneca Smith, 1903, officiated, Brockholst M. Smith, 1903, was his best man, and Henry C. Holt, 1903, ushered.

His daughter, Alice Horton Littlefield, was born August 15, 1911, in Montclair, N. J.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Franklin Lockwood, B.A.

Lawyer. With Crane & Lockwood, 55 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 17 East 57th St. (M.)

"I have continued the practice of the law in the office of Crane & Lockwood with considerable pleasure and some small financial returns. I was so unfortunate as to lose nearly a year (all of the winter of 1912 and most of the summer and fall), being laid up with inflammatory rheumatism.

I am back at work, in excellent good health, and quite happy."

He married, February 12, 1907, in New York City, Miss Sarah Linton McNeel, daughter of the late Linton McNeel.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: S., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 7th and 10th.

Arthur Channing Long, B.A., B.S.

(Massachusetts Institute of Technology 1905)

Born in Sharon, Mass., April 8, 1882.

Died in Wilmington, Del., April 13, 1913.

On April 13, 1913, Arthur Channing Long underwent an operation in Wilmington for a mastoid growth from which he had been suffering for some time past. His strength was not sufficient to withstand the effects of the ether, and he passed calmly into the Great Beyond.

Arthur's death was a great blow to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Long of Sharon, Mass., who had already lost a son in early manhood. A brother, Harold, is a student at Brown University. Since 1907 Arthur had been in the employ of the Du Pont de Nemours Powder Co., having been located at the Marquette (Michigan) plant in 1909 and since that time at plants at Pompton Lakes and Hopatcong, N. J. Since September, 1912, he had been identified with the main office in Wilmington, Del., as assistant to the chemical director.

Of the men of 1903, none were more loyal to the Class and to Yale than Arthur. His cheery and ready responses to the Secretaries' letters, and his effort to be present at all gatherings of Yale men as well as his endeavor to locate his classmates in his travels, demonstrates this. He loved companionship, and by his good humor and ready wit always added his share to any gathering. The tributes to his manhood, from which the following are quotations sent to the bereaved at his death, show that here was a life which had well performed its service in this world.

"Arthur was to me a very dear and true friend. He was a living example of truth and righteousness. His character was above reproach. His death represents a great loss to all who knew him, for to know him was to love him."

"To me, Arthur was a very dear friend. I met him about six years ago when he came to Chester, Pa. I chummed with him a great deal and he came over to our home frequently. He was under all circumstances a good, clean, upright Christian fellow, and I'm sure I feel the better for having known him. He came here several times since he had been in Wilmington, and I called around to see him about two weeks ago. (Dated April 15, 1913.) He told me about his trouble, but was very cheerful and sanguine about the outcome."

"My memories of Arthur cluster around college days, particularly, and my visits to him and his to me. His spirit and humor are most agreeable memories, and I never think of him as anything but happy and overflowing with high-spirited fun. Arthur's straight and true life is a most helpful memory."

Just a year previous to the time of his sudden departure from our ranks, Arthur Long was a guest at our home in Dunkirk for a period of some two weeks. He was not well then, suffering, as he was, from nervous indigestion and a general breakdown from overwork. He bore himself, however, in that same lithesome and cheery manner, so that he made many friends as was his wont wherever he went. He had a habit of endearing himself to others and I have found that in Naugatuck, Pompton Lakes, Marquette, Wilmington and Toronto, in spots wide apart—wherever he stayed for any length of time, he has left his circle that mourns,—having been bettered by their contact with his kind, generous, jovial nature.

My children will long mourn their "Uncle Arthur," who could tell them stories by the hour, stories that carried them off their feet into the world of his fancies and dreams.

Ambitious, for success, faithful to a fault, and earnest and sincere in his work and play, Arthur having survived a severe sickness or operation nearly every year since our graduation, at last succumbs.

His fight has been a noble one. He had reached a high standing in his profession, for at the time of his death he had mastered, as thoroughly as could be, the mysteries of fulminate,—the high explosive,—while in the service of the Dupont Company. His life was pure, clean and wholesome—his untimely end one of the mysterious acts of the All Powerful.

N. L. Engelhardt.

Willard Armstrong Lyon, B.A.

Banker. With First National Bank, Middletown, N. Y.
Residence, 44 East Ave.

He has been with the First National Bank of Middletown since graduation.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Randolph Lyons, B.A., M.D.

(Tulane University 1907)

Physician. 1206 Maison Blanche Building, Canal St., New Orleans, La.
Residence, 1428 First St. (M.)

"I was married on June 3, 1911, to Miss Marie Celeste Maury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Maury. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents in this city.

In regard to my political faith;—in local politics I am a Democrat, but in National politics a Progressive.

For the past three years I have held the position of Instructor in Clinical Medicine in Tulane University. For the past two years I have been associated in the Post Graduate Department of Tulane, the Polyclinic, as demonstrator of Clinical Medicine.

I would like to say in regard to the Decennial Committee and Reunion that it was the best ever. While it was a jaunt of some 1,300 miles, for me, I would not have missed it for anything. I do not think too much praise can be bestowed upon the Committee and its Chairman for the work they did. Anyone who was not present missed one of the pleasantest times he will ever have."

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., D.

Cameron Mackenzie, LL.B.

(New York Law School 1906)

Vice President. The McClure Publications, Inc., 4th Ave. and 20th St.,
New York City.

Residence, 130 East 24th St. (M.)

"There is practically nothing to add since a year ago when Mr. Collins and I jointly acquired the controlling ownership of McClure's and The Ladies' World, and later The Housekeeper. I am the Vice President and we sell about two million magazines a month."

His wedding took place in New York City, April 2, 1907. Mrs. Mackenzie, formerly Miss Elizabeth Harriet McClure, is a daughter of Samuel S. McClure and Harriet (Hurd) McClure. George E. Leonard, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony.

His son, David Cameron Mackenzie, was born in New York City, July 28, 1910.

Clubs: Union League, Aldine and Sleepy Hollow Country. Progressive.

Donald Bradford MacLane, B.A., B.D.

(Union Theological Seminary 1906)

Clergyman. Pastor Taftville Congregational Church, Town of Norwich, Conn.

Residence, Taftville. (M.)

He writes: "Life quiet and uneventful."

His son and his daughter were born in Taftville: Saunders, August 4, 1909, and Lois, September 14, 1912.

His brother, William B. MacLane, is a member of the Class of 1910.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 3d. Independent.

Henry Coit MacLean, B.A.

Permanent Address, 802 Lexington Ave., New York City. (M.)

He was associated with the Diamond Rubber Company for some time, resigning his position there December 1, 1912.

He married, July 11, 1912, at Grace Church Chantry, in New York City, Miss Hannah Townsend Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Hannah Townsend Walker Anderson. Mrs. MacLean attended St. Agnes' School, Albany, N. Y.

Shortly after their wedding they traveled in Europe, returning in time for the Decennial Reunion.

Their daughter, Sallie Townsend MacLean, was born September 3, 1913.

Clubs: Yale and St. Nicholas. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, 6th and 9th.

Arthur Manierre, B.A.

Arthur Manierre, the third of the four sons of George Manierre, B.A. Yale 1868, and Ann Eliza (Edgerton) Manierre, was born April 29, 1881, at Evanston, Ill. He prepared for College at the University School in Chicago and entered at the beginning of Freshman year.

After graduation he entered the car shops of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad, with a view to learning the railroad business. He took the entire four-year course in shop work, finishing in one year and a half. After spending a few months in the foundry department of the Griffin Wheel Works, and in the Superintendent's office of the Pullman Company, he entered the manufacturing business, forming a partnership with O. N. Tevander of Chicago, under the firm name of The Standard Cap and Seal Company. Their success was remarkable and could only have been accomplished through an extraordinary genius for business, together with untiring industry. He and his partner conceived the idea of producing a sanitary and inexpensive cap for milk and other bottles. They finally invented and perfected the Hermetic cap now known as the product of the Standard Cap and Seal Company, together with the necessary machinery, all of which they worked out in detail and established on the market by dint of great labor and ingenuity.

At the time of his death this cap was widely in use in the United States and Canada, and its use has been since growing daily. In the short time allotted him in this life, he accomplished a success which would have been remarkable even in a normal lifetime. While actively engaged in promoting and marketing his inventions, his life was brought to an untimely end, October 7, 1912. In the latter part of September, 1912, together with Bill Nixon he had started on a hunting trip in the mountains of Colorado. When in a practically uninhabited portion of the State, he was attacked with violent headaches, and after a harrowing return trip, they finally reached Chicago. His condition became worse and an operation was decided upon as the only chance of saving his life. This operation, however, only disclosed a condition which medical skill was powerless to remedy, a tumor at the base of the brain.

Arthur was married in Chicago, December 20, 1906, to Frances Eleanor Mason, B.A., Bryn Mawr 1905. She survives him and is now residing with his parents at 100 Bellevue Place, Chicago. Three brothers, graduates of the College in 1901, 1902 and 1907, respectively, also live in Chicago.

His unique and powerful character commanded the respect of all with whom he came in contact.

In marked contrast to his dynamic, forceful, all-observing and all-efficient life in the business world, was his simplicity and characteristic directness in his social and home life. When the business day was over he seemed a boy again. In everything he attempted he was successful, but he never assumed any knowledge in matters with which he was not familiar and he was peculiarly free from pretense or affectation; consequently, he inspired great confidence. He was naturally an optimist and it was a great privilege to know him on account of the wholesome inspiration of his optimism. A letter from Dr. Henry B. Favill, to Mrs. Arthur Manierre, is peculiarly apt in expressing this characteristic:

MRS. ARTHUR MANIERRE,
100 Bellevue Place,
Chicago, Ill.

My dear Eleanor:—I have hesitated to break in upon your grief but I cannot resist a wish in my heart to say to you a word, not alone of sympathy, but of deep appreciation of Arthur.

A man like that, young—simple and busy, has no conception of the impress he makes upon older men.

Unfortunately, life is gone before we can make our appreciation felt, and perhaps more for that reason I want you to know how fully he was appreciated.

He has for several years stood to me as a correction to such pessimism as I might have as to the conditions of the day.

When I have thought young men were artificial, he was simple and natural. When I felt they were without earnestness, he was intense. Without purpose or patience, or skill,—he had them all.

I admired him as much as I liked and respected him—deeply.

My heart aches for you all.

Believe me,

Very sincerely,

CHICAGO, Oct. 26, 1912.

HENRY B. FAVILL.

Another dominant trait was his charitableness toward others. His friends seemed to be perfect to him and I don't believe that anyone who knew him could recall his having expressed an uncharitable opinion or an unkind word even in jest.

Warm-hearted, loyal and genuine, he was ceaseless in his devotion to his family and friends, and was always zealous in making things pleasant for those about him. To quote from a letter from Walter F. Wallace to the Class Secretary: "I can only say that I have never known anyone more anxious and willing to assist his friends than Arthur." The family home at 100 Bellevue Place, and later his own home, were the headquarters for the many Yale friends, where all were always sure of a hospitable welcome.

His sad death is indeed a great blow and loss to all of us.

Nicholas R. Jones.

Paul Ford Mann, B.A.

Architect. 16 Dun Building, Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, 37 Allen St.

Since Sexennial he has established his own offices in Buffalo. In 1909 he was located in the Mutual Life Building and latterly at the address above.

He served one year as Private, Troop IV, Squadron A., N. G., N. Y., and one year as 1st Sergeant, Troop I, 1st Cavalry, N. G., N. Y.

Richard L. Mann, 1909 S., of the Heubner-Bleistein Lithographing Company of Buffalo, is his brother.

Clubs: University, Buffalo and Yale. Republican.

Reunions: T, S., N. Y. D., 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. S.

John Marshall, B.A., LL.B.

(B.A. Bethany 1902, B.A. 1903, LL.B. West Virginia 1904)

Lawyer. Moss, Marshall & Forrer, Union Trust Building, Parkersburg, W. Va.

Residence, Parkersburg. (M.)

"Since the publication of the last History, our home has been made a preparatory for another Yale student, in the person of Joseph Paull Marshall, born May 20, 1912.

In January, 1910, I was appointed Assistant United States Attorney for the Northern District of West Virginia.

On January 1, 1913, I entered into a partnership with former Judges Charles D. Forrer and Hunter H. Moss, Jr."

He is a Director of the Chamber of Commerce of Parkersburg.

Reunions: T., S.

Milton Louis Marshall

Manager. L. Marshall & Sons, Retail Clothiers, Auburn, N. Y.
Residence, 181 Woodlawn Ave. (M.)

His business has been the same since the publication of the last Record.

He married, May 20, 1912, Miss Mabel Vorreuter, daughter of S. Vorreuter of Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Marshall attended the Granger Place School, Class of 1906.

Irving W. Marshall, 1911, is his brother.

Progressive.

Elmer Brown Mason, B.A.

(Princeton 1903)

Forest Entomological Assistant. Bureau of Entomology, Washington,
D. C.

He studied in the Yale Forestry School from 1909 to 1910, and since then has been engaged in the work indicated above, having charge of the South Atlantic and Gulf States.

He has written a number of magazine articles and stories, and during the year 1911 made forty-nine speeches with reference to the Southern Pine Beetle, addressing audiences from New Orleans to Raleigh, N. C. He wrote recently for the Decennial History of 1902: "Emerge from the woods now and then to make an address on forest insects, but spend most of my time in the timber. It's a fine life, extremely healthy, interesting and unremunerative. As one cannot spend any money in the woods, however, the college man's burden, i. e. debts, is gradually decreasing."

Clubs: Princeton of New York.

Macdonell Mason

Broker. 6 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, Tuxedo Park, N. Y. (M.)

He became Transportation Agent for the South Porto Rico Sugar Co., in 1910, and in 1912 he was located in St. Marc, Haiti, where he was Paymaster of the Haiti Railroad.

He has recently been engaged in the brokerage business with offices in New York City. He was abroad at the time of the Decennial Reunion.

Macdonell Mason, Jr., his second child, was born at Tuxedo Park, September 17, 1909.

Reunions: T.

John Hart McAlarney

Special Representative. United States Steel Products Co., 30 Church St.,
New York City.
Residence, 430 West 118th St.

"Three years of college life I lost, since the death of my father in 1900 brought about my leaving college at the end of the first year, and during the past thirteen years I have experimented with newspaper and publishing business, Government Revenue Service, telephone line construction, structural shops, fire-brick selling, finally settling down, in January, 1906, with the Carnegie Steel Company's Sales Department in Pittsburgh, transferring to similar work with the export division of the Steel Corporation, in January, 1909, in the New York offices. Pleasant, congenial and interesting work, and entirely uneventful, and with little travel except the routine business trips through Canada; and present prospects are that here I will remain except for such advancement as may come in the natural course of things."

Clubs: Yale and Machinery. Republican.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 7th, 8th and 9th.

Harvey Childs McClintock, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Young, McClintock & Painter, 1508 Park Building,
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 621 Maryland Ave. (M.)

"I am still in Pittsburgh, where I seem to have become indigenous to the soil.

Early in 1907 I became associated in the practice of law with the late Charles Gibbs Carter, a graduate of Yale in the Class of 1891. Upon his death, in May, 1909, two of his associates and myself formed a partnership for the general practice of law under the firm name of Young, McClintock and Painter. This still continues and prospers.

All important events that any kindly or curious classmate could wish to know about my young career have already been fully covered in the blanks filled in. Chief among these events you will note that I have enlisted with those who refuse to die 'unmarried and without issue.' It's some struggle for existence, 'but how can man die better than facing fearful odds?' etc.

A noticeable lack of material prevents me from writing further any chapters of a possible autobiography. Let me, however, express an unfeigned astonishment that the Secretary of our Class, in democratic Yale, should have the temerity, publicly, to request us to render an account, among other things, of our 'special interests.' I fling the gauntlet in the Secretary's face, and tell him that I am neither attorney for, nor am I in any way connected with, any 'special interests.' I am a child of the people!"

He married, November 11, 1911, at Quogue, L. I., Miss Fanny Brower, daughter of Charles DeHart Brower, lawyer, and Mary (Bailey) Brower. Mrs. McClintock attended Miss Masters' School at Dobbs Ferry, Class of 1904. John M. Dreisbach, Reeve Schley and Stuart B. Sutphin, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony.

Harvey Childs McClintock, Jr., was born November 2, 1912, in Pittsburgh.

In the fall of 1911, the "child of the people" was nominated for Judge of the County Court of Allegheny County (with five to be elected) by the Keystone party of Pennsylvania. He took an active part in the campaign for County offices held that year.

Clubs: Allegheny County Bar Association and Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. Progressive.

Reunions: D.

Robert Rutherford McCormick, B.A.

President. The Tribune Company, 7 South Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Residence, 1446 North Dearborn Ave.

"In the summer of 1910 I traveled through Europe for the purpose of studying the management of city governments with particular reference to harbors. Upon my return I published a monograph on European harbors.

In December of that year I was defeated for reëlection as President of the Sanitary District of Chicago, but had the satisfaction (?) of running 25,000 ahead of the Republican ticket, and many thousand votes ahead of the Republican congressman whose approval of the Aldrich Tariff Law brought about the defeat of our party.

In March, 1911, I was made President of the Tribune Co.

In 1911 I joined actively in the organization of the Republican Committee of 100, whose purpose was to take control of the party out of the hands of Senator William Lorimer. We were so far successful as to nominate forty-seven, of forty-eight, of the reform candidates at the primaries in April, 1912.

In June, 1912, I attended the Republican National Convention as a delegate, and passed through the unpleasant experience of seeing the party disrupted by the unscrupulous tactics of the gang of political cutthroats that constituted then, and, unfortunately, still constitute the Republican National Committee.

As a Republican, repudiating the National Convention, I supported Mr. Roosevelt for the Presidency. I hope and expect to remain a Republican and to see the party purged of its criminal members and once more the governing party in the country. This can be accomplished only by the dethronement of the corrupt National Committee."

He has worked tirelessly for better political conditions, serving as Alderman, President of the Sanitary District of Chicago, Chairman of the Committee of 100 and Delegate to the Republican National Convention of 1912. January 1, 1910, he was admitted to the Bar of Illinois. In reply to the question as to his political party affiliation, he writes: "I am a Republican, and as such, repudiate the Chicago Convention and the usurpation of the National Committee."

Clubs: Local and Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 8th and 9th.

Earl C. McCulloch, D.D.S.

(College of Dental and Oral Surgery 1903)

Dentist. Knox Building, Gloversville, N. Y.

Residence, 49 Melchior Park.

He has recently written, sending the addresses above. He continues in his profession in his home city.

ONWARD CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS.

PASSING VANDERBILT HALL.

NEARER VIEW OF THE PROCESSION.

Irving McDonald, B.A.

Born in St. Joseph, Mo., November 5, 1881.

Died there, November 15, 1903.

The Triennial History, pp. 184-185, contains a sketch of his life, written by John Barrow Motter, 1903. The address of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John I. McDonald, is Lover's Lane, St. Joseph, Mo.

The following is from a letter written by Mr. McDonald, July 15, 1913: "Mrs. McDonald and I thank you most heartily for your letter and the Address List of 1903. It is a lovely thing—one of the very loveliest about dear old Yale—this keeping in touch with the friends of those gone before—this keeping alive of precious memories! It is needless to say that, in my opinion, with the possible exception of '78, '03 is the best Class ever graduated.

Again thanking you and praying that every blessing may come to the friends of my boy, . . ."

James Patrick McDonough, B.A., M.F.

(1905)

Lumber Shipper and Buyer. With W. M. Ritter Lumber Co., Glen Morgan, Raleigh County, W. Va.
Residence, Glen Morgan. (M.)

He has been associated with the W. M. Ritter Lumber Company of Columbus, Ohio, in West Virginia, since 1909.

He married, March 28, 1910, Miss Bessie Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hall of Maben, West Virginia. He sends word of the birth of his two boys; John McDonough, March 1, 1911, and Frank McDonough, June 9, 1913.

Andrew Duncan McIntosh, B.A.

(B.A. Highland 1899, B.A. 1903)

Teacher. The Taft School, Watertown, Conn.
Residence, Watertown. (M.)

He has been teaching, in the Department of History, at the Taft School, for a number of years, and has prepared many boys for successfully passing the Yale entrance examinations.

Besides his son, Duncan, he has a daughter, Jean Moore McIntosh, born August 27, 1913.

His summers are usually spent in the Adirondacks, where he enjoys fishing and tennis, his favorite recreations. He is a member of a tennis team in Watertown.

David Ritchie McKee, Jr., B.A.

Real Estate. 151 Powell St., San Francisco, Cal.

"Came out to the West,—Seattle,—in the fall of 1909. Was there for a while, then went to Spokane, Wash., where I was on a large hydro-electric proposition with the Washington Water Power Company, for over a year. From there I went to Canada, as there was a big boom up there, especially around Calgary, and I went into real estate. Left there in June, 1912, and came to San Francisco, where I am engaged in the same business. California suits me to perfection, and the chances are that after my years of wandering I will settle here. The principal drawback is that I have seen so few '03 men, and being so far away, it will be impossible for me to get on to our Reunion. However, my recollections of New Haven and the good bunch are just as clear as if it were yesterday. I hope to see lots of them out here in 1915, a trip that will be well worth taking, I can assure you."

His cousin, William McKee Dunn, graduated in 1911.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st. Republican.

Donald McKesson, B.A.

Wholesale Druggist. McKesson & Robbins, 91 Fulton St., New York City.
Residence, 449 Park Ave. (M.)

"I haven't made a bit of history in the last four years. Just been on the job; no vacation of over a week. The only times I've been away from the city for more than a day or so have been every fall for the Conventions of the National Wholesale Druggists. I'll have to try and create a little history between now and June."

He married, June 9, 1913, at Christ Church, in New York City, Miss Catherine Van Buren Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy N. Lawrence.

He served eight years in the 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y., taking his "full and honorable" in 1911. A message of greeting, expressing the hope of being present at Quindecennial, was received at Headquarters the last day of the Decennial Reunion.

Clubs: Yale, Chemist, Drug, Chemical, etc. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Robert Lewis McKnight, B.A.

Secretary and Treasurer. Barstow Irrigation Co., Barstow, Ward County, Tex.
Residence, Barstow. (M.)

"I have very little to say except that I have been always busy. I don't like Texas, for the reason it is so far from New Haven that it has been impossible for me to get back to the Dinners and Reunions. We have, as you know, a little girl, Elizabeth, now over three years old, born in Barstow, March 20, 1910.

My interests are nearly all in this country and in irrigation. At present we are doing a little in irrigation by pumping plants, with some little success.

I often think of my friends in 1903. I miss them and I envy you fellows back there who can get together often and enjoy again, remembering the four years at New Haven.

I shall drop in on you sometime, I hope, before a great while, and we will make some talk."

Reunions: S.

Ralph Hill Melcer, B.A.

Manager. Palmer Bros. Co., Cotton Manufacturers, New London, Conn.
Residence, Montville, Conn. (M.)

"No important changes since Sexennial. Outside of home the most satisfying things are music, mountains and plain people."

During the last Yale-Harvard boat races, Decennial week, Mrs. Palmer and Ralph and his wife gave the same royal welcome to their beautiful home, enjoyed so often, in the past, by many of the Class, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Coleman, Allen T. Clement and the retiring Class Secretary.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

William George Metzger, B.A.

Permanent Address, 54 East Division St., Chicago, Ill.

"Resigned from Sequoyah Coal & Mining Co., and Poteau Valley Railroad, June 1, 1911, and returned to Chicago. I have not taken up other activities since, owing to illness in family."

Henry Edmund Mills, B.A.

Vice President and Secretary. The Toledo Cotton Goods Manufacturing Co., 2283 Fulton St., Toledo, O.
Residence, 639 Stratford Place. (M.)

"In December, 1909, I closed up my coal business in Columbus, and moved to Toledo, Ohio, to become identified with The Toledo Cotton Goods Manufacturing Company, in the capacity of Vice President and Secretary.

I see very little of our classmates now, although I did see Durrie Waldron recently in New York."

Reunions: T.

James Bradford Minor, B.A.

Manager. The Minor, Dixon Co., Importers and Jobbers of Groceries and Coffee, 10 West 2d St., Cincinnati, O.
Residence, The Burnet House.

"August 1, 1911, I left the oil business, spending a couple of months in traveling and visiting different places in the East and Canada. After that I took up my present business, becoming Manager and a Director."

William Ernst, 1914 S., is a relative.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st and 2d. Mugwump.

Douglas Maxwell Moffat, B.A., M.A., LL.B.

(M.A. 1904, LL.B. Harvard 1907)

Lawyer. Cravath & Henderson, 52 William St., New York City.
Residence, The Yale Club, 30 West 44th St.

"In July, 1909, I came from Scranton, Pa., where I had been practicing law, to New York City, to do some special work for counsel for The Delaware & Hudson Railroad. Shortly after the conclusion of that work, in December, 1909, I entered the law office of Cravath, Henderson & deGersdorff, 52 William Street, New York City. On February 1, 1913, I was admitted to a partnership in the firm, which continues under the firm name of Cravath & Henderson, Mr. deGersdorff having retired. The work in which I have been engaged has been exceedingly interesting, but correspondingly engrossing, and as a consequence I cannot give, what our Class Secretary requests, an account of my 'travels, recreations, reading, special interests and hobbies.' Those are all things which I have loved but lost long since the while."

Clubs: Yale, Harvard, West Side Tennis, Ardsley, Reform, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 6th.

Walter Chafey Moodie, B.A., M.D.

(Nebraska 1912)

Physician. Office and Residence, 3429 Hawthorne Ave., Omaha, Neb.

"I took the first three years in medicine in the University of Vermont, and the last year in the University of Nebraska in Omaha, graduating at the School of Medicine in 1912. Was interne in the Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital in Omaha from June 1, 1912, to June 1, 1913. Just what my future location will be I have not fully decided. Perhaps the address, West Point, Neb., in care of my uncle, Mr. P. M. Moodie, will do as well as any. I can always be reached through him.

I was in St. Joseph, Mo., a few weeks ago and went to see Motter, whom I used to sit beside in classroom, freshman year. I had not seen him for ten years, and there was but little change in his appearance. We had a good time together. I have not seen much of 1903 since graduation but intend to see more. It was a disappointment not to get back for Decennial—nothing but illness could have prevented. By 1918 I hope to be able to get back and shall look forward to that time from now on."

Charles Arthur Moore, Jr., B.A.

Residence, Florence, Italy. (M.)

Before taking up his residence in Italy he was for a number of years in business in New York City. He sends Greenwich, Conn., as his permanent address.

Besides his daughter, Elsie, referred to in the last Class Record, two sons have been born, Charles Arthur Moore, 3d, in Greenwich, Conn., August 28, 1910, and Henry Sperry Moore, July 21, 1912, in Geneva, Switzerland.

Clubs: Yale, Union League, Racquet and Tennis. Republican.
Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 1st and 4th.

Frank Wood Moore, B.A.

Clergyman and Instructor. Department of Homiletics, Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, N. Y.
Residence, Auburn.

"I was minister in the Presbyterian Church in 1909 in Brockport, N. Y., and continued there until July, 1912. At that time the growing need of a more thorough understanding of the social movements of the day,—as well as the industrial conditions helping to cause them, led me to resign my pastorate there and to go to England for eight months' study and work. Most of the fall, from October to December, was spent in Cambridge at the University, reading Political Economy and Industrial and Social Developments. After the Christmas vacation, I settled down in London, attending lectures at the London School of Economics and doing a little work in the Browning Settlement in South London, where I came in contact with a number of the leaders of the Labor Party in England, and so was able to get the point of view of that class which is making protest against the old industrial order and seeking to bring in better times for the great mass of people who toil mostly with their hands. There is a growing class consciousness and class solidarity which, if rightly led, promises great things for the future. I returned home the first of April, and was of course glad to be with my own people again.

In May I accepted a call to an Instructorship in the Department of Homiletics at Auburn Seminary, which work I will take up in the fall. I expect to be married in October to Miss Margaret Stevens Otheman, a graduate of Bryn Mawr in 1905, of 41 East 53d Street, New York, and we will make our home in Auburn, while I am teaching in the Seminary. It is our hope and desire to return to the work of the ministry after this coming year's work is ended, unless there is a very clear indication that our work is in teaching. I believe more than ever in the privilege and joy and opportunity of the Christian Ministry and the big work which lies before the Church of Christ to-day to help bring in the Kingdom of righteousness and truth and peace. I am glad for the share of the work given me to do."

His cousin entered the Yale Freshman Class this fall.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st and 2d. Progressive.

Daniel Harris Morgan, B.A.

Real Estate. 135 Broadway, New York City.

Residence, 136 East 71st St. (M.)

"I moved to New York in the fall of 1908 to look after real estate interests which I had in the city and vicinity. Since then I have taken up and become interested in various companies, financing same, or identified with the management of these companies. I have offices at the present time with Leonard and Walker of my Class. In 1912 I voted the Bull Moose ticket and expect to be a member of the Progressive Party, and have taken some interest, with no active part, although I was Vice Chairman of my district last fall in New York."

John Barrow Motter, B.A.

Department Manager. Wheeler & Motter Mercantile Co., Wholesale
Dry Goods, St. Joseph, Mo.
Residence, 10th and Charles Sts.

Since graduation he has been engaged both in banking and the wholesale dry goods business. In 1909 he was teller of the National Bank of St. Joseph. At present, he is Department Manager of the Wheeler & Motter Mercantile Company, where he first became associated in 1905. In a letter, dated July 30, he writes: "I had a very pleasant visit with our old friend, Ralph Melcer, in New York, a few weeks ago."

Reunions: N. Y. D., 9th.

John Richard Moulton, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. With Emery, Booth, Janney & Varney, 50 Congress St.,
Boston, Mass.
Residence, 95 Newberry St.

He is associated with the above firm, his special branch being "Patent, Trade-mark, Corporation and General Law."

He served as a member of the Common Council of Salem, Mass., for three years, and in the year 1910 was elected to serve as President.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st. Republican.

Frank Burroughs Mulford

Permanent Address, Care Mr. Timothy Mulford, Manager, Goodyear
Rubber Co., Kansas City, Mo.

In March, 1911, he left the Goodyear Rubber Company, where he had been since January 1, 1901, and took a position with the Detroit Gelatine Company, in Detroit, Mich. Writing on May 6, 1911, he refers as follows to this change in business: "For the present I will be traveling most of the time, but hope a little later to be permanently situated in Detroit. There is certainly one advantage that Detroit has over Kansas City, and that is that it is nearer New Haven. I hope to get there oftener than I have been able to.

My young brother has certainly enjoyed his college course. It was a mighty lucky day when my oldest brother decided to go to Yale, and all four of us have profited by his wise choice."

Reunions: T.

Arthur Daniel Mullen, B.A.

City Controller. City Hall, New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 335 Ellsworth av. (M.)

"Chief Clerk to City Controller, 1909, 1910, 1911. Controller, 1912-1913. Attended Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in 1909, in Seattle; took trip north to Vancouver."

He married, October 19, 1912, in South Manchester, Conn., Miss Katherine Leola O'Keefe, daughter of John and Katherine (Hurley) O'Keefe. Mrs. Mullen is a graduate, in the Class of 1911, of the Providence Hospital Training School, Washington, D. C.

Their daughter, Mary, was born in New Haven, September 13, 1913.

Clubs: F. O. E., Chamber of Commerce, Yale Alumni Association of New Haven, Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 2d. "Democrat, generally."

Walter Starbuck Munson

Secretary. Munson Bros. Co., Mill Supplies, Utica, N. Y.
Residence, 36 Brinkerhoff Ave.

He has been with his present firm for the past nine years, and recently sent the above addresses.

Clubs: Fort Schuyler and Yahnundasis.

Reunions: T.

Ralph Howard Nesmith, B.A.

Chief Engineer. American LaFrance Fire Engine Co., Inc., Elmira, N. Y.
Residence, 516 West Gray St. (M.)

"Since June, 1909, I have been connected with the same firm, the American LaFrance Fire Engine Company, occupied principally in the design and engineering of motor-propelled fire apparatus. In connection with my work I have taken a number of trips, among which may be mentioned one to Milwaukee in 1911, and one to Denver in 1912. After assisting my roommate to be married in February, 1911, my mind being fully made up, I also took the decisive step, and my marriage took place the following November. Since then Elmira has been our home."

He married, November 11, 1911, in Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Eliza Chinn Hedges, daughter of Edward Chapman Hedges and Annella (McHatton) Hedges. Mrs. Nesmith attended Miss Round's School in Brooklyn, Class of 1909.

Their daughter, Ruth Chinn Nesmith, was born May 31, 1913.

Clubs: D. K. E., Yale of New York, Society of Automobile Engineers, and Elmira Country. "Republican; last election voted Democratic ticket."

Renues: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Almer Mayo Newhall, B.A.

Junior Partner. H. M. Newhall & Co., Importers and Exporters, Newhall Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Residence, 110 Forbes Ave., San Rafael. (M.)

"Most great men have had several biographers, and all at least one, although some, from preference, have written their autobiographies; but of necessity most, if not all Yale 1903 men, lacking biographers, must tell their own story.

The first incident of interest after my return from Sexennial Reunion was the formation, in September, 1909, of the Belvedere Bachelors Club, of which I was a charter member. Its object was to rent or buy a small summer home for about half a dozen fellows, in Belvedere, the prettiest shore town on San Francisco Bay, and we planned to open our Bachelor Quarters about the first of May following.

In November and December of the same year I took a six weeks' trip to the Gulf of California, Ports of Mexico, which was only accomplished with considerable discomfort and an attack of fever. However, a week before Christmas found me home again, 'heart whole and fancy free.'

In spite of my previous vows to eternal bachelorhood, early March, 1910, found me engaged to the most charming woman in the world, and on April 28, 1910, Miss Anna N. Scott and I were married. A delightful three months' wedding trip to Europe followed. Upon our return, I found our head man leaving the office, so that the years since then have been particularly busy ones for me, caused principally by the complete reorganization of our office force and systems.

On June 8, 1911, Almer Mayo Newhall, Jr., arrived, commencing at once his preparation for Yale. About the middle of August following, we moved to San Rafael, the best climatically situated town in the vicinity of San Francisco, and Almer, Jr., immediately attested the advisability of the change by gaining steadily over an ounce a day.

Thanks to the unselfishness of Mrs. Newhall, I have been able to come East to Decennial, and a better time I never had. It was certainly one great 'joy fest,' and my advice to every member of 1903 is, under no conditions to allow anything to prevent his coming back to our Quindecennial Reunion five years from now."

Mrs. Newhall is the daughter of William Anderson Scott and Eva Anna (Mears) Scott. She graduated in the Class of 1905 at the Lowell High School.

W. Mayo Newhall, Jr., 1914 S., is his cousin.

Clubs: Pacific Union, Marin Golf and Country, Pacific Motor Boat, and Belvedere Bachelors (Honorary Life Member). "Republican, although at last Presidential Election, I voted the Democratic ticket, because the names of the Taft electors were not put upon the ballot in California."

Reunions: S., D.

Paul Sprague Ney, B.A.

(1904)

Farmer. Farmington, Conn. (M.)

Soon after graduating he became associated with the J. M. Ney Company, at his home in Hartford, Conn., and later worked on the tobacco plantation of Hon. Joseph W. Alsop, 1898 S., at Avon, Conn. Referring to his life at that time he wrote for the 1904 Class Record: "After having smoked half the crop, I took my dog and one dollar and a half, the first stop being Idaho. (I started for Springfield but slept over.)

Thence from ranch to ranch living mainly on cactus and mesquite, down through New Mexico to Texas for several months and home again via the Gulf of Mexico and a mess of tropical islands in the south seas, hunting for the original 'Whiz fish.' In March, 1908, I again joined the commercial slaves, making gold bricks for the New York trade. After my marriage, I dropped anchor in the good old Farmington Valley, where I am trying to persuade 114 acres and some Guernsey cows to produce a simple living and shoes and school books for a little lady." (Bertha Ney, born in Farmington, May 23, 1910.)

He married, April 20, 1909, at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Bertha Bigelow Beecher, Packer Collegiate Institute 1908, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Beecher.

Clubs: University, of Hartford.

Reunions: T.

James Knight Nichols, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1908)

Lawyer. Nichols & Lewis, 402 Security Mutual Bldg.,

Binghamton, N. Y.

Residence, 95 Carroll St.

"Going back to June of 1908, I graduated from Harvard Law School. The same summer I spent a few weeks in the British Isles. I was admitted to the Bar of New York State in October, 1908, and began the practice of law in Binghamton. The same fall, and I say this with pride and with a sense of duty performed, I began an interest in politics. I do not mean by that, writing letters to newspapers on high-falutin questions or calling other people names, but getting into the organized work of my party. I was elected committeeman for my ward, and have since been Secretary of the Republican City and County Committees.

I have been plodding along at the law business and am attorney for Broome County, and Treasurer of the Tribune Fresh Air Fund for this city."

He is Secretary of the Broome County and Binghamton Republican Committees. Republican.

Robert H. Nichols, '94, and Henry J. Nichols, '99, are Yale relatives.

William Penn Nixon, Jr., B.A.

Salesman. Marshall Field & Co. (Wholesale), 219 West Adams St.,
Chicago, Ill.

Residence, 4221 Kenmore Ave.

He is on the road much of the time, representing the wholesale department of Marshall Field & Co. He has been with this firm almost continuously since graduation.

Reunions: S.

Alfred Trecartin Ogden, B.A.

Farmer. Ogden Farm, Kinderhook, N. Y. (M.)

"I lived in Brooklyn until March, 1910, when I took my family to Europe for several months, returning in September. During the first part of January, 1911, I bought the farm on which I am now living. Have been very busy trying to become a real farmer and am specializing in fruit growing."

He has a daughter, Katherine Ogden, born December 25, 1907, and a son, Alfred Ogden, born October 4, 1910, in Brooklyn.

He was leader of his election district, in Brooklyn, and served on several committees during various political campaigns. He also served in Squadron C, resigning for "ranching in Texas."

His brother, John T. Ogden, is a member of 1914.

Clubs: Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

Augustus Kountze Oliver, B.A.

Secretary. Pittsburgh Gazette-Times and Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, 233 Oliver Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 3 Colonial Place. (M.)

"Practically no change since 1909, aside from that occasioned by the arrival, November 2, 1912, of Augustus Kountze Oliver, Jr. As regards business, my occupation is the same now as then, namely, Secretary of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times and Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, in charge of the advertising departments of the two papers.

My achievements are as yet unachieved. My only honors, if such they may be called, consist of the following: Vice President of George Junior Republic Association of Western Pennsylvania; Director Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburgh; Member Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Institute; Member Board of Trustees Homœopathic Hospital of Pittsburgh, President, American Golf Association of Advertising Interests, elected July, 1912, to serve one year. My favorite recreation is golf, but I get most of my exercise amusing the babies. May first, 1912, changed residence from 827 Amberson Avenue to the address above." His second son, Augustus, died July 16, 1913.

Deane M. Evans, 1911 S., is his cousin, and Norman K. Evans, 1914, is also a relative.

Clubs: Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Pittsburgh Golf, Pittsburgh Athletic Association, Allegheny Country and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 3d and 7th.

Daniel Lawrence Joseph O'Neill, B.A., LL.B.

(1905)

Adjuster. Travelers Insurance Co., 956 Chapel St., New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 76 Pearl St. (M.)

"There are some men in every class who work unceasingly for the interest of the class as a whole. It was the good fortune of 1903 that all those of us who did not construct, did not destroy. The fraternity of spirit that brought its members together as one, so often, has been only strengthened by time—the pleasure of meeting you grows as the years pass. I am still adjuster at New Haven for the Travelers Insurance Co.

Daniel L. J. O'Neill, Jr., joined the family April 3, 1912."

Reunion: S., D.

Frederick Lorraine Orlady

Lawyer, Office and Residence, Huntingdon, Pa.

For several years he practiced law in Pittsburgh, but some time ago removed to his former home in Huntingdon.

"Old line Republican."

William Robert Orthwein, B.A., LL.B.

(St. Louis Law School 1905)

Lawyer. Barclay, Fauntleroy, Cullen & Orthwein, 315-20 Commercial Building, St. Louis, Mo.

Residence, 5537 Waterman Ave. (M.)

"Since writing my last Class letter, I continued practicing law with Mr. Leighton Shields, until September, 1912, when we dissolved, and I was made a member of the above firm, one of the most prominent in Missouri. On March 13, 1912, I had the good fortune to have a second son born whom we have named David Kent Orthwein. My activities, outside of my law practice, have consisted in taking a general interest in civic organizations."

Erling Cornelius Ostby, B.A.

With Ostby & Barton Co., Manufacturers of Jewelry, 118 Richmond St., Providence, R. I.

Residence, 444 Brook St. (M.)

Since graduating he has been with Ostby & Barton, first in New York for three years, and the remainder of the time in Providence, R. I. He is a Director in the Industrial Trust Company.

Clubs: University, Providence; Yale, New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., D.

George Grant Parkhurst

Salesman. Centaur Motor Co., Automobiles, 59 Franklin St.,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, 21 North Ashland Ave. (M.)

Since the publication of the last Class History he has become identified with the automobile business.

He married, May 6, 1907, in New York City, Miss Mary Gertrude Flohr, daughter of Otto Flohr and Agnes M. (Dempsey) Flohr.

His daughter, Mary Elizabeth Grant Parkhurst, was born in New York City, February 15, 1908, and George Grant Parkhurst, Jr., in Buffalo, May 10, 1909.

Clubs: Elks. Progressive.

George Henry Parr

General Manager. Parr's Island and the Abbey Hotel, Glenmont, Albany, N. Y.
Residence, Glenmont.

"Since June, 1903, I have been compelled to do many things not to my liking and many things I have done have not been pleasing to others. Among the former was the cooking of a clam bake, single-handed, my father being ill at the time, in Dunkirk, two weeks after I left Law School by invitation of the faculty. Tossed on the sea of never ceasing physical exertion to me, it has been necessary to follow a line of march by which I could arrive at results in improvements, by earning them as I went.

My present operations and ambition is to build a railway from the city over a short distance to a point opposite my island. The extension of this road will put me in communication with 600,000 souls in five cities, within a radius of fifty miles, with a cheaper rate of transportation than is possible to any other resort hereabouts. I am bucking the tiger alone, and am now battling single-handed, encountering banks and railroads, heads of breweries, labor organizations, etc., making a solid phalanx of all the discontents, in my favor. This movement has taken root, and is being accepted as the biggest and most useful and generous proposition known to the city of Albany in years. I will build a theatre, à la Bill Phelps, a summer theatre to attract people from all over, to witness standard operas, musical comedies, etc., at a popular price."

Clubs: University, German Singing Societies, Φ Δ Φ, Loyal Order of Moose. Independent.

Charles Seymour Parsons, B.A.

Born February 4, 1882, in Akron, O.
Died May 18, 1909, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Sexennial History, pp. 139-141, contains a sketch of his life.

The address of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Cheney Parsons, is P. O. Box 177, New Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Parsons wrote, July 17, 1913: "We thank you very much for your remembrance of us in sending the Yale Decennial Address Book for the Class of 1903, and especially I wish to thank you for your most kind letter of sympathy which touches my heart deeply, coming as it does four years after our Charles' death, letting us know that he is still remembered with affection by his classmates.

Life in these days is so crowded and complex, that, almost of necessity, the friends who have passed out of it are replaced, old interests changed, and memories dimmed, so that your letter brings to me unexpected comfort and courage to bear the sorrow which comes back with special power on anniversary days. I like to know that your Class keeps in touch, not only with its members but with the parents, and we shall always feel the greatest interest in the Class of 1903."

John Hinsdale Partridge

Permanent Address, South Windsor, Conn.

"After leaving farm at Andover, Conn., was employed for about two years as Station Agent by N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., at South Windsor, Conn. For the last two years have been most of the time in Providence, R. I., working at canvassing and conducting a retail grocery store."

William Leslie Patterson, B.A., M.A., M.D.

(B.A. Acadia 1902, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, M.D. Boston 1908)

Assistant Physician. State Hospital, Fergus Falls, Minn.

"After graduating in 1903, spent one year in the Yale Graduate School, specializing in Political Economy. In 1905, entered Boston University Medical School. After graduating, entered the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital, where I spent twenty months. After leaving this hospital, spent one year in a private hospital at Forest Hills, Mass.

Spent two months of the summer of 1911 as physician on MacMahan Island, Maine. In October, 1911, entered Westboro State Hospital, as Assistant Physician. In April, 1912, left this hospital to become a member of the staff of the Fergus Falls State Hospital in Minnesota, where I am located at present.

In the summer of 1905, went to Europe, traveling through England, France, Holland and Germany. Spent some time in England, looking up old family records.

It will give me great pleasure to attend the Class Reunion in June, and if I can secure leave of absence at this time, I will surely be there."

Clubs: Chippewa, and Boston Medical Society. Republican.

Oscar Columbus Payne, B.A.

(B.A. Baylor 1902, B.A. 1903)

Associate Editor, Farm and Ranch, 2311-17 Main St., Dallas, Tex.
Residence, 3714 Noble Ave. (M.)

"I taught until 1911, when I became editor of the Houston County Times, a weekly newspaper published at Crockett, Texas, which position I held until I came to Dallas, as a member of the editorial staff of Farm and Ranch, in October, 1912. I am now Associate Editor of Farm and Ranch, and am the Editor-in-Chief's first assistant. Our publication covers the southwestern States—Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana—with a circulation of more than 100,000, and is an illustrated, standard home and farm paper. We have in our home a future Yale man, William Archibald Payne, born November 19, 1909."

Wheeler Hazard Peckham, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. With Messrs. Dixon & Holmes, 32 Liberty St., New York City. Residence, "Langthwaite," Davenport Neck, New Rochelle, N. Y. (M.)

"Since Sexennial there have been three events that have affected my life to a considerable degree: the death of my father in July, 1910; in the fall of 1910 I severed my connection with the office of Graves & Miles, and became associated with the office of Dixon & Holmes, 32 Liberty Street; and on May 2 I underwent a serious operation in Roosevelt Hospital, but believe that I am in fairly good shape again. I have made one trip abroad, in the summer of 1910, and last fall Mrs. Peckham and I went to Bermuda, in the interests of health, where we spent an enjoyable fortnight with Eddie Townsend and family.

I occupy a considerable portion of my leisure in endeavoring, in a small way, to coax vegetables, flowers and fruit trees to grow."

He served in the First Corps Cadets, Massachusetts Militia, from 1903 to 1906.

Clubs: Yale, Graduates, Underwriters, Sleepy Hollow and Westchester Country; The Garden and The City of New Rochelle. "Republican and Progressive tickets."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 5th, 8th and 9th.

Julius Deming Perkins, Jr., LL.B.

(Denver 1908)

Born June 4, 1880, in Litchfield, Conn.

Died February 5, 1909, in Denver, Col.

The Sexennial History, pp. 143-145, contains a sketch of his life. The address of his mother, Mrs. Margaretta D. Perkins, is Litchfield, Conn. His father, Hon. J. Deming Perkins, died in Litchfield, March 19, 1911.

At a Memorial Meeting of the Denver Bar Association in Denver, Col., January 11, 1910, James Grafton Rogers, Yale

1905, Second Assistant to the Attorney General of Colorado, representing, unofficially, the Denver Law School and the Yale Colorado Alumni Association, spoke of him as follows: "Mr. Perkins was a man whom I should have singled out as one of the most promising among those admitted to the Bar of Colorado within the past few years. He was a capable man, of tireless energy, his mind going in almost every direction. For two years he was President of his Class at the Law School, also President of a Greek fraternity. He was interested in the affairs of the University Club, and also in those of other organizations of the younger men of the city. To him the law was an absorbing subject, and I have no hesitation in saying that, had he lived, he would have taken a very high place in the legal profession. Many will mourn for him as a man of ability and promise, and when, in the future, I may feel in some contest that I want beside me one in whom I can trust, I shall long for a man whom I cannot have, J. Deming Perkins."

Byron Ainsworth Pierce, B.A.

President and General Manager. Geo. Darling Co., Jewelry, 21 Eddy St.,
Providence, R. I.
Residence, The Meriden, 163 Waterman St.

In 1905 he became identified with Ostby & Barton Co., manufacturing jewelers. He is now associated, in the same line of business, as President and General Manager of the above firm.

He is a member of Battery A, R. I. N. G. In December, 1909, he was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Yale Alumni Association of Rhode Island.

Clubs: University. "Republican always."

Reunions: T., S., D.,

Claude Meek Pitcher

Lawyer. 207 Republican Building, Scranton, Pa.
Residence, 1415 Price St.

He was admitted to the Pennsylvania Bar in 1901, and has devoted himself continuously to the practice of law, in Scranton, since that time.

Howard Albert Plummer, B.A.

Bonds and Investments, Low, Dixon & Co., 37 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, Carlton House, 22 East 47th St.

"Since graduation, business has occupied most of my time. In February, 1909, I resigned as manager of the Foreign Exchange Department of the Trust Company of America, to accept a position with N. W. Harris & Co., now Harris, Forbes & Co. I severed my connection with them in March, 1911, to become a partner in the firm which Josiah O. Low, Harvard 1902, Theodore P. Dixon, Yale 1907, and I formed under the title of Low, Dixon & Co. We are members of the New York Stock Exchange, and are conducting a conservative investment business, largely in bonds. Our progress the past two years has been most satisfactory.

My travels have, to my regret, been limited; the principal trips of interest being one over the Virginian Railway last spring and one to Keswick, Virginia, last fall in company with George W. Carpenter, Yale 1903 S. I had the pleasure then of visiting 'Monticello'—the home of Thomas Jefferson—and the University of Virginia, which, from the standpoints of historical interest, architecture and surroundings, are incomparable.

Life in New York is of necessity active, but I have found much time for my favorite hobby—literature. My readings have included, among others, Ibsen, Maeterlinck, Turgéneff and George Meredith. Most of my time for recreation has been spent upon the tennis courts.

I have thus far attended every one of the 1903 Reunions and Class Dinners, and commencing with Decennial, I trust that the future will prove no exception to the past in this regard."

Clubs: Yale, Graduates, National Geographic Society, Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket. "Republican, with the exception of Dix for Governor."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Horace Burton Pomeroy, B.A., M.A.

(1906)

Representative, in Western New York, for Harris, Forbes & Co., Investments, 509 Wilder Building, Rochester, N. Y., and 725 Ellicott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.

Residence, 103 Highland Ave., Buffalo, N. Y. (M.)

He is representative, in Western New York, for Harris, Forbes & Co., of 56 William Street, New York City.

He married, November 17, 1909, in New York City, Miss Ethel Josephine Braman, daughter of Chester A. Braman and Josephine (Clark) Braman. They have two sons, Horace Burton Pomeroy, Jr., born in New York City, September 10, 1910, and Lawrence Braman Pomeroy, born January 21, 1913, in Rochester, N. Y.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Genesee Valley, Rochester; Buffalo of Buffalo, N. Y.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

George French Porter, B.A.

Real Estate and Iron Mining, 1009 First National Bank Building, Chicago, Ill.

Residence, 26 East Erie St.

His business interests are along general lines, specializing as indicated above.

In politics he was always a Republican, until the last Presidential campaign, when he took an active part in the work of the National Progressive Party. He has also been closely identified with various non-partisan political organizations making for good government.

He served as Chairman of the Committee on Hall, at the time of the first National Convention of the Progressive Party, in 1912, and as Assistant National Treasurer during the campaign following. He is now a member of the Finance Committee of the Progressive Party.

Clubs: Chicago and University, Chicago; University, New York.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 8th.

Henry Potter, B.A., LL.B.

(Washington 1905)

Local Sales Manager. Wm. R. Compton Co., Investment Bonds, 206 Laclede Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Residence, 5814 Cabanne Ave. (M.)

"Since leaving New Haven, in June, 1909, after a wonderful time at Sexennial, I have been attending strictly to the bond business with an occasional trip by way of vacation. In October, 1909, I took a business trip to Southern Texas and Mexico which was extremely interesting as well as instructive. It revealed wonderful possibilities for future development. In the fall of 1910 I attended the American Bankers' Association meeting at Los Angeles, and then followed the coast up to San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver, returning from there over the Canadian Pacific Railway through American Switzerland. Until the summer of 1912 I stayed on the job, and then in August took the kind of a trip you read about, with Gus Oliver, Bill Frew and Douglas Dodge, for running mates. Brock Smith joined us for a week at Manchester, Vt., and we had a regular orgy of golf. From there we toured with Duddy to Manchester, Mass., to tear up some of the sod at Essex and Myopia and then on to Long Island and the National Golf Links of America, where the party unfortunately broke up and I made tracks for New York and had a final fling with Charlie Auchincloss. When I got back home it suddenly occurred to me that I had been traveling with married men mostly and I had better get in the parade, so accordingly, after a strenuous campaign in that direction, I finally persuaded an unsuspecting young lady to take a chance on me, which she consented to do, and we were married January 20, 1913, it being understood, however, that one of the conditions was that I be allowed to return to New Haven for 'A Time at Decennial.'"

He was married at St. John's Methodist Church, in St. Louis, to Miss Ada Randolph, daughter of Tom Randolph, First Vice President of the National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis, and Fay (Binkley) Randolph. William Frew and Augustus K. Oliver, 1903, assisted at the ceremony.

Mrs. Potter attended Briar Cliff, Class of 1911.

Clubs: Country, Racquet, Noonday, and Yale of New York. Republican, in National politics; Independent, in local affairs.

Reunions: S., D.

Charles Franklin Pratt, B.A.

Merchant. With C. W. Pratt, 73 Pratt St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, 466 Farmington Ave. (M.)

He spent the summer after graduation in Europe. Since then he has been associated in business with his father. His latest message: "Same old business, same old place."

He married, August 24, 1912, in Hartford, Conn., Miss Ida Grace Curtis Morse, daughter of Mrs. Martha A. Morse.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

James Osborn Putnam, B.A., LL.B.

(Columbia 1910)

Lawyer. Kenney & Putnam, 271 West 125th St., New York City.
Residence, 63 West 85th St.

"At the time of the Sexennial Reunion, I had just completed my second year at the Columbia Law School. During that summer, 1909, I clerked in the law office of Love & Keating, Buffalo, N. Y., returning to New York City in September, to complete my course at Columbia. I graduated with the degree of LL.B. in June, 1910. During the winter of 1910 and spring of 1911, I took a special course at the New York Law School and was admitted to the New York Bar in June, 1911.

In July of that year I received a position in the office of John C. O'Connor, 11 William Street, New York City, remaining with him until February, 1912, when I took a position with Gino C. Speranza, attorney for the Italian Consul General, at 40 Pine Street. I was in his office for only two months, and after that laid off for three months, to take a position, July, 1912, with Daniel Burke at 44 Pine Street.

On February 23, 1913, I opened an office for the general practice of law at the above address. My partner is Edward A. Kenney of the Class of 1906 at Williams. I belong to the Harlem Board of Trade.

There you have a summary of my activity since Sexennial. Whether I am making a successful career or not is still a moot question. I have not yet starved to death, but on the other hand I authorize you to deny the report that President Wilson offered me a position in his Cabinet as Attorney General, and I may add that none of the great corporations are falling over each other in their eagerness to secure my legal services.

Not only have I not entered into the bonds of matrimony, but present prospects of that happiness appear about as bright as those of a new-born babe. However, where there's life, there's hope."

John G. Putnam, 1916, is his cousin.

Clubs: Yale, New York County Lawyers' and Columbia Law School Alumni Associations. "Democrat; Fusion, Municipal; Democrat and Republican, State."

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. S.

John Ferson Putnam, B.A.

Real Estate and Loans. D. E. & E. D. Putnam, 85 North High St.,
Columbus, O.

Residence, 61 South 6th St.

"Worked with the Columbus Buggy Company, from 1903 to 1910. Then took position as Treasurer and Assistant Manager of National Silica Company, Oregon, Ill., with headquarters in Chicago. Resigned that in 1912, and have been since that time in the real estate business with my father and brother.

I had hoped to get down to the Reunion in June, but had to give it up.

With best wishes for you and all of the rest of 1903."
He is a partner in his present business.

Hugh Rankin, B.A., M.A.

(1904)

Assistant Secretary. Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co., General Banking, 15 Westminster St., Providence, R. I.
Residence, 92 William St. (M.)

"I think the answers on the first page of the Decennial memoranda blank cover my accomplishment in the last four years better than anything more extended I could say."

He married, May 31, 1913, in New York City, Miss Harriet Barrows, daughter of the late Henry Francis Barrows of North Attleborough, Mass., and Henrietta (Richards) Barrows. Eugene A. Kingman, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Rankin attended Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Conn.

Before becoming identified, on November 1, 1911, with the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company of Providence, he was appointed Financial Secretary to assist President Evans in handling the assets of the Continental and Fidelity Insurance Company, in New York City. He was also one of the Secretaries of the Fidelity Phenix Fire Insurance Company and, in 1910, Secretary of the Continental Insurance Company.

After attending Decennial he continued his wedding journey in Europe. (See letter from Harold Sheets.)

Clubs: University, Hope, Providence; Yale of New York.
"Taft Republican, 1908."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

John Dougan Rea, B.A., M.A.

(B.A. Earlham 1902, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1905)

Professor of Classics and English. Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.
Residence, 8 South Twelfth St.

"At Earlham College since 1909, Professor of Classics and English.

Raymond H. Walker

James W. Reynolds

J. Richards White

Warren M. Steele

Studied at Institut Tilby, Berlin, and at Marburg University, 1911.

Student, Harvard Summer School, 1913."

John Joseph Reilly, B.A., LL.B.

(New York University 1906)

Lawyer. With Eugene J. Dwyer, 610-15 German Insurance Bldg.,
Rochester, N. Y.

Residence, 121 Gorsline St.

"Resigned my position with the Board of Water Supply of New York City, and came to Rochester, N. Y., September 1, 1912, where I engaged in the practice of law in the office of Eugene J. Dwyer, with whom I am still associated.

Am unmarried and have not published anything or affiliated with any organizations, except local religious, political and social groups."

Reunions: N. Y. D., 8th.

James William Reynolds, B.A.

James William Reynolds was born in St. Louis, Mo., June 15, 1879. He was the son of Judge George D. and Julia V. Reynolds and the brother of George V. Reynolds, '01. He prepared for College at Smith Academy in St. Louis and entered Yale in the fall of 1899. In College he sang on the Freshman, Apollo and University Glee Clubs, leading the University Glee Club in his Senior year. He was Treasurer of the Sophomore German Committee and a member of the Junior Promenade Committee, also Secretary of the Corinthian Yacht Club. He was a member of Eta Phi, Alpha Delta Phi and Scroll and Key Societies, and held a Second Colloquy Appointment. He edited and published, in collaboration with Thomas G. Shepard, "Yale Melodies," a collection of Yale Songs covering the period between 1893 and 1903.

After graduation he began his business life in St. Louis with the Germania Trust Company. In 1904 he accepted a position in the bond department of the Commonwealth Trust Company, remaining in St. Louis until the winter of 1906-07, when he entered the employ of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company of Pittsburgh, of which he became general western agent with an office in Chicago. He was proving himself to be a man of exceptional business ability, with prospects of a splendid future. His sudden death, September 19, 1911, came as a tremendous shock to his family and friends.

Such, in brief, is the account of "Reyn's" life. It was short, far too short, but not idle or empty. Like all such records, it gives no indication of his personality. It marks simply the progressive steps towards that success in the business world which he seemed on the high road to accomplish. It tells nothing of the man whom his friends in College loved and admired. As we knew him in those four years at Yale, Jim was one of the sunniest, happiest lads in the Class. He entered into the activities of the Class and College life with all the enthusiasm and joy of a whole-hearted, high-souled boy who liked his play-fellows and enjoyed doing things. He loved music. Nothing gave him more pleasure than to sing by the hour with men who enjoyed "swipes" as he did. It was an expression of his glad and joyous nature and it drew many friends to him.

His nature was also intense. His likes and dislikes were strong. For that reason he appealed to positive people. He hated sham and pretense. He would rather have a man do a thing than talk about it. Whatever he did, he did hard and to the best of his ability. He was loyal to his friends and deeply fond of them. If ever he found a mean or coarse streak in a man he had little use for him, though he seldom showed his dislikes. Few who knew him in the four brief years at Yale will forget the charm and attractiveness of his personality. It was not so much what he did as what he was in nature and personality, which made him a deservedly popular and well-liked man in his Class.

His death came as a real personal loss to his friends. We had looked forward to seeing him at Decennial and missed his ringing voice and cheery laugh. We believed that the coming years were to give back to us the "Reyn" of college days. We can but rejoice that the memory of those four years is one of glad fellowship and cheerful companionship.

"Bright college years with pleasures rife,
The shortest, gladdest years of life,
How swiftly are ye gliding by;
Oh! why does time so swiftly fly!"

That was the way Jim felt. His years at Yale in 1903 were indeed the gladdest of his life; and his life was a constant source of gladness to others.

Frank W. Moore.

Samuel Wheaton Rhoads, B.A.

Lawyer. With Wheaton, Darling & Woodward, 404 Coal Exchange Building, Wilkes-Barré, Pa.
Residence, 85 Carey Ave.

"Am practicing law for a living, with the hope of some day becoming a lawyer. For recreation the rod and gun are my paraticular pleasures, with a little golf and tennis to keep as young as may be. Was forced to miss Sexennial on account of military duties, but have made a solemn promise to let nothing keep me from future Class Reunions, and particularly our Decennial. I appreciate the arrangements immensely, and think the Committee are to be highly complimented."

Yale is still further represented in his firm, for Mr. Wheaton is a member of '77, Mr. Darling of '86, and Mr. Woodward of '83. They are General Counsel for the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and 1903's representative is Mr. Wheaton's assistant.

Allen Woodruff, 1912, and Lewis H. Woodruff, 1914, are his cousins.

His military record follows:

Enlisted Co. F, 9th Infantry, N. G., P., June 10, 1907.

Second Lieutenant, Co. F, 9th Infantry, N. G., P., June 28, 1907.

Captain, Co. F, 9th Infantry, N. G., P., March 25, 1908.

Captain and Aid-de-camp, 3d Brigade Headquarters, N. G., P., November 18, 1911.

Major and Adjutant General, 3d Brigade, N. G., P., April 11, 1912.

Clubs: Westmoreland, Wyoming Valley Country and Yale Alumni. Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st and 8th.

Joseph Foster Rhodes, B.A.

Designer and Builder. 411-14 Central Building, Los Angeles, Cal.
Residence, 370 West Bellevue Drive, Pasadena, Cal. (M.)

"Was associated with the Baker Iron Works, Los Angeles, from November 1, 1907, to November 1, 1909. Since that time have been in business for myself under the firm name of Joseph F. Rhodes, Designer & Builder. Have also been in the real estate business to some extent."

His son Foster, referred to in the last Class History, has two younger brothers: Robert Edgar Rhodes, born September 25, 1910, and Kenneth Olney Rhodes, born April 22, 1912.

Clubs: Local, and Yale of New York. Progressive.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st.

George Huntington Richards, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1907)

Lawyer. Reynolds, Richards & McCutcheon, 68 William St.,
(Tel. John 371) New York City.
Residence, 628 West 114th St. (M.)

He wrote: "Put in, 'Is busy in the practice of the law, at 68 William Street, New York City.' That will tell the whole story."

His present firm was reorganized, August 1, 1911, to include Mr. Victor McCutcheon, a Harvard friend.

He married, May 25, 1910, in New York City, Miss Marianna Moore Middlebrook, daughter of Frederic J. Middlebrook, lawyer, and Martha Manwaring (Jones) Middlebrook. W. Durrie Waldron and James B. Kilburn, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Richards attended the Brearley School, Class of 1906.

Their daughter, Marianna Moore Richards, was born in New York City, June 4, 1911.

His brother, Henry B. Richards, graduated in 1912. Archie M. Richards, 1916, is a relative.

It is the earnest hope of the retiring Secretary that the Class will stand back of his efforts as Class Secretary, in the same cordial spirit of coöperation that has been shown the two former Secretaries. It is fitting that the duties of this office should fall upon the grandson of Rev. George Richards, '40, editor of the Lit. of those days, for many years a leading clergyman in Bridgeport, Conn., and of Henry Blodgett, '48, missionary to China; and eldest son of the late Dr. William R. Richards, '75, who so ably and faithfully served as a member of the Yale Corporation from 1906 until his death, January 7, 1910.

Clubs: Yale and Bar Association. "No party affiliation; have voted Republican ticket."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Roland George Dwight Richardson, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(B.A. Acadia 1898, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1906)

Associate Professor of Mathematics. Brown University, Providence,
R. I.

Residence, 256 Doyle Ave. (M.)

"Spent with Mrs. Richardson a year of travel and study in Europe, being in residence in Göttingen University, 1908-09. Spent with Mrs. Richardson the summer of 1912, in study and travel, on the other side of the water, attending the International Congress of Mathematicians in Cambridge (England) in August."

Clubs: Circolo Matematico di Palermo, American Mathematical Society, and Deutsche Mathematiker-Vereinigung. Independent.

Reunions: T.

Harry Albert Rightmire, B.A.

Sturge's Employment Exchange, 215 Monroe Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Residence, 575 Monroe Ave. (M.)

"Traveled for American Chemical Manufacturing & Mining Company, Rochester, 1909-1910. Since July 1, 1910, have been connected with Sturge's Employment Exchange. Am carrying on said business at present time with Mr. Joseph Sturge. Have been very successful in this line of endeavor and expect to continue in this business."

He married, June 15, 1910, in Rochester, N. Y., Miss Margaret Sturge, daughter of Thomas Stove Sturge and Jessie (Fletcher) Sturge. Mrs. Rightmire attended The Misses Nichols' Seminary in Rochester.

Their daughter, Bettina Doris Rightmire, was born in Rochester, July 13, 1913.

Reunions: S. Republican.

Stephen Garrett Roach

Residence, 701 Madison Ave., New York City.

The address above is from a recent New York City Directory. Letters sent there and elsewhere have failed to reach him.

George Roberts, Jr., B.A.

Minister. First Presbyterian Church, Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Residence, Saranac Lake. (M.)

"My occupation, address, etc., etc., have remained unchanged since coming to Saranac Lake in January, 1909. I have traveled little, save for a nine weeks' trip abroad in the summer of 1912, and have not even preached in many churches other than my own. I also preach each week in the neighboring sanatoria. For recreation I tramp and climb whenever able; the account of one such climb having been written up and is some day to appear in Country Life in America. My only hobby is this form of recreation. As to reading,—well now, there would be no end to any information on that line, and even a list of what I have read since arriving here would almost require an extra volume of the Record. As to my 'plans and aims': to abide here and do the best I can, and still to do the best I can if ever I leave here. The field is of less consequence to me than the work."

Rev. John T. Dallas, 1904, took part in his installation services, held in his present church, November 9, 1909.

George Roberts, 3d, was born June 19, 1913, at Saranac Lake. A brother, Philip, and a cousin, Edward C. Roberts, graduated in 1910.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d and 10th. Progressive.

John Randolph Robinson, B.A.

District Sales Manager. Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., Hudson Terminal Building, New York City.
Residence, 67 East 55th St. (M.)

He has been associated with the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company since 1904.

His two daughters were born in New York City: Celia, June 21, 1908, and Ruth, December 6, 1910.

Clubs: Union, Racquet and Tennis, Yale, Rumson Country. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d, 6th, 7th and 9th.

Cleveland Rogers, B.A.

Born, February 11, 1880, at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.
Died, September 1, 1908, at Wakefield, R. I.

The Sexennial History, pp. 157-158, contains a sketch of his life. His parents died before he entered Yale.

•

William Journeay Roome, Jr.

Secretary and Treasurer. Sandford Realty Co., 177 Madison Ave.,
New York City.
Residence, 104 Sycamore Ave., Plainfield, N. J. (M.)

He has been engaged in the real estate business since 1901.

His third son, John Stanton Roome, was born December 24, 1909, in Plainfield, N. J.

Reginald Roome, 1910, is his brother.

Clubs: Yale of New York; Park of Plainfield. Republican.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 6th.

Henry Ide Root

Born, March 2, 1882, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Died, January 17, 1901, in New Haven, Conn.

His mother, Mrs. William J. Root, lives with his brother, Mr. Robert K. Root, '98, in Princeton, N. J.

The following is taken from a letter sent by Mrs. Root, July 28, 1913, from Greensboro, Vt.: "It is indeed pleasant to feel that you and your classmates keep my dear son in such kind remembrance, and I want to thank you all in Robert's behalf and my own for the copies of the 'Yale Decennial, 1903.' It will be a great pleasure to receive a copy of the Decennial History which you are editing. With all good wishes for yourself and for all the Class of 1903."

The Triennial Record, pp. 238-239, contains a sketch of his life, written by Rev. Donald B. MacLane, 1903.

Joseph Clinton Roraback, B.A., LL.B.

(1905)

Lawyer. Canaan, Conn.

Residence, Canaan.

"Since graduating from Yale Law School in 1905 I have been continuously engaged in the profession of an Attorney-at-Law, with home and office in Canaan, Conn.

I am not yet married and can see no really dangerous chance of so doing.

I have succeeded in making a living out of law, and have had at least three square meals a day, and sometimes, when really flush, have had the fourth."

Clubs: Graduates, and Independent Order of Odd Fellows.
"Republican; strong for William Howard Taft."

Reunions: T., S., D.

Arthur Jesse Rosenthal, B.A.

Banker. Bernhard, Scholle & Co., 14 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 135 Central Park, West.

"Remained in charge of the foreign bond business of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., until July 1, 1911, when I resigned. After my first long holiday in years, went to Europe in the fall of 1911, to get connections of a foreign banking business I organized under the name of Bernhard, Scholle & Co., 14 Wall Street, of which firm I have been a partner ever since. Traveled in Europe for two months last fall trying to develop our business there. Moved from 9 East 61st Street to 135 Central Park, West, on January 1, 1913. Trying to build up a foreign banking business in not too ambitious a way, and on account of the hard times in Wall Street having a h— of a time doing it."

He is a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Richard Bernhard, 1915 S., is his cousin.

Clubs: Yale, New Rochelle Yacht, Century Country. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 6th, 7th, 9th and 10th.

Carleton Ferriss Rowell, B.A., LL.B.

(Washington University 1906)

Lawyer. 504 Laclede Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Residence, 4579 West Pine Boulevard.

"In choosing the law I expected to follow in 'papa's footsteps,' as many unworthy sons do. But I have found the road hard. I have made more money outside of the law, and I am now looking for an opening outside, a short road to wealth, which so many have stumbled upon without legal knowledge."

Henry Moore Russell, Jr., LL.B.

(Virginia 1903)

Lawyer. Russell & Russell, 1421 Chapline St., Wheeling, W. Va.
Residence, Highland Park. (M.)

Since 1903 he has been practicing law with his father.

His two daughters were born in Wheeling: Jane Taney Russell, May 8, 1906, and Ann Heiskell Russell, October 17, 1908.

Henry Clarence Sanford, B.A.

Farmer. Bridgewater, Conn.

"Since graduation in 1903, with the exception that from 1904 until 1906 I was with the National Biscuit Company, I have been 'back on the land,' all the time, till now. There are many obstacles on a New England farm, not so easily overcome as some magazines indicate, but they are being overcome, and I believe in the farm prospect and life more than ever.

I went to Europe and India before graduation, but have not traveled especially since, though I have one sister in India, and another there just now on a journey around the world.

I appreciate more than ever my connection with the Class of 1903, and hope and expect to extend the true spirit and character that Yale stands for."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d.

Ziegler Sargent, B.A.

Assistant Treasurer. Sargent & Co., Hardware Manufacturers,
New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 247 Church St.

"My work has been, since graduation, and will probably continue in New Haven, with Sargent & Company, manufacturers of hardware and employers of nearly 4,000 people. My duties since our Sexennial Reunion have been in the financial department, holding down the job of assistant treasurer and credit man with some miscellaneous duties thrown in for good measure. I am rather proud of the fact that I have never missed a day at the office on account of illness. Vacations are spent in the Maine woods, using a hay fever excuse for all it is worth in prolonging my stay. I have become an enthusiastic fly fisher. Outside of my vacations, my chief recreation is tennis, though my interest in the game is largely responsible for my being treasurer of our local tennis club, which occupation I place in neither the recreation nor the hobby column. My chief social endeavor after Sexennial was to learn the 'Boston,' and last winter I tried to conquer the 'one-step.' Farrel, Hewitt, Hooker, Woodbine and I are members of a small men's club with a long name which meets semi-monthly and combines the intellectual with the social. My reading has been chiefly in American history and biography. Interest in the subject led me, in October, 1909, to qualify (by paying a fee) as a candidate for a Yale M.A. in absentia, but the historical spirit of truth compels the admission that 'my work' for the degree has been a standing joke between my 'professor' and his 'faithful student.' In the summer of 1909, I published, as Secretary, the Sexennial Record of our Class, my second and last production in the literary line. I have attended all our Class Reunions, except the one in Springfield in 1911, where we entertained Buffalo Bill, Chief Iron Tail, Benjamin American Horse and the High School crew. If I add that I am an intermittent collector of postage stamps and still a bachelor, my picture is complete."

Richard C. Sargent, 1911, and Lawton G. Sargent, 1912 S., are his cousins.

Clubs: Graduates, Lawn, Country, New Haven Colony Historical Society, American Historical and American Economic Associations. "Democrat, voting both Democratic and Republican tickets."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Harold Merriam Sawyer, B.A., M.A., LL.B.

(M.A. 1906, LL.B. Harvard 1907)

Lawyer. 409 Wells Fargo Building, Portland, Ore.
Residence, Portland. (M.)

He has been engaged in the practice of law since 1908, in Portland.

He married, April 10, 1913, in Flushing, N. Y., Miss Eleanor Ecob, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Ecob.

Clubs: Waverly Golf, Portland Commercial and the New-comers'; first Vice President of the latter.

Reunions: T.

Lewis Albert Sayre, B.A.

Permanent Address, Middleburg, London Co., Va.

"Left W. C. Langley & Co., spring, 1909, to go with F. W. Duryea & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 7 Wall Street. May, 1911, left on account of ill health, and spent some months abroad. January, 1912, to July, 1912, New York Times. Since then at the address above."

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st, 2d and 3d.

Reeve Schley, B.A., LL.B.

(Columbia 1906)

Lawyer. 62 Cedar St. (Tel. John 2556), New York City.
Residence, 166 East 71st St. (M.)

"Since 1909, I have done nothing which would be of interest to the Class. The work of a lawyer in New York City is confining and is interspersed annually with vacations, remarkable only for their brevity, hence no discoveries or travels to relate, and in the maelstrom of city life neither my head, hands nor pocketbook have shown above those of my fellow strugglers—hence no biography to write. I have been since 1909, and still am, connected with the office of Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett.

Through the medium of the Alumni Fund, my name has become chronically obnoxious to 1903, but the disagreeable duty of asking for money has been more than offset by the various letters I have received from the Class and by the opportunity of keeping in touch with them, which otherwise I might have let slip by. The mere word of greeting on the corner of some card, as you yourself know, recalls those fine old days for which our Reunions are the best substitutes we can desire."

Reeve Schley, Jr., who was born September 7, 1908, has a sister, Eleanor Prentice Schley, born July 17, 1911, at Monmouth Beach, N. J.

Clubs: Metropolitan, Aztec, Yale, Rumson Country and Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

William Schroeder, Jr., B.A., LL.B., LL.M.

(New York Law School 1911, 1912)

Lawyer. 63 Park Row, New York City.

Residence, 216 West 102d St. (M.)

"I deeply regret that I was unable to attend the Decennial Reunion, but business rendered it absolutely impossible. I had long been looking forward to again renewing my friendship with 1903, and was sorely disappointed at being unable to do so. I am glad to learn from your letter that 1903's loyalty to Yale has been even more firmly cemented, if it were possible, and I know such will continue to be the case in future years."

He severed his connection with William Schroeder & Co., silk importers, for study at the New York Law School. He received his LL.B. in 1911 (being admitted to the New York Bar the same year), and his LL.M. in October, 1912.

For six years he served as a member of Co. B, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

He has one boy, John William Andrews Schroeder, born April 14, 1910, at 205 West 94th Street, New York City.

William Sperry Searles, B.A., LL.B.

(Cleveland Law School 1906)

Lawyer. Bander & Searles, 525 Williamson Building, Cleveland, O.
 Residence, The Manhattan, East 55th St. and Carnegie Ave.

He has been practicing law continuously since his admission to the Bar in 1906. On October 1, 1910, he became Attorney for the Street Railway Commission of Cleveland.

In answer to the question, "Political Party?" he sends, "Uncertain." He is a member of Troop A, Ohio National Guard.
 Clubs: The University of Cleveland.

Harold Frank Sheets, B.A.

General Manager. Vacuum Oil Co., 34 Rue du Louvre, Paris, France.
 Residence, 34 Rue des Vignes. (M.)

"Our family has increased by a son and heir, Harold Frank Sheets, Jr., born February 24, 1913, who will, I hope, be a good rooter for Old Eli.

It was impossible for me to get to New Haven for the Decennial Reunion, much as I desired. I had the pleasure, however, of meeting Hugh Rankin and his bride, who passed through Paris a few weeks ago. He told me a great deal about the Reunion and of the good times which you all had.

As to business, I am still selling oil, or getting others to sell it. My territory is quite extensive, including, in addition to France, Belgium, Holland, Spain, Switzerland, Algeria and Tunis. I can see no immediate prospects for change."

His younger daughter, Elizabeth Margaret Sheets, was born in August, 1911.

Joseph Martin Skrable, B.A.

(B.A. Western College 1902, B.A. 1903)

Business Address, 712 Lewis Building, Portland, Ore.
 Residence, 167 North 22d St.

On August 5, 1913, in a letter sent from Pendleton, Ore., he wrote: "Expect to leave here about the last of this month. Will probably be located in Portland."

Brockholst Mathewson Smith, B.A.

Agency Director. New York Life Insurance Co., 412 Grosvenor Building,
Providence, R. I.
Residence, Lincoln, R. I. (M.)

"Since the publication of the last Class Record I have very little to report. At that time I was connected with the Ralph C. Watrous Company, in the real estate business, but on January 1, 1912, gave that up and took over the management of the Rhode Island Branch of the New York Life Insurance Company.

In the last four or five years I have stuck pretty closely to New England and have taken no long vacations or travels, but have enjoyed for several summers short golfing pilgrimages with such experts as Frew, Dodge and others."

He married, June 14, 1913, at Grace Church, in Providence, R. I., Miss Margaret Harrison Bradley, daughter of the late Charles Bradley and Jane Whitman (Bailey) Bradley of Providence. Gifford A. Cochran, Charles W. Littlefield and A. Douglas Dodge, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Smith attended St. Timothy's School, Catonsville, Md.

Clubs: Hope, Agawam Hunt and Yale. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d.

George Arthur Smith, B.A., M.D.

(Johns Hopkins 1907)

Residence and Office, Stepney, Conn. (M.)

"Shortly after Sexennial, which I was unable to attend, 'I went and did it' like the majority of the Class and have never regretted taking the step. I had my offices at 158 High Street, Hartford, Conn. I resided there until September, 1910, when we moved to an apartment at 50 Farmington Avenue. My time was given entirely to my efforts to establish a practice by which to earn a good livelihood, but my health gave out in the spring of 1911 and I was forced to drop everything and go away for a long rest. Part of the time was spent at Linden Lodge, Brattleboro, and the remainder on Long Island at my wife's home. To give up the practice in my native city, where I had labored hard and faithfully to acquire, was a great disappointment to me, and it was a question for some time whether it was best to return to my profession. To begin all over again in the city with my health as it was then, was out of the question, so I began to look around the State for a new field, and after looking the ground over, came here to Stepney, February 5, 1912, the very day that Dr. Seth B. Hill, Yale '66, my predecessor, died. Here I have acquired the greater part of that good man's practice and have regained to a great extent my health (having gained thirty-five pounds in weight). Always having lived in the city, it was a great change for me, but I shall probably stay in my present location for a few years at least, or until I have regained for all time my former health."

He married, August 7, 1909, in Setauket, L. I., Miss Lillie Roe Davis, daughter of Captain William Roe Davis, deceased, for many years engaged in foreign trade, and Sarah R. (Hawkins) Davis. Mrs. Smith was a member of the Class of 1904 at Genesee. She also studied at Wesleyan Academy, and at the Hartford Hospital Training School for Nurses.

Clubs: County, State and American Medical Societies. "Republican, usually."

Reunions: T., D.

Lowell William Smith

Farmer and Fruit Grower. R. F. D. 10, Medina, N. Y. (M.)

Since 1905 he has been engaged in general farming and fruit growing, making a specialty of apples and peaches, besides growing potatoes quite extensively. He raises annually a crop averaging 2,450 barrels of apples, 2,500 baskets (16 qt.) of peaches, and 2,200 bushels of potatoes. He is located between four and five miles from the nearest town, but within eight miles of three towns of fair size. He depends upon an automobile, a five-passenger Hudson, for business and social convenience. He writes that he "tries to conduct the farming and fruit business on a scientific basis, aiming to be 'progressive' in farming as well as in politics, keeping in touch with the State experiment station and Agricultural Department."

One of his ambitions is "to be able to attend a 1903 Class Reunion."

Clubs: County and State Fruit Growers' Association and the local Grange. Progressive.

Robert Seneca Smith, B.A., M.A., B.D.

(M.A. 1905, B.D. 1906)

Pastor. First Congregational Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Residence, 269 Mill St. (M.)

"At the time of our Sexennial, Mrs. Smith and I were living in Montclair, N. J., where I was Assistant Pastor of the First Congregational Church. The failing health of my Chief, Dr. Bradford, made it necessary for me to assume the work of the parish and some of the preaching, as well as the direction of the religious education of the young people. For the same reason I was brought into a close relation with the people of the Church, and remained there until Dr. Bradford's death in 1911.

Next to my indebtedness to my parents and to Yale, I prize this period of apprenticeship in Montclair. My long association with one of the noblest prophets of this generation, my friendship with other clergymen who often supplied the pulpit and the intimate fellowship with the people of the Montclair parish, many of whom were New York business and professional men, gave me a most valuable preparation for the ministry which I shall try to render.

In April of 1911, I was invited to become Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Poughkeepsie—a city of educational advantages and of industrial problems. The Church of about 450 members is made up of people of all classes, professors in Vassar College, students, physicians, lawyers, business men, superintendents of factories and handworkers in the same, clerks, servants and people of almost every trade. It is an interesting group of people. I am devoting more time to study and more energy to preaching than I did in Montclair. It has been a pleasure also to have some part in the Men and Religion Forward Movement in the city and in other federated movements.

My wife and I have spent our recent summers in the Green Mountains and in Nova Scotia. A little boy was born to us January 26, 1912. He bears his mother's maiden name, 'Kingsley Smith.' Our home is just half a block from the 'Blue Book' route from New York to Albany. Come and see us."

He was installed in his church in Poughkeepsie, November 3, 1911. Rev. Dr. Hugh Black of Union Theological Seminary took part in the services.

He has not been active in politics "except," he says, "as occasion demands in my pulpit work." Although a Republican, he admits that he voted for Woodrow Wilson last fall.

Reunions: S., D., N. Y. D., 7th and 8th.

William Burr Wright Smith, B.A.

Salesman. The Wheel & Wood Bending Co., 141 John St., Bridgeport, Conn.
Residence, 651 Laurel Ave.

He entered the employ of The Wheel & Wood Bending Company, manufacturers of wheels and wood bendings, soon after graduation, and has been with them almost continuously since that time. Besides "salesman," he adds, "and general handy man."

Reunions: T., S., D.

Levings Hooker Somers, B.A.

Headmaster. The Adirondack-Florida School, Meenahga Lodge,
Rainbow Lake, Franklin Co., N. Y.
Residence, Meenahga Lodge, Rainbow Lake.

"Since our Sexennial I have continued as Headmaster of The Adirondack-Florida School. Besides directing the activities of the School in scholarship and outdoor life, I manage both the Adirondack estate of one hundred acres and the Florida estate of the School. This work occupies all of my time, and furnishes, as well, a wholesome variety. Our boys are doing well in their college entrance examinations, and are making good records in college. It was a great satisfaction to have the School appear (in a recent issue of the News) well up in a list of schools sending honor men to last year's freshman Class at Yale.

My travels since Sexennial have been to Alaska, Scotland and England. While in Alaska, in the summer of 1910, I met Kirtland, at Ketchikan, I believe. Fearing that I would miss my steamer, I was running at full speed down the dock, after visiting a salmon run, when I nearly ran into him. I could only stop for a hasty word, and then rushed on my way. It seems quite noteworthy to thus meet a classmate on the streets of that far away village. Last summer I went on my vacation trip to Scotland and England, spending most of my time in London.

Under the further headings suggested, namely, recreations, reading, special interests and hobbies, I can only say that, except for four weeks' or five weeks' vacation in the summer, my whole time and attention is given to my various activities as headmaster. These include teaching, which is to me a keen pleasure, farming in the Adirondacks, gardening in the Adirondacks and Florida, which is perhaps my outdoor hobby, fishing, sailing, and cruising with the boys of the School in Florida, which is really a special interest.

I am looking forward with pleasure to continuing my work as headmaster of this School, and I ask no greater satisfaction for myself than that which comes to me in working with and for boys in the years when they are preparing for college. With my interest in it and the experience I am gaining each year I hope that the School will fulfill its mission and more and more approach the ideal of him who founded it to prepare boys for service to the world."

Clubs: Headmasters' Association, Yale of New York, Biscayne Bay and Pine Knot Yacht, Natural History Museum of New York, National Geographic Society, Classical Association of Middle States and Religious Educational Association. "Republican; have voted both Democratic and Republican tickets according to party conditions and nominees. I am opposed to 'bosses.'"

Reunions: T., S., D.

George Phelps Spencer, Ph.B.

(1903)

Manager. Sales Department, The Solvay Process Company, 60 State St.,
Boston, Mass.

Residence, 505 Washington St., Watertown, N. Y.

"After graduating in 1903 S., I spent about three years in the paper manufacturing industry in northern New York State and in Michigan. This led to a position with the Solvay Process Company of Syracuse, N. Y., along experimental lines for about four years. In 1911 I accepted a position in the sales department, and on March 1 of this year, I came to Boston to take charge of the office here. I try to get back to New Haven as often as possible—averaging about three times a year, and have attended all Class Reunions.

Nineteen Hundred and Three can well be proud of the large number that found their way back to New Haven this June. The Puritan Costume was the hit of the Reunion."

Frederick Randolph Stauffer, B.A.

Lawyer. 521 Court St., Reading, Pa.

Residence, 725 North 5th St. (M.)

"During the summer after leaving college I did some newspaper work on the Reading Herald, as court reporter, and on October 1, 1903, began to study law in the office of Snyder & Zeiber, Esqrs., of Reading, Pa. I passed the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Examinations in February, 1906, and on February 13, of the same year, I was admitted to the Bar of Berks County. I practiced with my father, Abner K. Stauffer, Esq., until his death, November 4, 1906. Since then I have practiced alone.

I was married on April 19, 1911, and I have two young sons, Frederick Randolph Stauffer, Jr., born January 15, 1912, and Agnew Thomson Dice Stauffer, born March 17, 1913, who I hope will some day learn, for themselves, the great value of an education at Yale.

I have taken an interest in politics to the extent of making speeches in various campaigns for the Republican Party, and several years ago was, without warning, nominated for District Attorney on the Republican ticket. Finding that I was ineligible on account of not having practiced the required time, I withdrew, thereby missing the pleasure of a sure defeat. Confidentially, the nomination was merely complimentary, as this county is strongly Democratic.

My principal recreations have been tennis, baseball and golf at the Berkshire Country Club. I rather specialized in tennis, and held the County Championship for three years, much to everyone's surprise.

About the only real traveling I have done was in the summer of 1910, when I was a guest of Vice President A. T. Dice of the Reading Railway, on his private car. We had a delightful trip to the Pacific Coast and returned through Canada from Vancouver to Winnipeg.

My principal aim is to become as good a lawyer as possible and incidentally to make a little money. Another 'aim,' that I may be more successful in realizing, is to get back to New Haven for Decennial, and to imbibe enough inspiration to carry me on for five years more, if necessary.

It may appear from the foregoing that life has been rather uneventful, but I am free to say that I have enjoyed it immensely; and as my law practice has increased year by year, in pleasant fashion, I am not suffering any of the 'slings and arrows,' our late friend, Hamlet, cussed about."

He married, at Christ Church in Reading, April 19, 1911, Miss Frances Dice, daughter of Agnew Thomson Dice, Vice President and General Manager of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, and of Margretta (Boone) Dice. Allen T. Clement and Lucian Kirtland, 1903, assisted at the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Stauffer graduated at Rogers Hall in 1906.

Clubs: Wyomissing, Berkshire Country, University and Chamber of Commerce. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 5th and 10th.

Warren Merrill Steele, B.A., M.A.

(B.A. Acadia 1902, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904)

Warren Merrill Steele was born at Amherst, Nova Scotia, November 20, 1876. His father, Rev. David Allen Steele, D.D. (Acadia 1865), is one of the leading divines of the Baptist denomination of that province.

His mother, Sarah (Whitman) Steele, was a daughter of Spinney and Martha Whitman.

As a youth, Warren was delicate in health, but by careful training he was able to build up a splendid physique. He prepared for college at Horton Collegiate Academy, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, and entered Acadia College, graduating with the degree of B.A. in 1902. At this time he was chosen by his classmates to deliver the valedictory address. Throughout his career at Acadia he was the foremost all-round athlete and was very popular because of his cheerful and sociable disposition.

After graduating from Acadia, Warren enrolled with the Class of 1903 at Yale, during senior year, and received the degree of B.A. with the Class, taking a Philosophical Oration stand. He was also awarded special honors in psychology as the result of some research work which was afterwards published in the Yale Psychological Studies. His special aptitude for this line of work secured for him the position of Assistant in the Yale Psychological Laboratory, and he entered the Graduate School and was granted the degree of M.A. in 1904. Like other one-year men, he missed the opportunity for a wide acquaintanceship with other members of his Class, but nothing could be more untrue than to say that this was due to a reserved nature or undue absorption in his studies. His best friends know that his nature was frank and sociable in an unusual degree.

After receiving his M.A. at Yale, Steele was appointed to the chair of philosophy at Furman University, Greenville, S. C. Before beginning his work at this institution he was married to Miss Charlotte Beatrice Fuller, daughter of Robert Charles Fuller of Amherst, Nova Scotia.

Their daughter, Sophie Marian Steele, was born September 28, 1905.

At Furman, he found congenial work and was much appreciated and respected both by his colleagues and students. Besides his regular classroom work he took an active interest in the athletics of the college, preached regularly and lectured in various parts of the State on educational topics. In fact he attempted too much, and was forced to resign his position on account of ill health in January, 1908.

From that time till his death, he traveled in search of health, living for longer or shorter periods in Florida, Virginia, Nova Scotia, Colorado and Washington. The end came August 18, 1910, at Salida, Col., after he had been stricken with pneumonia. During the period of his illness, Warren's finer traits were brought into strong relief, as shown by his letters to his parents and to the Class Secretary. The most striking side of his character at this time was the indomitable courage with which he fought the losing struggle for health. In his last letter to his father he writes: "I read the article on writing letters and concluded to save my parents from going astray by writing them a word of warning and cheer. 'Just a few sentences of what is in your heart?' Well, there is nothing in my heart but Heimweh, and that can't be written." Alone in his camp on the mountains, making a desperate effort to regain his health, but not a word of complaint of any sort, but rather the attempt to relieve his parents' anxiety by a humorous remark. Those who knew him best and had learned to understand him, will remember how frequently this humorous side of his nature came to the front even when he was feeling most deeply. As his father states: "His was a devout spirit, liking all that was good and pure and the Author of it all, but he did not make any show of his inner feelings." His wife and daughter and his parents are living in Amherst, Nova Scotia.

"One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to wake."

Edward H. Cameron.

Henry Root Stern, B.A., LL.B., M.A.

(LL.B. and M.A. Columbia 1906)

Lawyer. Rushmore, Bisbee & Stern, 40 Wall St., New York City.
 Residence, 563 Park Ave. (M.)

"Residences: 1909 to October, 1911, 24 Gramercy Park; October, 1911, to June, 1912, 123 East 62d Street; June, 1912, to date, 563 Park Avenue.

Business Connections: Member of law firm of Rushmore,
 Bisbee & Stern, 40 Wall Street (lawyers), for six years.

Travels: Practically none, except to Murray Bay, Canada, every summer during vacation.

Recreations: Chief recreation, toasting my toes before 'my ain fireside.'

Reading: Have been reading all the history I should have read at College, and more besides. I kick myself all the time that I didn't take more history courses, or at least work harder at those I did take.

Hobbies: I have taken up chess, but Douglass Green licked me badly a short time ago, which discouraged me. I suppose
 I might as well give it up now, as nobody would play with me after that.

Achievements: You'll have to wait another ten years."

Henry Root Stern, Jr., was born December 15, 1912, in New York City.

Clubs: Yale, Psi Upsilon, Bar Association. Democrat.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

John Henry Stevens, B.A.

Stocks and Bonds. Care Consolidated Stock Exchange, Broad and Beaver Sts., New York City.

In the fall of 1908 he purchased a seat on the Consolidated
 Stock Exchange and since that time has been a stock broker, making a specialty of buying and selling on commission for other brokers.

Reunions: T.

John McAllister Stevenson, Jr., B.A., LL.B., M.P.L.

(LL.B. University of Texas 1910, M.P.L. George Washington University 1911)

Lawyer. 2 and 3 Aycock Building, Sweetwater, Tex. (M.)

"June, 1909, finished course in Law at University of Texas, although did not become a full-fledged disciple of Peregrinus* and receive the Varsity brand till a year later, because I started in the middle and couldn't reach both ends at the same time.

July to December, 1909, was a consulting electrical engineer for Mountain Mill Paper Co., Lee, Mass., and supervised installation of power plant.

January to June, 1910, was associated with T. Vard. Woodruff at Sweetwater, Texas, as the Nolan County Abstract Co., making abstracts of land titles.

July, 1910, to May, 1911, in Patent Office, Washington, D. C. For one month I had a class of Button Making; remainder Games and Toys. Went to Law School once more and was clerk of Patent Law Moot Court. Resigned May, 1910. Went back to Sweetwater, September, 1910, and kept bachelor hall with Woodruff at Idem Sonans Ranch until marriage. Returned to Washington, February, 1912, and to Patent Office in March in same Division (7); have examined Nut and Bolt Locks, Clutches, Coaster Brakes, Educational Appliances and now Games and Toys again. Ralph Bumstead got a patent for an interesting card game. In making his claims he used the words 'as such.' My Chief thought the claim indefinite until I referred him to that beautiful passage in Ladd, in which those words is defined. Henry M. Russell, Jr., has one or two patents on clutches. Russell Bogue owns interests in fluid clutch patents.

On September 27 I plan to go back to Texas and abstract work, law work and farming, and grow up with the country."

He married, at Abilene, Texas, January 1, 1912, Miss Ellouise Cockrell, B.A. University of Texas 1907, daughter of Fred Cockrell, retired, lawyer and farmer, and Emily (Bristol) Cockrell.

His activities in politics have consisted in helping nominate a Justice of the Peace in Nolan County, Texas.

* "Roman prætor, father of all Equity, Guardian of all Law Students."

Clubs: Sweetwater, Texas Elks Lodge; University, Washington; Yale, New York. Democrat.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Ralph Griffiths Stillman, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1907)

Physician. 128 West 59th St., New York City.

Residence, 128 Central Park, South.

"My life for the past four years has been, I suppose, much like that of any young physician who starts in New York, though there have been times when I have thought that my lot has been rather harder than that of others. At any rate, I have been busy. Just before finishing my hospital service, in April, 1909, I received an appointment as Demonstrator of Physiology in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and a few months later, became also a Clinical Assistant in the Department of Applied Therapeutics of Vanderbilt Clinic. Then, since it is necessary for a young man to keep his time well occupied, I went to work in the laboratory of the New York Hospital as a volunteer. These positions filled my time and kept me in touch with students and therefore were of great value. The following year, 1910, I was appointed Assistant Attending Physician to Seton Hospital, where I had the opportunity of seeing a great deal of tuberculosis, and had also some teaching added to my duties at the Vanderbilt Clinic. My interest in the New York Hospital increased, and in 1911 I was appointed Assistant Clinical Pathologist there. As a result of this, I left the Department of Physiology in the Vanderbilt Clinic and obtained an appointment in the Medical Dispensary at the New York Hospital.

Later, various changes occurred, and I was advanced to Attending Physician at Seton Hospital (1911), and to Clinical Pathologist at the New York Hospital (1912), and also received the appointment as Attending Physician for Contagious Diseases at the latter institution. My connection with medical teaching has been preserved by an appointment as Instructor in Clinical Medicine in the Cornell University Medical College, the work being done in the wards of the New York Hospital.

This is a long list of names that represents quite a lot of work, but it is all in line with my desire, eventually, to limit myself to internal medicine. It has been as a result of my work in the New York Hospital that I have been able to be associated in the publication of the two papers referred to in the bibliographical notes. At the present time I am sticking closely to business and keeping my eyes open as widely as possible. As a side line I have been doing more or less editorial and book review work for the New York Medical Record and have contributed several articles to the Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences.

I lived at 120 West 55th Street from June 1, 1909, until October 1, 1911, and then joined with three other physicians to take this apartment at 128 Central Park, South, where we are very comfortably situated. In the summer of 1911 I went West and enjoyed immensely a trip on horseback through the Yellowstone Park. Last year I was able to get away for two months and went to Europe, where I saw a little of Germany, Switzerland and Paris. My reading, recreation, and hobbies, etc., have been almost entirely medical and are perhaps fully expressed in the above 'life history.'"

Clubs: Yale, American Medical and several Alumni Associations, Nu Sigma Nu Medical Fraternity, New York Academy of Medicine. "Democrat; independent voter."

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Charles Henry Stoll, Jr., B.A.

Engineer. With City Engineer, El Paso, Tex.

After completing his work in association with the Columbus Piano Company, in Columbus, Ohio, he spent the winter, 1911-1912, assisting his father in his law office in New York City. For a brief period he was in New Mexico, and again in November, 1912, in connection with some of his father's interests there. In March, 1913, he became associated in engineering, as indicated above.

In his latest message, received last winter, he wrote: "Am wandering once more. Will probably be in New York for the Class Dinner."

Theron Roundell Strong, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1906)

Lawyer. Strong, Smith & Strong, 49 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 29 East 65th St.

"After graduating, in 1903, I went to Europe for three months, traveling in Southern Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and Holland. I then went into my father's law office and studied at the New York Law School. I graduated from law school and was admitted to the bar, in 1906. I was employed at Merrill & Rogers' office until 1909, when I formed a partnership with my father, Thomas G. Strong, and Leonard B. Smith. In 1910 I applied to Judge Whitman, the District Attorney, for a position in his office, as I wanted court experience, and he appointed me as one of his Deputies. At first I served in the Magistrates' or Police Courts, then in the Complaint Bureau, Special Sessions, and am now head of the Homicide Bureau, which prepares and assists in the trial of all murder cases in this county. My work requires me to go to the scene of the crime immediately after murder has been committed, and to take the statement of the defendant if an arrest has been made.

My one hobby has been Militia work. After serving in Squadron A Cavalry, for about eight years, I enlisted in the 1st Battery of Light Field Artillery and am now in command of Battery B, and have charge of the Armory.

My work in connection with the District Attorney's office and the National Guard during the past three years has been intensely interesting and pleasant to me, and I must say that I am enjoying life."

Having been granted full and honorable discharge, after eight years' service in Squadron A, N. G., N. Y., he reënlisted in First Battery, as Private, under Captain John F. O'Ryan. He received his commission as 2d Lieutenant and as 1st Lieutenant in 1912, and was appointed Captain of Battery A, April 6, 1912.

Clubs: Yale, Comedy, Phi Delta Phi, Squadron A, Association of the Bar of the City of New York and New York County Lawyers' Association. Independent.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st, 6th, 9th and 10th.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

GOSS, ELLSWORTH, FARREL, FULTON.

STEVENSON IN PURITAN STOCKS.

William Roy Stuart, B.A.

Manager. Travelers Insurance Co., 153 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Residence, 220 Kingston Ave. (M.)

He writes, in his latest letter received: "The latchstring will always be out for you and any others of the Class."

His time since graduation has been spent in law and in insurance, in Yonkers, N. Y., and more recently in Brooklyn.

He married, June 2, 1911, at the Presbyterian Church in Barnesville, Ohio, Miss Maude Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Little.

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 4th, 7th and 9th.

Thomas Sturgis, Jr., B.A.

Operating Superintendent. Providencia Mill, El Oro, Estado de Mexico, Mexico.
Residence, Providencia Mill.

"I left Madera, April, 1911, after working there three years, with some ups and downs, but never holding any very lucrative position, and came down here near the City of Mexico to take the position of Superintendent in one of the small lumber mills belonging to the E. O. M. & Ry. Co. I have been here nearly a year and for a while was the only American. Now there is one other. We have been in the very midst of the Zapatista trouble and have been raided by them twice. It is a good job, but a very lonely place. About one-third of the time we are without railroad communication, owing to the tearing up of the track by the rebels. Our timber will last five years, but there is no saying where I will be then."

When in Madera he sent many interesting letters. In one of them he wrote: "We had a little trouble here a month ago with a gang of bandits, but finally did them up and executed four of the most notorious. The trains are again out of business and no one knows when this letter will reach you."

Politics: "Preference, Progressive Party." Activity in politics: "Reading the newspapers."

When in Madera he helped, as a charter member, in the establishment of the Madera Club.

Jeremiah Barrett Sullivan, B.A., M.D.

(1906)

Physician. Office and residence, 274 Dixwell Ave., New Haven, Conn.

In 1910 he took up special medical study in Germany and since then he has been engaged in general practice. He has recently been appointed Assistant Surgeon at St. Raphael's Hospital in New Haven.

Reunions: T.

Walter Sullivan, B.A.

Born October 15, 1881, in Indianola, Tex.

Died at sea, July 12, 1905.

The Triennial Record, pp. 262-263, contains a sketch of his life, together with resolutions passed at Triennial and signed for the Class by William A. Blount, Jr., Henry James and Charles A. Moore, Jr.

The permanent address of his father, Mr. Daniel Sullivan, and of his sister, Mrs. John L. Clem, is 404 Avenue C, San Antonio, Texas. His father has recently sent a cordial letter, and his sister, the wife of Col. John L. Clem, at present stationed in Washington, D. C., writes: "It is indeed a pleasure to come in touch with anyone who knew dear Walter. He and I were very near to one another and I treasure many joyous recollections of our days together. In looking over the 1903 Address Book, I met many names of those he had spoken of as friends—thank you for the copy. . . ."

Stuart Bruen Sutphin, B.A.

President. I. V. Sutphin Co., Papermakers' Supplies, 935 West 5th St., Cincinnati, O.

Residence, 1812 Dexter Avenue, Walnut Hills, Cincinnati. (M.)

"After Sexennial I brought one J. B. Minor home to our quiet little hamlet and we at once made preparations to engage passage to New Haven for Decennial. The tickets are paid for, so that nothing can keep us away.

Our greatest regret out here is that so few of our Class ever come out to see us. Erl Ostby, Sid Hooper and Wad drop in on us once in a while.

It is with the greatest reluctance that I am forced to mention the actions of three of our beloved classmates, Happy Plummer, Reeve Schley and Jack Dreisbach at Harv McClintock's wedding. However, one can forgive almost anything at a time like that.

To answer the questions received: My travels have been confined to one trip East, each summer, except for occasional business trips South and to Michigan; and as for achievements—modesty prohibits.

After all, on June 14, in New Haven, what will travels and achievements amount to in comparison to seeing the best friends in the world?"

His daughter, Katharine Sutphin, was born in Cincinnati, February 6, 1911.

Clubs: Riding, University, Country, Miami and Commercial. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

Paul Bailey Sweet, B.A.

(B.A. Washburn 1902, B.A. 1903)

Efficiency Engineer. With The Emerson Company, 30 Church St.,
New York City.

Residence, Anderson, Ind.

"My last report left me in the so-called betterment (rather efficiency) work in the mechanical department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, with headquarters at Topeka, Kans. This continued until October, 1910, when I went to Philadelphia to become purchasing agent of the Curtis Publishing Company. The great Curtis Building was just being completed and the work of moving the large plant, located in a number of scattered buildings, to the new building, was completed the next summer.

In the spring of 1912 I returned to efficiency engineering work and made sundry independent investigations and reports on the Bush Terminal in South Brooklyn and New York Central freight stations in Manhattan.

In July I became associated with The Emerson Company, Efficiency Engineers, 30 Church Street, New York City, and I am continuing my work with them. About the time that I joined The Emerson Company my father came East and I went up into Maine to his boyhood home with him. His health was such that I took him home, to Topeka, and because of his very serious illness, I remained there until October.

The succeeding six months were spent in La Porte, Ind., where The Emerson Company was engaged in efficiency work for M. Rumely Company, manufacturers of farm machinery. Wayne C. Nisbet, 1902 S., of The Emerson Company, was assigned to the La Porte work with me, and continued there after I came to Anderson. The monotony at La Porte was varied by occasional trips to Chicago to see whether John Broeksmit was married. He is now cashier of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

At present three of us are engaged in work for the Remy Electric Company, manufacturers of magnetos, locomotive headlights and starters at Anderson. This work will not be completed before August, 1913. Then, whither no man knoweth, for the life of an efficiency engineer is as roving as that of a traveling passenger agent."

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 8th and 9th. "Progressive; Keystone Independent, Philadelphia, 1912."

George Edmund Sykes, B.A.

Secretary and Treasurer. The George E. Sykes Co., Mason, Builders' and Factory Supplies, 73 Walnut St., Hartford, Conn.
Residence, Elmsmere, Rockville, Conn. (M.)

"My life since 1909 has been rather uneventful as I have been confined rather closely to business connections. I am to be found at the George Sykes Company office in Hartford or at our branch office in Bridgeport most of the time, except when I go to California, where I have a 12,000-acre fruit, horse and cattle ranch. These trips to California, which I take at least once a year, I do not consider as vacations as they are mostly business. Summers I usually take a cottage at Watch Hill, R. I., where I have for some time been connected with the Greens Committee. However, I am about to take my first real vacation since 1907, sailing for the Mediterranean January 30, 1912, to see something of Italy, France, the Riviera and England.

My business connections outside of the G. E. Sykes Company are: Director, Hockanum Mills Company; President, Paicines Company, New York; President, Flandraw Motor Company, New York; Vice President, Paicines Ranch Company, California; Vice President, San Benito Land & Water Company; Secretary and Treasurer, New England Sand & Lime Company, Conn.; Director, Universal Machine Screw Company, Hartford; Secretary and Treasurer, Universal Company, Hartford.

Most of my leisure time has been spent playing golf on the Hartford Golf Team and the Misquamicut Golf Team, and I have won cups in different tournaments, but the only Championship was as Champion of the Farmington Country Club, 1911.

May 20, 1909, I won the Hartford Auto Club Reliability Contest, driving a 35-45 Renault Special, having the only clean score in the contest, which was driven all day through a driving rain."

He served six years in the 1st Co., Governor's Foot Guard of Connecticut, and in all the campaigns of ex-Lieutenant Governor Lake, he was active as one of his lieutenants.

Arthur D. Sykes, 1910 S., is his cousin.

Clubs: Auto (President), Rockville; Hartford, Hartford Golf, Hartford Auto, University, Rockville and Hartford Business Men's Association, Farmington Country, Misquamicut Golf, Mory's Association, Yale and New York Athletic, Automobile of America, and American Automobile Association. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d, 6th, 7th, 9th and 10th.

Harlan Couch Taylor, B.A.

Superintendent. National Biscuit Company, Houston, Tex.
Residence, 2304 Whitney Ave. (M.)

"Was very glad to hear from you and regret very much that I could not have attended the Decennial with the Class, as I am sure that you all had a dandy time. Am still out here, engaged in making biscuits, and prosaic as that sounds, there is quite a variety in it after all. We have a delightful climate, about 102 in the shade to-day, but have gotten used to it and don't guess I could stand a cold climate now. Am playing a little ball, doing a little hunting and fishing; haven't seen one of the boys since I came here, three years ago, and sure miss them. Give my regards to them all." (July 26, 1913.)

William Hendrickson Taylor, B.A.

Acting Manager. International Banking Corporation, Manila, P. I.
Residence, 613 Calle Nozaleda. (M.)

"After attending the Sexennial, I spent part of my vacation in the head office of the International Banking Corporation at 60 Wall Street, New York; then a short time, about a month or so, in the London office, where I received instructions to proceed to Hankow, via the Siberian railway, and begin as Manager. On arrival at Hankow I was met by a cable instructing me to return to Manila as Assistant Manager, and upon the departure of the Manager, last March, I was appointed as Acting Manager, and each of these moves was in the nature of a substantial promotion.

Recreation: Tennis and golf. Have won three cups in tennis doubles.

The greatest event since our last Reunion was the arrival of Little Bill (William Hendrickson Taylor, 2d), December 22, 1911. His arrival, however, was tinged with sadness as his twin brother, Marshall Mason Taylor, was not spared to us.

I am a Director in many clubs and companies and have but little time for myself. Never felt better in my life. Sorry not to be present at the Reunion."

Clubs: President of Yale Alumni Association, P. I., of University, and of Manila Tennis; member also of Manila Golf, Army and Navy and Manila Polo.

Masonic Record: Entered, October 15, 1909, Matthias H. Henderson "661" Philadelphia, Pa. Passed, November 12, 1909, and raised December 22, 1909. Demitted to Corregidor Lodge, Manila, P. I. No. 3, December 14, 1911. Elected Senior Warden, December 12, 1912. In the Scotch Rite; received 14°, December 29, 1910, 18°, April 26, 1911, 30°, August 9, 1911, 32°, August 17, 1911. Elected Venerable Master, Mt. Arayat Lodge of Perfection No. 1, March 8, 1912. Elected Preceptor Gautama Consistory No. 1, December 13, 1912. Appointed W. Grand Standard Bearer, M. W. Grand Lodge of the Philippine Islands, February 4, 1913.

Reunions: S.

William Kenney Terriberly, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1907)

Physician. Office and Residence, Hotel Flanders, 135 West 47th St., New York City.

"Since June, 1909, I have been in the active practice of medicine in the heart of the theatre and hotel district of this city, having my office in the Hotel Flanders, 135 West 47th Street, the proprietor of which is Mr. Horace R. Shears, '97 S.

In addition, I have now taught, for four years, laboratory physiology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, this city, assisting in this work Dr. Arthur Bingham, who is also a Yale man. Being located within three blocks of the Yale Club, I am frequently called there to look after ailing Yale men. The latter are invariably an unusually healthy lot, and so the results of treatment are rapid and satisfactory.

I have had as patients many men and women prominent in the theatrical and literary world and find practice among them, and the friendships accruing therefrom, both fascinating and instructive.

A medical man's achievements, at least those in private practice, are so quietly accomplished that their mention is hardly worth while."

Clubs: Yale, New York County and State Medical Societies, American Medical Association, Nu Sigma Nu Medical Fraternity and Alumni Associations of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

Menter Bradley Terrill, B.A., M.A.

(1906)

Head Master. The Terrill School, Swiss Ave., Dallas, Tex.
Residence, 4217 Swiss Ave. (M.)

"The above from my letter-head tells my story. The School is considered a success. I now have 180 boys and eleven instructors. Some of my boys are in Yale and others will go next year. Many go to other colleges in the Eastern States." And later, "I regret very much that it was not possible for me to be at our Reunion this year. I had quite a number of boys to take Yale and Princeton examinations, and it was therefore necessary for me to be here."

Reunions: T.

Ralph Huntington Thacher, B.A.

Agent. Cadillac Motor Cars, The Cadillac Garage, Auburn and Watertown, N. Y.
Residence, 16 Woodruff Place, Auburn. (M.)

"I left the employ of the New York Telephone Company in November, 1911, and went with the Genesee Motor Car Company of Syracuse, distributors of Cadillac cars for a portion of Central New York. At the commencement of this season I formed the partnership with which I am now connected, to handle a portion of that Company's territory as sub-dealers.

At the present time I am trying to arrange to get back for Decennial, but on account of the season of the year, it looks as though I might be prevented by business from taking the time. It is most unpleasant to even contemplate such a possibility, but it may be necessary."

Mr. L. W. Quick is his partner.

Clubs: City, of Auburn, Automobile, Auburn Business Men's Association and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 6th and 9th.

Herbert Franklin Thomas

Care Mr. Robert Maclay, 60 Broadway, New York City. (M.)

The address given is in care of his former partner. The latter is at present abroad.

Joseph Brown Thomas, B.A.

President. Engineering, 132 East 19th St., New York City.
Residence, Simsbury, Conn.

Aim: "To have something definite to show at the expiration of each year for 'service rendered,' in accomplishing results in business, in politics, the promotion of sport, in personal accomplishments and in the acquisition of knowledge. To quote from the words on my doorstep:

'ΤΗΝ ΖΟΦΙΑΝ ΚΑΙ ΤΟ ΚΑΛΛΟΞ ΚΑΙ ΤΗΝ ΑΛΚΑΝ ΦΙΛΕΩ.'

Ralph H. Thomas, 1905, is his brother.

As to politics he writes: "Open to conviction at the present moment."

Clubs: Yale and others.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Theodore Gaillard Thomas, B.A.

(Harvard 1904)

Permanent Address, Southampton, L. I., N. Y.

After his graduation at Harvard he was for a time engaged in the sign business at 103 East 125th Street, and later was associated with The Mississippi Glass Company, at 24 East 58th Street, New York City. He sends the address given above.

Donald Thompson, B.A., LL.B.

(Pittsburgh Law School 1905)

Lawyer. 1237 Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, Poia Place, Edgeworth, Pa. (M.)

"The most important event in my life since the Sexennial Record was published was my marriage on July 6, 1909, to Margeret Allen LeRoy of Philadelphia. Erastus Corning was my best man and Bill Frew, Gus Oliver, Frank Moore, Dip DuPuy, and Jim Reynolds were ushers. In this connection, and in response to your pressing inquiry as to 'Achievements,' I may refer to the birth of a son on July 2, 1911. This young man now forms the major part of my 'recreations,' 'special interests' and 'hobbies.' My whole aim at present is to rise in the practice of my profession, and by that I don't mean a desire to make money, but a desire to retain and confirm the absolute confidence of my clients and, more important even, of my fellow-members of the bar. With ordinary luck and average intelligence the rest will come naturally if one is willing to work. I have no designs on public life nor any ambition to enter politics beyond voting for an honest man for each office (if such a candidate is present on the ballot, which isn't any too certain in Pennsylvania, or rather wasn't until quite recently) and persuading my friends to do likewise. In the winter I play chess for a recreation, and in the summer, tennis, at which I have, for four or five years, held the championship in singles at the Club where I play. I have never been back to New Haven at Commencement, but, in conclusion, can promise absolutely not to miss it this time."

Mrs. Thompson, a graduate of St. Margaret's, 1902, is a daughter of the Rev. Jacob LeRoy, Dean of the Episcopal Convocation of Germantown, and of Annie Parson (Allen) LeRoy.

Donald Thompson, Jr., referred to above, has a brother, LeRoy Thompson, born March 20, 1913.

Clubs: Allegheny Country, Edgeworth, Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh Law and Bar Association of Allegheny County. Republican.

Reunions: D.

Edwin Vivian Thompson, Jr., B.A.

Secretary. Louisville Grocery Company, Wholesale Grocers, Louisville, Ky.
Residence, 1311 3d Ave. (M.)

"Since 1909 my life has moved with great sameness and smoothness. I have had no change of business, no changes of residence, and few trips. The most important event is my marriage, January 8, 1913, to Miss Ida Belle Galbreath."

Mrs. Thompson, a graduate of Miss Bennett's School, Class of 1905, is a daughter of George W. Galbreath, banker, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Lucy (Newkirk) Galbreath.

Reunions: T., S.

George Jameson Thomson, B.A.

Lawyer. Gould & Wilkie, 2 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 138 West 70th St.

"Admitted to the New York State Bar in October, 1905. With Bowers & Sands, 31 Nassau Street, lawyers, 1905 to March 1, 1909, as clerk; went to Gould & Wilkie, 2 Wall Street, March 1, 1909, and became member of firm July 1, 1912. Have lived in New York continuously."

Clubs: Yale and the Association of the Bar of New York.
Republican.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Herman Justus Thorstenberg, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(B.A. Bethany 1902, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1906)

Professor of History and Education. Midland College, Atchison, Kans.
Residence, 423 South Fifth St. (M.)

"I continued my work at Roanoke College, Salem, Va., until June, 1912, when I accepted a similar position, which I now hold. Each summer I have traveled in the Western States.

Last summer I attended the National Republican Convention at Chicago.

I am especially interested in sociological questions and aim to publish something when possible.

I am afraid my 'achievements' are not worth mentioning, unless I should refer to my struggle for 'Academic freedom' and against sectional teaching of History in Southern Educational Institutions.

I took issue with a Judge of the Circuit Court of Virginia, who was a Trustee of Roanoke College. The other Trustees sustained me and the Judge resigned from the Board. For this stand I was commended and congratulated by prominent educators and newspapers and magazines from every section of the country."

The Roanoke College Bulletin, July, 1911, in speaking of the "Humors of the History Incident," made this statement: "Like the small boy at the circus, too, who likes to poke up the animals to hear them roar, certain unregenerate students, when matters seemed to be growing too quiet, could not refrain from helping the excitement along a bit. A certain student who can pull a very solemn face remarked to a lady: 'Well, I am the son of a Confederate veteran, but I believe every word that Elson (author then under discussion) says.' This merely teasing remark was solemnly embodied in a widely-distributed report sent out by a certain organization and was quoted as an awful example of how the innocent minds of the young may be perverted by the teachings of 'that vile book.' Another student started the rumor that Dr. Elson was to be the chief speaker at Commencement. In less than a day the whole community knew all about it, even to his theme and his manner of dealing with it, and there were dire prophecies as to what would happen."

His brother, Edward Thorstenberg, Ph.D., is teaching German in the Sheffield Scientific School.

He is an Independent in politics, generally voting the Republican ticket, but "sometimes the Democratic, especially while in the South." He lectures occasionally on public betterments.

Clubs: American Historical Association, Virginia Yale Club and Kansas State Teachers' Association. Independent.

Reunions: T.

George Rexford Tillson, B.A.

Student of Music. Address, Care Sebastia é Reali, Piazza di Spagna, Rome, Italy.

During the last few months he has been in Milan, part of the time with Nat Cobb. He continues in the study of music and voice culture, spending most of his time in Rome. The above, his permanent address, is in care of his banker.

Edward Perry Townsend, B.A.

Assistant Cashier. The Importers' & Traders' National Bank of New York, 247 Broadway, New York City.
Residence, 235 West 75th St. (M.)

"Owing to illness I spent last summer at Lake George trying to get cured of something no one knew just what. I managed to get in good shape, returning home and going back to work again in the fall, only to be taken a week later with an attack of acute appendicitis, followed by an operation at midnight, and then after a month at Bermuda (with my family and the Toby Peckhams) by a complete recovery, so that now I feel better than I have for three or four years.

In April I was appointed an Assistant Cashier here, and since that time I have been away a great deal, becoming personally acquainted with our correspondents and dealers throughout the country. As they are located from Maine to California and from Canada to Mexico, I expect to have my work cut out for me for some time to come, and will undoubtedly see most of this country, and of course, all the 1903 men I can, while doing so.

Here in New York, of course, we see quite a number of 1903 men right along, but we are always pleased to see more even than we do, and I know the crowd from here is looking to Decennial with the greatest of pleasure."

Clubs: Yale, Graduates, Lake George, New England Society in the City of New York. "Republican; always voted a 'split' ticket."

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 3d, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Arsene LeSeigneur Trenholm, B.A.

Manager. Lumber and Land Development, Seivern, S. C.
Residence, Seivern.

"Was with the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway until October, 1911, when I resigned to come South and take up the management and development of 2,700 acres of land near Seivern, S. C., which had been owned by my family for a number of years. Since that date have resided in South Carolina and have been devoting myself to this work. It is my intention to live down here and go into agriculture as my life work. I intend to develop and sell about 1,500 acres and hold onto and farm the balance. As I live out in the country, my life is very quiet and uneventful. There are great opportunities down here in South Carolina for young men with moderate capital, and I would like to see Yale men come South for their life work. There is also a great opportunity in scientific agriculture. Land is cheap and can be bought on good terms, and living is also low. Am not married and have no present intentions."

Clubs: Yale of New York. Democrat.

Reunions: T., N. Y. D., 2d and 3d.

John Marshall True

First Lieutenant. 1st Infantry, U. S. A., Schofield Barracks, H. T.
Permanent Address, Care Adjutant General's Office, War Department,
Washington, D. C. (M.)

In September, 1911, he was ordered to the Philippines, but is now stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

He married, June 23, 1909, in San Francisco, Cal., Miss Elizabeth Laurie Getty, daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Robert Nelson Getty. He was at that time stationed at Fort George Wright, Washington.

Edward Perry Truett, B.A.

Vice President. Stephen Sanford & Sons, Inc., Manufacturers of Rugs and Carpets, 51 Church St., Amsterdam, N. Y.
Residence, Amsterdam. (M.)

"From May 1, 1909, I was employed by Messrs. Clark, Dodge & Co., Bankers, 51 Wall Street, New York City. In March, 1912, they sent me to Chicago to open and manage their branch office. I resigned from that position, and on May 1, 1913, took up my present work as Vice President of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Inc., Manufacturers of Rugs and Carpets, Amsterdam, N. Y. My permanent address is 51 Church Street, Amsterdam, N. Y."

He married, December 14, 1909, in Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Alberta Salmon, daughter of Stephen Oliver Salmon and Susan Tuthill (Prince) Salmon.

He is a Director of the Amsterdam City National Bank.

Clubs: Yale, New York; University, Chicago.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Abraham Tulin, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Guthrie, Bangs & VanSinderen, 44 Wall St., New York City.
Residence, 521 West 112th St.

"From June, 1903, to June, 1906, I was principally taken up with earning my living and completing my course at the Harvard Law School. Both these objects were accomplished, despite some intervening serious illnesses. At Harvard I represented the University in debate against Princeton and was awarded the Coolidge (debating) prize.

In September, 1906, I began the practice of the law in New York City, where I have continued to date. My firm connections in that time were as follows: September, 1906, to March, 1907, Evarts, Tracy & Sherman, 60 Wall Street; March, 1907, to December, 1909, Page, Crawford & Tuska, 32 Liberty Street; December, 1909, to January, 1911, Hon. Edward B. Whitney, Yale '78, Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York; March, 1911, to date, my present firm.

I spent the summer of 1910 (three months) in travel in Europe, and six weeks of last summer (1912) in the same way. My life otherwise has been uneventful. My work as a lawyer has been attended with a fair measure of success and has brought me fair reward. I have been and am reading a little, especially along historical lines, and have found as much pleasure in keeping up the friendships that I formed at Yale, and in forming new friendships with classmates and with other Yale men, as in anything else. Of my aims and objects it is hard to speak. Perhaps a later occasion will give me more confidence in this respect, especially if some degree of accomplishment will have crowned my efforts."

A cousin is a member of the present Senior Academic Class, and three nephews will shortly enter Yale.

He has taken part in the campaigns for municipal offices in New York, and in local and state contests over the judiciary. In such contests he has been compelled to side with the opponents of his party.

Clubs: Yale, Economic, Reform and Independent, West Side and the Association of the Bar. Democrat.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

William Butler Tyler, B.A.

Bond Salesman. Hallgarten & Co., Brokers, 5 Nassau St., New York City.
Residence, 1332 Evergreen Ave., Plainfield, N. J. (M.)

"At Sexennial I was living in Plainfield, N. J., and held the position of Auditor with Fisk & Robinson, bankers of New York, and stayed with them in that capacity and as a salesman until October 1, 1912, when I accepted a position with Crawford, Patton & Cannon, brokers, as their Connecticut representative in the bond selling end of the business. In May, 1913, an opportunity was offered to connect with Hallgarten & Co., as one of their New York City representatives, which was accepted as pleasing from all points of view. My few months in Connecticut with headquarters at New Haven have been delightful in renewing old acquaintances, making new ones among the undergraduates, and following with the same keen interest as in 1903 and before, the events of the University and the other countless opportunities outside of the curriculum of sports.

When I move my small family back to Plainfield this fall, we will be in the midst of another Yale atmosphere where we have a flourishing Yale Club of about eighty-five members, far surpassing in numbers and enthusiasm either of our dearest enemies, in fact, they are 'out of sight.'

Here's hoping I see the whole Class in June."

His interest in politics was so great, last November, that he went from New Haven, Conn., to Plainfield, N. J., to vote for President Taft.

Clubs: Graduates, New Haven Lawn, Plainfield Country and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

David Benjamin Updegraff, B.A., M.A.

(Princeton 1906)

Missionary. Board of Foreign Missions, Presbyterian Church in U. S. A., Kolhapur, India.

"Engaged in missionary work in and near Kolhapur, which is a native State, ruled over by Shahu Chhatrapatti Maharaj, head of the great Maratha dynasty founded by Shivaji. Language study occupied much of these first five years. Apart from that I have conducted schools, employed native preachers, toured amongst the villages, etc.

Anyone who cares to learn something about life in this Mission may do so by reading the novel 'A Bluestocking in India' by Winifred Heston, M.D., published by Fleming H. Revell Co." And later, July 28, 1913: "I expect to get home next May."

Politics: "Used to be a Republican and voted for Roosevelt. Now perceive by nature I am a Progressive. Have become an ex-patriot by necessity."

Reunions: N. Y. D., 1st.

Frederick Brown Utley, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1907)

Physician. 1126 Highland Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 329 South Highland Ave.

"The summer of 1909 was spent at the Sloane Maternity Hospital in New York. October 9, 1909, I came to Pittsburgh to accept a position as resident at the University Maternity Hospital, otherwise known as the Reineman Maternity Hospital, which position I held until January 1, 1912. In this institution the fourth year men of the Medical Department of the University of Pittsburgh receive their practical instruction in Obstetrics so that my work was largely one of teaching. At the same time I was an Instructor in Obstetrics at the Medical School.

On leaving the hospital in January, 1912, I opened an office for the practice of Internal Medicine at 1126 Highland Building. In the following April, Dr. James D. Heard, Professor of Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh, asked me to become his assistant in his private work, and with the opening of the school year (1912) made me his assistant in teaching at the Medical School with the rank of Instructor in Medicine. I also hold the position of assistant attending at The St. Francis Hospital. All of this work gives me an exceptional opportunity to see and to study Internal Medicine, and I hope that I may profit by it."

Politics: "I am an Independent in politics, with Democratic tendencies. However, I have voted, for the most part, the Republican ticket, because while a resident of New York State I could not subscribe to Tammany, and in National politics I have had faith in good Bill Taft."

Clubs: Allegheny County Medical Society, State Medical Society, Biological Society for Medical Research and University, of Pittsburgh.

Reunions: T., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d and 5th.

Samuel Oakley VanderPoel, B.A.

Secretary. Grand Union Mining Company, 30 Broad St.,
New York City.

Residence, 10 West 8th St. (M.)

"Since 1909 my very existence has been a very quiet one, living here in New York and plugging away trying to make a living for a large family, for I now have three children: Mildred Barclay VanderPoel, born August 5, 1908, Barbara Oldfield VanderPoel and Gertrude Schuyler VanderPoel, May 22, 1911.

I am still engaged in the mining and timber business with my office at the above address. I regret exceedingly that I was unable to attend our Decennial, but important business in Canada prevented me from doing so."

Clubs: Yale, University, New York Yacht, Rockaway Hunting, Baltusrol Golf, Strollers, Squadron A, Holland and St. Nicholas Societies. Republican.

Reunions: T., N. Y..D., 1st, 2d, 7th and 10th.

Harry Brown Van Deventer, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(M.A. 1904, Ph.D. 1907)

Assistant Professor of Latin. Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.
Residence, 12 Nassau St.

Since 1907 he has been identified with the Latin Department of Princeton University, where he is an Assistant Professor. His political sentiments follow: "I belong to no political party at present; not even the Republican is sufficiently reactionary to suit me. Always have been a Republican. Did not vote last November."

Clubs: Yale of New York.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Douglass Van Dyke, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. Van Dyke, Rosecrantz, Shaw & Van Dyke, 910 Wells Building,
Milwaukee, Wis.
Residence, 44 Prospect Ave.

"Since 1909 have not done anything of interest. Have simply practiced law which takes about all one's time, and in my leisure moments have played golf, etc.

Shortly after 1909 I assisted in the organization of the Federal Pressed Steel Company of which I am now Vice President. The company has, notwithstanding, enjoyed a very successful career.

Have not been away from Milwaukee during the last four years, except a trip to Bermuda and sundry automobile excursions, etc. I expect to take a flying trip to the Mediterranean this spring (1912) if I can arrange my business to that end.

I have done nothing unusual, simply lived an ordinary existence, uninteresting to others, but exceedingly interesting and enjoyable to myself."

For three years prior to 1909, he served with Troop A, 1st Wisconsin Cavalry.

Politics: "National, Republican; Municipal, Democrat; anything but the Roosevelt Party."

Clubs: Barristers', Milwaukee Country, Athletic, Yacht, University, Fox Point, Oconomowoc Country and Oconomowoc Lake.

Reunions: T.

Ernest Shelton Van Tassel, B.A.

Journalist. Permanent Address, 349 William St., East Orange, N. J.

"Since Sexennial I have spent three winters in Bermuda. I took up newspaper work while down there and was correspondent for the New York Times, Philadelphia Record, Pittsburgh Despatch, and other dailies in Chicago, Montreal, etc., in addition to a weekly, Town and Country. I have met a number of our Class in Bermuda, among them Bunny Wallace, Zeus Holt, Clive Du Val, Dud Lewis, Randy Robinson, George Porter, Spen Goodwin, Pop Truett and Frank Farrel."

The Secretary found him, last winter, not only busily occupied in his journalistic work, but active also, as Chairman of the First Annual Open Tennis Tournament Committee of the Hamilton Hotel Tennis Club, for the Championship of Bermuda. This proved, in point of interest and in number of entries, the largest tennis tournament ever held on the Island. Among the cups on exhibition at the hotel was an exceptionally beautiful one, given by the Chairman's friend, His Excellency, Governor Lieut. Gen. Sir George M. Bullock, K.C.B., Governor-General of the Island.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 8th.

Axel Ebenezer Vestling, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

(B.A. Bethany 1900, B.A. 1903, M.A. 1905, Ph.D. 1907)

Professor of German. Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.
Residence, 104 Nevada Ave. (M.)

"1909-1910: Instructor in German, Yale College.

1910-1911: Studied at the Universities of Berlin and Marburg, and traveled in France, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Scotland and England.

1911-1912: Instructor in German, Yale College. In the fall of 1912, went to Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., as head of the German Department."

Clubs: Modern Language Association of America, The American-Scandinavian Society, Minnesota Educational Association, Der Deutsche Pädagogische Verein von Minnesota. Republican.

Reunions: T.

Carroll Johnson Waddell, B.A.

Manager. Harris, Forbes & Co., Investment Bonds, 615 Real Estate
Trust Building, Philadelphia, Pa.
Residence, Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa.

"In October, 1909, I was transferred from the position of assistant to the Albany representative of Harris, Forbes & Company, to take charge of their Philadelphia office. All went happily and well until March, 1911, when I was rusticated to the Adirondacks for eleven months to build up a reserve which had been low since News heeling days. That successfully accomplished, I returned to work, March, 1912, and am altogether pleased with the prospect—Decennial in the immediate foreground and then my remaining in Philadelphia."

Clubs: Yale, New York; University, Albany; Racquet, Philadelphia; Merion Cricket, Haverford; Masters Lodge, No. 5, F. & A. M., Albany, N. Y. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Anson Wagar

United States Commissioner. Gregory, S. D.
Residence, Gregory. (M.)

For a time after Sexennial he was with Ziebach, Wagar & Russell, government land commissioners in Gregory. The information given above was printed on the envelope containing his latest message and "best wishes," received Christmas week, 1912.

James Reynolds Wait, B.A.

Merchant. The H. R. Wait Co., House Furnishings and Decorating, 77 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y.
Residence, 215 Genesee St.

"Have become interested in the breeding of registered Holstein-Friesian cattle, also in the possibilities of modern farming methods. Spend much of my spare time on my farm. As to my life in general, might say that I have been enjoying the developing of our business, and daily association with my father, whose experience, knowledge and goodness have been worth everything to me."

He has taken an active interest in city politics and is now serving as School Commissioner. He is a Director of the Auburn Trust Company and has also served as a Director of the Business Men's Association.

Clubs: Auburn City, Owasco Country and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T.

Ralph Benford Wakefield, B.A., LL.B.

(Pittsburgh 1907)

Lawyer. 1016 Berger Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 1 Colonial Place, Shadyside, Pittsburgh.

"I am still practicing law and am still unmarried. Have been living continuously in Pittsburgh. My professional connections have been with my uncle, James A. Wakefield, Attorney-at-law.

18. 11. 19. 20.

21.

22. 23. 24. 25. 26.

27. 28. 29. 30.

ENTERING THE FIELD.

GREETED BY '98.

PASSING PROFESSOR TAFT AND HIS CLASSMATES OF '78.
(Seated in covered stand.)

Sorry I did not get to Decennial. Harv McClintock, Gus Oliver and Rod Day have all told me what a fine Decennial it was.

My plans for the future are to stay single as long as I can and keep on practicing law."

Clubs: University and Pittsburgh. Democrat.

Reunions: T.

William Durrie Waldron, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. 32 Nassau St., New York City.

Residence, 55 Plymouth St., Montclair, N. J.

"In business activities, there is not much change since Sexennial, except for the steadily increasing responsibilities imposed by employers and gladly assumed by myself. I have been associated, since 1905, with Ladd & Opdyke, Attorneys at Law, at 20 Nassau Street, New York City, specializing to a large extent in corporation, and more especially railroad law, and being fairly pleased that such is the case. Since you invite a statement of ultimate aims, Mr. Secretary, I might add that ultimate excellence in that branch of the law is about the only business aim of which I am definitely conscious. [He has recently become associated in the office of ex-Judge Walter C. Noyes, the newly-appointed general counsel of the Delaware & Hudson Co.]

A few still unmarried 1903 men are to be seen pretty regularly up at the Yale Club (and now and then a married one may be spotted). While I continue to reside in Montclair, N. J., it is a source of great satisfaction to have easily accessible such a haunt of Yale men as that Club. I manage to take frequent advantage of it. Therefore, and considering also the number of our Class located in the downtown section, I manage to keep in fairly close touch with a good many.

Extra-business activities? Well, not many worth mentioning. Suburban residence presupposes suburban activities of the gentle sort,—affairs centering largely in the local clubs. I have found it pleasant to dabble in amateur dramatics, a flourishing pastime in Montclair. Great facilities for exercise out there, but I can't seem to connect with them. Heavy tramping during brief vacations in summer, usually in the Adirondacks and White Mountains, and milder cross-country hikes, of the week-end variety, during the rest of the year, have to suffice under the head of exercise. From cross-country running of college days I have slowed down to a walk (not so much slower at that)."

Clubs: Yale, Zeta Psi Association, New York; Montclair, Upper Montclair Dramatic, Montclair; Appalachian Mountain, National Geographic Society, Essex County (N. J.) Yale Alumni Association. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 8th, 9th and 10th.

James Frederick Walker

(West Point 1905, Coast Artillery School 1912)

First Lieutenant. Artillery Corps, U. S. Army, Fort H. G. Wright, N. Y.
Permanent Address, War Department, Washington, D. C.

"I served in various capacities at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., from February 3, 1909, to March 31, 1910. Was then transferred to Fort Morgan, Ala., where I served as Adjutant Artillery Engineer and Ordnance Officer of the Coast Defences of Mobile, Ala., until August 25, 1911.

Having survived two Alabama summers, during which period I made serious inroads upon the fish supply of Mobile Bay, I was rewarded by a detail as student officer to the Coast Artillery School at Fort Monroe, Va., from which institution I graduated in July, 1912.

After a six weeks' leave of absence spent in the vicinity of my home at Denver, Colo., I reported at my present post."

He has served in the Coast Artillery at Fort Williams, Maine, and at Fort H. G. Wright. He has also served as Adjutant of the Artillery District of Portland, Maine, and of Mobile, Ala.

Owing to a typographical error, the date of his birth, August 8, 1881, is here inserted.

Reunions: D. Republican.

Raymond William Walker, B.A.

Raymond William Walker was born March 22, 1878, in West-boro, Mass. His father, Melvin Harvey Walker, a retired manufacturer, was also born in Westboro, on January 23, 1842, the son of Silas Walker, Jr., and Louisa Everett Walker. His mother's maiden name was Anna Moses, daughter of William and Pamela (Kidder) Moses.

He attended the public schools in Westboro, where his boyhood was spent, but on account of poor health, he was prepared for college privately by Mr. L. D. Higgins, at Providence, R. I.

Entering Yale with the Class of 1903, he maintained a First Dispute stand throughout the course. In all college activities, he took a keen and active interest. Poor health prevented him from going into athletics though he went out for the Class Crew in Freshman year.

He was a member of the Freshman Glee Club, and for three years of the College Choir, an editor of the Courant and of the Record, and was a member of Zeta Psi.

In the fall of 1903 he secured a position with the Bates Advertising Co., New York City, and remained with that concern for four years with the exception of a few months during the winter of 1905-1906, when he was obliged to give up business to recover from trouble with his eyes. During this interim, he was at his home in Westboro, and in order to spend as much time in the open as possible, he and his father built a bungalow by the lake at Whitehall. That winter at home with his family had much to do with his decision later to leave New York and settle in Boston. He returned to New York in the spring of 1906 and continued his work with the Bates Advertising Co.

In the fall his eyes were again giving him trouble, and he resigned his position, returning to his home in Westboro to rest and await the desired opening in Boston. He seized this opportunity to study and write, and during the winter of 1906-1907, wrote the complete book of a comic opera entitled "Dr. Devious," the music for which was written by Mr. Charles Wilson, a neighbor in Westboro, a young musician of marked ability. They worked the book and music over together until it was in proper form to be offered to publishers. This winter undoubtedly was one of the happiest in his life. He was at home, with time to write, which was one of his greatest pleasures and ambitions.

On May 1, 1907, Raymond accepted a position as Advertising Manager with A. Schuman & Co., Wholesale and Retail Clothiers of Boston, Mass., where he remained until his death. His appreciation of the opportunities with this concern and his grasp of details and business principles, made him an important factor in the business, and the scope of his activities rapidly increased.

He attended the Class Dinner in New York on Saturday night, January 21, 1911, returned to Boston on Sunday, and went to his office Monday as usual, but was unable to remain through the day. His brother, Melvin H. Walker, Jr., '09, then in the Harvard Medical School, secured the services of an eminent surgeon, who operated for appendicitis at the Bay State Hospital, Roxbury, Mass. Tetanus set in, and although the disease was broken up, Raymond could not rally, and died on February 11, 1911. The funeral services were held at his home in Westboro, at three o'clock on the afternoon of February 14. His brothers, Irving E. Walker, Melvin H. Walker, Jr., '09; the brothers of his fiancée, Walter W. Metcalf, Harry H. Metcalf; his tutor, Lathrop D. Higgins, and classmates, George S. Hurst, Horace B. Pomeroy and Willis S. Whittlesey, were pall bearers.

The announcement of his engagement to Miss Rachel Metcalf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Metcalf of Westboro, was made from the hospital during his fatal illness.

I consider it one of the greatest privileges of my life to have known Raymond Walker at college, in his home, in my home and in his business. His home was ideal. With parents true to the finest of New England stock, three sisters and two brothers, he enjoyed a home life of confidence and loyalty.

As a Freshman he was quiet and reserved, and roomed alone. In Sophomore year he had one roommate, and in Junior and Senior years three, which illustrates how quietly but surely he grew into his friendships.

His first contribution to the Record was the little poem, "My Bess," which was immediately accepted and published. Mr. Wilson set this to music arranged for male voices, and it was published in 1908 by Luckhardt & Belder, New York.

He contributed to the Courant and Record many short poems of much lyric beauty and high sentiment. The cleverness, smoothness and originality of his verse was unusual in the undergraduate field of literary endeavor, and much of it is preserved in two volumes of "Cap & Gown." In these two volumes, published by L. C. Page & Co. of Boston, there are eight of his poems, almost twice as many as the selections from any other writer.

In his college life, using his own words in the dedicatory poem of the Class Book (republished at the end of this volume), he appreciated "the bounty of our campus days." He spent the years "right royally" with us, storing for himself "friendship's wine," and his heart always "held the song and laughter."

The chance of alphabetical division threw us together early in Freshman year. After graduation, our work in New York was close enough so that we lunched together almost daily. Raymond lived near me during the summer of 1905, and in my home the summer of 1906.

Few men have so remarkable a combination of true qualities as he; the temperament of a poet and musician, fine sentiment, high ideals and right principles. He had instinctive decision as to the most important thing and set about that without hesitancy. He allowed nothing to interfere with the work to be done and, when the work was finished, gave himself wholeheartedly to his play, and his friends.

His capacity for friendship was great. The tributes of the men who lived with him show how intimately he touched their lives. His comradeship is one of the sweetest memories of my life, and with affectionate appreciation of the sympathy and courage he gave me, I pay my tribute to his life and memory.

Willis S. Whittlesey.

Walter Bertrand Walker, B.A., LL.B.

(New York Law School 1905)

Lawyer. Leonard & Walker, 135 Broadway, New York City.

Residence, 229 West 105th St. (M.)

"Taking the above request seriously, I would suggest that I certainly followed the Yale Spirit of generous coöperation on the occasion of my marriage, for you will observe on reference to the details given below that every man who assisted was a Yale man, and this was done intentionally. At the time of the last Reunion, I was, to speak in race terms, jockeying for position, for before I was able to force an affirmative reply (or what could be taken and construed as such), to my oft-repeated entreaties, demands and exhortations that a certain young lady abandon the paths of care-free comfort and share with me the poverty, trials, and self-denials usually referred to as 'wedded bliss' in the comic papers, it was necessary for me to shake off a lot of hangers-on who annoyed me and interfered with the speedy and expeditious progress of my suit; they were a most persistent collection, ever ready to take advantage of my absence from the field of activity, and that accounts for the fact that I did not last for more than two days at our Sexennial. Outside of a trip abroad on business in the spring of 1910 (lasting three weeks to the day), the only event which was out of the ordinary with me, was my marriage; a man is always more or less of a fool when he gets a chance to talk of his marriage. But one incident occurred which was in a way amusing—first, however, let me say, that the best time I ever had was at my own wedding, though by far the greatest percentage of men assert that with respect to a wedding the groom is the most bored person on earth and only submits to it 'because the girl wanted it,'—there's something wrong with those men. Well, to the incident. Several of my classmates were present, many with their respective wives; there was also present, but down the corridor some little way, a supply of courage and contentment. After supper the wedding guests took to dancing, and it was noticeable that many of our married classmates either had sore feet or some other ailment; at any rate the nerve-centres which produced dancing steps were completely paralyzed, and they resorted for treatment to the room where encouragement could be found, thus leaving quite a number of wives unattended save by some butterflies usually seen at such seasons; these wives collected together until it portended ill for some one, when suddenly one husband, who had very slyly reconnoitred the situation from behind the arras, hit upon an idea; it happened, 'mirabile dictu,' that Al Ogden was not partaking of the liquid courage, and further, that his wife had been unable to be present. So a meeting of the cripples being hastily called and organized, on motion duly made, seconded and carried, Al was unanimously elected 'nurse' for the wives in the outer room, and was duly authorized and directed to make such representation as he deemed wisest in his discretion, being strictly charged, nevertheless, not to divulge the origin or extent of his power or authority. Al performed his duties well and ably, for though there were a few flutters when the time came for departure in pairs, no divorces have been recorded since. It would doubtless be far more interesting if names could be stated of those who organized the meeting, but after the last Class Record came out it was decreed by the members of a voluntary organization called the 'Anti-Walker Club' that I should be suppressed.

George Leonard and I are still practicing law together, and as the years roll into Reunions I hope that they will still find us associated in an effort to earn our living, and a place in the world worthy of the college that gave us our education."

The wedding ceremony was performed at The Plaza in New York City, February 14, 1911. The bride, Miss Mary Creecy Lawton, a graduate of the Ely School in 1906, is a daughter of William Matthews Lawton, publisher, and Mary (Creecy) Lawton. Ralph H. Nesmith, 1903, was best man, and the ushers were Harry M. Keator, 1897, Henry C. Holt, Howard A. Plummer, Theron R. Strong, Harry B. VanDeventer and Carroll J. Waddell, 1903. Rev. Charles L. Pardee, 1884, officiated.

In the fall of 1912 he worked on the Gambling Law and its enforcement, on behalf of the Citizens' Committee, selected in connection with the Becker Trial and its revelations.

He is a Trustee of the American College for Girls in Constantinople, Turkey.

Clubs: Yale and Lawyers'. Independent.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Henry Mitchell Wallace, B.A.

Assistant Superintendent. American Brass Co., Ansonia Brass Co.,
Ansonia, Conn.

Residence, 84 North Cliff St. (M.)

"In the late fall of 1909 I took Mrs. Wallace to Bermuda, where we enjoyed nearly a month of its restful outdoors. Ernest VanTassel greeted us as we entered 'The Hamilton.' He proved, to our entire satisfaction, his prompt assertion that he knew the best bathing beach on the South Shore, and many sails in his chartered knockabout also added greatly to our pleasure. 'Van' is some pilot. We carried away the impression that Bermuda is an ideal tonic, well worth while indulging in occasionally.

On August 24, 1910, our son, Walter Andrews Wallace, was born, for which blessing we continually give thanks.

That fall I went down to Lakewood for a little golf, just after seeing Brown beat us so badly at football. The Princeton team 'joined' me at the Laurel House a few days before the Yale game, and their air of easy assurance was almost unbearable. You can imagine how I felt to see Yale come down and accomplish the seemingly impossible.

In February, 1912, we moved to 84 North Cliff Street, into a more comfortable home.

Last fall we took the United Fruit Company cruise to Panama, a thoroughly delightful twenty-two days. One of the 'Cruisers' said he was disappointed in the canal because it was so 'simple.' In a few words, that fact, and the bigness of the work accomplished, are just what appealed to me most, because I saw enough to realize that American brains, patriotism and money have brought the knotty problems and great difficulties to such a simple solution that It Will Work. I might add that if you want to thrill with pride and be thankful you are a citizen of the United States of America, do go down there and look around. Leaving the Isthmus, we proceeded to some of the seaports of Colombia and I did not anticipate much pleasure from (as I thought) simply watching them load fruit, but instead we found Carthagena, 'the old treasure-house of the Spanish Main,' rich in historic remains and interest, and Santa Marta, primitive beyond our imagination and most enjoyable.

In business, my position has not changed except from the natural result of the growth of our company."

John B. Wallace, Jr., 1909 S., is his brother.

Clubs: Graduates, New Haven; Manufacturers', Ansonia; Highland Golf, Shelton; Race Brook Country, Orange. Republican; 1904, Roosevelt; 1908 and 1912, Taft.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Walter Franklin Wallace, B.A.

Manager. The Wallace Press, Printers and Binders, 540 West Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Residence, 712 Ash Street, Winnetka. (M.)

"My work for the last five years has been very uneventful and has consisted merely in filling the rather tragic rôle of establishing a new business and, at the same time, supporting a family."

He married, June 29, 1907, in Chicago, Miss Mabel Farwell, daughter of John A. Farwell, retired, and of Ava W. (Chambers) Farwell. Mrs. Wallace is a sister of John A. Farwell, Yale '96 S. She graduated at Kemper Hall, Kenosha, and at Dearborn Seminary in Chicago. Their two children were born in Chicago, Virginia Wallace, June 13, 1908, and John Franklin Wallace, June 19, 1910.

Republican.

Arthur Allen Ward, B.A.

(B.A. Western College 1901, B.A. 1903)

General Mission Work. American Ceylon Mission, Uduppiddy, Valvettiturai, Ceylon.

Address, for one year, from March, 1914, Care Rev. Lewis Bookwalter, Central Congregational Church, Kansas City, Kans. (M.)

"In June, 1909, I left the Y. M. C. A. work in Bangalore, South India, and joined the American Ceylon Mission, which is conducting mission work in northern Ceylon in connection with the A. B. C. F. M., Boston. From June, 1909, to November, 1911, I was stationed at Tellippalai. Besides editing the bi-lingual weekly newspaper called The Morning Star, my work included supervision of two native churches and one English service each week, a dozen Tamil Schools and one English School, a Normal School for training Tamil teachers, and a publishing and bookbinding establishment turning out about two million pages of printed matter each year, most of which I was obliged to proof read in order to secure accuracy.

On the return of Mr. Dickson from America I was called to Uduvil, where help was urgently needed in the Uduvil Girls' Boarding School, the largest school for girls in the whole Island. The mere keeping of accounts and running the boarding department for three hundred girls is no holiday task, not to speak of teaching in the English Department, studying the Tamil language, developing a local Y. M. C. A., and raising funds for its new building, besides preparing and delivering occasional lectures at Jaffna College and town Y. M. C. A.'s.

In March, 1912, the Uduppiddy station became vacant, as Mr. Hitchcock returned to America for his furlough, and the Mission asked us to take up the work. Mrs. Ward manages the Girls' Boarding School, which has an attendance of about seventy. My own work takes me over a territory more than five hundred square miles in extent. Scattered over this area are forty-four Tamil and two English schools. In these schools there are 3,804 children and 115 teachers. I have to provide the teachers, keep up the buildings, and make occasional visits in order to encourage the teachers and keep them up to their work. Besides the schools, there are six churches, which require more or less time and attention. In addition to the work outlined above, I am giving whatever time I can snatch from other duties to the study of Tamil.

This is not a record of great achievement. I have been moved too often to undertake and carry through any important creative work. But I have tried to leave each station in a stronger position than when I came to it."

His son, Lewis Bookwalter Ward, was born January 5, 1909, in Bangalore, India.

Politics: "Unfortunately, I have to forego the privilege of voting, but if the opportunity had been given me last autumn, I would have joined the Progressives, although an admirer of Woodrow Wilson."

Freeman Ward, B.A., Ph.D.

(1908)

Assistant Professor of Geology. Kirtland Hall, Yale University,
New Haven, Conn.

Residence, 868 Orange St. (M.)

"Have continued my usual teaching at Yale—Sheff. The one great event in this connection is my advance from Instructor to Assistant Professor of Geology, Decennial seeing one year completed in that capacity.

The summers are a little more varied. In 1909 I did geological work for the Connecticut State Survey. An injury to my foot made me take a lay-off. The work was completed the following summer. Since then a report of the work has been written in the form of a Bulletin; this has been accepted by the State but is not yet in print. June, that summer, was especially delightful because it brought to me a little daughter.

In 1911 and 1912 I helped conduct our Summer School of Geology, which was six weeks of camp life and practical geology in Virginia. Last summer, after the six weeks' course was finished, I spent two weeks with the United States Bureau of Soils, partly in the field and partly at Washington. I was trying to soak in as much as I could about Soils and Soil Investigation.

So far each summer I have been able to take a few weeks off for visiting and loafing. This coming summer, 1913, will see me again connected with our Summer School of Geology with the added distinction of being in charge, instead of acting as Assistant; will be in the northern Black Hills. This will pull me away from New Haven at Reunion time, for which I am very sorry."

His daughter, Sarah Wood Ward, was born in New Haven, June 5, 1910.

Reunions: S. "Republican; Baldwin for Governor, Wilson for President."

Samuel Dwight Ward, B.A.

With The New York Edison Co., 124 West 42d St., New York City.
Residence, 1448 Union St., Brooklyn, N. Y. (M.)

He has been with the Edison Company for some time. Since the publication of the last Class History, his marriage to Miss Edna Brady has taken place. They have one daughter.

Antonio Johnston Waring, B.A., M.D.

(Columbia 1908)

Assistant Surgeon, Ogelthorpe Sanitarium, Harmon and Duffy Sts., Savannah, Ga.
Residence, 3 Perry St., West.

"After leaving New Haven I spent six years in New York; four years in Columbia Medical School, and two years in the Presbyterian Hospital. In 1908 I spent six months in Colorado with a brother then ill, the most glorious country on the face of the earth, by the way.

Since February, 1911, I have been practicing here in my own home. I am associated with my uncle, Dr. T. P. Waring, in a dandy little institution, the Ogelthorpe Sanitarium. I have done fairly well, but I find a prophet is often without honor in his own country. I am doing well enough, however, to be 'on the job' in New Haven, in June."

Clubs: Georgia Medical Society, 1st Congressional District Medical Society; Business, Professional and Transportation. Democrat.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 2d, 3d, 6th, 7th and 8th.

Arthur Woodward Warner, B.A.

Chief Draughtsman. Mechanical Department, Riter-Conley Manufacturing Co., 55 Water St., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence, 247 Thorn St., Sewickley, Pa. (M.)

"My work has been entirely along engineering lines since graduation. The time has been spent with the Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company. I am very much interested in the development of special automatic machinery for making coal gas. Applications for patents for several features in this line of my design are now pending. During the past two years I have been superintending the erection of gas-making machinery at Lowell and Worcester, Mass. I have also spent some time studying and experimenting at various gas plants. Am a member of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania."

He married, April 17, 1911, in Sewickley, Pa., Miss Mary Baird Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harlan Baird Patterson.

Reunions: T.

George Plimpton Warner

Manager. With Pratt & Letchworth Co., Manufacturers Locomotive Steels and Hardware, 189 Tonawanda St., Buffalo, N. Y.
Residence, 605 Niagara St. (M.)

He has been with his present firm since 1902. A classmate writes; "He is now high up in the management of Pratt & Letchworth Co., a large corporation of Buffalo."

Reunions; N. Y. D., 5th.

Irving Henry Warner, B.A.

Farmer and Fruit Raiser. Ideal Fruit Farm, Fairport, N. Y.
Residence, Fairport. (M.)

"I have been living on this farm since June, 1909. As with farm work, it is just one —— thing after another. There is nothing of interest to anyone. However, I thank you for the opportunity presented here, and wish for you and the rest of the boys the best of success."

He is owner and proprietor of the Ideal Fruit Farm.

His daughter, Effie Mae Warner, was born January 25, 1910, in Fairport.

Clubs: Royal Arcanum, Subordinate, Pomona and State Granges. Republican.

George Augustine Washington, B.A., LL.B.

(Harvard 1906)

Lawyer. With Convers & Kirlin, 27 William St., New York City.
Residence, 103 West 55th St.

He has been practicing law with his present firm since April, 1909.

He is a member of Troop E, 1st Cavalry, National Guard, New York, formerly Squadron A. His rank is Corporal.

Clubs; Union, Yale, Harvard, Alpha Delta Phi, and Holland Lodge, No. 8, F. & A. M. Democrat.

Reunions; T., S., D., N. Y. D., 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 10th.

Bradford Webster, B.A., LL.B.

(Louisville 1906)

President and General Manager. Webster Loose-Leaf Filing Co.,
817-825 West Market St., Louisville, Ky.
Residence, 623 Fourth St.

"1911, April—Incorporated Webster Loose-Leaf Filing Company, Louisville, Ky., to manufacture Webster Binders and Shelves and market a universal Book-Making Proposition.

1911, June—Gave up general practice of law.

1911, September—Published fourth edition 'Seymour's Kentucky Annotations.'

1911, December—Mr. Geo. J. Pearson, New York City, made a substantial investment and became a director in Webster Loose-Leaf Filing Company.

1912, February—After spending a charming evening with a beautiful Kentucky young lady, invented the Webster Folding Unit Shelves, the Universal Shelving.

1912, September—Published 4th Edition 'Seymour's Kentucky Annotations.'

1911, December-1912, September—Took out patents on Webster Filing Appliances in Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Australia, New Zealand.

1912, October—Made sales contract with Kenyon-Stearns Organization, New York City, with New York sales office at 30 Church Street.

1912, November—Opened sales office, Chicago, 1040 National Life Building.

1912, December—Made sales arrangement for Great Britain and Ireland with Petty & Sons, Limited, Reading, England, for binders and punches. Sold them large initial order, and arranged for manufacture of Webster Folding Shelves under British patent on royalty.

1912, September-December—Conducted very successful advertising campaign System Magazine.

1912, October-1913, January—Sales arrangements, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, China, Venezuela, Canada.

1911-1912—Practiced Patent Law."

Clubs: Louisville Lodge No. 400, F. & A. M. (Master), Travelers' Protective Association. Progressive.

Reunions: S., D.

Edward Franklin Webster, B.A.

Traffic Manager. Bronson & Townsend Co., Hardware Jobbing House, 294 State St., New Haven, Conn.
Residence, 358 Alden Ave. (M.)

"Simply lived a sober, industrious life, married and enjoyed a pleasant home, and lived to make my home better, and my wife and child happier. After the death of my wife I kept the home for six months and then for good reasons sent my boy to live at my former home in Rutland, Vt., and have taken rooms and am now again living the life of a single man. My life is not readjusted yet sufficiently to state any future plans. Wishing all the members of 1903 success."

His son, Harvey Edwards Webster, was born in New Haven, April 13, 1908.

Mrs. Webster, formerly Miss Maria Louise Edwards of Jersey City, died September 6, 1912.

Reunions: T. Progressive.

George Unangst Wenner, B.A.

Lawyer. 1020 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, Cal.
Residence, 1665 Haight St.

"Left Seattle in the fall of 1909, going to Ely, Nevada, where I engaged in mining until the summer of 1910. I then went to San Francisco, where I have since been practicing law."

Clubs: Mason. Republican.

Ethan Pryor Wescott, B.A.

Lawyer. Wescott & Wescott, Security Trust Building, 301 Market St.,
Camden, N. J.
Philadelphia Office, Penn Square Building, South Penn Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

"When I wrote you last, if I remember correctly, I was only an Attorney-at-Law. I am now a Counsellor-at-Law, an Attorney Counsellor, Proctor and Advocate in the United States Courts, and a Master in Chancery. You can see by the above letter head that we are maintaining offices in both New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

I am still unmarried, very busy, very fat and fairly happy."

He has been associated in the practice of law, since graduation, with his father, Hon. John Wescott, who had the unique distinction, June 27, 1912, of nominating Governor Woodrow Wilson for the Presidency of the United States.

Reunions: T.

William Burns Weston

Banker. With Harris, Forbes & Co., Pine & William Sts.,
New York City.
Residence, Sutton Manor, New Rochelle, N. Y. (M.)

In 1910 he was associated, as Advertising Manager, with the American Bank Note Company. January 1, 1911, he took up advertising with Wendell P. Colton, Yale '96, with offices at 220 Broadway. For the past year and a half, he has been with the above firm.

He married, September 3, 1913, at the Church of the Transfiguration in New York City, Mrs. Anna M'Artney Scherp, daughter of Mr. Robert M'Artney.

Reunions: N. Y. D., 6th and 8th.

Edwin Reynolds Whitcomb, B.A.

Manager. Dairy Farm, White Fish Bay,
Milwaukee, Wis.

Residence, White Fish Bay. (M.)

He entered the employ of the Wisconsin Central Railway in January, 1904, and in the winter of 1907-1908, accepted a position with the Eastern Wisconsin Railway & Light Co.

After leaving the Eastern Wisconsin Railway & Light Co., he started a dairy farm, north of Milwaukee. He has some fine stock and supplies a high grade certified milk and cream to the leading hotels and clubs of Milwaukee.

Clubs: Milwaukee Country and University.

Reunions: T.

Howard Sage White, B.A.

Assistant Secretary. American Ring Co., Brass Manufacturers,
Waterbury, Conn.

Residence, 46 Kellogg St. (M.)

"Two months after Sexennial I became engaged, and in May, 1910, was married. The next six weeks were spent in England and the Isle of Wight before we settled down to 'Country Life in America.' A Yale man (in miniature) came to us about two years ago, and has managed to take up the time usually spent in travel and similar recreation.

Golf has taken some time in the summer and has brought me in touch with many classmates and other Yale men around the State. As to 'achievements,' my recollection does not call forth many. I have been interested, in a mild way, in athletics, and the local social affairs, spending most of my time and energy in pursuit of the brass manufacturing business and the remunerations accruing thereto, alas too often exaggerated. As people told me at the last Class Dinner, it apparently agrees with me. I weigh 168, as I write, and I believe that the past few years, if comparatively uneventful, have been as happy ones as I shall meet."

He married, May 26, 1910, at the Collegiate Church in New York City, Miss Helen Mason Wise, daughter of the late Dr. Peter M. Wise, former President of the New York State Lunacy Commission, and of Anna (Heston) Wise. Mrs. White attended The Veltin School in New York City. Among those who assisted at the wedding were H. Coit MacLean and Wilson G. Wing, 1903.

His son, John Ogden White, was born in Waterbury, February 25, 1911.

He has served as Treasurer of the Republican Town Committee of Waterbury, and on various ward committees.

Edward L. White, 1909, is his brother.

Clubs: Country, Waterbury, and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, 7th and 10th.

John Richards White, B.A.

He was born in Providence, R. I., November 24, 1880, and prepared for Yale at St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass., entering college in the fall of 1899 with the Class. In College he caught on the freshman and college nines and was a member of Hé Boulé, Psi Upsilon and Skull and Bones Societies. He held a First Colloquy Junior and a Second Colloquy Senior Appointment.

After graduation he taught for one year at St. Mark's School, and then went into the coal business with his father in the firm of John R. White & Son of Providence. In the spring of 1906, because of his health, he severed his business connections, and in the fall again taught at St. Mark's, where he continued till shortly before his death June 16, 1911, at his home in Providence.

His father, William Wurts White, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Class of 1860, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., November 3, 1842, son of John Richard S. White and Caroline (Wurts) White. He died in Providence, July 19, 1911.

His mother, whose maiden name was Kate Merwin, is a daughter of Elias Merwin, lawyer, and Annie (Childs) Merwin. Mrs. White lives at 150 George Street, and a brother, William Wurts White, Jr., 1905, is associated with the firm of W. W. White & Co., Bonds and Stocks, in Providence.

It is hard for me to write anything of Richards White because I stood so close to him that I lost—or rather never sought for—a sense of proportion. He and I took root together at St. Mark's, where for the last few years of our school life we were the only boys in our "Form" that were going to Yale. Inevitably, as we "Stood in our pride alone" we took each other very largely for granted. It was part of the general scheme of creation that we were to be friends, and we no more dreamed of analyzing each other's character than we would have thought of questioning the laws of matter. The habit so formed, remained to a certain extent through college and after. We grew more and more closely into an easy, unhurried friendship that ripened as each year went by, though rare letters were too often the only span to the gap.

Uncritical as we were, there was one quality in him that impressed itself on me, and must have been generally recognized. We so often find our friendships top heavy with promise, and little or no fulfillment. A series of brief contacts, a minute or so with the past to bring each other up to date, and then all of the present is devoted to the future. "When we have time" we will do thus and so, we have mutual friends and will see each other through them, our address will be so and so and we must surely write. It is all in the future tense, and before we well know it, our friend is gone and we are left with nothing but promises.

But friendship with Dick White, for all it contained plans enough for to-morrow, was essentially an affair of to-day. To a far greater degree than is given to most of us, he had the power of giving his personality, and to those whose fortune it was to know him well, he gave freely. An evening spent with him brought with it a sense of accomplishment. Perhaps his greatest charm lay in his sense of humor. It was not so much the ability to tell a story well and not too often, as it was the unexpected angle of vision that brought into sharp relief the lighter side of men and things. He was really a close and accurate observer of men. He was never dazzled by accomplishment, as such—it was always the personality of the man that aroused his interest. No man was quicker at detecting sham and fraud, yet he never yielded to the temptation that this ability brings, of becoming hard or bitter. Here again, his humor carried a tolerant note that turned the edge of his sharpest criticism. Least of all was he conceited or arrogant. Many of us went to him for criticism, advice, opinion of others, help in solving our own problems, and he always helped. You felt sure of him. Few men of his years develop to so great a degree the faculty of thinking in straight lines, and his opinions went direct to the heart of the problem or the soul of the man.

He was loved for his humor, and sought after for his knowledge of human nature, but possibly his most admirable characteristic was his simplicity. He had few if any of the non-essentials that attach themselves, barnacle fashion, to most of us as we go on. His tastes, his manner, his clothes, his speech were all, like his thought, simple and unaffected.

These traits, more particularly the atmosphere of enjoyment that he irradiated, were the more noteworthy in that he was not at all the immature type of exuberant college boy. He carried bravely, and without murmur, a heavier load of sorrow and responsibility than did most of us, but few, even among his most intimate friends, ever knew it.

When he died he was still groping as far as his life work was concerned. He had no decided ambition along any particular line, but he could never have been an idler. His active and well-trained mind and his conscience made it inevitable that he should seek to do his share of the world's work. Had he lived, he might have accomplished much or little in a material way. In either event, he would have fulfilled his destiny. His greatest function in life was to be himself, and no worldly success or failure could have detracted from the value of that achievement.

We are all selfish in that we value our friends for what they bring us. Dick brought to his friends the greatest of all gifts—himself. Without admonition he made us better because he was clean. Through him there came to us a broader outlook, a clearer vision. And with him came laughter. He has taken with him to another life a certain warmth that cannot return, but the afterglow remains in our hearts, and his memory will not fade.

Erastus Corning.

William Otis White, B.A.

Manufacturer. W. H. White & Sons, Railroad Cross Ties, 509 Ohio St., Cairo, Ill.
Residence, 3000 Washington Ave.

"Residence: Cairo, Ill. Associated in business with W. A. Krebs, under firm name of W. H. White & Sons, railroad cross ties. Travels: limited to Ohio, Mississippi, Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers. Recreations: fighting Ohio River floods. Reading: accounts of them, mostly fiction. Special interests: not tolerated by law. Hobbies: horses and motor boats. Finis."

His reply to the question, "1903 men who assisted at wedding ceremony?": "Would be entirely too many assistants."

Clubs: Alexander. "Taft Party."

Reunions: T., D.

Everett Martin Whitemore

Cashier. Burnham, Hanna, Munger Dry Goods Co., Kansas City, Mo.
Residence, 3624 Garfield Ave. (M.)

He has been with his present firm since 1899, and writes: "No change from previous information given."

Willis Savage Whittlesey, B.A., C.P.A.

(University of the State of New York 1909)

Certified Public Accountant. Whittlesey & Meyer, Transit Building,
7 East 42d St., New York City.
Residence, Pleasantville, N. Y. (M.)

"After a varied business career in banking, advertising and commercial lines, from July, 1903, to the spring of 1907, I entered the employ of a firm of Public Accountants and took up the study of higher accounting. In June, 1909, examinations for the degree of Certified Public Accountant in New York State kept me from attending Sexennial. After receiving my certificate from the (State Board of Regents) University of the State of New York, I opened an office for the practice of public accounting. On April 1, 1911, I formed a partnership with George W. Myer, Jr., N. Y. U. 1907, a Certified Public Accountant. Our business is growing consistently and our prospects for a large practice are bright.

My home is in Pleasantville, N. Y., a small and old country town from which I commute."

Willis Savage Whittlesey, Jr., was born January 15, 1910, in Yonkers, N. Y.

Politics: "Republican to the elections of 1912. Voted Progressive ticket, State and National, in November, 1912." He has assisted the incorporated Village of Pleasantville, his home town, to establish a proper system of municipal accounting.

Clubs: Yale, New York; University, Pleasantville; Niagara, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Reunions: D., N. Y. D., 7th, 9th and 10th.

Theodore Harry Wickwire, Jr., B.A.

Vice President and Treasurer. Wickwire Steel Co., Manufacturers of Pig Iron, Buffalo, N. Y.

Residence, 1217 Delaware Ave. (M.)

"President, Wickwire Mining Company, and Buffalo Iron Mining Company, Iron River, Mich.; Director, Commonwealth Trust Company, and American Steam Ship Company, Buffalo, N. Y.; Director, Second National Bank and Wickwire Brothers, Cortland, N. Y.; Vice President and Treasurer, Wickwire Steel Company, Buffalo, N. Y."

His second son, Hedge Wickwire, was born February 4, 1910, in Buffalo.

Clubs: Local, and Yale of New York. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d and 7th.

Thomas Edward Wilde

Born, January 12, 1879, in Fort Madison, Ia.
Died, February 23, 1901, in New Haven, Conn.

The Triennial Record, pp. 306-309, contains a sketch of his life.

The address of his mother, Mrs. Emily J. Wilde, is 608 Third Street, Fort Madison, Iowa. In a letter sent July 9, 1913, Mrs. Wilde writes: "I received your very kind letter. I am much obliged to you for the kindly interest you take in me.

I am glad to see so many of the familiar names. I should like to know about Edward's particular friends in the Class, and at Byfield (Dummer Academy), but have lost sight of them. . . . I am still living with my daughter, Mrs. Jordan. Many thanks and good wishes."

Frederick William Wilhelmi, B.A.

Superintendent. Cloquet Tie & Post Co., Forest Products, Cloquet, Minn.

Residence, 116 6th St. (M.)

"Living in Cloquet since June, 1909. On September 1, 1909, made Superintendent of Cloquet Tie & Post Company; have held this position ever since."

He is engaged in the manufacture of railroad cross ties, pulpwood, piling, cedar posts, telegraph poles and other forest products.

He married, June 22, 1912, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, in Cloquet, Miss Caroline Isabel Erwin, daughter of Maurice Erwin and Edith (Hall) Erwin. Mrs. Wilhelmi received her education at Oberlin College.

Reunions: T., D. Republican.

Lewis Alfred Williams, Jr., B.A.

Broker. Charles D. Barney & Co., 25 Broad St., New York City.
Residence, 903 West 8th St., Plainfield, N. J. (M.)

"To begin shortly before Sexennial. I was married June 5, 1909, and upon my return from my honeymoon obtained a special dispensation from Mrs. Williams and embarked for New Haven. Since then have lived a rather uneventful life, continuing to fight the elements as a curb broker and endeavoring to escape the pernicious activities of the Pujo Committee. In 1911 I built a house in Plainfield in which I hope to spend my declining years and which has a specially designed 'Welcome' on the doormat for any and all nineteen three-ers who may come to Plainfield. Have taken a large interest in the Plainfield Yale Club, having been its Secretary-Treasurer for seven years, and having helped to make it bigger and more active than the Princeton and Harvard organizations put together, being ably assisted by Baldy Bill Tyler and Slim Arthur Collens."

Gurth Williams, 1909 S., is his brother.

Clubs: Yale, New York; Plainfield Yale, Plainfield Country, Park and Log Cabin Gun. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D., N. Y. D., 1st, 2d, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

Orion James Willis, B.A.

Assistant Manager of Sales. American Sheet & Tin Plate Co., Third National Bank Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Residence, 4155 Lindell Boulevard.

He has been identified with the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company since graduation and was made Assistant Manager of Sales in 1909.

Clubs: The St. Louis, St. Louis Country and Mercantile. Democrat.

Reunions: T., S., D.

William Ladd Winch

Manager of Ranch. Santa Rosa, Cal.

"Have been a paper maker in Holyoke, Mass., 1903-1905; Yale Law School, 1905-1907; in law office and practicing law, 1907-1911. In August, 1911, I came to California, and after a trip of exploring, bought a ranch in Santa Rosa, and have been on the ranch all the time since, and expect to stay at it, for some time, at least."

AT THE GAME.

RETURN FROM VICTORY.

TO THE HOME OF PRESIDENT AND MRS. HADLEY.

Clubs: Yale of New York. "Republican; don't vote, as Republicans are not allowed to vote in California."

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 8th.

Wilson Gordon Wing, B.A.

Agriculturist. 323 Chronicle Building, Houston, Tex.
Residence, Houston Club.

"In September, 1910, business called me to Houston, Texas, where I have since resided. I have principally to do with the irrigation and cultivation of rice. Nothing of particular interest has happened to me since Sexennial and I regret that the space reserved for answers as to 'achievements' presents such a blank page."

While living in Providence he served as a member of Battery A, Rhode Island National Guard.

Clubs: Agawam Hunt, Providence, R. I.; Yale, New York; Houston, Houston Country and Thalian, Houston, Texas. Republican.

Reunions: T., S., D.

William Basil Wood

Traveling Freight Agent. Illinois Central Railroad, 10th Floor Cotton Exchange Building, Memphis, Tenn.
Residence, 1042 Madison Ave. (M.)

He has been identified with railroad interests since 1901.

He married January 2, 1912, in Hopkinsville, Ky., Miss Elizabeth Wood Barr Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Wood.

George Edward Woodbine, B.A., Ph.D.

(1909)

Assistant Professor of History. Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
Address, Yale Station.

"Since graduation my life has been spent quietly in study and teaching at Yale. Two trips abroad for further study, a little shooting each fall, a little trout fishing each spring, are the only things that have broken the usual routine of a very pleasant, but neither exciting nor stirring existence."

Politics: "Used to belong to Republican Party; voted Democratic ticket this last election."

Reunions: T., S., N. Y. D., 2d.

Harris Spring Woodman, B.A.

Treasurer. Wadsworth & Woodman Co., Manufacturers of Table Oil Cloth, Winthrop, Me.
Residence, Winthrop. (M.)

He formed his present partnership in 1904, and has been continuously in the same business.

He married, June 30, 1910, in Rockland, Maine, Miss Jeannette Healey, daughter of John E. Healey and Abbie Belle (Tracy) Healey. Mrs Woodman attended The Misses Orton and Nichols School for Girls.

John Eastman Woodruff, B.A.

(1904)

Secretary and Treasurer. Pneumelectric Machine Co., 503 South
Clinton St., Syracuse, N. Y.
Residence, Greenwich, Conn.

He organized, in December, 1905, the Pneumelectric Company, manufacturers of coal mining machinery, and has been actively connected with the company, as Director, since.

He married, May 25, 1905, in Columbus, Ohio, Miss Eugenie Gray Watson, daughter of Mrs. Otway Watson. Mrs. Woodruff is a graduate of Mrs. Summer's School, Washington, D. C. Their two children were born in Syracuse, N. Y.: Eugenie Gray Woodruff, May 27, 1906, and Timothy Lester Woodruff, 2d, July 17, 1907.

Clubs: Onondaga Golf and Country, Century, Sedgwick Farm, Automobile and Yale of New York.

Howard Spencer Woodward, B.A.

(B.A. Hiram 1902, B.A. 1903)

Assistant Professor of English. Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Residence, 2100 Adelbert Road.

"In the fall of 1909 I came to Cleveland as Instructor in English at Western Reserve University. The following June I received an appointment as Assistant Professor of English. My work includes full charge of the public speaking activities,—the intercollegiate debates and the like.

My chief 'special interest' is in entire accord with the 'back to the farm' movement. Cleveland is only fifty miles from my old home (Warren, Ohio), and consequently I spend many of my week-ends and part of my summers there with my father and mother. The farm and fruit orchard interests I find an exceedingly interesting sort of diversion."

For two years he has served as head of The Ohio Intercollegiate Peace Association and for the same period he has been critic and adviser for the Cleveland Speakers' Club, an organization composed of lawyers, business men and other citizens.

Politics: "Independent; Wilson last November and for candidates on every other ticket on the ballot."

Gerald Stanton Work

With B. F. Goodrich Company, Rubber Manufacturers, Akron, O.
Residence, Warkwolde, Perkins Hill, Akron.

In his most recent communication he writes: "The address you have is correct, 'Warkwolde, Perkins Hill, Akron, Ohio.'"

SUMMARY, 1903-1913

Total membership, 383; 1903 B.A.'s granted to date, 316; 1903 B.A.'s granted since publication of Triennial Class History, in 1906, 6; 1903 B.A.'s living, 297; other members of the Class living, 60; total living, 357; deceased, 1903 B.A.'s, 19, other members, 7; total deceased, 26; married, 1903 B.A.'s, 171, other members, 35; total married, 206; descendants of 1903 B.A., sons, 94, daughters, 79; descendants of other members, sons, 20, daughters, 16; total descendants (sons, 114, daughters, 95), 209; descendants deceased of 1903 B.A., sons, 5, daughters, 3; descendants deceased of other members, 1 daughter. Total number of descendants living (of B.A. 1903, 165; of other members, 35), 200.

Republicans, 135; Progressives, 31; Progressive Republicans, 5; Democrats, 23; Independents, 23; No Party, 9; Socialists, 1. Total ballot, 227.

Attendance: Triennial, 208; Sexennial, 140; Decennial, 151 (with Class Boy). Average attendance at the ten Annual Class Dinners held at the Yale Club in New York City, 68.

With kindest wishes for all of the Class of 1903 and the hope that rich blessings may be ever with them
I am their true and affectionate friend
June 11, 1913. Timothy Dwight

THE DEEPER YALE SPIRIT

BY

ROBERT E. SPEER.

As one who was admitted to the honorary alumni roll of Yale the same year that the Class of 1903 entered College, and who has counted among his friends a number of the members of the Class, it is a pleasure to be allowed to contribute these brief words to the Decennial Record with regard to the religious life of Yale, what the University has done and is doing for the spread of true religion at home and abroad, and what graduates of Yale may do for the University in its highest interests, which are its religious interests.

The traditions of Yale, as the Class of 1903 knows full well, are religious traditions. The time of infidelity which followed the devout days of the founders, and which was characteristic of almost all the higher educational institutions of the country during the generation after the Revolutionary War, soon passed away under the influence of the first Dwight, and Henry Wright quotes in his story of these early years a letter from Benjamin Silliman to his mother in 1802, in which he wrote: "Yale College is a little temple,—prayer and praise seem to be the delight of the greater part of the students, while those who are still unfeeling are awed into respectful silence." If Yale was not exactly a "little temple" full only of prayer and praise and respectful silence a century later, when the Class of 1903 was contributing something in addition to these three to the University, it was still a truly religious place, as many of you can testify as you recall the deepest influences which wrought upon your own lives there. Many of you can witness that Yale ten years ago was not unlike the Yale of seventy years ago, when Dwight and Goodrich "made the Christian life a rational and a normal thing, yet at the same time a thing of such supreme importance as to call for public confession, even to self-humiliation, as the initial act of acceptance, and for self-surrender and active Christian service as the means of its continuance." "Men accepted the Gospel because it satisfied their deepest needs" in 1858, and they did the same in 1900, and they are doing the same in Yale to-day.

Out of the true religion of Yale a steady stream of men has gone into the work of the Church at home and abroad. Nineteen Hundred and Three gave fifteen men to the service of the Church in America and in foreign fields. If anyone would appreciate the wealth of Yale's gift to lands other than our own, he should read Professor Beach's chapter on the subject in "Two Centuries of Christian Activity at Yale." But in addition to this more distinctive contribution, it is good to think of the great body of men who have gone out into every so-called secular calling to live as they have sung, "for God" as well as "for country and for Yale."

And if 1903 sympathizes with all this and intends to live for Yale, it can do so by lending its influence to sustain the college character of Christian loyalty, by insisting on the continuance of the good traditions, by helping to maintain the institutions which embody and perpetuate the ancient ideals and by seeing that 1903's sons, as they begin their arduous preparation to enter 1925 or '30 or whatever class it may be in the far off future time, shall be of the stuff and principle that have made Yale a Christian College and a breeding place of Christian men for America and all the world.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY, 1909-1913

Church Affiliations: Episcopalians, 48; Presbyterians, 31; Congregationalists, 25; Baptists, 9; Methodists and Unitarians, 5 each; Lutherans, 3; Reformed Church, 2; Roman Catholics, Church of Christ (Scientist), Dutch Reformed, Disciples of Christ, Free Baptists, Union Christian and Undenominational, 1 each.

Additional Replies: "Christian Church with sympathy toward same principles in others."—Dodge. "Latest Church affiliation, compulsory chapel at Yale."—Aldrich. "Have figured out that during my four years in College, as a result of the over-stimulation on religious matters, I attended religious services enough to last a lifetime."—E. R. Clark (M.D.).

Offices held: G. S. Arnold, "I think I have twice held the office of godfather." Bacon, Trustee, Congregational Church, Berwyn, Ill. Bill, Vestryman since 1902 and Treasurer since 1910, Cathedral Parish (Episcopal), Faribault, Minn. Atwill, Rector, Calvary Episcopal Church, Sedalia, Mo. T. Andrews, Rector, St. Paul's Church, Wilkesboro, N. C., and of Grace Episcopal Church, Lexington, N. C. Baldwin, preached in churches in New York City, Brooklyn and Newark, N. J. H. T. Clark, Deacon, Second Presbyterian Church, Cleveland, Ohio. R. K. Clark, Treasurer, First Congregational Church, Evanston, Ill. Coleman, Superintendent of Sunday School, Disciples of Christ Church, Springfield, Ill. Cowling, President, Minnesota Congregational Home Missionary Society. Dunham, Secretary, Men's Club, 1910; Vestryman, 1912, St. John's Episcopal Church, Hartford, Conn. Engelhardt, Assistant Superintendent, Presbyterian Church Sunday School, Dunkirk, N. Y. Farrel, Vestryman, Christ Church, Ansonia, Conn. Furst, Trustee of Public Forum, Church of the Ascension, New York City. F. C. Gilbert, Superintendent, South 3d Street Industrial House Sunday School, Brooklyn, N. Y. Goddard, Rector, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Chaplain, Hudson River State Hospital, a Director of the Union Rescue Mission. Granniss, President, Improvement Association, Morris Plains, N. J. Hamlin, Chairman, Finance Committee, Watson Settlement House, Buffalo, N. Y. Hofstead, Minister, Second Methodist Church, Memphis, Tenn. Hooker, Treasurer, First Ecclesiastical Society, Center (Congregational) Church, New Haven, Conn. D. K. Johnston, Associate Rector, St. John's Episcopal Church, Logan, Utah, and Assistant Minister, All Saints' Church, Worcester, Mass. Keep, Treasurer, Church of Christ in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Director of Andover Guild. Kent, Assistant Superintendent, Pilgrim Congregational Church Sunday School, Seattle, Wash. Latimer, Trustee, Presbyterian Church, Los Angeles, Cal. MacLane, Pastor, Taftville (Conn.) Congregational Church. Melcer, President, Board of Trustees, Montville (Conn.) Methodist Church. F. W. Moore, Minister, Presbyterian Church, Brockport, N. Y., and associated in work of Browning House Settlement, South London, England. Nichols, Treasurer, Tribune Fresh Air Fund for Binghamton, N. Y. Oliver, Vice President, George Junior Republic Association, Western Pennsylvania, Trustee of Homeopathic Hospital of Pittsburgh. Richards, Vice President, Men's Club, Brick Presbyterian Church, New York City. Rightmire, Assistant Superintendent, South Congregational Church Sunday School, Rochester, N. Y. Roberts, Minister, First Presbyterian Church, Saranac Lake, N. Y. Sanford, Clerk, Treasurer and Deacon, Congregational Church, Bridge-water, Conn. B. M. Smith, Member Executive and Finance Committee, Providence, R. I., Playground Association. R. S. Smith, Assistant Pastor, First Congregational Church, Montclair, N. J., and Pastor, First Congregational Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Strong, Counsel for Legal Aid Society, Brick Presbyterian Church, New York City. Thorstenberg, Chorister, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Salem, Va. Updegraff, Missionary, preaching and teaching, Kolhapur, India. Wait, Secretary of the Central Presbyterian Church Sunday School, Director, Y. M. C. A., Auburn, N. Y. A. A. Ward, General Mission Work, American Ceylon Mission, Uduppiddy, Valvettiturai, Ceylon. H. S. White, Vestry and Music Committee, St. John's Episcopal Church, Waterbury, Conn.

A VISIT TO YALE IN CHINA

BY

PHILIP K. CONDUCT.

The work of the Yale men at Changsha has always interested me and when, during a business trip in China last March, I found it necessary to visit Hunan Province, I was glad of the opportunity which I should have of seeing our Chinese offspring. At Hankow I found a small but comfortable river steamer, which took me in forty-eight hours to Changsha. It was an interesting ride up the Yangste River, and as we left it and went into the smaller river on which Changsha is situated, we passed through a great lake, which covers about forty square miles during the summer flood season, and is at times forty feet in depth, while in the winter it is quite dry. As we reached the Province of Hunan, the country had a more prosperous and fertile appearance, the rivers were well banked against floods, and the towns appeared to be flourishing.

Changsha is the most distinctly Chinese city that I have visited. It is only during the past few years that foreigners have been allowed to live there, and with the exception of the various missions represented, there are only a handful of foreigners in the city. On the first day of my stay I called at the Yale mission, riding through the crowded narrow streets in a closed chair swinging on the shoulders of three noisy Chinamen. The traffic on those streets, which are six or eight feet wide, would absolutely stagger the traffic squad of the New York police. Men carrying buckets of water suspended from a pole on the shoulder, men dragging long boards and poles, chairmen calling at the top of their lungs in their efforts to clear a path, an occasional ricksha staggering over the rough pavement, and dogs, children, and grown-ups generally mixed in their efforts to hurry along the street.

Fortunately for my nerves, the ride was a short one, and in a few minutes we passed under the gate of the school and our men heaved the chairs in the air and lowered them with a sickening drop to within an inch of the ground. I had the pleasure of meeting several of the foreign members of the teaching staff at Mr. and Mrs. Gage's house that afternoon, and the following evening the additional pleasure of being invited there to a Yale dinner at which were present Mr. and Mrs. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, Miss Gage, Dr. Yen, Dr. Little, Mr. Morse, and Mr. Smith. It was a delightful Yale evening in the heart of China.

My visit to the Ya-li hospital was interesting, but depressing, as are the innumerable tragic sights seen in every-day life in China. There are forty beds in the wards and conditions are most cramped in the several old Chinese buildings which form the hospital. In spite of their difficulties, the staff are doing a tremendous amount of good, as the records of the cases treated in the wards and clinics testify. With the large new hospital finished, work on which is shortly to begin, the possibilities of relieving suffering and teaching the people of the province regarding health, will be greatly increased. The basis of China's greatest troubles and difficulties to-day is undoubtedly her enormous birth rate. It is necessary that this rate be reduced before we can expect that the condition of the masses will be improved, for it is highly improbable that the resources of the country will be developed with sufficient rapidity to provide for the population, and it is impossible for immigration to alleviate the tremendous struggle for existence amongst the Chinese. But in spite of the fact that the death of one increases the chance of existence for another, those who know anything of China's suffering millions will give as they are able to assist in relieving their terrible distress.

The school is going ahead splendidly. At present there are seventy-five scholars in attendance, and these boys are coming from good families, in the majority of cases from the homes of the gentry. This is quite a remarkable fact, considering the short time during which the school has been in existence and still more so when we remember that the tuition is higher at Ya-li than at the regular Chinese schools,—for a Chinaman is more apt to figure on a basis of prime cost than quality received. But I believe the Chinese figure that Ya-li is not so much more expensive than the Government schools, for the number of working days in the term is greater, as they fail to observe many of the tremendous number of holidays which the Chinese have. I was interested to find that Christianity was taught and that there is a strong Christian influence in the school, but that it is not forced upon any boy; also that the Chinese classics and history are regularly studied. Too many Chinese to-day are endeavoring to cast away entirely their ancient civilization, to replace it with but a smattering knowledge of Western ideas and ideals. The dormitories and classrooms are crowded, but the boys are doubtless better off as regards both their health and studies than they would be at home.

In fact I was greatly interested and pleased with the whole institution. Situated in one of the richest provinces in China, which has an area of 83,380 square miles and a population of 22,000,000, there is ample room for good constructive work, where so little is now being done. That Ya-li is able to and is doing good work is proved by the popularity of the school, which has gone unharmed through several riots in an intensely anti-foreign province, by the fact that the foreign staff of the institution is highly regarded by both Chinese and foreign residents of Changsha and wherever else it is known, and by the fact that the Governor of the Province has personally contributed to the support of the institution. The aim of the Yale founders, "to express the spirit of Christian brotherhood, and to help a sister nation in this transition period of her history," undoubtedly is being fulfilled.—Yale Alumni Weekly, September, 1913.

MARK TWAIN

BY

JOSEPH HOPKINS TWICHELL.

When, in 1888, Yale College conferred on Mark Twain the honorary degree of Master of Arts, he expressed, in his speech accepting it, in the most positive terms, his sense of his disadvantage without remedy, in having been denied the opportunity of a classical training in his youth. Some of those who knew him best felt that he was capable of literary productions in other lines than those in which he wrought, that if less popular, would more amply have exhibited the higher range of his powers as a cultivated, thinking man.

Had he not, indeed, begun with "managing" (as a certain prominent journalist expressed it) "to tickle the midriff of the English-speaking races," and so made it an inexorable and fated thing, as it were, by the compulsory force of public expectation, that his permanent, principal rôle should be that of humorist, there is no telling what he might not have done. The consideration, however, of what was thus possibly missed will scarcely produce widespread grief. In his case, authorship sought the man and not the man authorship, nor was it any wonder that he was somewhat difficult to persuade of his vocation. His qualification for it, in the ordinary rule of reckoning, was small, as he perfectly well knew. He was not what was called an educated man, he had no regular literary culture in the received meaning. His acquaintance with books was limited. The extraordinary grip on the English language exhibited in his earliest writings must be chiefly accounted for as due to his extraordinary talent. His sole training in the use of the pen was such as he had acquired in five or six years of intermittent newspaper service, mostly as reporter. Up to the time he turned his face eastward, the sole attempts at composition were the

This was taken before I reformed But it was accurate
Y^{rs} truly Mark Twain
Aug. 22/02

1

2

•

few pieces gathered into his first book, a thin volume, entitled "The Jumping Frog and Other Sketches," two or three lectures, and his letters, as press correspondent from the Sandwich Islands and on the noted "Quaker City Excursion." His letters, to be sure, had disclosed his powers and obtained recognition of them to such a degree as to satisfy a sagacious Yankee publisher, the late Elisha Bliss, President of the American Publishing Company of Hartford, of a probable market for them if made into a book; and an overture for the right to put them to that use was addressed to their writer, immediately upon his return to this country.

A fortunate conjecture to all concerned it proved. Within three years after its issue in 1869, "The Innocents Abroad" had a sale of 125,000 copies, and it continues saleable to this day. Yet to Mark Twain it seemed, and quite naturally, that he was an author in the case by chance, as it were, and that it was unlikely that his name would ever appear on another title-page. No more books, at all events, were then in sight for him. But his genius was in him, and copious material, of which he was unconscious, lay stored and ripening in his big fertile brain, waiting to be produced in due season.

Falling in with me one day on the street,—in 1880, I think it was,—he informed me rather excitedly that he had received a letter from Mr. Osgood of the Atlantic Monthly, asking him to contribute a series of articles to that magazine. "I want to do it," he said, "ever so much, because the invitation is a huge compliment; but I can't think of anything in the world to write about. No faintest idea has come to me. I believe I'm through." Now it happened but an evening or two before that he had, at my fireside, fallen into reminiscent talk of his old pilot days; and kindling with the theme as he proceeded, had gone on and on in his own unapproachable style, vivid, picturesque, eloquent, dramatic, till far into the night, the captivated listeners completely under his spell and like himself oblivious of the flight of time. Never, they thought, had they ever heard anything so fascinating. I told a lady who had been one of that fireside audience about the Atlantic Monthly matter, and what Mark had said of it. To which she immediately replied, "Why doesn't he write up his steamboat days and work in all the things he told us the other evening? When I reported this to him he only stared.

But of that hint came his book, "Life on the Mississippi," which, for one feature, contains a description of the Father of Waters that for beauty and splendor, and deep feeling of nature in some of her rarer aspects and most bewitching moods, has been pronounced by competent critics unsurpassed. It appeared, though, to have been to him the first suggestion that his pilot life, so rich in elements both of comedy and tragedy, could be turned to literary use.

His lack of educational training for a literary career was a deficiency which, as the years passed, he applied himself with constant, utmost diligence to repair. He was always an eager, industrious reader and student. He acquired a knowledge of the French and German languages, both of which he could read with facility. His favorite poet was Browning, of whose verse he was a notably skilled interpreter. But the subject in which he was interested above all others was history, preëminently that of England and France in the Middle Ages. In those fields, he was an indefatigable,—it is not too much to say, an exhaustive—reader, while by grace of a rarely tenacious memory, his learning was remarkably at hand and accessible. Hardly ever was an event of importance in their annals mentioned in his presence that he could not at once supply the date of it.

The phase of times remote that peculiarly fascinated his interest was the social. Books like Pepys' Diary, that afford the means of looking narrowly and with human sympathy into the life and manners of generations, far by-gone, had a special charm to him. Of the kindling of his historic imagination from such sources, "The Prince and the Pauper," "A Yankee at King Arthur's Court," "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc," none of which could have possibly been written until he was well advanced in life, are evidence.

Great, as in the circumstances, was the merit of his attainment, as illustrated, it was to his credit that his own estimate of it was more than modest. He did not in the least share the slighting regard of the learning of the School which so-called self-made men are prone to.

What the preparation of "A Tramp Abroad" involved may be cited as an example of the unstinted painstaking with which his work was done. The first draught of the book had been begun at Heidelberg and completed at Munich the year before. It had then cost him an immense deal of trouble to get it into satisfactory shape. What of it he wrote at Heidelberg, he thought so little of that he was almost of a mind to give it up altogether, and was inclined to congratulate himself on having lost a note-book that would be indispensable to his going on with it. Speaking of this in a letter I had from him after he had, at Munich, resumed the struggle, he said: "When it was first lost (i. e. the note-book) I was glad of it, for I was getting an idea that I had lost my faculty of writing sketches of travel; . . . and I was about to write my publisher and propose some other book when the confounded thing turned up and down went my heart into my boots. But there was now no excuse, so I went rapidly to work; tore up a great part of the MS., written in Heidelberg,—wrote and tore up—continued to write and tear up and at last—reward of patient and noble persistence,—my pen got the old swing again, I think I can make a book that will be no dead corpse of a thing, and I mean to do my level best to accomplish that."

Nowhere else did he more happily show his best qualities as a writer than in things struck off in the careless ease and freedom of private correspondence—which I might abundantly verify did space permit; but for a specimen, I may quote an extract from a letter he wrote to me from New Zealand in 1895: "Here," he says, "we have the smooth and placid sea at our door, with nothing between us and it but twenty yards of shingle, and hardly a suggestion of life in that space to mar it or make a noise. Away down here, fifty-five degrees South of the equator, this sea seems to murmur in an unfamiliar tongue—a foreign tongue—bred among the ice-fields of the Antarctic—a murmur with a note of melancholy in it, proper to the vast, unvisited solitudes it has come from. It was very delicious to wake in the night and find it still pulsing there."

But to pass abruptly to quite another topic; among Mark Twain's personal traits was that of an extraordinarily tender feeling for all dumb animals. In the human direction, he was not, it must be owned, of an invariably gentle spirit. There, he was not lacking in antipathy, and animosities even.

One afternoon as we were toiling up the long ascent above Zermatt from the Riffel Inn to the Gorner Grat, during a brief halt we made for rest, a lamb from a flock of sheep near by ventured inquisitively toward us; whereupon Mark seated himself upon a rock, and with beckoning hand and soft words, tried to get it to come to him. On the lamb's part, it was a struggle between curiosity and timidity; but in a succession of advances and retreats, it gained in confidence though at a very gradual rate. It was a scene for a painter,—the Great American Humorist on one side of the game, and the silly little creature on the other with the Matterhorn for a background. Mark was reminded that the time he was consuming in that diversion was valuable—but to no purpose. The Gorner Grat could wait. He kept on with undiscouraged persistence till he carried his point. The lamb finally put its nose into his hand; and Mark was happy over it all the rest of the day.

ALMER NEWHALL.

RALPH NESMITH.

OGDEN AND FOSTER.

CLASS BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

LUTHER ANDERSON.

Special Correspondent of The Chicago Daily News, Peking, China, since 1911.

THEODORE ANDREWS.

Regular Contributor to the Carolina Churchman.

HUGH ARCHBOLD.

Assistant Editor, Mines and Minerals, and contributor to Colliery Engineer and Coal Age.

G. S. ARNOLD.

The Case of the Free Church of Scotland, John Addison Porter Prize, 1905.

Water-Power Development on the Public Domain, American Conservation, I, No. 6, July, 1911.

The Lake Tahoe Controversy, California Outlook, 1912.

Editorials in various magazines (unsigned).

WILLIAM BROWN ARVINE.

Hang-up Philosophy, And Other Poems, The Poet Lore Co., Boston, 1911.

BURTON JOHN BALDWIN.

Decay of the New England Parish, dissertation written for attainment of Ph.D. degree at Columbia (nearing completion).

Editorial work, with Prof. F. H. Giddings on forthcoming Encyclopedia of the History of Civilization.

A Study of Part Time School Children, New York Evening Post.

JOSEPH LEWIS BENDELL.

On the Occurrence of so-called Henock's Purpura with report of a Case, Medical Record, November 11, 1911.

The Malignant Renal Tumors of Congenital Origin Occurring in Childhood, with report of two cases, Albany Medical Annals, March, 1912.

Bone Plating in Irreducible Fracture of the Clavicle, Annals of Surgery, December, 1912.

Longitudinal, Fissural Fracture of the Lower End of the Radius, Journal of the American Medical Association. (In Press.)

A Consideration of Two Cases of Infection with the Colon Bacillus. (In Press.)

Vaccine Therapy in Seminal Vesiculitis of Hematogenous Origin, in collaboration with L. B. Mount, M.D. (In Press.)

Certain Factors of Safety in the Treatment of Fractures, Albany Medical Annals. (In Press.)

Gunshot Wounds of the Abdomen with Report of a Case (in collaboration with E. A. Vander Veer, M.D.), New York State Journal of Medicine, October, 1911.

The Use and Abuse of Certain Drugs in the Treatment of Shock, in its Relation to Emergency Surgery (in collaboration with E. A. Vander Veer, M.D.), American Journal of Surgery, October, 1912.

PEMBERTON BERMAN.

"Occasional lyric prose as to percentage of railroad operating revenues consumed in oiling the engines, and various matters of that ilk."

ALFRED HOYL BILL.

The Wraith and the Statue, Lippincott's Magazine, June, 1912.

AVARD LONGLEY BISHOP.

Physical and Commercial Geography (in collaboration with H. E. Gregory and A. G. Keller), Ginn & Co., Boston, 1910.

Commercial and Industrial Geography (in collaboration with A. G. Keller), Ginn & Co., Boston, 1912.

Why Canada Rejected Reciprocity, Yale Review, January, 1912.

The Development of Wheat Production in Canada, Bulletin, American Geographical Society, January, 1912.

The Hudson Bay Route, American Political Science Review, April, 1912.

Governmental Regulation of Insurance in Canada, American Political Science Review, May, 1912.

The High Cost of Living, Yale Review, July, 1913.

ARTHUR GEORGE BLAISDELL.

Managing Editor, Pease & Elliman's Real Estate Indicator, issued fortnightly in New York City.

EDWARD HERBERT CAMERON.

The Poggendorf Illusion, Yale Psychological Studies, New Series, Vol. I.

Tonal Reactions, Yale Psychological Studies, New Series, Vol. II.

Wissenschaftliche Pädagogik in Amerika, Zeitschrift für experimentelle Pädagogik, Vol. X.

CARL MATTISON CHAPIN.

Associate Editor, Waterbury American.

Much magazine fiction, during past two years; including many stories based on fire department affairs, as Geordie Griggsby's Firebug, Saturday Evening Post, May 18, 1912.

ELIOT ROUND CLARK.

Observations on Living Growing Lymphatics in the Tail of the Frog Larva, Anatomical Record, Vol. III, 1909.

An Examination of the Methods used in the Study of the Lymphatic System, Anatomical Record, Vol. V, 1911.

Observations on the Earliest Lymphatics in the Region of the Posterior Lymph. Heart in Living Chick Embryos (In collaboration with Eleanor Linton Clark), Anatomical Record, Vol. III, 1912.

Further Observations on Living Growing Lymphatics in the Tail of the Frog Larva. Their Relation to the Mesenchyme. American Journal of Anatomy. Vol. XIII, 1912.

HARRY HENDERSON CLARK.

Pamphlets, maps, charts, etc., compiled for purpose of arousing Tennessee school sentiment. In past four years he has delivered over two hundred addresses, many of which have been published. Also newspaper articles on educational subjects.

ALLEN THOMAS CLEMENT.

Newspaper articles pertaining to finance.

LOUIS GARFIELD COLEMAN.

Essays in Illinois State Journal.

PHILIP KING CONDUCT.

A Visit to Yale in China. Yale Alumni Weekly, September 26, 1913.

ERASTUS CORNING.

1903 Fence Oration. In Memories of 1904 at Yale. Printed for G. Elton Parks, Yale University Press, 1913.

DONALD JOHN COWLING.

Our Forefathers and Education (an address), Carleton College Bulletin, Vol. VI, No. 2, December, 1909.

Education and Character (an address), Carleton College Bulletin, Vol. VII, No. 2, February, 1911.

EARLE ROSMAN CROWE.

Eastern Manager, The A. W. Shaw Co., publishers of System, Factory, etc.

CHARLES ORRIN DAY.

Editor, Catalogue of Boylston Medical Society, Merrymount Press, Boston, 1907.

Compiled the History of the Boylston Medical Society, as chairman publication committee.

EDWARD JOSIAH FAILING.

Regular Correspondence in Iron Age Hardware since 1906. Occasional letters to other trade publications.

J. IRVING FOWLER.

Secretary of the Glens Falls (N. Y.) Post Co., publishers of a daily morning newspaper.

ALAN FOX.

Compensation for Accidental Injuries to Workingmen. The World of To-day, October, 1906.

WILLIAM FREW.

A Golfing Pilgrimage, Golf, January, 1912.

GEORGE BURTON GILBERT.

Immunity in Tuberculosis. Its Production in Children and Monkeys (in collaboration with G. B. Webb, W. W. Williams and A. M. Forster), Journal of the American Medical Association, LVII, 1431, 1911.

Vaccine Therapy (in collaboration with G. and G. B. Webb), Colorado Medicine, February and April, 1911.

Unusual Idiosyncrasy to Aspirin, Journal of the American Medical Association, April 29, 1911.

The Specific Tissue Inoculation of Vaccines (in collaboration with G. B. Webb), Transactions of the Seventh Annual Meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 1912.

Immunity in Tuberculosis by Inoculation of Living Tubercle Bacilli (in collaboration with G. B. Webb), Colorado Medicine, March, 1912.

EDWARD LATHROP GILLESPIE.

With Gillespie Bros., Inc., publishers, Stamford, Conn., and Advertising Manager of the Daily Advocate.

IRVINE GODDARD.

Sonnet to Keats, Yale Verse, 1898-1908, Yale Publishing Association. Reviews of various books, for the New York Churchman.

ROBERT ANDREWS GRANNISS, JR.

Vice President, Pease & Elliman's Real Estate Indicator, issued fortnightly in New York City.

HENRY FARRAND GRIFFIN.

On the staff of New York Evening Sun, 1909-1912. Various magazine articles, The Outlook, World's Work, etc.

JOHN GEORGE HAAS, JR.

The Corporation Manual, U. S. Corporation Co., 1912 (a compilation of the statute laws of all the states, with particular reference to business corporations, edited by John S. Parker of the New York Bar).

CHAUNCEY JEROME HAMLIN.

Editor of the Buffalo Progressive, a weekly published in Buffalo, N. Y., in the interests of the Progressive Party.

*ALBERT HILEMAN.

Prof. Gooch's Methods in Chemical Analysis (the only member of 1903 whose name appears in the Author's Index), John Wiley & Sons, 1912.

HARRY OLIVER HOPSTEAD.

Occasional sermons to newspapers.

HENRY JAMES.

Reversal of the Cardiac Mechanism (in collaboration with H. B. Williams), Proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, October 18 and December 16, 1912.

DONALD KENT JOHNSTON.

Published, 1906-1913, a monthly magazine, The Portal, in Logan, Utah, devoted to "reasonable religious thought and enlightened progress" (in collaboration with Rev. Paul Jones, 1902).

FRANKLIN ALLEN JOHNSTON.

Publisher of the American Exporter, since 1907. Has contributed to various trade and advertising publications, on export trade; some of these had previously been delivered as addresses before commercial organizations.

JOSHUA HENRY JONES, JR.

Assistant City Editor, Boston Daily Advertiser-Record since 1910. Random verse published in Providence Journal, Boston Herald, Boston Advertiser and other similar publications.

DANIEL EDWARDS KENNEDY.

Golf in Sapphira's Days, printed at The Queen's Shop, Chestnut Hill, Mass., Little, Brown & Co., 1910, Boston.

FRANCIS STANLEY KENT.

Occasional letters to local newspapers on current issues (Seattle, Wash.).

LUCIAN SWIFT KIRTLAND.

Managing Editor of The Housekeeper, until January, 1911.

GEORGE SIDNEY LEACH.

An occasional letter to the newspapers and to various religious publications. One communication appeared in the Yale Alumni Weekly.

DUDLEY PAYNE LEWIS.

The Spirit of Yale, The Candle Stick Magazine, 1911.
Mark Twain and King Edward, The Springfield Republican, and various contributions to the Yale Alumni Weekly.

PAUL LINDENBERG.

Business articles for trade papers, circulars, etc.

CAMERON MACKENZIE.

Treasurer and General Manager of the S. S. McClure Company, 1909. September 1911, Treasurer of The McClure Publications, Inc., which includes The Ladies' World, The Housekeeper and the book business allied with McClure's.

ELMER BROWN MASON.

Flaherty—Road Monkey, Hampton's Magazine, April, 1911, illustrated by C. D. Hutchinson.

HARVEY CHILDS MCCLINTOCK.

Mutuality of Obligation and Remedy as a Requisite to Equitable Relief, University of Pennsylvania Law Review, October, 1909.

ROBERT RUTHERFORD McCORMICK.

Treasurer of The Chicago Tribune since 1909. Writer of many of its editorials. Edited A Concise History of the National Republican Convention of 1912, The Federal Press, Chicago, 1912.

CHARLES ARTHUR MOORE, JR.

Siege of Scutari, Yale Review, April, 1913.

AUGUSTUS KOUNTZE OLIVER.

Secretary of the Pittsburgh Gazette Times and Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph. (In charge of advertising departments.)

OSCAR COLUMBUS PAYNE.

Associate Editor of Farm and Ranch, an illustrated standard home and farm paper. (Dallas, Tex.)

BYRON AINSWORTH PIERCE.

Annual catalogue of jewelry; his "magnum opus."

HOWARD ALBERT PLUMMER.

Let Us Alone, poem, New York Sun, 1908.

ROLAND GEORGE DWIGHT RICHARDSON.

Theorems of Oscillation for two linear differential equations of the second order with two parameters, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 1912.

Note on Determinants whose terms are certain Integrals (in collaboration with W. A. Hurwitz), Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, 1909.

On the Saddlepoint in the Theory of Maxima and Minima and in the Calculus of Variations, Bulletin of the Calculus of Variations, Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, 1911.

Das Jacobische Kriterium der Variationsrechnung und die Oszillationseigenschaften linearer Differentialgleichungen 2. Ordnung, in Mathematische Annalen (Leipzig) Erste Mitteilung, 1910; zweite Mitteilung, 1911.

Über die notwendigen und hinreichenden Bedingungen für das Bestehen eines Kleinschen Oszillationstheorems. Mathematische Annalen, 1913, etc., etc.

ZIEGLER SARGENT.

History of the Class of 1903, Yale College (Sexennial), pp. 227, Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor Co., New Haven, 1909.

LEWIS ALBERT SAYRE.

With New York Times, January to July, 1912.

ROBERT SENECA SMITH.

The Child and His Bible (pamphlet), Montclair (N. J.) Times Co., 1910.

A Graded Sunday School (pamphlet), Montclair (N. J.) Times Co., 1911.

LEVINGS HOOKER SOMERS.

Business publications of the Adirondack-Florida School. Now (1913) engaged in compiling decennial record of the school.

FREDERICK RANDOLPH STAUFFER.

Editor and Publisher (in collaboration with Wellington M. Berboldt, '04) of the Berks County Law Journal, the weekly legal periodical for the county, since October, 1908. It reports the opinions of the Judges of Berks County, Pa. Four (annual) volumes have already been published.

JOHN MCALLISTER STEVENSON.

Annual Class Poem (New York Dinners).

RALPH GRIFFITHS STILLMAN.

A Study of the Technic of the Cammidge Reaction and of the Substance Giving Rise to the So-called Typical Crystals (in collaboration with J. C. Roper), Archives of Internal Medicine, February, 1911.

A Pneumographic Study of Respiratory Irregularities in Meningitis (in collaboration with Lewis A. Conner, '87 S.), Archives of Internal Medicine, February, 1912.

PAUL BAILEY SWEET.

Purchasing Agent, 1910-1912, of The Curtis Publishing Co., of Philadelphia.

WILLIAM KENNEY TERRIBERRY.

A Case of Anaphylaxis (in collaboration with Dr. William S. Thomas of New York), translated and published abroad, 1910.

JOSEPH BROWN THOMAS.

Borzoi, Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1912.

Various magazine articles.

HERMAN JUSTUS THORSTENBERG

Historical Sketch of the Lutheran Church in America, in History of Civilization in America, Trevelyan Miller, editor-in-chief. (In Press.)

Short articles for local papers and college periodicals (Atchison, Kans.).

DAVID BENJAMIN UPDEGRAFF.

Some of his sermons have been put into printed form.

ERNEST SHELTON VAN TASSEL.

Correspondent in Bermuda, three winters, for the New York Times, Philadelphia Record, Pittsburgh Despatch and dailies in Chicago, Montreal, etc., and for the weekly, Town and Country.

AXEL EBENEZER VESTLING.

Kinderträuen, Zwei Erzählungen, von Ernst von Wildenbruch, edited with introductory notes, exercises and vocabulary for Henry Holt & Co., 1911.

Note on Das und Was, Modern Philology, Vol. IX, No. 2, October, 1911.

RAYMOND WILLIAM WALKER.

My Bess (set to music), Luckhardt and Belder, New York City, 1908.

Poems in "Cap and Gown," L. C. Page & Co., Boston.

WALTER BERTRAND WALKER.

Amendments to the New York Stock Corporation Law, The Upholsterer, fall of 1912.

WALTER FRANKLIN WALLACE.

Manager of the Wallace Press, printers and binders, Chicago, Ill.

ARTHUR ALLEN WARD.

Edited a weekly Christian newspaper, The Morning Star, 1909-1912, in Tellippalai, in northern Ceylon. His lecture, "Theodore Roosevelt," delivered before the educated portion among whom he has carried on his missionary work, was published in the Jaffna College Miscellany, Jaffna College.

FREEMAN WARD.

On the Light House Granite near New Haven, Connecticut, American Journal of Science, Vol. XXVIII, p. 131, August, 1909.

Calamine Crystals from the Organ Mts. Donna Anna Co., N. M. (in collaboration with W. E. Ford), American Journal of Science, Vol. XXVIII, p. 185, August, 1909.

On a Brookite Crystal from Companhia, Lençoes, Bahia, Brazil (in collaboration with W. E. Ford), American Journal of Science, Vol. XXXII, p. 220, October, 1911.

Book Reviews; The Conservation of Natural Resources, by C. R. Van Hise, Yale Scientific Monthly, Vol. XVII, No. 3, p. 142, December 1910.

The Gabbros and Associated Rocks at Preston, Conn., by G. E. Loughlin, American Journal of Science, Vol. XXXIV, p. 306, 1912.

BRADFORD WEBSTER.

Associate Editor, Seymour's Kentucky Annotations, Third Edition, 1911, Fourth Edition, 1912, including constitution, statutes and codes, pp. 850, The Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

The Nature of Invention, pamphlet, 1910.

Universal Business System, Webster Loose-Leaf Filing Co., 1913.

GEORGE UNANGST WENNER.

Validity of Sales under a Satisfied Judgment, Bancroft-Whitney Co., A. S. R., Vol. 137, 1911.

GEORGE EDWARD WOODBINE.

A Middle English Poem. Modern Language Review, January, 1909.

On the Dating of the Statute of Merton in Bracton, Law Quarterly Review, April, 1910.

Four Thirteenth Century Law Tracts, Yale University Press, 1910.

Bracton's De Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliae. (First volume, new edition, in press.)

1. The first part of the document is a list of the names of the persons who have been appointed to the various offices of the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

With best wishes
Wm. H. Crane
May 23rd '13.

To the Rev. Dr. Yale -
In affectionate remembrance,
Anna Abel - 1893.

J. H. W. W. W.
April 22nd '98

MAUDE ADAMS AND JOSEPH JEFFERSON

BY

WILLIAM H. CRANE.

It is a welcome opportunity that my friend, your Class Secretary, offers to pay tribute to 1903's favorite actor and actress.

First of all I sincerely congratulate the Class upon its choice of Maude Adams and Joseph Jefferson. Your discrimination reveals at once why the Class of 1903 was a large factor in the success of the Yale Dramatic Association.

I take it that you would like to have a word or two from me regarding the personalities of your favorites of the American stage. Having known Maude Adams the greater part of her life, it must impress itself upon anyone that whenever so gracious and sincere an artiste is thus honored, the compliment extends to the profession which she has brightened by her presence in its ranks.

My earliest introduction to your favorite actress was in the West when theatrical conditions were much cruder on the other side of the continental divide than they are now. Maude Adams at our first meeting was bundled up snugly in her mother's arms, and her elocutionary efforts consisted of semi-syllabic gutturals, made perfectly clear by that whimsical smile and facial epitomization of ineffectuality which have increased her fame in all the after years. We seemed to understand each other instantly. It is a way Maude Adams has. Everybody seems to understand her. From that day I have watched her come forward in her calling. She is a child of the theatre, was born to it, has struggled in it all her life, loves it with that love which has been a force in her achievements, and so it is not strange that success has crowned her work and honors have been strewn along her path.

Miss Adams has been such a painstaking actress, and has woven her innermost personality so effectually into her many delightful stage portraits, that she has created a distinctive line of parts. Who could possibly imagine anyone but Maude Adams in a Maude Adams rôle? The Class of '03 needs no answer to that question. In several classical revivals, and in such fanciful and poetic works as "L'Aiglon," we have seen that Maude Adams can do bigger things and give a good account of herself as a creative artist. But it is in those intimate and personal characters, that we call Maude Adams women, she has won our admiration and our esteem.

Joseph Jefferson was one of the great men of the American stage. When a history of our drama is written, it will be shown that Mr. Jefferson filled his niche. His deeds are of record and you men who nominated him your favorite need not be told anything of that side of his career.

There was another side of Joseph Jefferson, unknown to all but a very few intimate friends. This was his fine philosophy and quaint humor. Had he gone in for letters he would have been regarded as one of the wits of his generation.

One summer, while spending a vacation with Mr. Jefferson at Buzzard's Bay, I recall that the house party was composed of Grover Cleveland, Richard Watson Gilder, Clarke Davis and one or two other congenial friends who might drop in occasionally. Mr. Cleveland remarked that summer that the best way to get to know a man was to go fishing with him. I count it a privilege to say that I have fished often with Joseph Jefferson. He was a staunch friend, his study and travel had led him into the understandable and big world, and gave him a humane viewpoint.

A man can generally be judged by the company he keeps. Mr. Jefferson drew about him men who have weighed big in the world. It was a fine picture to encounter such a quartette as Grover Cleveland, Richard Watson Gilder, Clarke Davis and Joseph Jefferson, seated about a camp fire in the evening and see the then President of the United States, a poet and a newspaper publisher listening intently to the quaint views of Joseph Jefferson upon many of the topics of the day. Mr. Jefferson could express himself forcefully and beautifully at the same time. He was so broad and so human in his view of things and so sincere, but he had the art of concealing his sincerity beneath the glow of a ready wit and mellow humor.

It was a great pleasure to have known him. I enjoyed his companionship for nearly fifty years. You honor your Class in honoring him as you have.

Professor John M. Berdan, '96, Chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Dramatic Association, sends this message: "All Yale men are indebted to Miss Adams for her wonderful generosity in presenting, April 19, 1909, in New Haven, 'What Every Woman Knows,' for the benefit of the Yale Dramatic Association Theatre Fund. Two thousand dollars proceeds were netted, and of the $16,379.59, the total amount so far raised for this proposed theatre, the gift of Miss Adams makes her the largest single contributor. Such a theatre, to be used as a legitimate branch of instruction here at Yale, will make it possible to try out new plays without great financial loss. The Dramatic Association is not a pretty by-product of the work at Yale. It is a legitimate branch of instruction.

Even with our $16,000.000, the theatre is a long way off. The Class of 1903, while undergraduates, put the Dramatic Association on its feet; its production of the Critic was the first great success, and the performance of Mr. Corning as Puff has become traditionary. Why cannot the Class continue its support? We need money and we need brains. Any contribution, however small, to the theatre fund, will be most gratefully received, and any suggestion or criticism on the choice of play or performance most gratefully acknowledged."

PROFESSOR TAFT AT YALE, OR THE RETURN OF THE NATIVE

BY

WILLIAM LYON PHELPS.

On Tuesday, April 1, 1913, there was a tremendous commotion at that palace of art known as the New Haven Railway Station. Three thousand young men, students at Yale University, were awaiting the arrival of a train from New York. The train pulled in and there stepped from the platform the ex-President of the United States, William Howard Taft, of the Class of 1878. Mr. Taft entered an automobile, and the procession of students, led by all the men who had attained honors in athletics, and accompanied by a big brass band, marched through the principal streets of the city and debouched at the open space in the University Campus, enclosed on three sides by the Dining Hall, Woolsey Hall, and the Memorial Vestibule. After a few minutes the doors leading to a balcony above were opened. President and Mrs. Taft, Secretary Stokes, Dean Jones of the College and Dean Rogers of the Law School, appeared. It was an inspiring sight to see the thousands of youthful faces all looking up in one direction toward the man who had been President of the United States and who had come back to do service for the college he loved. Professor Taft spoke with deep feeling and with that sincerity, simplicity, and charm that are characteristic of the man. He spoke of his pleasure in returning to Yale, of the happy prospect before him, and of his delight in being able to teach young men the fundamental truths about the Constitution of our country. At the conclusion of his speech the vast audience sang the finest of all college hymns, "Bright College Years." This greeting to Professor Taft was something no witness of it will ever forget. It was profoundly

Copyright by Harris & Ewing

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

With best wishes
for a successful
Decennial Meeting of the Class of 1903
Aug 20th 1913 Jm Wilson

THE HEAD OF THE PROCESSION.

IN THE PROCESSION, Professor Taft, Dean Jones, Dean Rogers and Secretary Stokes.

affecting, and I am sure that I was not the only one who had tears in his eyes and a lump in his throat.

William Howard Taft was elected professor in Yale College before he gave up his duties as President of the United States, and at the first meeting of the faculty, which occurred on the very afternoon of his arrival in New Haven, Dean Jones welcomed him in these words: "Professor Taft, we all welcome you to the faculty of Yale College, an institution many years older than the United States of America." Professor Taft responded in a few words of appreciation and then sat down. He had some difficulty in sitting down, some difficulty in arising, as no chair in the room was of convenient size for his massive proportions. A happy thought was speedily followed by action, and from the basement the private chair of Policeman Jim Donnelly was raised aloft in the elevator and placed in the faculty room. Jim Donnelly is not fashioned in a panetela shape and while the new professor did not exactly rattle around in Jim's chair, he found it abundantly large. By a curious chance the back of Jim's chair is covered with huge antlers, and inextinguishable laughter did arise among the blessed gods as they realized that Professor Taft was sitting in a Bull Moose receptacle.

During the spring term Professor Taft gave regular lectures on Mondays and Fridays at five o'clock, and although the afternoons of May are prized by undergraduates chiefly for their out-of-door allurements, the great hall of Lampson Lyceum was packed and thronged at every lecture, and the professor's words were followed with the closest attention and with the utmost enthusiasm. For the next year Professor Taft's course in constitutional law, open to Seniors in the Academic Department, has been elected by 150 students. The students are fortunate in being able to listen twice a week to a man whose life has been part of the history of America for so many years, to a man who represents the very best of Yale traditions, simple manliness and a love of service; to a man who is sincere, honest, unselfish, a scholar and a gentleman.

Although Professor Taft was called to the Academic Department and is Kent Professor of Law in the Academic Department, and a member of the Academic Faculty, he has also consented to give a course in law in the Yale Law School next year so that the professional students may have the benefit of his legal learning and wise counsel. But he came to Yale mainly to teach the Senior Class of the College, to give them so far as he could respect for government, law and order. Professor Taft therefore must be reckoned with as a great conservative force, and his teaching will undoubtedly produce salutary results in the minds of his young pupils.

Professor Taft is very happy in New Haven, in his relations with the faculty and in his relations with the students. Last Christmas I spent two days at Cornell University and there I had a delightful conversation with Andrew D. White, Yale '53, ex-President of Cornell University, a famous scholar and diplomat. I asked him what he thought about Mr. Taft's prospects for happiness at Yale, and Dr. White replied: "In New Haven Mr. Taft will be happy as the day is long." Thus far this prophecy seems to have been literally fulfilled. The new professor, relieved from political burdens, is living in a quiet town, in the atmosphere of a great university, among those who love him and believe in him. It is a tremendous thing for Yale to have such a man on her faculty, and the citizens of New Haven are just as proud of him as are the students. He has already taken part in many civic functions and is of course our foremost citizen. I hope it is not impertinent to add that Mrs. Taft has been just as heartily welcomed in New Haven society as Mr. Taft has been by the students of the university. All New Haven is pleased to have such a man and such a woman as residents of the old town.

UNDERGRADUATES LISTENING TO PROFESSOR TAIT'S YALE INAUGURAL, APRIL 1, 1913.

A MESSAGE FROM CHINA

BY

LUTHER ANDERSON.

When I came to China, six years ago, I began to devote myself to the study of the political and economic conditions of the Far East. I was prompted to work along these lines by a desire to gather information which might be useful to my country. I have always believed that America's greatest opportunities for trade would be found in those countries which border on the Pacific. My work here, first as Professor in the Imperial University of Peking and later as Special Correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, has given me unique opportunities to study conditions here and has enabled me to gauge, in a measure at least, America's position in the field of international politics. The net result of my investigations has been that America has very little prestige in the Far East compared with that of other world powers, that our trade with China, the greatest undeveloped market in the world, is on the decline, and that unless we as a nation bestir ourselves we will ere long cease to be a power on the Pacific.

A few years ago our statesmen indulged in a great deal of bombast with reference to the Far East. They spoke of "dominating the Pacific," "preserving the integrity of China," "guaranteeing the Open Door Policy," etc. What we have actually accomplished along these lines has been so insignificant that it is now up to us to prove to the world that we have not been bluffing.

The cold truth of the matter is that America, in spite of her great wealth and boundless resources, has very little prestige in this part of the world. We are not seizing or even preparing ourselves to seize the great opportunities which lie before us. We are not securing a trade at all commensurate to our resources and are not exercising that influence for international justice and fair play which our statesmen have so often proclaimed to be the chief end and aim of our diplomacy. We have said to the world that we do not desire the partition of China and yet we have not been able even to protest against the intrigues of Russia which have recently culminated in the severance of Northern Mongolia from China. Some time ago England forbade China to send troops to Tibet or to take any action which would tend to make that country a province of China. This move on the part of Great Britain resulted in the severance of Tibet from China. We did not protest and we will not protest for the simple reason that we are not strong enough to make such a protest respected. We have loudly proclaimed the Open Door Principle, but the nations which are our rivals for the trade of China have ignored this policy and have staked out vast regions of China as their exclusive spheres of influence. In these regions they monopolize the trade for their respective nationals. In 1910 an American syndicate secured a concession from the Chinese government to build a railroad in Manchuria, but all efforts to build this road were successfully blocked by the Russians and the Japanese, who came forward and claimed Manchuria as their exclusive sphere of influence. Japan and Russia own and operate the railroads of Manchuria and are thus able to control the trade of this vast region. It is evident that they mean to retain the monopoly which they have acquired.

In the same way we are being shut out, at least as far as big projects are concerned, from every part of China excepting the Yangtze valley. Russia keeps us out of Mongolia and Northern Manchuria. Japan does the same in South Manchuria. England has reserved Kwangtung and Tibet to be developed exclusively by her nationals. France has reserved Yunnan to be developed by French capital while Germany controls the economic development of Shangtung. Save for the central part of China, where all nations have the same opportunities as we have, the Open Door Policy has become a fiction.

The reason for the decline of America's trade and prestige in the Far East is simply that we have tried to play the part of a first-class power without having the military strength of even a third-rate power. True, nations do not often fight for markets, but unless they are strong enough to back up their pretensions to a share in the great world markets they are simply shut out of them by those nations that are stronger. If we had maintained an army in any way proportionate to our national strength and dignity, our rivals would not have ventured thus ruthlessly to override our rights.

I spent the summer of 1910 in Japan. What impressed me most in that wonderful country was the remarkable patriotism of the people and their willingness to make any sacrifices in order to make their country great and powerful. Japan is truly a nation in arms, a nation where every man is a trained soldier. The thoroughness of their preparations for war contrasts strongly with American laxness in this respect. Anyone who journeys through Japan must be impressed by the efficiency of Japan in everything pertaining to military science. It is very evident that they have a fixed determination to maintain their position as the paramount power on the Pacific.

During the six years of my residence in the Far East I have become thoroughly convinced that national prestige depends more than anything else on military strength. I have also become convinced that a strong army and a strong navy are absolutely essential to any country aspiring to a place in the councils of nations. Unless pretensions to international trade and influence are backed up by military power they will be either disregarded or trampled under foot. Without the backing of military strength no nation can secure its just share of the world's trade or of anything else.

The average American is convinced that he can whip his weight in wild-cats. He is undoubtedly justified in this belief, but he errs greatly when he fancies that this fighting spirit gives his country a margin of strength which justifies it in maintaining an army so small that it can only be called a garrison. It is a well known fact that in case of war America could put in the field only 30,000 trained men, the rest of our small army being needed for garrison duty. Such limited forces are obviously inadequate for the needs of a great nation like ours. For us to rely on a fancied physical and mental superiority over other nations is sheer stupidity. We have, to be sure, a good school system and the average intelligence of our people is high, but we should remember that there are other nations which have school systems as good as ours and even better. Because of our high average intelligence we can, to be sure, train volunteers if time be given us. But wars nowadays are fought and finished so quickly that there is not time to train volunteers. To postpone the training of our armies until after war has been declared is dangerous and foolhardy.

As for our navy, a two-battleship programme is absolutely essential if we are to keep pace with Japan or any other nation with aspirations to a place in the councils of nations. Battleships are expensive but they are cheaper than war. In peace as well as in war they are powerful arguments when a nation wants to secure its rights. It is well known that the opposition to the two-battleship programme comes mainly from politicians, in and out of Congress, who want to restock the political pork barrel at the expense of the nation's defensive forces. During the last Congress a certain representative circulated a pamphlet in which he showed how many post-offices and other public buildings could be constructed out of money saved by building one battleship instead of two. In order to secure for himself and for his colleagues opportunities for graft, he was willing to weaken the defensive force of his country by one important unit. Such actions deserve the name of treason.

Since my graduation in 1903 I have visited many lands and have once girdled the earth. I have twice traveled from one end of the Russian Empire to the other. I have visited Germany, Sweden, Denmark, France, Holland, and England. I have sojourned in Japan and in Mongolia and have lived six years in China. The greatest lesson I have learned from my travels has been that while America is a great and powerful country, the American people are not so far ahead of other nations in intelligence, wealth, or energy, as is generally supposed. We do things on a big scale but so do other nations and there are some that do them more scientifically. Anyone who has had an opportunity to travel abroad knows that we have many things to learn from other countries. He also knows that we, as a nation, do not possess a margin of physical or intellectual superiority which warrants us in despising other nations or in neglecting our country's defensive forces.

The spirit of Yale is the spirit of service. Every man who goes forth from Yale has caught that spirit and knows that it is his duty to serve God, his fellow men, and his country. Most of the members of the Class of 1903 have found their respective fields of service at home, in America, and have thus been able to participate in those activities which are making our nation great and powerful. Some of us, however, have found our work abroad. Exiled, for a time at least, we have been denied the privilege of participating in the political, economic, and social life of our country. We who have been denied the privilege of serving our country at home, feel that it is our duty to serve it abroad. We cannot do much, but we can at least gather information about foreign countries which may be useful to our country and to our fellow-citizens. It is because of a sense of patriotism and duty that I present to my classmates through this letter the net result of the observations which I have made with reference to America's position as a world power. I appeal to the men of 1903 to do all in their power to eradicate from American hearts that false patriotism which consists in bombastic and chauvinistic assertions of America's superiority over other nations, and to cultivate in its stead that genuine patriotism which enables people to see things as they are and to bend their efforts towards making our nation a great world power.

THE PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENT

BY

CHAUNCEY J. HAMLIN.

In June, 1912, I attended merely as a spectator the Republican National Convention in Chicago. I know this is no place to argue facts or plead a cause. Still I, as a witness of what was really an epoch in the history of this country, cannot refrain from adding my testimony to my classmates' as to what occurred at that convention. Through disenfranchisement of delegates duly elected by the people and the seating in their places of delegates hand-picked by the people's masters, I at that time sincerely believed and still believe that a crime against the underlying principles of our government as serious in its nature as it was malign in its motive was committed. If the result of that Convention was a "triumph for the permanence of Republican Institutions" it is indeed time that the wisdom of the continuance of Republican Institutions be seriously questioned.

On my way home on the train I decided to do all that I could to right the wrong that I had seen perpetrated. From that time everything moved very rapidly. It was not long before the call for a National Convention of the New Party was issued. I prize very highly the fact that I was invited to join with four or five others in signing this call for the State of New York. Shortly after this I resigned as Referee in Bankruptcy.

Later I was selected as Provisional County Chairman of the New Party for Erie County and still later I had the honor of being chosen one of the delegates-at-large for our State to the now famous August Convention of the Progressive Party held in Chicago. While there, by the way, I had the seat occupied by Chauncey M. Depew in June.

Thereafter the time given was only too short to do all the things that crowded to be done. Somehow or other we built up our organization, held our conventions, county and state, nominated our candidates by petition, raised money, held meetings, made speeches and did the thousand and one things that had to be done. Suddenly election day was upon us. When the smoke had cleared away we found ourselves in our county with 26,000 votes, the Republicans with about 19,000 and the normal Democratic vote cut from 40,000 to less than 34,000.

PIERCE AND OSTBY.

MCCLINTOCK AND SUTPHIN.

TYLER, MINOR AND HOLT.

The events during the past year in the State of New York decisively prove the need of the Progressive Party in that State. Who can doubt but that Tammany Hall the next time it nominates a governor will name one that will stand hitched, and who can doubt but that William Barnes, Jr., who is still in control of the destinies of the Republican Party in our State, and who is as vigorously opposed to direct primaries as Mr. Murphy, will do the same. It seems to many of us that the only chance for a real clean-up is through the Progressive Party.

We are now plunged into the midst of an exciting and splendid municipal campaign. The citizens of Buffalo some time ago organized a non-partisan movement to wrest the control of the city from both political parties, and have nominated a splendid ticket, headed, by the way, by John Lord O'Brian, a Republican, and my law partner. The Progressives have endorsed that ticket. The same old gang, in control of both the Democratic and Republican parties, nominated two men to oppose Mr. O'Brian who are not worthy to be mayor of this great city. From present indications, in spite of the fact that the Citizens Movement have all the newspapers and special interests against them, we may win.

What has the future in store for us? Victory without doubt. Not necessarily victory for our candidates at the polls,—that is of minor importance, but victory for the Progressive principles. That victory is being registered every day throughout the nation, in the form of Progressive legislation enacted into law, and will continue to be won as the years go on.

The Ship of State has been directed into safer channels and pleasanter seas. The future looks brighter and fairer to us all.

THE YALE CLUB

BY

GEORGE E. IDE.

I have found that in the development of the social side of any class, the greatest progress is made after the class has been graduated for more than ten years. During the first decade the members are naturally and necessarily absorbed in "finding themselves." In going through his apprenticeship in the various fields of work, each man is occupied in solving the all-important question of determining in what line of human activity he can accomplish the greatest good for the world at large and incidentally for himself. This activity is largely individual and little time remains for cultivating and continuing the friendships and associations of college life.

After this initial period is passed, and I know that 1903 will find this to be true, there returns the yearning to renew former associations; old lines of thought are again taken up; old friends are sought out and rediscovered. In the life of every true Yale man this desire increases with each succeeding year.

It has seemed to some of us who have been rather close students of the social side of Yale life that what was most needed in this connection was a common meeting ground where the renewal of these old associations would be made possible, and where under attractive surroundings a continuance of the Yale life after graduation would be fostered and encouraged.

Your Class has just reached the point where the movement should appeal to you most convincingly.

You all are familiar with the history of the Yale Club of New York,—founded in 1897 with an original membership of 480, it has rapidly grown until at present its membership amounts to 3,300. When the present building (in 44th Street) was completed in 1901, it was supposed that for many years it would meet all the requirements of the Club, but its growth has been so phenomenal and its popularity so great that for some years the house has been absolutely inadequate and in consequence it has not been able to furnish to its members the facilities which they have a right to expect. When the question of the erection of a new house, which had become a necessity, was taken up by the Council, it was decided that this move would be made upon a plan so large and so complete that it would meet the requirements of the Club for many years to come, and in the development of this idea particular stress was laid upon the thought that the Club must be of such a character as to appeal strongly to out-of-town members, and in fact to graduates from all parts of the country.

THE NEW YALE CLUB,
Vanderbilt Avenue and 44th Street, New York City.

It is hardly possible for me here to explain fully what the new Club will be, but a brief description will convey the main idea.

The site was chosen on the northwest corner of Vanderbilt Avenue and 44th Street, overlooking the new Grand Central Station and its broad plaza. Here it is proposed to erect a club house some twenty stories in height, conforming in its architectural style with the general plan followed in the other buildings surrounding the plaza. There is no more accessible site for out-of-town members nor for residents of New York, as the present transit facilities and those which are planned for the future all concentrate near the Grand Central Station.

The building will be modern, dignified, simple and up-to-date in every particular. The dining facilities will be adequate for the general use of the Club, and for large gatherings of alumni as well as for private meetings. It will be the aim and object of the Club to provide a cuisine of the very highest grade. For the use primarily of out-of-town members, 160 well-appointed bedrooms, each supplied with bath accommodations, will be provided. The rates for the rental of these rooms will be moderate. The lower part of the building will be devoted to the social side of the Club and will be quite distinct from the rooming department. There will also be a general gymnasium, swimming pool, squash courts, etc. Every phase of modern club life will be provided for as far as possible so as to insure a maximum amount of comfort at the most reasonable rate possible.

From this brief description you will see that graduates coming to New York from out of town will find here a convenient and attractive place to stop, and that consequently this Club will be, as the present Club has never been, a general meeting place for Yale men from all parts of the country.

It is my belief that these informal meetings will lead to more formal gatherings and that both directly and indirectly this Club by its influence will become a centre of good for the University, the value of which can hardly be estimated, and that it will be the means of breaking down much of the sectional feeling which occasionally crops out in the minds of graduates, when they are considering the general policy and life of the University.

It is very appropriate that this should be brought to your attention now, for your Class will soon be able to reap the benefit of this new development and will find, I know, in this Club, a most attractive means of furthering and extending that enthusiastic unity of feeling which is so essential to the proper development of any class.

The managers of the Club are extremely desirous that all Yale men shall understand the motive which is behind the present change and will avail themselves of it. I am very glad that your Secretary has seen fit to give me this opportunity of explaining in this way to the Class of 1903 what we are endeavoring to do, and I bespeak your cordial coöperation and support to the new enterprise, evidence of which support has already been shown in a substantial way by many members of your Class.

One hundred and twenty-four members of the Class are resident and non-resident members of the Yale Club. The following have held office: Committee on Admissions—Albert R. Lamb, 1904-5; Howard A. Plummer, 1905-6, 1906-7, 1907-8; Henry C. Holt, 1912-13; House Committee—Howard A. Plummer, 1906-7, 1907-8, 1908-9, 1909-10; Entertainment Committee—Howard A. Plummer, 1912-13, 1913-14; Council—Howard A. Plummer, 1912-13, 1913-14; List of Names—Albert R. Lamb, Howard A. Plummer and Henry C. Holt.

My crusade against the liquor traffic was begun in Kiowa Barber
County Kansas the 4th of June 1900.
Six months after that I went to Wichita Kansas and attacked the gates of hell on the 27th of December 1900. I started out to lecture in June. would like to come to Yale

Carrie Anderson.
Your Loving Home Defender
Feb. 15, 1902.

THE CARRIE NATION EPISODE

BY

G. S. ARNOLD

Peace to the militant ashes of Carrie Nation—or war to them, if eternity may thereby be sweetened for her. Would that there were more like her (and less likker) and that the empire of John Barleycorn were shriveled to the confines of San Francisco.

Who invited her to New Haven in 1903 is one of the group of Yale mysteries—as, for example, who shot the fireman in '56; who stole the sun dial, and who was the real Lizzie Fitzgerald? Waddell, except for the brief period when a faculty investigation seemed probable, wore the conscious smile of merit whenever he denied that he had sent her an invitation in the name of the Jolly Eight. But Steve—J. McAllister Stevenson—assumed the duties of the perfect host from the moment of her arrival—onerous duties, involving the litigation of property rights in pipes and cigarettes which his guest appropriated, without compensation, from the mouths of innocent bystanders.

If the Jolly Eight were responsible for her coming, they were poor entertainers and arrant cowards, for they scattered at her approach, and publicly denied all association with her, maintaining the while, that they were heavy drinkers and Knights of the Toby. When, leaving their inhospitable rooms where she had no reception at all, she went to the News office, it is chronicled that Louis Coleman held his ground with considerable credit so long as he believed her to be Albert Lamb's wash lady, but that he visibly quailed when greatness stood revealed. Later, a respectable mob now surging behind her, she went to Commons, and there the enthusiasm was enormous. But, when, snatching cigarettes from freshmen as a traveler flicks the heads from daisies, Mrs. Nation reached Osborn Hall steps, from which she delivered her main address, she suffered a very embarrassment of applause. Her message was to the effect that alcohol is deleterious and that over-indulgence in tobacco is also to be deplored. These great truths so set the throng to thinking that Steve's attempt to start another cheer was not wholly successful—in fact it finished before it got out of the kek-kekses.

That night we formally visited Mrs. Nation at the New Haven House—Stern, Waddell, Benson of Sheff, Steve, Henry Ely and Fox of 1902,—not Alan,—H. S. Arnold, 1900 and '03 M., Bob Black and I. All strangers were expelled, for we were of the innermost shrine of the Blue Ribbon, and the interview was exclusively for the Yale Record—transformed for the occasion into the College temperance paper. The Lit was apostrophized as a rival publication dominated and controlled by the Liquor Interests, in fact owned by a thick-set blond brewer named Waring. That it did not wither like the little Jackdaw from the maledictions then heaped upon it, speaks well for its imperterbity.

Thereupon the party started. We signed pledges—even yet Black labors under an ill-considered oath never again to smoke corn-silk. In the excess of his fervor, Steve forever debarred himself for diplomatic service, forswearing “rootbeer, grape-juice or other beverage tending to tempt one to the use of alcohol or opium.”

Thereafter Mrs. Nation was posed for a photograph—as the Sylph of Temperance, pledging herself to abstinence through the medium of Whitney Lake water in a bedroom pitcher. Out went the lights for the flashlight and from under coats came pipes, steins and bottles. The group was arranged in the dark, and so it was that this estimable lady appears in many pictures surrounded by hell-hounds in the attitudes of alcoholic excess. Later—from a London jail, I think—she sent seven photograph mounts, signed “Your loving Home Defender, Carrie A. Nation,” for use “if the temperance pictures came out right!”

Poor lady! in that her attempt to interfere with the divine right of man to scramble his cerebral processes in alcohol led her into such company as ours! What a mother-in-law she would have made—for one addicted to mothers-in-law!

"JOIN THE JOLLY EIGHT."

"THE SYLPH OF TEMPERANCE."

"HERE'S TO GOOD OLD YALE."

FRANKLIN FARREL III AND MALCOLM FARREL
"AT HOME."

THE NEW MORY'S.
Frank Gilbert and Mort Fitch to the right.

BOB GRANNISS AND GIFF COCHRAN

THE MORY'S ASSOCIATION

BY

FRANKLIN FARREL, JR.

Louis Linder was obliged to move from the old quarters to make way for a new office building. He bought the present location at 306 York Street and spent about $10,000 remodeling the house and moving the old fireplaces, window-sash, memorabilia, etc., thinking, of course, that he could get his license transferred without difficulty.

In this he was mistaken, for the property holders, some of them, rather, opposed it and the County Commissioners did not dare grant the transfer. Then the idea of making it a club was suggested by some of the friends of the old place and of Louis's. We saw President Hadley about it, for none of us wanted to have anything to do with its continuation if the faculty were opposed to it.

We had reason to believe that they appreciated the benefit of having the only democratic institution of its kind preserved to the University or the students, a place where the undergraduates could get good things to drink and good things to eat, and especially away from the center of the town where people of questionable character are ever lurking around to rope in the unsuspecting "stewednut."

Every grad can picture for himself how much he would miss the old place if it had gone out of existence.

From the New Haven Journal-Courier, October 20, 1913: "In the surrender of life yesterday by Louis Linder there passed out an unique character of rugged honesty and great kindness. To those quite close to the inner feelings of this man these attributes of manhood were well known. He was not a man whose confidence or affection was easily gained but beneath the rough exterior was a tenderness to which many may now testify.

There can be no doubt whatever that his memory will live long and affectionately with Yale men the world over."

WHAT CAN 1903 DO FOR YALE?

A large number of answers to this question, which the Class Secretary included in the statistical blanks sent out to the Class, were received, and the suggestions refer to almost every phase of College life, social, financial and athletic. These suggestions are now published for the benefit of the College and the world at large. The Editor assumes no responsibility for them, and in order to protect the authors against actions for libel, the individual names are omitted.

ATHLETICS

The temporary eclipse of Yale's athletic supremacy, unquestioned in our undergraduate days, engages the attention of some of our number as follows:

"Put a little Yale spirit into athletics."

"Instill a bit of old-time spirit into a bunch of blasé decadents."

"Try to get the fighting spirit back into Yale athletics. Try to get the undergraduates to realize they must try to win as well as play fairly."

"Use its influence to uphold Walter Camp and a consistent broad-minded athletic policy."

"Protest vigorously and continuously against the system which requires or permits the captain of the football team of the previous year to be head coach."

FINANCE

The financial affairs of the University engage the attention of some embryonic capitalists as follows:

"Perhaps a few members of the Class by their individual attainments will be able to do more for Yale, but certainly no class as a whole can do Yale more good than to have every man

The class of 1903 began its college life in the old century and finished it in the new. In it are combined therefore, as would be expected, the clear judgment of maturer years and the vigor and enthusiasm of youth. For a perfect example of the spirit of 1903 look to its Class Secretary.

with affectionate greetings to the class.

Henry P. Wright.

in it subscribe to the Alumni Fund. If every man in every class subscribed to the Fund, the income alone would amount to half a million dollars a year, and the principal would soon be sufficient to endow the University in perpetuity."

"Build up the Alumni Fund."

"Contribute to the Alumni Fund enough to bring us up even with the other nearby classes."

"Subscribe each and every one of us yearly our little mite to the Alumni Fund. Only a few names appear on the list."

"Send checks and children—even if small."

"Construct an entry in some new dormitory or help construct some new building which will survive as a credit not only to 1903 but to Yale."

"If the Decennial Committee collects that $10,000 I should think this would be enough achievement for awhile."

UNDERGRADUATE LIFE

Some try to settle undergraduate problems from a graduate standpoint.

"Found scholarships and advocate the removal of Dwight Hall from the Campus."

"Consolidate the Elizabethan Club Collection with the University Library."

"Think good would result from our keeping in closer touch with undergraduate life."

"It can stand behind the movement for the modification of the Senior Society Cult."

"Start agitation for the return of the Jeffersonian simplicity of our day when the Taft and the Sunday 'trot' parties were unknown."

"Take steps to advance the atmosphere of culture in Yale College."

"If there is any way that 1903 can impress upon the present and future undergraduates that Yale can always be found on Saturday night and Sunday at New Haven, it would be something worth calling 'our work.'"

"Free copy of 'Stover at Yale' for every Freshman and Faculty member. Urge Yale to minister to the public good after the good example of the University of Wisconsin, which I note reaches one in ten of the citizens of Wisconsin. Yale fires over the head of Connecticut."

"Encourage the man who has taken all or part of his course at a state university or other institution to come to Yale to finish or for professional school work."

"I think that one of the greatest benefits would be to try to simplify life there and keep it distinguished as much as possible from the atmosphere of the greater world."

"Lend its influence to revive some of the principles of the Yale spirit, which from all accounts has waned or at least changed since our graduation."

"Help restore some of the democratic Yale spirit which perhaps is diminishing."

"Revive democratic spirit which 1903, while we were undergraduates, enjoyed, and which has continually diminished since we left College, so that to-day the woeful lack of it is disgustingly noticeable."

"Be sure that the Yale democratic spirit, of which we hear so much, is really present."

"Use its influence to preserve the democracy of the old days, discourage the modern tendency toward bowing down before the Golden Calf, and bring the undergraduates to a full realization of the fact that their diploma does not as a matter of right furnish them with the open sesame to a 'white collar job.' They must be prepared to work and work hard with their hands and hearts as well as their heads."

GRADUATE ACTIVITIES

Some apply the answer to every-day life.

"Increase the membership of the Class of 1925."

"Raise good sons and send them to Yale to do more for Yale than we did."

"Take care of themselves first, so as not to be a load on anyone else. A lazy man is as useless as a dead one and takes up more room."

"Nineteen Hundred and Three can do much for Yale, in my opinion, by actualizing in the sight of our fellow Yale men at our coming Decennial and in the sight of all men at all other times the Yale tradition of democracy in our Class organization and conduct."

"Support every movement for the progress of our Alma Mater according to ability, and initiate other movements likely to increase her usefulness, and thus her prestige."

"Help mitigate the ills of those morally and physically afflicted. If we of 1903 can help to make the world a little better, we shall have done something for Yale."

"Attend the Class Reunions, prepare their sons for Yale and get their friends to send their sons to Yale."

"Boost Yale as the only University in the U. S. A. for a live man to attend."

"Bring up their children so that their ideals will not be commercialized, and so that the old Yale tradition that a man is worth what he is, as a man, and not what his father is rated in Bradstreet, will be perpetuated. It seems to me that the tendency of the modern undergraduate is too much toward extravagance and luxury. There are too many automobiles, trips to New York, and chorus girls in the modern Yalensian's cosmos. Yale should not allow herself to be submerged in the present national tendencies. She should lead to better things. Oxford set the right example during the Renaissance and Reformation."

"Nineteen Hundred and Three can best help Yale by individually, each in his particular field, endeavoring to make the most of influences and training received at New Haven. Every Yale graduate is an advertisement helpful or detrimental to the future of the University."

"Nineteen Hundred and Three men can best serve Yale by endeavoring to so order their own lives that people with whom they may come in contact will realize that the institution which they love in their hearts has assisted them to become better and abler men."

"It can always do what it has always done—its best. Especially in these days of swift changes in all phases of college life, a class like ours which was fortunate in possessing an unusual number of keen-cut, clear-thinking men of ability, it seems to me, can materially aid in shaping the ever-changing and broadening policies of the University, along the best lines. Nineteen Hundred and Three was whole-hearted in its devotion to, and efforts for, the University, and now, ten years after graduation, its individual members can still exercise their influence from adding my testimony to my classmates' as to what occurred for a greater, more powerful, and more all-embracing Yale."

REPORT OF DECENNIAL REUNION COMMITTEE

THOMAS HOOKER, JR., TREASURER, IN ACCOUNT WITH YALE 1913
DECENNIAL COMMITTEE

Dr.

To Balance received from Sexennial Committee	$ 15.98
Interest received on deposits	29.49
Harvard boatrace and baseball tickets sold	15.50
Extra wine sold	36.45
Decennial subscriptions paid	9,121.90
	$9,219.32

Cr.

By Expense of Decennial Reunion paid, as follows:

Tickets for Yale Dramatic Association play	$ 120.00
Tickets for Yale-Cornell baseball game	41.25
Tickets for Yale-Harvard baseball game	108.62
Tickets for Yale-Harvard boatrace	125.00
Reunion costumes, guns, etc.	951.80
Rent of class club-house	250.00
Supplies at class club-house	376.10
Decorations, rent of furniture, etc., at class club-house	322.29
Cigars and cigarettes	353.01
Steward and service at class club-house	93.75
Clerks at class club-house, telephones and petty expense	79.00
Dormitory accommodations	389.40
Class dinner at New Haven Lawn Club, supplies and music ..	315.60
Field Day and dinner at Double Beach Club and supplies, etc.	834.75
Class dinner in Memorial Hall and service	342.50
Supplies at class dinner in Memorial Hall	236.27
Meal tickets at University Dining Hall	107.00
General alumni celebration on college campus	105.44
Second Regiment Band, services	200.00
Special trolley cars	48.00
Printing, postage, clerical help and petty	308.45
	$5,798.23

By Paid Dudley P. Lewis, Class Secretary	500.00
Reeve Schley, Alumni Fund Agent	2,921.09
	$9,219.32

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS HOOKER, JR.,
Treasurer.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 8, 1913.

THE ALUMNI FUND

BY

REEVE SCHLEY

The principal features of this fund are: (a) the amount subscribed and (b) the number of subscribers. To one interested in this fund, the first of these features is distinctly encouraging, while the second is decidedly discouraging. Without running into statistics, a few figures will not perhaps be amiss. Up to July 1, 1913, the total net receipts amounted to $1,161,201.33. The principal of the fund on hand on that date was more than $650,000, and the interest on the principal for the year amounted to more than $35,000. This year $65,000 was given to the University for its unrestricted use, and for the past three years an average of $50,000 had been given for the same purpose. This result has been accomplished in a little over twenty years. The principal of the fund, after deducting the amounts which are given as income each year to the University, is increasing at the rate of almost $100,000 a year. Assuming that the fund continues this growth without any increase in the amounts subscribed, imagine what its power and influence will mean to the University, at the end, say, of twenty-five years. This is the encouraging feature of the work, and the feature that has maintained the enthusiasm of those connected with the administrative features of the fund.

The discouraging feature is the number of graduates who contribute. Approximately about twenty-five per cent. of 1903 have contributed and the same proportion of contributors holds good of the entire graduate body. The fund itself, however, is permanent. Its bulk alone would insure its permanency. But it must and will continue for far more important reasons. Without it the machinery of the University could scarcely move. Such authorities as President Hadley, Dean Chittenden, Dean Jones and Secretary Stokes have vouched for this statement. The Yale spirit of coöperation is lacking. Yet there is little direct hostility to the fund. Inability to contribute to it, is not the reason for the small number of graduates participating. Indifference to it is the explanation, and indifference is the most difficult barrier to be overcome in any situation. It must be admitted that the Class agents have not as yet been successful in overcoming this indifferent attitude on the part of the majority of the graduates, because they have failed to lay before them in a way that will appeal to them, the importance and the actual necessity of this fund. If the real situation could be brought home to the graduates, the non-contributors would form a small minority.

In the answers under the topic in this record "What can 1903 do for Yale?" there are a large number referring to the democratic and coöperative spirit of the Class. In College it was considered the duty of each one to subscribe beyond his means, if necessary, to support University athletics. Why cannot this same spirit be continued beyond the walls of the College, so that the Class as a whole, rather than a small minority of it, will support this great movement.

This year the names of one hundred and sixty men will appear in the annual report of the alumni fund as contributors from 1903—almost twice as many as ever contributed before. The principal reason for this increase in numbers is, of course, the fact that everyone who contributed to the Reunion Fund, unless he particularly desired his name not to appear, will have his name published as a contributor. It is safe to say that those who did contribute this year, did not do so solely for the selfish purpose of making the Reunion at New Haven a pleasant one, but each was glad to have a certain percentage of his subscription applied for the benefit of the University. One of the most important objects of the Reunion was to re-fire the enthusiasm of the Class for the University. No one who was present at the Reunion could doubt that this object was accomplished. If this enthusiasm proves to be anything more than a passing spark, the result cannot help but be shown in the contribution to the Alumni Fund for 1914.

Nineteen Hundred and Three has about the average number of subscribers and the average amount of subscriptions. The average number of subscribers, including this year, has been 77, and the entire amount subscribed to date is approximately $7,800.

CLASS SECRETARY'S REPORT

RECEIPTS.

Balance received from Ziegler Sargent, February 15, 1910	$1,250.05
Redemption of stamped envelopes and cards	17.37
Interest received on deposits	186.35
Sale of Class Records	10.00
Decennial Committee's appropriation	500.00
Total	$1,963.77

DISBURSEMENTS.

Expense, since February 15, 1910, as follows:

Dues to Yale Association of Class Secretaries, Voucher No. 1 ..	$ 8.00
Loving Cup for former Class Secretary, Voucher No. 2	50.00
Postage, Voucher No. 3	47.88
Stenography, Voucher No. 4	60.36
Printing, pocket directories, letters, etc., Voucher No. 5	124.75
Multigraphing cards and letters, Voucher No. 6	19.15
Cuts and photographs, Voucher No. 7	102.57
Proof-reading Decennial Record, Voucher No. 8	10.40
Preparation of gift for the University Library, Voucher No. 9 ..	14.50
Publishing and shipping Decennial Records, Voucher No. 10 ...	1,123.22
Total	$1,560.83

Balance transferred to George H. Richards, Class Secretary, Voucher No. 11	402.94
	$1,963.77

Audited and Certified Correct:

Signed:

WILLIS S. WHITTLESEY.

DUDLEY P. LEWIS,

November 20, 1913.

Class Secretary.

The report of Walter B. Walker, Treasurer of last year's Class Dinner Committee, shows a balance in the Equitable Trust Company of $61.30. The Committee wishes the members of the Class to appreciate that the cost of the annual dinners must vary from time to time, according to the balance turned over to each successive committee.

DECENNIAL GIFT TO THE YALE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY.

A PARTING WORD

BY

RAYMOND WILLIAM WALKER.

The faint light lingers over elm and tower,
The lengthening shadows fill the campus ways;
The years have left but this one sunset hour
From all the bounty of our campus days:
One hour of memories, our friends beside us,
Before the mists of coming days divide us.

We've spent the years right royally together,
And loitered much, perhaps, beside the way,—
But friendship's wine keeps sweet through every weather,
And we've a store to last till heads are gray;
And hearts shall ever hold the song and laughter
Whatever fortune fate shall send hereafter.

So let us reckon this the chiefest treasure,
And glance behind us only with a smile;
And when we try to find these years a measure,
Rate all they send us here as worth the while,
And thankful be for loss and loser's sorrow,
That taught us strength for stronger strife to-morrow.

Now one more song and one more pipe together,
Let this last hour, my friends, be best of all:
Let coming care weigh light as any feather,
This past is ours; we hail the morrow's call;—
And hearts shall ever hold the song and laughter,
Whatever fortune fate shall send hereafter.

(Dedicatory Poem, reprinted, by permission, from the Class Book.)

CLASS ROLL AND PERMANENT ADDRESSES

NOVEMBER, 1913.

Charles R. Aldrich, 137 South LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Francis J. O. Alsop, Indian Hollow, East Milton, Mass.
Dr. Luther Anderson, Care J. I. Anderson, Lindsborg, Kan.
Charles T. Andrews, John T. Andrews & Co., Penn Yan, N. Y.
Rev. Theodore Andrews, Grace Episcopal Church, Lexington, N. C.
Hugh Archbald, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.
G. S. Arnold, 1020 Merchants Exchange, San Francisco, Cal.
Stanfield N. Arnold, 907 Wilcox Bldg., Portland, Ore.
William B. Arvine, 42 Church St., New Haven, Conn.
Morton Atwater, 35 Market St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Rev. Douglass H. Atwill, 819 South Vermont Ave., Sedalia, Mo.
Charles C. Auchincloss, 11 Pine St., New York City.
C. Russell Auchincloss, 20 Broad St., New York City.
Ernest F. Bacon, Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.
Hon. Thorne Baker, 1514-20 Union Trust Bldg., Cincinnati, O.
Burton J. Baldwin, Columbia University, Furnald Hall, 2940 Broadway,
New York City.
Dr. Walter L. Barber, Jr., 87 North Main St., Waterbury, Conn.
Perley E. Barbour, Brocton Rand Co., Montello, Mass.
Will Tilden Barker, Farmington, N. H.
Glover Beardsley, 260 Eleventh Ave., New York City.
Arthur C. Becker, A. J. Neimeyer Lumber Co., Little Rock, Ark.
Dr. J. L. Bendell, 178 State St., Albany, N. Y.
Claude G. Bennethum, 206 Andrus Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.
Josiah H. Benton, Copake, Columbia Co., N. Y.
Martin H. Bergen, National Biscuit Co., 409 West 15th St., New York City.
Pemberton Berman, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.
James M. Betts, 233 Broadway, New York City, or Sandy Hook, Conn.
Alfred H. Bill, 528 5th St., Faribault, Minn.
Prof. Avar L. Bishop, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
Robert L. Black, 1603-6 Union Trust Bldg., Cincinnati, O.
Arthur G. Blaisdell, Pease & Elliman, 340 Madison Ave., New York City.
Howard J. Bloomer, 50 State St., Hartford, Conn.
William A. Blount, Jr., Pensacola State Bank, 7½ S. Palafox St.,
Pensacola, Fla.

- S. Russell Bogue, Tate & Hays, 71 Broadway, New York City.
Robert E. Bond, P. O. Box 506, Honolulu, T. H.
Edward C. Bowers, Wickwire Mining Co., Iron River, Mich.
*Charles Arnold Brady, 1882-1913.
Allen C. Bragaw, 165 Broadway, New York City.
*Samuel Mason Brereton, 1877-1908.
Raymond P. Brinkman, Stilwell, Kan.
Ralph Bristol, Naugatuck, Conn., or Montclair, N. J.
John S. Broeksmit, P. O. Box 755, Chicago, Ill.
*Charles Tracy Brown, 1882-1900.
Thomas M. H. Brown, Woodland Road, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Ralph W. Bumstead, 91 St. Paul St., Brookline, Mass.
Ralph H. Burdett, Weed & Kennedy, 123 William St., New York City.
Hon. Robert G. Bushong, 536 Court St., Reading, Pa.
Erwin M. Calmer, McFarland, Cal.
Dr. Edward H. Cameron, 837 Yale Station, New Haven, Conn.
James N. H. Campbell, 674 Prospect St., Hartford, Conn.
L. Russell Carter, 11 East Main St., Waterbury, Conn.
George B. Chadwick, The Paterson Mfg. Co., Ltd., 172 King St., East, Toronto, Canada.
Carl M. Chapin, 174 Grand St., Waterbury, Conn.
Dr. Eliot R. Clark, Johns Hopkins University, Medical Dept., Baltimore, Md.
Harold T. Clark, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, The Leader-News Bldg.,
Cleveland, O.
Prof. Harry H. Clark, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.
Kilburn D. Clark, 802 Electric Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y.
Robert Keep Clark, 1217 Forest Ave., Evanston, Ill.
Hon. Stephen C. Clark, Cooperstown, N. Y.
Allen T. Clement, 55 Wall St., New York City.
George F. Coard, Care Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, 220 Wachung Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Nathaniel H. Cobb, Sebasti é Reali, Piazza di Spagna, Rome, Italy.
Gifford A. Cochran, Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co., Yonkers, N. Y.
Dr. James R. Coffey, 216 Grand Ave., New Haven, Conn.
Louis G. Coleman, Illinois Nat'l Bank Bldg., Springfield, Ill.
Arthur M. Collens, 1320 Wachung Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Walter G. Collins, 1104 Spalding Bldg., Portland, Ore.
George K. Conant, Sligo Iron Store Co., 1301 North 6th St., St. Louis, Mo.
Philip K. Condict, Western Electric Co., 463 West St., New York City.
Dr. Erastus Corning, 281 State St., Albany, N. Y.
*David Uzal Cory, 1883-1905.
Dr. Donald J. Cowling, 205 College Ave., Northfield, Minn.
Alexander Craighead, Thompson, Mason & Co., Merchants Exchange
Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.
Hiram W. Cramer, R. F. D., Bagley, Iowa.

- James P. Cronan, General Electric Co., Pittsfield, Mass. ,
 Earle R. Crowe, The A. A. Shaw Co., 44-60 East 23d St., New York City.
 *Thomas Henry Curran, 1882-1903.
 Kenneth W. Curtis, Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.
 Ephraim C. Cushman, 639 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Merit L. Davidson, Care Abraham B. Lancaster, 646 High St., Lexington, Ky.
 Dr. Charles O. Day, North St., Hingham, Mass.
 Rodney D. Day, 1113 Diamond Bank Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 Dr. Willard J. Denno, 14 Central Park West, New York City, or Castleton, N. H.
 R. Emmet Digney, Mamaroneck Road, White Plains, N. Y.
 A. Douglas Dodge, Weatogue, Conn.
 Edward A. Donohoe, 31 Exchange St., Lynn, Mass.
 *Edward Warren Dorman, 1880-1901.
 Dr. Walter L. Douglass, Care Mrs. Annabel Douglass, 66 Truman St.,
 New London, Conn.
 Trusten P. Draper, Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Youngstown, O.
 John M. Dreisbach, Macan Jr. Co., Easton, Pa.
 Herbert L. Drury, Newton, Mass.
 Principal Stanley C. Dukeashire, 20 Conover Terrace, Orange, N. J.
 Donald A. Dunham, Travelers Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.
 H. Wilfred Du Puy, Pennsylvania Rubber Co., Jeannette, Pa.
 George G. Durant, Jr., Union Bag & Paper Co., Hudson Falls, N. Y.
 Clive L. Du Val, 74 Broadway, New York City.
 Wilton A. Earnshaw, Nevada-California Power Co., Bishop, Inyo Co.,
 Cal.
 John Eliason, Chestertown, Kent Co., Md.
 Bradford Ellsworth, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.
 Supt. N. L. Engelhardt, School Dept., Dunkirk, N. Y.
 John K. Evans, Evans Bros., 306-11 Commonwealth Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 *George Barnett Everts, 1880-1907.
 Robert H. Ewell, 2 Rector St., New York City.
 Antonio P. Fachiri, 11 Ironmonger Lane, London, E. C., England.
 Edward J. Failing, 88-90 Front St., Portland, Ore.
 J. J. Mitchell Fairbank, Hotel Somerset, Boston, Mass.
 Joseph Fairbanks, St. Johnsbury, Vt.
 Peter E. Farnum, Fox & Pier, 37 Liberty St., New York City.
 Franklin Farrel, Jr., 490 Prospect St., New Haven, Conn.
 William Ferguson, 45 Cedar St., New York City.
 Mansfield Ferry, 960 Park Ave., New York City.
 Morton C. Fitch, 32 Nassau St., New York City.
 *Edward Harold Fitzgerald, 1881-1908.
 Minton Fluhrer, 604 West 114th St., New York City.
 Pierrepont B. Foster, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., New Haven, Conn.
 J. Irving Fowler, Fowler-Curtis Co., Glens Falls, N. Y.

- Alan Fox, 50 Pine St., New York City.
John R. Freeman, Care L. R. Freeman, Warren, Pa.
William Frew, Pittsburgh Club, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Leonard W. Frisbie, 73 Pearl St., Hartford, Conn.
William Shirley Fulton, Waterbury Farrel Foundry & Machine Co.,
Waterbury, Conn.
Arnold S. Furst, Furst & Furst, 215 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Thomas J. Gaines, Greenwich, Conn.
Julius Gans, 4963 Vincennes Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Frank C. Gilbert, 100 William St., New York City.
Dr. George Burton Gilbert, 1222 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo.
Edward L. Gillespie, 72 Forest St., Stamford, Conn.
William W. Gleason, 530 West End Ave., New York City.
Rev. Irvine Goddard, 46 North Hamilton St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
*Willis Elbridge Goodhue, 1867-1909.
F. Spencer Goodwin, 103 Woodland St., Hartford, Conn.
George A. Goss, Scovill Manufacturing Co., Waterbury, Conn.
Robert A. Granniss, Jr., Morris Plains, N. J.
C. Douglass Green, Kean, Taylor & Co., 30 Pine St., New York City.
Herbert G. Greene, N. Y. Telephone Co., 15 Dey St., New York City.
Henry F. Griffin, 45 West 11th St., New York City.
Otto H. Gruner, 60 Broadway, New York City.
John G. Haas, Jr., Lancaster, Pa., or 141 Broadway, New York City.
Dr. John F. Hackett, Messrs. Booth & Co., 17 Battery Place, New York City.
Chauncey J. Hamlin, Snyder, Erie Co., N. Y.
Francis J. Handel, The Ellicott Bldg., Ellicott Square, Buffalo, N. Y.
George B. Hardy, Care Amos E. Hardy, North High St., Bangor, Me.
Robert R. Hargis, 136 Washington St., Atlanta, Ga.
William L. Harmount, Amherst, Conn.
Alfred L. Hart, P. O. Box 678, Waterbury, Conn.
Henry F. Hartjen, 1976 Honeywell Ave., New York City.
Julian Hartridge, Dyal Upchurch Bldg., Jacksonville, Fla.
*Maurice Fitch Hawks, 1880-1900.
Bronson Hawley, Sherley Farm, R. F. D. 2, Bridgeport, Conn.
Rowland Hazard, Peace Dale Mfg. Co., Peace Dale, R. I.
S. Frank Hedges, Greenport, L. I.
Ell R. Henry, Calcasieu National Bank, Lake Charles, La.
Jerome S. Hess, 50 Pine St., New York City.
Brower Hewitt, R. R. Office Bldg., New Haven, Conn.
*Albert Hileman, 1879-1908.
*Theodore Edward Hill, 1879-1910.
Charles Hitchcock, Jr., 20 Broad St., New York City.
H. Morley Hitchcock, Reliance Electric & Engineering Co., Cleveland, O.
Rev. Harry O. Hofstead, 590 East 3d St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Thomas Nicholas Hogan, 53 Grove St., Hartford, Conn.

- Charles S. Holbrook, University Club, Portland, Ore.
 Henry C. Holt, Central Trust Co., Madison Ave. and 42d St., New York City.
 Thomas Hooker, Jr., 51 Hillhouse Ave., New Haven, Conn.
 Sidney U. Hooper, Chicago Division B. & O. R. R., Garrett, Ind.
 Francis S. Houghteling, 71 Broadway, New York City.
 Lawrence A. Howard, 50 State St., Hartford, Conn.
 Norman C. Hull, 405 Agr'l Bank Bldg., Pittsfield, Mass.
 Roy A. Hunt, 2402 Oliver Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 George S. Hurst, The J. B. Williams Co., Glastonbury, Conn.
 Roswell B. Hyatt, 160 Curtis St., Meriden, Conn.
 Dr. William L. Irvine, 17 Mary St., Newport, R. I.
 Dr. Henry James, 123 East 62d St., New York City.
 W. Heberd James, T. M. James & Sons, 562 Main St., Kansas City, Mo.
 Richard G. Jennings, 5th and Amberson Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 Rev. Donald K. Johnston, All Saints' Church, Worcester, Mass.
 Franklin A. Johnston, American Exporter, 135 William St., New York City.
 William Poyntell Johnston, 700-1 Equitable Bldg., Wilmington, Del.
 Joshua H. Jones, Jr., 19 Union St., Everett, Mass.
 Nicholas R. Jones, 1400 Fort Dearborn Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
 Robert P. Keep, 215 Main St., Andover, Mass.
 *Herbert Cassius Kelly, 1881-1909.
 Daniel Edwards Kennedy, 17 Devon Road, Chestnut Hill, Mass.
 F. Stanley Kent, 500 Leary Bldg., Seattle, Wash.
 James B. Kilburn, 5 Nassau St., New York City.
 Douglas B. Kimball, Kearns Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah.
 Eugene A. Kingman, 180 Slater Ave., Providence, R. I.
 Joseph N. Kinney, Union Central Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, O.
 Lucian Swift Kirtland, Poland, O.
 Herman W. Knox, 96 John St., New York City.
 Dr. Albert R. Lamb, 146 East 74th St., New York City.
 Theodore T. Lane, 25 Franklin Place, Flushing, L. I.
 William C. Langley, W. C. Langley & Co., 10 Wall St., New York City.
 Charles M. Latimer, 515 Black Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
 G. Sidney Leach, Livingston, N. J.
 George E. Leonard, 135 Broadway, New York City.
 Howard R. LeVally, 4513 Lake Ave., Chicago, Ill.
 Dudley P. Lewis, Neighborhood House, 244 Spring St., New York City.
 Charles H. L'Hommiedieu, Union Trust Bldg., Detroit, Mich.
 Paul Lindenberg, Columbus Piano Co., Columbus, O.
 Charles W. Littlefield, 11 Pine St., New York City.
 Franklin Lockwood, Crane & Lockwood, 55 Wall St., New York City.
 *Arthur Channing Long, 1882-1913.
 Willard A. Lyon, 44 East Ave., Middletown, N. Y.
 Dr. Randolph Lyons, 1206 Maison Blanche Bldg., Canal St., New Orleans, La.

Cameron Mackenzie, 251 Fourth Ave., New York City.
Rev. Donald B. MacLane, Taftville, Conn.
H. Coit MacLean, 802 Lexington Ave., New York City.
*Arthur Manierre, 1881-1912.
Paul F. Mann, 37 Allen St., Buffalo, N. Y.
John Marshall, Union Trust Bldg., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Milton L. Marshall, L. Marshall & Son, Auburn, N. Y.
Elmer B. Mason, Bureau of Entomology, Washington, D. C.
Macdonell Mason, 6 Wall St., New York City.
John H. McAlarney, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.
Harvey C. McClintock, 1508 Park Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Robert R. McCormick, 7 South Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Dr. Earl C. McCulloch, Knox Bldg., Gloversville, N. Y.
*Irving McDonald, 1881-1903.
James P. McDonough, W. M. Ritter Lumber Co., Glen Morgan, Raleigh Co., W. Va.
Andrew D. McIntosh, The Taft School, Watertown, Conn.
David R. McKee, Jr., Care Lanier McKee, 34 Nassau St., New York City.
Donald McKesson, 91 Fulton St., New York City.
Robert L. McKnight, Barstow, Ward Co., Texas.
Ralph H. Melcer, Palmer Bros. Co., New London, Conn.
William G. Metzger, 54 East Division St., Chicago, Ill.
H. Edmund Mills, 2283 Fulton St., Toledo, O.
James B. Minor, 10 West 2d St., Cincinnati, O.
Douglas M. Moffat, 52 William St., New York City.
Dr. Walter C. Moodie, Care P. M. Moodie, West Point, Neb.
Charles A. Moore, Jr., Greenwich, Conn.
Rev. Frank W. Moore, 248 West Jersey St., Elizabeth, N. J.
Hon. Daniel H. Morgan, 135 Broadway, New York City.
John B. Motter, Wheeler & Motter Merc. Co., St. Joseph, Mo.
John R. Moulton, 50 Congress St., Boston, Mass.
Frank B. Mulford, Care Goodyear Rubber Co., Kansas City, Mo.
Arthur D. Mullen, 335 Ellsworth Ave., New Haven, Conn.
Walter S. Munson, Munson Bros. Co., Utica, N. Y.
Ralph H. Nesmith, 516 West Gray St., Elmira, N. Y.
Almer M. Newhall, Newhall Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.
Paul Sprague Ney, Farmington, Conn.
James K. Nichols, 95 Carroll St., Binghamton, N. Y.
William P. Nixon, Jr., Marshall Field & Co. (Wholesale), Chicago, Ill.
Alfred T. Ogden, Ogden Farm, Kinderhook, N. Y.
Augustus K. Oliver, 233 Oliver Ave., or 3 Colonial Place, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Daniel L. J. O'Neill, 956 Chapel St., New Haven, Conn.
Frederick L. Orlady, Huntingdon, Pa.
William R. Orthwein, 315 Commercial Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
Erling C. Ostby, Ostby & Barton Co., 118 Richmond St., Providence, R. I.
George G. Parkhurst, 59 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.

- George H. Parr, The Abbey Hotel, Glenmont, Albany, N. Y.
 *Charles Seymour Parsons, 1882-1909.
 John H. Partridge, South Windsor, Conn.
 Dr. William L. Patterson, Amherst, Nova Scotia.
 Oscar C. Payne, 2311 Main St., Dallas, Texas.
 Wheeler H. Peckham, 32 Liberty St., New York City.
 *Julius Deming Perkins, Jr., 1880-1909.
 Byron A. Pierce, The Meriden, 163 Waterman St., Providence, R. I.
 Claude M. Pitcher, 207 Republican Bldg., Scranton, Pa.
 Howard A. Plummer, 37 Wall St., New York City.
 Horace B. Pomeroy, Harris, Forbes & Co., 56 William St., New York City.
 George F. Porter, 1009 First Nat'l Bank Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
 Henry Potter, 206 Laclede Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
 Charles F. Pratt, 73 Pratt St., Hartford, Conn.
 James O. Putnam, 63 West 85th St., New York City.
 John F. Putnam, 85 North High St., Columbus, O.
 Hugh Rankin, 69 Center St., Brookline, Mass.
 Prof. John D. Rea, 8 South Twelfth St., Richmond, Ind.
 John J. Reilly, 610 German Insurance Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.
 *James William Reynolds, 1879-1911.
 Samuel W. Rhoads, 404 Coal Exchange, Wilkes-Barré, Pa.
 Joseph F. Rhodes, 411-15 Central Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
 George H. Richards, Reynolds, Richards & McCutcheon, 68 William St., New York City.
 Prof. Roland R. G. D. Richardson, Brown University, Providence, R. I.
 Harry A. Rightmire, 575 Monroe Ave., Rochester, N. Y.
 Stephen G. Roach, 701 Madison Ave., New York City.
 Rev. George Roberts, Jr., Saranac Lake, N. Y.
 J. Randolph Robinson, 67 East 55th St., New York City.
 *Cleveland Rogers, 1880-1908.
 William J. Roome, Jr., 177 Madison Ave., New York City.
 *Henry Ide Root, 1882-1901.
 Joseph C. Roraback, Canaan, Conn.
 Arthur J. Rosenthal, 14 Wall St., New York City.
 Carleton F. Rowell, 504 Laclede Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
 Henry M. Russell, Jr., 1421 Chapline St., Wheeling, W. Va.
 Henry C. Sanford, Bridgewater, Conn.
 Ziegler Sargent, 247 Church St., New Haven, Conn.
 Harold M. Sawyer, 409 Wells Fargo Bldg., Portland, Ore.
 Lewis A. Sayre, Middleburg, Loudoun Co., Va.
 Reeve Schley, 62 Cedar St., New York City.
 William Schroeder, 63 Park Row, New York City.
 William S. Searles, 525 Williamson Bldg., Cleveland, O.
 Harold F. Sheets, Vacuum Oil Co., 34 Rue du Louvre, Paris, France.
 Joseph M. Skrable, 712 Lewis Bldg., Portland, Ore.

- Brockholst M. Smith, P. O. Box 906, Providence, R. I.
Dr. George A. Smith, Stepney, Conn.
Lowell W. Smith, R. F. D. 10, Medina, N. Y.
Rev. Robert Seneca Smith, 269 Mill St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
William B. W. Smith, 141 John St., Bridgeport, Conn.
Levings H. Somers, Meenahga Lodge, Rainbow Lake, Franklin Co., N. Y.
George P. Spencer, 505 Washington St., Watertown, N. Y.
F. Randolph Stauffer, 521 Court St., Reading, Pa.
*Prof. Warren Merrill Steele, 1876-1910.
Henry R. Stern, 40 Wall St., New York City.
John H. Stevens, Consolidated Stock Exchange, Broad and Beaver Sts., New York City.
J. McAllister Stevenson, Jr., 2 & 3 Aycock Bldg., Sweetwater, Texas.
Dr. Ralph G. Stillman, 128 West 59th St., New York City.
Charles H. Stoll, Jr., 165 Broadway, New York City.
Theron R. Strong, 29 East 65th St., New York City.
William R. Stuart, Travelers Insurance Co., 153 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Thomas Sturgis, Jr., Providencia Mill, El Oro, Estado de Mexico, Mexico.
Dr. Jeremiah B. Sullivan, 274 Dixwell Ave., New Haven, Conn.
*Walter Sullivan, 1881-1905.
Stuart B. Sutphin, 935 West 5th St., Cincinnati, O.
Paul B. Sweet, 231 Topeka Ave., Topeka, Kan.
George E. Sykes, Elmsmere, Rockville, Conn.
Harlan C. Taylor, 2304 Whitney Ave., Houston, Texas.
William H. Taylor, International Banking Corporation, 60 Wall St., New York City.
Dr. William K. Terriberry, Hotel Flanders, 135 West 47th St., New York City.
Menter B. Terrill, The Terrill School, Swiss Ave., Dallas, Texas.
Ralph H. Thacher, Fox and Carroll Sts., Elmira, N. Y.
Herbert Franklin Thomas, New York City.
Hon. Joseph B. Thomas, 132 East 19th St., New York City.
T. Gaillard Thomas, Southampton, L. I.
Donald Thompson, 1237 Oliver Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Edwin V. Thompson, Jr., 1311 3d Ave., Louisville, Ky.
George J. Thomson, 2 Wall St., New York City.
Prof. Herman J. Thorstenberg, Midland College, Atchison, Kan.
George R. Tillson, Sebastie Reali, Piazza di Spagna, Rome, Italy.
Edward P. Townsend, Importers' & Traders' National Bank, 247 Broadway, New York City.
Arsene Le S. Trenholm, Seivern, S. C.
Lieut. John M. True, Care Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C.
Edward P. Truett, 51 Church St., Amsterdam, N. Y.
Abraham Tulin, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.

- William B. Tyler, 1332 Evergreen Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
 Rev. David B. Updegraff, Presbyterian Board, 156 Fifth Ave., New York City, or Kolhapur, India.
 Dr. Frederick B. Utley, 1126 Highland Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
 S. Oakley Vander Poel, Jr., 30 Broad St., New York City.
 Prof. Harry B. Van Deventer, 531 North Broad St., Elizabeth, N. J.
 Douglass Van Dyke, 910 Wells Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.
 Ernest S. Van Tassel, 349 William St., East Orange, N. J.
 Prof. Axel E. Vestling, Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.
 Carroll J. Waddell, Yale Club, 30 West 44th St., New York City.
 Anson Wagar, Gregory, S. D.
 James R. Wait, 77 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y.
 Ralph B. Wakefield, 1 Colonial Place, Shadyside, Pittsburgh, Pa.
 W. Durrie Waldron, 26 Liberty St., New York City.
 Lieut. James F. Walker, Care War Department, Washington, D. C.
 *Raymond William Walker, 1878-1911.
 Walter B. Walker, 135 Broadway, New York City.
 H. Mitchell Wallace, 84 North Cliff St., Ansonia, Conn.
 Walter F. Wallace, 540 West Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.
 Rev. Arthur A. Ward, American Ceylon Mission, Uduppiddy, Valvetiturai, Ceylon.
 Prof. Freeman Ward, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
 S. Dwight Ward, 1448 Union St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Dr. Antonio J. Waring, Harmon and Duffy Sts., Savannah, Ga.
 Arthur W. Warner, 247 Thorn St., Sewickley, Pa.
 George P. Warner, Pratt & Letchworth Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
 Irving H. Warner, Fairport, N. Y.
 George A. Washington, 27 William St., New York City.
 Bradford Webster, 623 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.
 Edward F. Webster, 294 State St., New Haven, Conn.
 George U. Wenner, 1020 Merchants Exchange Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.
 Ethan P. Wescott, Security Trust Bldg., 301 Market St., Camden, N. J.
 William B. Weston, Harris, Forbes & Co., Pine and William Sts., New York City.
 Edwin R. Whitcomb, Whitefish Bay P. O., Milwaukee, Wis.
 Howard S. White, 46 Kellogg St., Waterbury, Conn.
 *John Richards White, 1880-1911.
 William O. White, 509 Ohio St., Cairo, Ill.
 Everett M. Whittemore, Burnham, Hanna, Munger Dry Goods Co., Kansas City, Mo.
 Willis S. Whittlesey, Transit Bldg., 7 East 42d St., New York City.
 Theodore H. Wickwire, Jr., 1217 Delaware Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.
 *Thomas Edward Wilde, 1879-1901.
 Frederick W. Wilhelmi, Cloquet Tie & Post Co., Cloquet, Minn.
 Lewis A. Williams, Jr., 903 West 8th St., Plainfield, N. J.

Orion J. Willis, Third National Bank Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
William L. Winch, Santa Rosa, Cal.
Wilson G. Wing, 323 Chronicle Bldg., Houston, Texas.
William B. Wood, Cotton Exchange Bldg., Memphis, Tenn.
Dr. George E. Woodbine, Yale Station, New Haven, Conn.
Harris S. Woodman, Wadsworth & Woodman Co., Winthrop, Me.
John E. Woodruff, Greenwich, Conn.
Prof. Howard S. Woodward, Warren, O.
Gerald S. Work, Warkwolde, Perkins Hill, Akron, O.

70 40810
History of the Class of 1903.
Stanford University Libraries

3 6105 030 846 955

CUBBERLEY LIB.

DATE DUE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES
STANFORD, CALIFORNIA 94305-6004

